LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Would you please cancel the subscription of Mrs. Teresa Whiteford. She passed away September 7th in Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. She thoroughly enjoyed reading all the "news from home" as she called it, since her whole family and her husband's family came from East Jordan.

All her family is deceased now. Her husband, John Joseph Whiteford, her mother and father, Michael and Katherine Phillips, and her sisters and brothers, Catherine Mae and Leo.

Thank you. I am her niece.

Sincerely,

Mrs. R. J. Scott, Jr.

The East Jordan high school annual homecoming activities will be celebrated in part at the October 29th football game when the Charlevoix Rayders meet the Red Devils on Boswell Field. Athletic Director Keith Annear reports that Mothers Night, Fathers Night and Appreciation Night dates for this year's home games will be announced later.

The 1965-66 East Jordan Community Chest campaign fund drive will swing into action, Wednesday, October 13th with eleven captains assigned to collection areas, according to action taken by the board of directors.

This year's goal of $7,000 will go to aid eleven agencies helped by the local civic organization.

Largest expenditures for the chest are the East Jordan school and city health program and the community's summer-winter recreation activities. Third largest receiver of funds is the Michigan United Fund.

Chest president Tom Breakey listed fund drive captains as follows:

First Ward: Virginia Giacomelli, second ward: Betty Boswell and Phyllis Malpass; third ward: Roman Dubas and Keith Annear.

Bill Grauel and Jason Snyder will canvas the business section of the city and the rural area will be in charge of Marian Sherman and Tom Breakey.

Charles Landers has been named to contact local manufacturing plants during the drive.

The night before the annual drive opens in the city, the chest has planned a "kick-off" meeting for all solicitors 7:30 at the Jordan Inn. Workers will be briefed on campaign procedures and drive kits will be handed out.

Following the annual chest budget meeting, the board of directors approved the following budget for 1965-66:

United Fund, $1,103; the Red Cross, $400; East Jordan Little League, $250; City-school health program $1,950; summer-winter recreation activities, $2,150; American Legion Auxiliary Christmas Fund, $250; East Jordan Girl Scouts, $300; Community service program whereby every local man and woman in any of the U.S. services receives the local newspaper no matter where they are in the world, $200; East Jordan Fire Department, $80; U.S.O. Contingency Fund, $17; and miscellaneous, $300.

SWOBODA ELECTED

Hornets Open Here Fri. Night

An opening victory for a new coach and a promise of things to come.

That was the result of the non-conference opening at Kalkaska which now has the Red Devils flying high for an opening loop win over the Pellston Hornets at Boswell Field here Friday night.

An excellent pass from Jim Langschwager to Bill Dougherty who was some 20 yards out moved East Jordan into a comfortable 18-7 lead over Kalkaska. It was the highest score posted for any conference team for the night.

The Red Devil pass was extra gravy after Ted Sherman had scored twice on short runs into pay dirt, first to open local scoring for the current season. He hit first with a three yard plunge and again running from the seven.

With East Jordan and Boyne City the only two loop outfits winning opening contests, the nod should be given to the locals over Pellston, an unknown quantity.

Playing under guidance of a new head man, Coach Barry Johnson, the Red Devils were taking the measure of Kalkaska as Boyne City was hard put to gain a one point lead over Class B Petoskey.

Charlevoix dropped a heartbreaker to Class B Rogers City; Gaylord fell to Cheboygan, Grayling bowed to Harrison and Mancelona stubbed its toe in a game that was too much for them at Elk Rapids.

The Crack-Down

The "heat's" on a small but troublesome group of about 10,000 Michigan drivers ... who have proven by past actions that nothing seems to work too effectively in making them any better road samaritans.

The end result according to Secretary of State James M. Hare is that tougher actions such as suspensions and revocations of licenses are leading the milder actions by a three-to-one margin.

Hare said this was the initial result of his department's "clamp-down" policy against this group of chronic highway "troublemakers."

The new policy evolved recently by the Department of State is designed to "ground" an incorrigible group of bad drivers.

Thoughts from Outer Space

By Marshall Sayles

Since United States is becoming less adult and more teenager every day, I find it necessary to gather my wits about me and touch upon it. I must be careful though, for the last time I gathered my wits about me they became unruly and refused to behave.

However, the idea keeps presenting itself to write something for "adults only" in order to increase my teen-age readership.

I dislike the words "for adults only" for they have all the earmarks of saying that you should behave yourself when you are young, but it's ok to be delinquent when you are older. Actually they don't say that at all, but they have all those confounded earmarks of adult foolishness.

When a teen-ager gets his first driver's license he feels like an adult; but when he steps to the corner tavern he is suddenly changed back into a teen-ager; and then when we are at war he is surprised to learn that he is an adult and eligible to go; but then when he tries to vote he is quickly switched back into a teenager.

After that he takes to wearing long hair and wondering what's happened to the adult generation.

It's rather a pity that even our adults do not know when a person is an adult.

At one reckless point the law seems to say that anyone who shall have obtained the age of twenty-one is an adult; and it has been insisting upon this foolishness ever since the first three-two beer was slopped on the bar room floor back in the thirties.

Yes. The law figures that if you are not an adult by the time you are twenty-one, shame upon you; and it washes its hands of the whole thing after that.

But, ha! Some seventeen year olds act as though they were adults and some adults act as though they were seventeen year olds.

And so the most profound question of the Twentieth Century goes unanswered:

When is an adult and when is he isn't?

Susie Malpass Talks To Garden Club

When the planned program—a film on flower culture—failed to arrive in time for the regular E. J. Garden Club meeting last Monday, members and guests were taken on a surprise "arm-chair tour" of several European countries, including Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. The young guide for the tour was Miss Susie Malpass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Malpass. Susie has spent the past two summers visiting her Dutch and German families and touring other countries of Europe.

The many beautiful slides she showed attested to her skill in photography as well as her grasp and understanding of the language, interesting situations and peoples of these countries.

Garden Club members were fortunate to have such a program available and are grateful to Susie.

Mrs. Hugh Gidley, Vice-president of Garden Club presided at the business meeting. There was a drawing for two bouquets, one of gladioli and one of asters, furnished by club members. Mrs. Bret Riley and Mrs. Walter McKenzie were the lucky winners.

A lovely arrangement of white gladioli, Irish bells and cerise colored stock was used on the tea table. Mrs. William Porter and Mrs. William Newhall, a guest from Winter Park Florida, served. Mrs. C. B. Wright and Mrs. Hugh Gidley were hostess for the afternoon.

Other guests for the meeting were Mrs. George Simons of Detroit and Mrs. Burl Walker of East Jordan. The club extends a cordial invitation to anyone who wishes to become a member.

The Dutch Elm disease has hit E. J. The following article, copied from the Greenville Daily News, was read to the club by Conservation Chairman, Mrs. Carl Garlick.

This article is written for what it might be worth for we have no proof of it's final success.

A year ago we were informed by a neighbor of his treatment of shade tree elms on his property that were showing signs of Dutch Elm disease. Upon reading of this method of treatment in an old Indian lore book he tried it, and noticed a marked improvement in his trees through that year.

As our lovely two huge elm had begun to show Dutch Elm disease effects in the very top-most branches, we were anxious to try anything to save them. We therefore broed a hole into each tree (slanting downward) large enough to accommodate the neck of a pop bottle, to a distance of about three inches, then with a smaller drill into the center of the trunk. This drilling was done below the first large branch.

Last fall a quart of turpentine was fed into each tree, by means of the inverted bottle. Then the hole was corked. Early this spring the cork was removed and a quart and a half of turpentine was taken up by each tree, and in June another quart was given to each tree.

This year there are no branches dying and no showers of small twigs and leaves that occurred all last summer, which was so very evident as one elm spreads over our concrete drive. We feel encouraged and will repeat this process again this fall and next year.

Though this would not be practical to some elm in heavily wooded areas, to try to save residential elms takes little effort and expense in this manner.

The Indian lore article mentioned "feeding" turpentine as a remedy for diseases of elms, but no particulars were given as to amounts. Our elm are 30 to 32 inches in diameter and we have guessed as to the amounts of turpentine.

Because our elm look very much better than last year, we wanted to share this information with anyone who might care to try this experiment.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Ogden

In seven o'clock rites Saturday evening August 28, at the First Congregational Church of Rochester, Michigan, the Rev. Robert Jacobson officiated at the service uniting Colleen Ann Oxley and Keith Ogden in marriage.

The new Mrs. Ogden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Oxley of 2714 Hillendale Drive, Rochester. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Vaun Ogden of East Jordan, Michigan.

White organza was the choice of the bride for her gown with crystal and pearl embroidered chantilly lace being used for an accent at the neckline. Her bouffant skirt fell into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of imported french illusion was held by a spray headpiece of stephanotis and crystals, and she carried red sweetheart roses surrounded by stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Karen Oxley, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a floor length gown of royal blue taffeta, and carried pink roses and white carnations. Three bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Johnson of Pontiac, Miss Audrey Joswick of Pontiac and Miss Linda Laird of Traverse City, were gowned identically to the honor attendant, and carried cascading white carnations and ivy.

The groom was assisted by Lanny Shepard of East Jordan as best man, with Fred Johnson of Dexter, George Schultz of Charlevoix and Dale LaVanway of Petoskey completing the wedding party.

Mrs. Oxley chose a dress of royal blue chiffon over matching silk for her daughter's wedding. She pinned a corsage of white roses to her shoulder. The groom's mother wore a two-piece blue shantung dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception for two hundred guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the rites, after which the bride's parents hosted a buffet supper for relatives and close friends at their home.

A wedding trip took the young couple into Ontario, Canada and northern Michigan.

The bride attended Michigan State University and is employed at Pontiac Motors in Pontiac, Michigan. The groom will attend North Central Michigan College this fall.

Plan Joint Installation

The American Legion Auxiliary Rebec-Sweet Unit 227 held their first meeting of the new year Tuesday, Sept. 14th at the Legion Home.

Plans were made for a joint installation of officers with the Ellsworth, Boyne City, and Charlevoix Units, to be held in East Jordan on Sept. 28th at the Legion Home, 8 p.m.

Florence Stucker, President of the Lower 11th District will be the installing officer. All members are being urged to attend.

A short report was given by Barbara Walden, Past District President on her recent trip to the American Legion National Convention held in Portland, Oregon. Barbara acted as a Page for the Michigan delegation at the Auxiliary sessions.

A report was also given by Edna Wilkins and Bernadine Brown, regarding their trip Sept. 11th to the American Legion children's home, at Otter Lake, Floy Taylor also accompanied them.

The children's home, is sponsored and run by the American Legion Department of Michigan, and is the only home of its kind run by the Legion in the United States. The home is supported financially by the state, but is under the full supervision of the Legion. Donations from the Legion and Auxiliary help to pay for improvements, clothing, recreational, and other needs of the home. It is a temporary home for children whose home life has been disrupted by broken homes, prolonged illness of a parent or other circumstances. These children, age 5 to 14, are sent by the courts. They may live at the home for as long as two years. If by that time their home problem has not been adjusted they are placed in foster homes by the courts. They can not be adopted from the home.

The home endeavors to give each child a normal home life as is possible, they live in cottages with home mothers in charge, each child has a share in the duties of keeping the cottage clean. Individual attention is given each child when needed. There are counselors on duty at all times.

Each month a birthday party is given in honor of children with a birthday that month. All the children attend these parties and are given treats with a birthday present for each birthday child. These parties are put on by the Districts in the Auxiliary. The September party was sponsored by the Lower 11th and the 18th Districts. Florence Stucker, Lower 11th District President took the ladies from Each Jordan, with her and two members of the Harbor Springs Unit also attended. The 18th District President and five members of her District were present.

Every member of the American Legion and Auxiliary of the Department of Michigan should feel very proud that they are a part of this fine home, where the love and welfare of children is the main goal, and where children are given love and understanding by people who do care. (contributed)

The Farm Market

MILK--The Michigan Milk Producers Assn. established a $5.10 Class I price for August 1965 to July 1966, a 10-13 cent increase over year earlier levels. This, plus a reduction in direct shipment differentials averaging 6.5 cents, will strengthen Base prices in this period. Production will continue to be held in check by a tight labor situation, smaller hay and feed grain crops, and attractive hog and beef prices.

CATTLE--Rising prices this past spring encouraged a step-up in placements of cattle on feed, bringing the July 1 inventory up to 9 percent over the year before. The increase was in cattle weighing under 900 pounds, so that the impact would show up along in the fall and winter months.

HOGS--Hog prices should hold above $20 through mid 1966 except for the seasonal lows along in November or December.

LAMBS--Lamb prices dropped sharply since early June but should not decline much below late July levels, when Choice spring lambs brought $23.50 at Detroit.

EGGS--Prices paid by wholesale distributors for Grade A Large eggs, 33 cents per dozen in late July, should increase seasonally into September and October.

WHEAT--Possible sales to Russia, growing concern over Viet Nam, excessive rain in Europe, drought in Australia and tight holding by farmers strengthened the wheat market in late July and early August. Central Michigan prices were around $1.40 in mid August.

CORN--The 1965 U.S. corn crop is estimated at nearly 4 billion bushels, 10 percent above last year. Market prices will likely be a little lower than on the 1964 crop and near the $1.05 loan rate in Central Michigan.

DRY BEANS--Dry weather reduced prospects and August 1 indications were for a 5,947,000 cwt. crop in Michigan, down 20 percent from 1964. Elsewhere, however, larger dry bean crops are predicted.

Mrs. Bruce A. Hempton

The marriage of Miss Laura Grauel and Mr. Bruce A. Hempton was solemnized Saturday, September 18th at 3 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of East Jordan by Rev. Daniel G. Axt. Two Hundred guests witnessed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli, red carnations and greens. The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Grauel of East Jordan, and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle O. Hempton of Pontiac, Michigan.

Incidental music preceded the ceremony and the traditional wedding music was played by Miss Janet Nesman, cousin of the bride, at the organ.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Laura was attired in a frothy gown of lily-of-the-valley embroidered nylon over tissue taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with modified scoop neckline, elbow-length sleeves and back bow, while the floor-length skirt fell in straight sheath effect in the front and swept into a full chapel train at the back. Her double-tiered veil of imported illusion was secured by a bridal crown made of heirloom alencon lace belonging to her great, great grandmother and previously worn by five other brides of the family. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings, the gift of the groom, and she carried a white prayer book, topped by white orchids and trailing stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Miss Suzanne Malpass of East Jordan, cousin of the bride. She and the bridesmaid, Miss Susan Ruotsala of Lansing, were identically attired in floor-length gowns of American Beauty tissue taffeta, fashioned with modified empire waistline, short sleeves edged with a wide ruffle, and back bow. The skirts were similar to the bride's, with sheath effect at the front and full sweep train at the back. Miss Malpass carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of red and white carnations while Miss Ruotsala's flowers were red and white variegated carnations. Small self-material circlets secured their shoulder-length veils.

Lawrence Hempton, brother of the groom of Warren, Michigan, was best man and Stanley Bouck of Pontiac was groomsman. The ushers were Robert Hempton of Pontiac, brother of the groom, and Allan Grauel of East Jordan, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Grauel chose a sleeveless sheath of gold and blue brocade with a matching hat and full-length coat, and gold accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Hempton, mother of the groom, wore a bone-colored pure silk sheath with jeweled collar, matching jacket and fur-trimmed hat, cinnamon-beige accessories, and a wrist corsage of Talisman roses.

Master and Mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Wilson of Jackson at the reception held in the church parlors, where punch and coffee were served with the beautiful three-tiered wedding cake baked by Mrs. Thomas Galmore of East Jordan, cousin of the bride. Assisting at the reception served by the deacons of the church were: Mrs. Alfred Thornton of Kitchener, Ontario; Mrs. A.J. Dudek; Mrs. Carleton Carter; the misses Peggy Carter, Jane and Mary Dudek, all of Petoskey; Mrs. W.E. Malpass, Mrs. Harry Watson, Mrs. John Savory, and Miss Leslie Anne Grauel of East Jordan.

For traveling the new Mrs. Hempton wore a beige and white tweed sheath with brown accessories, a white wool topper, and corsage of white orchids. After a Canadian wedding trip the new Mr. and Mrs. Hempton will be at home in Lansing, where the groom attends Michigan State University. The new Mrs. Hempton attended Michigan State University last year. Mr. Hempton has served four years in the U.S. Navy.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am sending an item which was published in the Lansing State Journal and thought it would be of interest to you. It shows us all that East Jordan has not been forgotten.

Mrs. Orrie Parks
207 Kimbark
Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Here's the item Mrs. Parks sent along:

Editor, The State Journal:
I was reading the State Journal Saturday, Sept. 11, when I came across "Questions and Answers."

Someone had written and asked where in the United States there was a Jordan River. You answered, In Utah.

That was correct but will you please state that there is also a Jordan River in Michigan. It starts in the Jordan Valley and ends at East Jordan, Michigan, where it empties into the south arm of Lake Charlevoix.

At its head water is the location of the new million dollar fish hatchery.

I am 14 and used to live in East Jordan.

Brenda Parks
Eaton Rapids

Out-of-town guests to attend the wedding came from Toronto and Kitchener, Ontario; Pontiac, Union Lake, Lansing, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Warren, Ludington, Milford, Sparta and Boyne City.
