A fellow over on the west side took his television set into a local repair shop last week complaining there was something wrong with the screen. And when he explained how it acted the repair man said: "Why, thouse pathing weng with your the repair man said: "Why, there's nothing wrong with your set, that was Elvis Presley you were looking at last night."

The woods must be full of deer. There weren't many taken out this season.

Isn't it a caution how much a man is like a fish? The conversation department says: "A fish's nervous system is poorly developed and evidence indicates a hooked fish experiences discomfort rather than pain."

We printed a little something last week about women not being generally more smarter than men and lo! We soon discovered that women are not only deadlier, but livelier, than the male.

Walt Kirkpatrick, the farmer's friend from Antrim County, took the wind out of several of us businessmen last week. He stood right up in front of Rotary and questioned some peoples' experience. He said: "Are you sure you have 15 years experience or one year's experience and 14 years of doing the same thing?"

Ah, for the life of a newspaperman! The Petoskey paper advertised a new kind of shotgun recently; the Boyne City paper tried to sell $188 ty sets for a mere $88. And us? We didn't do nothing a tall. Just merely last week tried to sell one of Bill Huckle's 1953 automobiles for $95. Which shows the newspapers at least try to keen the papers at least try to keep the confusion organized.

Ted McCutcheon's boat magazine "The Northern Skipper" published at wanden Lake is a nice slick paper publication for lovers of northern waters. In the November issue Ted reprinted a story we had written sometime ago about the death of five E. J. residents. It was a boat accident back in 1903. The story was supplied Ted by Nick Hamilton of the News-Herald. Ted commented about it in the magazine saying Nick is better known for his dance music than his literary efforts. That's all well and good, but we like to think Nick is better known as the most profester known as the most professional all around printer north of Mr. Mason and Dixon. (Bud Hite sells the "Northern Michigan Skipper", in case you're interested.)

A certain school teacher went into a certain barber shop, took off his glasses and got into the chair. Having been properly clipped, he put his glasses on and went home. Later that night the barber came to his house and said "Hara are your glasses you said, "Here are your glasses, you left them at the shop." Where-upon said teacher laughed, for wasn't he at this moment wearing his own glasses? Hadn't he been reading all evening! Upon closer examination he discovered he had been wearing the barber's glasses, picked up by mistake. Although the teacher could see properly, the barber was eyesore and befuddled. For the teacher's classes had tuned his looking glasses had turned his looking glasses had turned nis looking into a circus. (This does not necessarily show what happens when you look at the world thru a teacher's eyes.) The barber used to be a hot shot on the basketball right now. Ten lashes if you guess wrong.

One fellow said that in order to succeed in a small town all you have to do is get up early in the morning and smile all day. Smile, smile, smile, prolifically and perpetually, despite pain or provocation. Let your smile fall into one of these classifications: 1, the ingratiating grin; 2, the self-conscious smirk; 3, the gruesome grimace; 4, the labordeer; 5, the fluttery fawn; 6, the girlish giggle; 7, the booming bellow; 8, the flashing fangs. Personally, we feel a little work mixed in will help you succeed

Heck, that feller is more confused than a Democrat in the Charlevoix court house. Just try living the Golden Rule with a sense of humor — and a sense of responsibility. That'll fix you up Better chop this thing off. For everytime we get lost in deep thinking we wind up in unfamilıar territory.

A state police airplane from Traverse City was pressed into the search Saturday and the south arm of Lake Charlevoix was checked with the theory that McWatters might have fallen into the lake.

EAST JORDAN Police Chief Harry Simmons said high wind and muddy water Saturday ham-pered the work. It was hoped that a helicopter could be used McWatters purchased groceries Tuesday afternoon and never returned home. Police found the groceries at the corner of Echo and Water streets on the west

Following the report that he was missing, a thorough search by city, county and state police led authorities to all empty buildings, side roads and nearby wooded areas without success.

Chief Harry Simmons and County Sheriff Glenn Rose said they have covered "every inch of ground in the area."

McWatters had received his old age assistance check and had sold a shot gun. Police believe he carried about $50.

IT WAS SAID that due to age and health McWatters often became confused about directions. However, the possibility that he might have been picked up by a passing motorist was not en-tirely discarded and a state-wide, missing persons alert was sent Guy C. Conkle, jr., of Boyne City, Monday was appointed general administrator of the Frank Foote estate by Charle-toix County Probate Judge F.oyd Supp. The appointment came following a request by four organiza-tions named in the will that W. G. Boswell, of East Jordan, be named administrator.

G. Boswell, of East Jordan, be named administrator.

The groups requesting Boswell's appointment were: East Jordan Public Library, Red Cross, East Jordan Cooperative Company and Michigan State College, now a university.

These organizations are represented in the case by William T. Downs of East Jordan.

The probate court said Conkle was requested to be the administrator by the Charlevoix hospital's attorney. The hospital is scheduled to receive only those funds remaining after all other settlements in the will are made. "It ws felt," Downs said, "That due to Boswell's close association with Foote during which he acted as friend and advisor, that he was the proper person to be named administrator of his estate."

Foote's death created a flurry of interest when it was learned that his estate might be valued it some $40,000. It was thought for years by neighbors and friends that he was nearly pennyless.

Parents vs. The Kids

The other night six adults brought the conversation around to

That bugaboo of modern society!

What are its real causes and what can be done?

With no "authority" on the subject to hear them; and with a strong desire to say exactly how they felt about it, we listened and gleaned the following thoughts and suggestions which came spontaneously from their lips.

The days of the slingshot, bare feet, rolled up pantaloons and

The days of the slingshot, bare feet, rolled up pantaloons and maple branch fish pole have given way to a smooth, protected childhood. One that allows mother and father to work all day away from home with no fear their child will get hurt or into trouble.

Yes! We are living in a "spare the parent, spoil the child" society! For it seems that society does more to protect the parent than the child. Every day we whip him with our theories and our plans so his actions will not give us worry —chop off his natural desire to question, to taste and to explore life upon his own two feet.

We squelch all natural deviltry of the growing child with its occasional broken arm or leg — put the kid deviltry off until at last it sometimes breaks out into a form of high speed death and prison.

Let no child get the wonderful feeling of life through kid deviltry; let him not taste the thrill of his budding imagination; let him not dream up any form of kid entertainment unless it be thoroughly planned and adult supervised.

All his fun is prepared in advance from the moment he pokes his head outdoors into bright summer sunshine. He no longer has to think for himself.

to think for himself.

The spirit of adventure that taxes every fiber of his being has been hacked away and twisted into a "plan" by adults. A plan for his every moment to which he must conform else his parents worry. It seems that modern society has stolen the child's natural growing up fun — turned it over to the adults in the form of, "Now I don't have to worry about my child."

We have taken away the old fashioned fourth of July with its "dangerous" fire crackers and fireworks.

We have taken away the color, the noise and happy confusion of

"dangerous" fire crackers and fireworks.
We have taken away the color, the noise and happy confusion of the visiting street carnival.

We have taken away the thrill and the looking forward to of the

we have taken away the annual hazing program of students in our high schools.

We have taken away the breathtaking skullduggery of a spooky Halloween.

We have taken away the fun of the old sand lot baseball with its occasional fist fights.

We have taken away the old "up river" swimming hole where the naughty boys swam without suits.

We have taken away the child's natural desire to shoulder a pup tent and take off into unchartered woods for a little unsupervised camping.

We have taken away the child's feverish desire to drop hook and line into the water anywhere he may wish without fear of an officer checking up on him.

We have taken away the fun of "cooning" muskmelons come fall; we have taken away the occasional shooting of a street light with our trusty slingshot.

How many times have you heard this young plea? "There's nothing in this town for us teenagers to do."

That's because just about every original but unorthodoxed entertainment a child can think up has through the years been legislated against in our schools, churches, clubs, societies and at home.

Yes! We bend every effort to plan our child's recreation — make him act more like an adult; and when he begins to emerge from this unimaginative, highly protected, well planned life, he lets loose with his long pent up natural desire for the thrill of young deviltry.

It often breaks out in the horrible form of fast driving, an occasional drink; and ends in highway slaughter.

These six adults discussing juvenile delinquency felt that when a youth comes home from a dance with a smashed up automobile and liquor upon his breath it is time we look at ourselves. Perhaps we think too much about our own peace of mind and not enough about the natural hungers of childhood.

I was down at Buck Benson's store the other day when a fellow came in with a six-year-old boy obviously his son.

The father scemed quite put out about his son's lack of manners and held up his hand to stop him. "What do we say when Mr. Benson gives us something?" he demanded. "Charge it," replied the kid without hesitation.

For instance, I'm convinced that many of those who speak out against the old American custom of enjoying a glass of beer after work are just parroting what they've heard others say, It's better to get the facts-then make up our own minds-and permit our neighbors to do the same.

Living Costs Up

Most family living costs will increase steadily in 1957, winding up at least two to three percent higher than they were this year, Clare Brown, Charlevoix county home demonstration agent, says.

ent, says. this prediction is based on a recent study by Mrs. Eunice Pardee, extension appealaist in farm and home development at Michigan State

Mrs. Pardee reports that dental and medical costs increased faster than all other living ex-penses in 1956. She expects costs of these and other services to continue upward next year.

IN GENERAL, food prices have been quite stable in the last five years. However, beef prices are expected to continue their sharp climb of the last half of

1956, while fresh pork prices may go up even faster. The MSU specialist believes that home furnishing costs will continue upward. Sewing mach-ines, rugs and lamps are among the items ticketed for a price boost.

Higher costs of labor and building materials will make home building and remodeling even more expensive than at present.

Most new cars will cost from $50 to $100 more in 1957. Used car and tire costs should also rise. And auto parts may be 10 percent more expensive by the end of the year.

THE NEW LOOK IN SPUDS

See Bright Future For Potato Growers

You ate 100 pounds of potatoes last year. And you have been eating about 100 pounds per year for the last four years; but the amount of spuds the average person eats is one the decline.

By 1975 you will be eating only about 85 pounds per year, farm officials predict.

But this means no drop in future potato production. It will, in fact, be necessary to increase the output of spuds by 10 per cent by 1975.

That's because by 1975 the U.S. will have about 210 million people. The increased population will demand more and more spuds.

IN ADDITION, we have been cating potatoes in new forms since we were children.

Take the potato chip business. Last year it was 12 percent of the total spur output.

And did you know that fro-zen french fried potatoes now are the largest seller of frozen foods? Until frozen french fries became so popular, peas wer the number one frozen food.

SHOP EAST JORDAN!

Now there's something new added: Tests of potato flakes, a form of dehydrated mashed potatoes, are very encouraging. Antrim County Farm Agent Walter Kirkpatrick says.

The Trading Stamp Boom: Good Citizens, These Railroads What Is It Doing For You?

Do you as a housewife, benefit from shopping at a store that gives trading stamps?

That's the question asked by a Michigan State agricultural economist. She's Anita McMillian, who says there's a big IF—if the use of stamps does not force the store to raise its prices.

She points out that nearly 400 companies are selling trading stamps and that an estimated cone billion dollars will be spent on stamp programs this year.

She says to remember that the

She says to remember that the dollar item you purchase will give you less than 3 cents worth of stamps; and to shop carefully for your premium merchandise, because it isn't a gift.

AND THE ECONOMIST is telling farm women not to shop foolishly just to fill up the stamp

"Check the daily store prices," she is advising, "not just special sales." Use trading stamps, but use them wisely.

It is said that the tiny trading stamp is rocking the retail food industry in the most bitter competition since the depression days of the early 1930's.

And it is claimed that trading stamps have been the biggest vecent news in food retailing

Whatever has become of Independent Basketball in Northern Michigan? There was a time some fifteen or twenty years ago when practically every commun when practically every community in this area supported an Independent cage squad. World War II put an end to this era and independent cage interest has failed to reach the cage interest.

has failed to recover.

Northern Michigan fans will remember the East Jordan Cancers of the late 1930's, who comriled an enviable record both in regular season and tournament play.

The locals coached by Alex The locals coached by Alex Sinclair had a starting five none of whom measured six feet in height and yet they compiled a record better than twenty wins per season with the fast break, which they worked to near per-fection.

Richard "Dick" Johnson, cap tain of the 1955-56 Red Devil Football and Basketball squads and last year's most valuable athlete at the high school is a candidate for the Varsity at Alma College this winter. Also making a bid for the Scot Varsity is another East Jordan lad Robert Darbee.

Northwestern Michigan College of Traverse City started its 1956-57 season by trouncing Aquinas of Grand Rapids 91 to 50 last week. Two former Red Devils are on the basketball roster of the Traverse City Collegians. They are Keith Evans and Alan Sommerville.

Counted among the successful deer hunters the first week end of the season were Bucky Cihak, James Raveau and Larry Woodcock candidates for the Red Dovil varsity this winter. Athletic Director Keith Annear also was among those fortunate enough to land their bucks.

Assistant football coach Arthur Goglin and William Brighton, also of the high school faculty are working together as a team in officiating high school basketball games in the area this winter, they are already under contract to handle several class D contests.

In speaking of new gymnas-iums in this column a week ago, we failed to mention the one un-der construction at Vanderbit, which is expected to be completed in the very near future.

Coaches Gayle Saxton and Max Damoth and senior basket-ball players Larry Woodcock, Cal Darbee, Jack Ingalls and Gareth Thompson attended a basketball clinic and rules demonstration meeting held at Traverse City St. Francis High School gymnasium on Monday evening of last week. The tallest boy on the Alba quintet measures a scant 5' 8 ½" which makes Coach Harold "Skinay" Edson's rebuilding task a most difficult one.

The Russian Olympic basket-ball team has a center who is seven foot four inches tall. That's mighty tall even in this day and age of elongated cage individuals.

There is some talk that Petoskey High School may become a member of the North Central B League before another year rolls around. Petoskey has been playing as an independent for years having no league affiliation.

Boyne City is expected to use the same starting combination that dropped a heartbreaker to the Petoskey Northmen 44 to 42 last weekend. Juday and Charon at the forward spots, Williams at Center and Casper and Newville at the guard posts are expected to get the nod of Coach Paul Phaler.

Coach Bruce Smith, beginning his ninth year at the Grayling belm, will have to count heavily cu the performances of his two regulars back from last year's outfit Strong and Lowe if his aggregation is to be on a par with the visiting Ramblers, who appear to be the team to beat in the conference again this winter.

Look for Boyne City to begin its defense of its 1955-56 title with a victory in this one. IRONMEN AND RAYDERS

Not much has been written of the strength of the Rayders this year but this doesn't mean that Coach Don Carey won't have the Maroon and Cream in the thick of the conference race again this winter. Mancelona, on the other hand, will be invading Charlevoix-land with four regulars and a number of other experienced lettermen back from last year's outfit but with Balch and Helms leading the way the Rayders won't surprise too many fans if they take this one, especially on their home premises. Coach Gayle Saxton will un-veil the 1956-57 edition of the East Jordan Red Devils here Friday evening when they meet the Peilston Hornets on the local hardwood.

Of the five probable starters briday evening, four were in the same role a year ago when the Jordanites took part in the dedication game in the new Grayling High School gymnasium.
