TEN CENTS ON NEWS

NORTHERN LIGHTS

BY MARSHALL

Many people are saying the Christmas spirit seems to be lag-ging this year, but when we look about this doesn't seem true.

East Jordan's community Christmas tree has been up for sometime and the city has been decorated with strings of colored lights on Main street for two or three weeks.

And although many thought the business and home decorat-ing contest was too early this year, East Jordan's was held long after those of surrounding comminities.

Church, Rotary Club, factory and school Christmas parties are all planned and the Businessmen have announced that Santa will be on our streets Friday and Sat-

Yes! The Christmas spirit is everywhere. Many residents dug into their savings for Christmas and helped buy food for the unfortunate peoples of Hungary. Also the Rotary Club is attempting to collect presents for the unfortunate people in the Traverse City hospital.

Patients at Grandvue hospital will have a second Christmas dinner later on, thanks to the efforts of the Charlevoix county extension clubs. Members are wrapping quarters in shiny foil and decorating a tree at Grandvue. Later, the quarters will be used for an extra-special banquet for the senior citizens who reside there.

School will be closed and those college kids back home with their parents.

All we have to do is look about us to see the many tell tale signs of the Christmas spirit.

Dedication Announced

Dedication services for East Jordan's new elementary school building will be held 2 p.m., Sun-day, December 30, it was announced this week.

Open house will be held from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., Supt. E. E. Wade said.

Food To Hungary

From E. J.

The residents of East Jordan are helping the unfortunate people of war torn Hungary.

At a time when most of them could use the money themselves, a large number of East Jordan people contributed one and two dollars to help feed the starving Hungarians.

A certified check for 189.59 was sent to CARE for food for the Hungarians, local food chairman William T., Downs said this week.

This food will have the words "From East Jordan, Michigan" ramped on the package.

Downs said that some of the people who made donations expained it to friends, saying the present they were to receive was sent to the Hungarians.

The World History class at the high school took up a collection and turned it over to the chairman.

Let's Look At The New Farm Year

Almost eveything that Charle-voix county farmers have to buy for farm production will be high-er in 1957. Here's the picture in Farm machinery: With higher steel prices and increased labor costs, prices of farm machinery are expected to be about 2 per-cent higher in 1957 than last year. By shopping around, you may still be able to get a good allowance on trade-ins. Farmers with limited capital should consider buying used equipment. Building and fencing materials: Slightly higher.

Fertilizer and lime: These will be bright spots in the farm cost picture. Prices will probably be no higher than in 1956.

Seeds: Prospective seed surplies indicate that prices will be somewhat higher than the fairly low levels of 1956. This is especially true of forage crop seeds, which will be in demand for acreages put in the Conservation Reserve. Buy such seeds early. early.

Wages: With the increase in industrial wage rates and the competition between industry and agriculture for workers, farm wage rates will rise about 3 percent.

Charlevoix, where he also grows certified seed commercially.

As president of the Charlevoix county Farm Bureau, John sids in shaping a better future for area farmers. His fellow farmers elected him to this high office at the group's board of directors meeting last October. He holds office in the county organization as a member of the Barnard Farm Bureau group. He also is a member of the Barnard Grange.

Another important position held by Mr. Wieland is that of president of the Ellsworth Farmer's Exchange at Ellsworth, a well-known northern Michigan farm cooperative.

His interest in farming is further shown by his position as a director of the Antrim-Charlevoix Artificial Breeders Association as well as his directorship in the Charlevoix County Soil Conservation Service. He is also a member of the Charlevoix Cooperative Company.

When we speak of "real" farmers, we have in mind men like John Wieland, who are actually working farmers with an interest in the future of agriculture.

ALFRED CRANE: Although a newcomer to Charlevoix County, farming is not new to Alfred Crane. He came to the county in Crane. He came to the county in 1953 from Illinois and purchased the Loyal Barber farm between East Jordan and Boyne City on the Deer Lake Road. Alfred is building a Holstein herd and is selling milk to Boyne City. He is a former director of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau and a member of the Deer Lake Farm Bureau Group. His farm address is Route No. 1, Boyne City.

JOHN BROCK: The words "Brock" and "Farming" are almost one in Charlevoix County, sc well-known is the family among rural people. John sometimes is confused with his brother Hiram, the well-known turkey raiser on M-66, north of East Jordan. John was at one time a turkey raiser at his farm on old M-66, but today he is milking 25 Holsteins and operates a flouishing dairy farm. Some of the best asparagus in the country is raised in Charlevoix county. John is one of the producers. John is a member of the Evilne Farm Bureau group and is a former director in the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau. He has been in Farm Bureau work since 1947.

More recently John has been selected as Charlevoix county agent for Farmers Petroleum Co-operative, another one of the area's "real" farmers.

Lumberjack Meeting

Michigan loggers, sawyers, lumber buyers and others interested in the production, selling, buying or utilizing of hardwood lumber will meet at Michigan State University, Jan. 7-11, for the first Hardwood Lumber Grading Course.

Information on natural defects, defects resulting from seasoning and how to increase yields of high-grade lumber from logs will be presented by MSU fac-ulty members. The events is co-sponsored by the MSU department of forest products and the ring program were a talk on "Special Education" by Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools; selections by the 16-voice Grange characteristics.

The Barnard Grange and its lecturer, Mrs. Charles Wiesler, have received state and national recognition in two contests sponsored for Grange groups.

The ideas incorporated in a Booster night program arranged by Mrs. Wiesler received a blue ribbon for first place in state competition and a second place in national competition.

Merle Eddy, state lecturer, said it was the best program of its kind he had seen during his years as lecturer and the first that was good enough to be entered in national competition.

Orville's Quick Soil Build Up

Orville Walker, northern Michigan farm agent and developer of the "quick build up" for restoring worn down farm land says a drouth taught him "the best agricultural lesson I ever learned."

Walker's "quick build up" is a system of supplying very large amounts of vegetative growth to worn out soil in order to restore its need for organic matter.. Oganic matter is little more than decayed vegetative material but it has great and good influence on the soil in making this medium more productive of crops.

Walker's system is accomplished with lots of commercial fertilizers and soil moistures along with the growing of two crops that can be grown in succession in a single year. His crops are buckwheat followed by ree.

He calls it a stepping stone to getting the land into a regular rotation but with it he has restored abandoned land in Kalkaska county to a level of fertifity that yields of 750 bushels of notates ner acre were obtainof potatoes per acre were obtained this year.

"The year we disced a crop of alfalfa and bromegrass down it was so dry I dug down six feet without finding moisture," he ssid.

Walker said rains came on

Walker said rains came on after the land was sown to rye and the crop took up the moisture and grew well although digging in the field showed that moisture did not get down very far into the thirsty soil.

Spring came and he plowed down the rye with enough rains coming along to plant potatoes. Summer rains followed and in August he went into the field and made several cuts into the field to study the root growth of the plants and the moisture levels.

the plants and the moisture levels.

As a result of the Walker systym the field has a good distribution of organic matter throughout the top foot of soil. Walker refers to this as the organic soil in contrast to the soil layer bereath which he calls subsoil. His cuts revealed moisture throughout the organic soil but rone seeping down into the subsoil layer which was still as dry as it was the previous year of Class C league, Grayling and Charlevoix, to determine the loop lead will highlight the action this week.

On other games Mancelona will play at Gavlord, East Jordan will travel to Harbor Springs and Boyne City will host Pellston.

In the meeting of Grayling and Charlevoix on the Vikings' floor the host team will definitely have the edge. Grayling, in the first place, has big Bob Strong who controls both backboards. Secondly they will have the advantage of playing on their home floor.

Secondly they will have the advantage of playing on their home floor.

Otherwise the teams seem tretty evenly matched, both having defeated Boyne City, Pellston, Gaylord and Mancelona in games which resulted in similar scores except for the Rambler came when the Vikings won by three points and Charlevoix by 11 points.

Grayling, otherwise, has a slight edge and may win by a dim margin.

The Mancelona-Gaylord game on the Blue-Devils' floor will be another tough battle. Gaylord may well be dabbed the 'hard lack' team of the league, having lost all four of its games to date by nine points or less. Two games were lost by two point margins, that is, the ones they dropped to Charlevoix and Grayling. Mancelona on the other hand, racked up its first win Friday over East Jordan.

This could be the week that the Blue Devils move into the win column.

Harbor Springs got back in the win column.

Harbor Springs got back in the win column. Friday after dropping a game to Boyne City. Unless East Jordan snaps out of their doldrums and starts playing the kind of ball they are capable of playing they will find themselves again on the short end of the score.

Pellston put up a good fight sgainst Harbor Springs last week, holding them to a three-point half-time lead. The Hornets may be on their way up but this will not be the week to stop the Boyne City Ramblers was are nursing their wounds after a sound beating by Charlevoix Friday night.

East Jordan Whips Gaylord, Drops One To Mancelona

The East Jordan Red Devils

The East Jordan Red Devis picked up their second conference win of the season here Tresday night. Dec 11 as they edged the visiting Gaylord Blue Devils 51 to 42.

The Jordanites jumped into the lead soon after the opening whistle on Gareth Thompson's two-hander from outcourt and were never headed. Gaylord kept within striking distance all the way however with the score by periods reading 9-8, 27-22, 35-29 and the final 51 to 42.

Larry Woodcock tallied 21 points on 6 field goals and 9 for 13 free throws to lead the local scoring. D. Mason was high man for the visitors with 15.

In Tuesday evenings Preliminary contest, the Gaylord Receives topped the local seconds 56 to 49.

Paced by Ronnie Johnson who had 20 points, the Ironmen started to hit and outscored the Jordanites 20 to 9 for a 46 to 33 load going into the final period.

East Jordan made a valiant try, outscoring Manneelona 5 to 7, but it was not good enough as the Mancelona five racked up its first victory of the season by a score of 53 to 48.

Cal Darbee had 18 and Larry Woodcock 11 for East Jordan Dick Holstad and Bob Hardy had 10 points each for the victors.

Mancelona dumped in 22 field goals, nine out 17 free throws and had 14 personal fouls. East East Jordan, on the other hand, had 18 field goals, 12 of 24 free throws and 15 personal fouls.

The Jordanites were accompanied to Mancelona by Keith Annear, East Jordan high school principal, in the absence of Coach Gayle Saxton who remained with his father, Harry Saxton, who died Friday evening While the East Jordan Reu Devils were losing to Mancelona Friday night, the Charlevoix Rayders were winning over Boyne City 55 to 44, Grayling edged past Gaylord 55 to 53 and Harber Springs was trouncing Pellston 73 to 59.

Pre- Plan Your Holiday Meals

Christmas is fun, but it means added work to prepare extra food, your family and yourself for the occasion. Evelyn Zwemer, of the home management and child development department of Michigan State University, suggests a few time and energy savers for you.

"Pre-planning pays off," states Miss Zwemer. Start your states Miss Zwemer. Start your Christmas planning as soon as you have finished the leftovers of your Thanksgiving turkey. Follow through on your plans, too. For instance, you may empty one drawer to be used to store only Christmas equipment such as special cookie cutters, moids, centerpiece accessories and wrapping material.

Make room in your kitchen for the added supply of goodies. Your work will be greatly simplified if you check the storage situation in your kitchen now. You will be well organized for the rush.

Rule number one: store every-Rule number one: store every-thing nearest the place it is first used. For example, the flour sifter will be at the mixing cen-ter, not near the range. Your soap powder or detergent needs to be stored near the sink, not in the mixing center. In some cases there will be duplications; for instance, you may need the salt at the range just as often as you need it in the mixing center. The enswer to your problem is two salt shakers. Extra steps mean wasted time and energy, so make life easier for yourself.

Your freezer will be your best friend during the holiday rush. By bringing your inventory up to date, you will know what you have and what you need to buy. Plan to use those things which have been in the freezer for a long time in your prachetisms. have been in the freezer for a leng time in your pre-Christmas menus. Then you will be sure to have plenty of room in the freezer for the Christmas turkey, breads, cakes and emergency casseroles to help you through the season.

Plan ahead and impress on Plan ahead and improve on your kitchen organization, so you will be ready to sail through the holiday work and enjoy yourself with the rest of the family.

Monogrammed napkins, matches or coasters are good gift suggestions for that person on your shopping list that has everything.

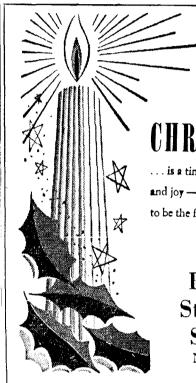

Kissing Ring For Christmas

A spray of mistletoe can be a lot of fun to have in your nouse at Christmas. Make it more attractive with a kissing ring.

tractive with a kissing ring.

Lester Bell, Michigan State University forester suggests winding an embroidery hoop or a circle of cardboad with white crepe paper or satin ibbon. Then cover the ring with colored tape or ribbon. Place the mistletoe spray in the ring and fasten it with a big bow at the top. Suspend the kissing ring in a doorway or arch and let the mistletoe do its work.

Flower growers can force a chrysanthemum to bloom any day of the year by regulating the length of time that the plant is in contact with light. So, chrysanthemums are available to the homemaker at almost any time during the year. Chrysanthemums are very popular plants to have around the house over the holidays.

A wreath to hang on your front door as a welcome sign to all your holiday guests can be ersily made out of Styrofoam or Tuflite, a material very similar to Styrofoam.

Wrap your Tuflite or Styrofoam wreath base with plastic gold roping or other roping that is available on the market. There itn't any need to wrap the upper left hand corner of the wreath because that is where your greens will be placed.

Your greens may be stuck in the base or fastened with wire. Wire insures that they will stay permanently in place though. Among your greens fasten magrolia leaves which have been sprayed with gold, or other waxy leaves sprayed with gold. The gold spray is available at your lecal art and hardware store.

Clusters of medium size red balls add the needed accent to make your wreath complete.

Cut flowers can be worked into your holiday decorations in many ways. Here's one suggested by the Michigan State University horticulture department.

and ways. Here's one suggested by the Michigan State University horticulture department.

The materials you will need are: a flat wicker basket, a block of Oasis or Sno-Pak (new materials available from your florist that hold water), a small vase or bowl to hold the Oasis or Sno-Pak, approximately two and one half dozen red carnations, seven pine cones, a variety of greens and a can of snow spray Oasis or Sno-Pak are materials that hold two to three timee their own weight in water and will keep flowers as though they were in regular water. No doubt you will find a myriad of uses for plastic bags at Christmas time. To clean them, just rinse them out and dry them between dish towels as you do a nylon fabric. Turn them inside out and repeat the rolling between the towels.

Thinking about flocking your cwn Christmas tree? Paul R. Krone, professor of horticultura at Michigan State University claims that it is cheaper to buy a Christmas tree already flocked than to purchase the equipment to flock the tree yourself.

Prepare for the holiday rush now. Pack ice-box cookle dough in small, well-greased soup cans; store in freezer until ready to bake. Then cut out the bottom of the can; push out dough and slice it.

If you are planning to cover your holiday turkey with foil while it is baking, remember to use a temperature of 450° F., or your turkey wor't be done in time for dinner. To brown the turkey, remove the foil.

Put the Oasis or Sno-Pak containing the water in a small bowl and place it in the middle of the flat basket. In the small disa with the Oasis or Sno-Pak put some water so you won't have to repenish the water very often. Next spray your greens with the snow spray and then arrange them in any manner you like.

How To Select A Christmas Tree, And Make It Last

Does your Christmas tree shed its needles long before you want to take it down?

Lester Bell. Michigan State University extension forester, effers advice on the selection and care of your Christmas tree to help you get the most enjoyment from it.

Some trees hold their needles much longer than others. Red, white and Scotch pines have excellent needle holding ability. In the low humidity and high temperature of your home, you may expect these trees to hold their needles from the second week of December into January. Firs will hold their needles thru the holidays; spruce are the first to shed their needles.

Mama, Will Santa Claus Really Come?

What do you tell your child when he asks, "Is there really a Santa Claus?"

Tell him the truth, declares Ben Ard, family life specialist at Michigan State University. Parents expect their offspring to tell them the complete truth in all situations; then, they should tell their children the truth.

tell their children the truth.

By telling the truth, you avoid having to patch up broken dreams and misunderstandings when their "knowing" friends childe them about their not knowing theres no such person as Santu. Besides injuring their faith in their parents for leading them astray, children feel silly in the eyes of their friends. It puts them in the position of having to defend their parents.

Ard explains that children defend their parents.

Ard explains that children should know from the start that there is no redsuited jolly man who flies through the sky at night behind eight reindeer and comes down the chimney of every good boy and girl. But, he adds, explain to your children that Santa is accepted as the spirit of Christmas and of giving. Better still, Ard encourages you to let children be a part of this giving. Let them feel the thrill of making, wrapping and giving their gifts to family members and friends. And, let them take part in the wonderful tradition of trimming the tree and making Christmas cookies.

Those who think every child should have the experience of believing in Sauta Claus recail their own childhood beliefs with the fondest of memories. But, Ard contends. because it han-their own childhood beliefs with the fondest of memories. But, Ard contends, because it happened in very early childhood, they don't remember the unpleasantness of learning there was no Santa Claus and of realizing they had a "bum steer" from their parents. Ard suggests the story of giving is a more healthy one to tell your child than the one of Santa.

few important things to consider in your selection. The most attractive tree is quite dense and has good balance. The setting for the tree will dictate what type of balance you need.

A tree with three full sides and one rather flat side is per-fect to use against a wall. A tree in a corner needs only two full sides while a tree in a picture window must have four attractive sides. A good taper is also important. The sides of a perfect tree taper at a 30 degree angle from the bottom straight to the top. The more closely a tree resembles a symmetrical cone the more attractive is its shape.

A dark green to blue-green tree is the most beautiful, while tree is the most beautiful, while a greenish-yellow tree may look pale. Watch for trees that look pressed together; they probably have been cut very early and stored. These trees are not fresh and will not be attractive very Bell reminds you that the average ceiling is eight feet high; when you have to cut the top off to make it fit, the tree looks chopped off. Unless you plan to cut the bottom off to use as foliated.

After you choose just the right tree, take care of it. Bell directs you to cut one and one-half inches from the trunk and place the tree in a pail of water until you are ready to set it up. Use a stand which holds water to keep the tree fresh and safe, and replenish the water fre-quently. Water is as effective a fire retardant as the latex base and the topic of conversation.

For the safest, most attractive tree make a wise selection and give it lots of water, Bell concludes.

Miss Werner recommends collecting your equipment for wrapping in one work area. You will need a variety of papers, ribbons, seals, tape and various tims for the packages such as pine cones, balls, holly, mistledoe, string tinsel or candy canes. There are prints, solid colors and tissue to choose from in wrapping papers. Wrapping packages in the same color scheme is very interesting; try using shades of pinks and reds together. Or, gold aper with accents of moss green is attractive. Remember, never have your paper fighting for dominance over the ribbon. The ribbon and paper should complement each other.

with it. Free leaflets on how to make bows are available at most ribbon counters.

Much of your originality shows up in the trim you add so your packages. Children's gifts may have a pom-pom of ribbon or a candy cane or belis tied on them. Sequins or tinsel applied on ribbon with rubber cement always add highlight to a gift, suggests Miss Werner. Another decorative trim is made by outlining a can or writing out a name with rubber cement on wrapping paper and then dusting with glitter. This trim looks best on plain papers or foll paper and makes the package easy to pack for mailing.

Gold balls surrounded by a cluster of silver string tinsel placed in the center of a pompom of gold ribbon on gold foil paper makes a long remembered package.

Fun For Kids During Busy Holidays

Potato printing is a craft that will keep children busy during the holiday season. The equipment needed is a potato, a dull knife, some tempera paint, raper, a flat brush and some absorbent paper toweling.

Mrs. Ruby Niebauer, related atts professor at Michigan State University, recommends first cutting the potato in half widthwise and then blotting the cut surface of the potato on absorbent paper toweling. The secret to success in doing potato prints is to remove as much moisture to success in doing potato prints is to remove as much moisture to success in doing potato prints is to remove as much moisture to success in doing potato prints is to remove as much moisture to success in doing potato prints is to remove as much moisture to such as a dull knife, a spoon, an ice pick or a pencil to make a design on the cut surface of the potato. The design can be abstract or real.

Once you have your design on the potato, dip your brush into some paint and apply the paint to the cut surface of the potato. With sufficient paint on the design (it doesn't require too much) merely blot the painted potato surface on a piece of paper. The design comes out better if you press to some extent. Continue this same process until you have the sheet of paper filled or you wish to change designs.

Potato prints can be used on fabrics as well as on paper. To apply them to fabrics you must use textile paint plus extendor. First wash and iron your material. Next, use one-half the amount of extendor as you use paint. Follow the same process as you did using paper. Allow the paint to dry 24 hours and then iron the fabric.
