Poor Physical Condition Causes Ski Accidents

Skiing is one of our fastest growing winter sports. There are ski enthusiasts even in communities far removed from snow and mountains who make annual pilgrimages to winter resorts for a few days on the slopes.

It is common knowledge that skiing has its accident hazards. The standing joke of the ski lodge with its quota of arms and legs in plaster casts is well known.

Ski experts report that most accidents are caused by the skier's poor physical condition and overconfidence. Thus the basic to remise of ski safety is to get and stay in good physical condition and to be realistic in your estimate of your own ability to handle yourself in the emergencies that arise in the mile-a-minute dash down one of the big runs.

Beginning, if possible, eight to twelve weeks before the ski season, start exercising regularly with half knee bends, toe-walking, toe touching and a few push-ups. Tip toe walking will help strengthen the lower leg muscles. For thigh muscles, sit on the edge of a table, lift your legs and straighten them out slowly. Then add weights (canned goods in a pillow case will do). When you can lift 35 pounds with each leg in this manner, you're ready to go skiing.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, urges that all beginners should receive coaching from a certified ski instructor. Get expert advice in selecting good equipment, especially skis and boots.

A fundamental safety rule is: Never ski alone. If you're hurt, a buddy can go for help. Ski only in areas that are patrolled or supervised. Learn how to control you skiing and how to check your speed quickly if necessary. And, very important, stop before you become too tired. The fatigued skier is much more likely to fall.

Area Residents Over The Top With Yule Seals

Charlevoix County residents have pushed "over the top" in the 1962 Christmas Seal campaign.

Christian G. Jensen, D.V.M., of Petoskey a member of the board of trustees of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association sold contribution from Charlevoix county have reached $2,034.99 compared with a total of $1,809.60 last year.

The response of residents in the county to the 50th annual Christmas Seal appeal is in step with statewide giving that is sending the campaign to a new all-time record in excess of one million dollars, the MTRDA trustee said.

Looking Backward Reviewing The News

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Doris Hayden brought the editor a bouquet of pansies picked from her garden, January 17th.

The school notes state that Mr. Duncanson was asked to judge a debate in Mancelona and because of road conditions (this was before the days of the snow plow) arrived in time to hear the last rebuttals. Attorney Wilson and Mr. Nesman were to do a similar job in Charlevoix and arrived in time to enjoy the banquet held after the debate.

THE FOLLOWING HISTORY OF THE DUCK IN CORNER WAS PRINTED IN

Mabel Secord's Looking Backward Column on January 15, 1943.

The "palm for diversity of business interests on one site" in East Jordan would be apt to go "Peggy" Bowman's Duck Inn corner. As nearly as I can learn it, here is its history. In 1875 W. Fletcher put up a two story building where he had a grocery and the first post office on this side of the lake.

The print shop of the Enterprise was on the second floor. Through a mortgage Richard S. Hubbard of LaGrange, Indiana became a partner of Mr. Empey in both the building and the store. This building burned in November, 1884. The present building was put up by R.S. Dodge (later in Charlevoix) who used it as a tailor shop. He sold it to Jacob Strong who moved his ice cream candy and tobacco stocks to it. Mr. Strong James Murray for a harness later rented it successively to shop; Jerome Smith for a barber shop; and Louis Pepin for a saloon.

When local option carried in the county, Mr. Pepin took over the Reason Renard restaurant (Coffee Cup Cafe) and Mr. Strong sold the building to Charles and Ed Alexander who used it for a soft drink parlor and card room. They sold it to Mr. Bowman in 1922 who changed it to a restaurant.

SPORTS TODAY ASK ME

By CHUCK REICHLUM

C.H. writes: My friend says very few men over 6-feet tall ever become golf champions. Are there any facts to back this up?

A. Take last year's top 10 money winners. Eight are shorter than 6-feet: Palmer is 5-10 1/2, Nicklaus 5-11 1/2, Casper 5-11, Player 5-7, Sanders 5-10 1/2, Ragan 5-11, Rodgers 5-7 1/2.

J. J. O. asks: Has a big league team ever hit two grand slam homers in one inning?

A. Only once in 62 years. Only time was last summer when Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison did it for Minnesota.

From H.S. Ron Van derKelen completed 33 passes in the Rose Bowl. Is that a college record?

A. No. Dick Norman of Stanford completed 34 in a game in 1959.

L.L. asks: Who was the slimmest pitcher in baseball history?

A. Most experts, I believe, would vote for a man who was a big league catcher in the 1930's and 1940's -- Ernie Lombardi.

M.D. asks: Are there any great pitchers who never pitched a no-hitter?

A. Here are some: Grover Alexander, Lefty Grove, Rube Waddell, Red Ruffing, Whitey Ford, Robin Roberts, Early Wynn.

Telephone lines

By LES JOHNSON, Manager

IF YOUR CLUB, SCHOOL, church or civic group is planning a program, the new Bell System film, "TELSTAR," could be just what your Program Chairman is looking for. This 27-minute film, in color, is a dramatic on-the-scene story of the development, launching, and history-making performance of the world's first active communications satellite. Narrated by Alexander Scourby, the film is available on loan, without charge, from our business office.

WE "THINK SMALL." The Telstar satellite, only 3 1/4 inches in diameter, contains 15,000 components. Size was certainly important in designing it. When it comes to our regular telephone equipment, we look for ways to make parts and components smaller, too. It takes a lot of equipment to make your telephone work... a single call can involve thousands of electrical switches. Since buildings are needed to house this equipment, savings in space mean savings in money. Making equipment smaller requires less material, and that saves money too. This "miniaturization" is just one of the many ways we strive to do things better and more efficiently, so you get more for your telephone dollar.

WHEN AN ILL WIND BLOWS the smart woman goes--shopping by phone! Scusable? Couldn't be more so! Shopping by phone is the cozy, quick way to run all over town--right from your easy chair. So don't let blustery winds blow away your shopping plans. Settle back and shop by phone. Just check your newspaper or the Yellow Pages for what you want or where to buy it. Give the dial a few flicks... and it's yours! Shopping by phone is fast... easy... fun. Why not try it soon?

Top O' Michigan Officers At Rural Electric Contab

Four representatives of the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Company are taking part in the 21st annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association at Las Vegas, Nevada.

They are among more than 8,000 officials and members of rural electric systems from 46 states.

Scheduled to attend from the local system were: Harlan E. Ruback, Manager, Boyne City; Clinton Blanchard, President, East Jordan; Walter Weigandt, Director, Johannesburg; Patrick Harwood, Director, Grayling.

The meeting is built around the theme "Rural Electrification - Important to America's Strength." Topics ranging from resource development and rural areas development to the cooperatives' contribution to the nations foreign aid program will be discussed at the four-day meeting.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson headed the list of speakers. Others include Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, the new administrator of the Agency for International Development, David Bell, Congressman Harold T. Johnson of California, Congresswoman Catherine May of Washington, Assistant Secretary of the Interior Kenneth Holm, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, REA Administrator Norman Clapp, NRECA General manager Clyde T. Ellis, and Richard Reuter, director of Food for Peace.

Other leaders from power, consumer groups and the Federal Agencies were to participate in 16 panel discussions on subjects ranging from the U. S. consumers' stake in electric power development to rural areas development. One of the panels, which included participants from the State Department, explored means by which electric cooperatives can contribute to the development of Latin American nations. NRECA has recently signed an agreement with the Agency for International Development to provide assistance in establishing electric cooperatives and rural development projects in Latin America and other areas of the free world.

A number of national awards were to be presented to outstanding individuals in rural electrification during the meeting. Miss Rural Electrification of 1963 was to be selected from among beauty queens representing various states.

Days Longer But Weather Isn't Warmer

You may have noticed the longer hours of sunshine lately, but don't expect warmer weather yet, advises U of M astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The old saying, "As the days lengthen, the cold strengthens," is particularly appropriate during this month. The rate of earth's heating has not yet overtaken its rate of cooling. It will in early February.

Since the winter solstice (Dec. 22, 1962) the days are growing longer until, by the end of January, there will have been about 50 minutes increase over the short days of December, explains the Michigan astronomer.

"The lengthening of the days will be decidedly more noticeable in the evening with the later setting of the sun than in its earlier rising in the morning.

"This is because at this time of the year the sun is moving along its yearly path fastest, delaying its rising and setting as timed by our clocks," Professor Losh notes. Our standard time clocks are always ahead of the sun, but at this time of year they are farthest ahead, hence the later setting of the sun.

Two planets are on prominent display during January, Professor Losh points out. Mars, reddish and very bright, rises at around 8 p.m. in the eastern sky to shine the whole night through.

Venus may be seen in the morning sky, shining high in the southeastern sky around 7 a.m. and later in the morning.

BE WISE ADVERTISE

Deep snow and severe winter weather mark the start of the so-called "bottleneck" period for whitetails in northern Michigan, a time when deer retreat to sheltered areas. These yarding areas, which cover less than one-fifth of the herd's summer range, are a far cry from the lush, green setting of northern Michigan as it looks in July and August. Formerly, these areas were mostly swamps where cedar, spruce, and balsam were either predominant or mixed with hardwoods. Now, because many of the swamps have been overbrowsed and no longer produce nearly enough winter food, deer are forced to range farther and farther. In effect, the winter deer range is getting bigger, but not better. This means that the fate of many deer is left to the whims of winter; the shorter but not better. Deer do not yard in the southern part of the lower peninsula. Mich. Dept. of Conservation

THE FARM OUTLOOK

If you take the government standard, a farmer is anyone with around ten acres of land and something like $250 yearly income from it. But in Michigan, most would agree, those conditions hardly qualify as a true farm.

Another set of impressive statistics show the 97 per cent of all farms in the United States are "family farms," whatever that is. Most would agree that this means they are owned and operated by a farm family. Not by a corporation, a prison, an experiment station or similar group.

That 97 per cent is a figure that has held for at least the past 40 years without changing, something that politicians ignore when they make impassioned appeals for legislation to "preserve the family farm."

What is a farmer? He is a minority of 8.7% of the total population. -- politically, the farm vote is smaller than the negro vote.

But the farmer is much more than statistics. To his Minister he is a believer in God, in nature and nature in God. He is a strong contributor to Church in time, talent and resources.

To an insurance man, a farmer is a big risk, and generally under-insured to boot. He has special needs that challenge the ingenuity of underwriters.

To all of us, he is by far the most important man in this country. His production is the envy of the world. What is a farmer, son? He is a God-Send.

Birth Defects from Thalidomide Spur Mothers in March of Dimes

Grave concern about the widespread problem of birth defects, recently spotlighted by tragic infant deformities caused by the drug, thalidomide, will inspire some two million Marching Mothers to seek their neighbors' support for the 1963 March of Dimes during the last week in January.

For volunteers in the Mothers' March, this concern is not a recent development. The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which observes its 25th anniversary this year, began to attack the long-neglected field of birth defects back in 1938.

Then, as now, medical authorities recognized that birth defects, in hundreds of disabling forms, overshadow all other child health problems. Every year, more than 21,000 deaths throughout the United States are caused by defective prenatal development. Every year, more than a quarter of a million babies survive despite significant defects.

To bring expert help to such children all over America, the National Foundation-March of Dimes—which helped conquer paralytic polio by totally supporting the development of the Salk and Sabin vaccines—now has a treatment program well under way.

Also in 1958, the March of Dimes organization initiated a program in the field of arthritis—equally neglected and shrugged off by the public as an inevitable hazard of aging, despite the fact that its severest form strikes children and young adults with alarming frequency.

This year, Marching Mothers will proudly report to their neighbors that a nationwide network of March of Dimes-financed study and treatment centers for birth defects and arthritis is operating at full capacity. Nearly 80 such centers are now open in communities across the country—double the number that were in existence just a year ago, and only the beginning of the network envisioned.

In addition, seven respiratory centers are maintained for

WHY IT IS WORTH IT—Marching Mothers believe every child's birthright entitles him to a full, useful life. They will brave the elements late in January to seek public support for the March of Dimes which finances treatment centers and research for victims of birth defects and crippling arthritis.

polio victims for whom the vaccines came too late. Aid for thousands of polio patients is still a prime responsibility of the March of Dimes.

The birth defects and arthritis centers supported by March of Dimes contributions emphasize early and correct diagnosis, which is the key to effective treatment and rehabilitation. Such detection and care requires the skills of many different specialists, all working together with patient and family.

Until the development of the March of Dimes program, such top-quality attention was generally available only in large medical centers. The families of children afflicted with these crippling ailments have often had to settle for less than the best because facilities were lacking or inaccessible.

The tiny victims of disease and deformity who are born today must rely on current medical knowledge to detect abnormal conditions in time for proper treatment—or on "repair work" to correct disability. Wonders can be, and often are, accomplished.

But the ideal solution—that of preventing disability or warding it off at the very beginning of life itself—is the goal of research scientists whose work is supported by March of Dimes grants. They are adding constantly to the treasury of medical knowledge of how best to treat and, ultimately, to prevent crippling conditions that take such a grim toll of our children's health.

As they pin on their badges bearing the symbolic "Golden Key of Hope," Mothers' March volunteers are convinced that a concerted effort of the public in partnership with science—as persistent as the program that triumphed over polio—can speed the day when the problems of birth defects and arthritis will be solved.

Continued from page one... fire-carbon can't be dissolved by rain or eliminated in any way. Miss Carson's feelings are, if you can't stop it, don't start. Over 200 basic chemicals were created for destroying pests and 500 more combinations are made yearly. These chemicals also kill birds and earthworms, as well as the bugs. Crop dusting was mentioned as a source of much danger and the Federal Food and Drug Administration reported in 1950 that no one yet knows what the ultimate consequences of DDT will be, which the human body stores in fatty substances surrounding vital organs.

Miss Carson's solution is to help nature combat pests in a natural way. By not upsetting the delicate balance, these things will control themselves.

Preceding Mr. Riley's review, Mrs. David Pray, club president, conducted the business meeting. Committee reports were given and Mrs. Pray appointed Mrs. Ben Schenk, Mrs. W.W. Rogers, Sr., and Mrs. Jay Hite to a nominating committee for the February meeting.

Mrs. William Porter poured at the tea which followed. The table, covered with a muted green linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of yellow button mums and greens in a porcelain bowl, with matching quail, flanked by brown candles in hurricane lamps. Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Hite were tea chairmen.

I note the Black Label had a Ringer in this match, his name Herb Peebles who did a pretty good job in the win of 4 pts. He shoots a 552 series which was tops for the match also for his team. Andy shoots a 501 and Leo a 500 even. For the Creamery Duzzie with a 494 series was tops.

Machine Shop 4 B.F. Log Homes 0

Nobody very hot in this match, not a 500 in the bunch. Larry Drenth with a 492 series was tops for the Log Homes five. Ray Gee with a 491 was tops for the Shop 5.

Sherms Service 4 Foundry 0

In looking over the card it appears as though the Foundry 5 fell all apart in this match. Ray Dubas with a 526 was the big shot for the Fdry. The other 4 could not make the 450 bracket. For Sherms, Guy Vallance with a big 542 series 125 pins over average and a big 211, 2nd game good enough for the Ice Cream with 72 pins over.

Mikes Tavern 4 E.J. Coops 0

Mikes gang really stole 4 points in this match. Not even one of the boys shoots their average ended with 140 pins under average for the team. Get em anyway you can that's what counts, Hap Willison with 519 series was tops for the match and for Mikes, Erickson shoots in with a 503. For the Coops it was Thacker with a 461 series.
