Civil Service Commission For E.J.?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Bond Issue

Many questions are being asked by residents regarding the $150,000 bond issue for repair and expansion of the city's water system. In order to answer these questions for our readers the News-Herald put them to the water committee of the city council and the committee answered them as follows below. The city's answers were based on information provided by the water engineers, Williams & Works, of Grand Rapids.

QUESTION: How come the improvements to our water system will cost $150,000?

ANSWER: The two wells drilled, pumps and pump house and in-service costs are $30,000. Construction of about 8,000 feet of 8-inch and 7,000 feet of 6-inch water mains and repairs to the existing water storage costs are $120,000.

QUESTION: How come we have to do this work now?

ANSWER: Our entire water system has become inadequate over the years and now is not in keeping with our higher rate of water use, which is many times more than 30 years ago. There has been a tremendous increase in water use in homes and factories. It has been 20 years since a water well has been drilled. There were several days last summer that if the city had had a major fire there would have been no water in the mains with which to fight it.

QUESTION: Why did we let our water system become so inadequate?

ANSWER: Failure of the city over the years to charge a substantial water rate to users to have a fund with which to repair and expand the water system as needed. Now it must be done at once to avert a major water shortage or a possible fire disaster.

QUESTION: How is the city going to pay for this improvement?

ANSWER: Increased water rates were adopted by the city council recently and will become effective April 1, 1966. The new rates are based on reports of our consulting water engineers. They report that the increased water rates will be sufficient to pay off the obligation bonds without assessing new millage on East Jordan property and they will provide for future maintenance and minor expansion.

QUESTION: Why then do we have to vote on the bond issue?

ANSWER: Municipalities can sometimes get general obligation bonds at a lower rate of interest than if they resort to the self liquidating type of bonds; and general obligation bonds must be voted upon by the people.

QUESTION: Then if we vote "yes" on the bond issue, we will pay a higher water rate without additional taxes?

ANSWER: Yes. This is in the opinion of our water engineers, but the new water rates will go into effect whether the bond issue passes or not.

QUESTION: Will our sewer bill also be raised along with the water rates, they are both on the water bill each quarter?

ANSWER: No. Only that portion of your bill marked "water" will be increased.

QUESTION: Some people are saying: "Fix the wells to give us enough water and let the rest of the system go. Is that possible?"

ANSWER: No. Our inadequate size mains now in use will not properly distribute new sources of water to the users and the water storage facilities. Our water storage is also badly in need of repair.

Council Puts Question On April Ballot

Residents of East Jordan will have opportunity to vote on the question of establishing a civil service system to govern some phases of the police department.

The city council has passed a resolution to put the question on the annual election ballot April 4th.

If the system is established by the voters, three persons appointed by the council to act without pay, would constitute the local civil service commission. The city clerk would act as clerk of the agency.

The new commission would operate without cost to the city.

Operating between the police department and the city council, the three-man commission would hear all complaints against any policeman and give the officer opportunity for an official hearing. Only on recommendation of the commission would the officer be dismissed or retained.

New policemen joining the department would be required to take a civil service examination administered by the commission and city council.

It is said that under the civil service arrangement, policemen may operate more efficiently without fear of petty reprisals for doing their job as required by law.

Thus, it is said, citizens of the community are assured that time, training, money and education spent on an officer by the city would not be lost through a petty incident or through private or political feelings against a policeman, something that might result in his unwarranted dismissal.

It is said that under the new system, a policeman would have greater incentive to better himself through police education, knowing that his job would be more secure; and he would be better able to carry out his duties as a policeman, knowing that the three-man commission has final say whether he is doing his job properly.

Police salary, daily working conditions, expansion or reduction of the police department, would rest with the city council itself.

Through the local civil service examination, it is said, the city would receive better qualified policemen, who would be assured of their positions as long as they did their job according to the law.

The civil service system for local operation is authorized by the state and is set up to operate for both police and fire departments. But since East Jordan does not have a full time fire department, the local commission could not act for that agency.

The system becomes mandatory in East Jordan only upon a vote of the people at the polls.

Local commissions have been set up for other northern Michigan communities and in some cases have proven to be highly valuable when personal grudges were worked against police officers who did not warrant being dismissed.

The civil service commission has final authority in any such cases brought against a policeman.

An old, run down house in East Jordan will be razed by Fern Horton and Helen King in what is hoped will be the start of removing unsightly buildings in East Jordan. This one is located on East Mill street next to the Horton and King property.

SPEED-UP THE MAIL

A letter can some times take a couple of days to travel across town or almost a week to make a 100-mile trip, according to "Crisis in the Post Office" in the March issue of Reader's Digest.

After researching the archaic methods of sorting mail in the major-post offices, and comparing them to a mechanized operation, the authors conclude that a new era of prompt mail delivery is in prospect when ZIP (Zoning Improvement Plan) is fully operative, and will save at least $100 million a year.

However, this will also require additional federal funds, according to the article, to improve facilities and equipment, as well as positive action. Both Congress and the Administration need your support to offset the powerful pressure groups attempting to retard the acceptance of the ZIP code and the installation of automatic sorting devices.

The increase in mail volume, plus the normal 55,000 a year attrition leaving the service, makes it possible for Post Office officials to guarantee that no worker will be fired or downgraded by ZIP or mechanization. But the unions refuse to believe this and are fighting hard for a delay.

"If we continue postal operations as they are," Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien said, "there's no doubt that in a couple of years we could be facing a true disaster in the mails."

Urge your Congressman to support post-office mechanization now!

Thoughts from Outer Space

By Marshall Sayles

Every once in a while someone goes out in the back yard and spots an unknown flying object; and whoever sees it gets mad at his friends when they pooh, pooh his findings, or seeings.

Many years ago before scientists sat down to tamper seriously with the moon, people were spotting strange, heavenly objects. But instead of calling the fire department, they merely shook their heads and went back in the house to finish their dinner.

That was back in the days when the funny papers told us there were people on other planets; and we used to believe if you saw it in the funny papers, it was so.

But now that science has about proven there are no people on other planets we are beginning to suspect the funny papers. For current, accurate data on hand punched some holes in our foolishness.

I am sorry that the funny papers have been shown up. It was fun to read them; we used to dream along with their authors that perhaps there really was a better land way off in the distant heavens where God and kings looked down upon earth and wondered what in the dickens ailed the people down here.

But now science has come along to spoil our wonderful dreams, not caring a hoot that we Americans need something to take our minds off Hubert Humphrey and all that.

The human mind needs mysteries to worry and argue about--something to divert our thoughts from the difficult task of getting along with our neighbors.

People peering down upon us from other planets was just the rig.

Drat all science.

Garden Club News

New officers for the coming year were elected at the March meeting of the East Jordan Garden Club. They were as follows:

President, Mrs. Ben Schenck; vice president, Mrs. Hugh Gidley; secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Schumacher; treasurer and recording secretary, Mrs. W. W. Rogers.

The club members also voted to buy three more figures to be added to the Christmas Creche, scene.

The program for the afternoon was given by Mr. Jerry Lawrence, Area Forester for the Pigeon River State Forest, from the Gaylord District office. Mr. Lawrence stated that there are approximately 19,000,000 acres of forest land in Michigan. This includes privately owned, Federal and state owned lands. The so called virgin stands are becoming very scarce and those still standing are in danger of being destroyed not only because of the sale of private lands for commercial use but because of their age, height and proximity to each other which makes them vulnerable to strong winds.

From 1870 to 1900 Michigan led the nation in the production of lumber most of which was the native white pine. The state now is 12th in the production of lumber and 20th in the production of pulp wood.

Mr. Lawrence pointed out the by-products of the forests - maple syrup, home for wild life, used as food, mushrooms and berries which provide occasions for family outings and recreation too. There are over 100 state forest camp-sites located mostly in isolated areas with marked trails for hiking. The forests affect the climate of the area creating large areas of shade which cool the winds. They also play a

PAY AT THE TOP

Total cost of top-level state administration will jump sharply next year if the State Civil Service Commission's recommendations are accepted by the Legislature.

Under the 1963 Constitution, the Commission is responsible for recommending pay levels for all executive appointive positions which are not classified, plus the few elected posts.

The present salary levels for these posts range from $16,000 for the head of the Licensing and Regulation Department, to $30,000 each for the Governor and Mental Health Director. This top figure is also authorized for the unnamed Superintendent of Education.

Legislators and the Governor have previously discussed raising the salaries for these top 20 posts. Another 70-odd positions are involved in the Commission plan because each of the department heads has one or more deputies not classified by civil service.

Currently the nearly 100 posts involve an expenditure of $1,221,000. Only two of the 20 department heads would remain at present levels, $20,000 each for the elected Secretary of State and Attorney General.

Highest paid under the Commission plan would be the Mental Health Director, a psychiatrist, at $35,000.

The Commission says the boosted rates will be necessary to get and keep good people in the top position which do not offer the job security provided by civil service status.

ATTEMPT CONTROL
A spending ceiling on Senate committees was put into effect this year. It was viewed with mixed reactions by lawmakers and others.

The $10,000 annual spending list would apply to all except the important Appropriations Committee, by far the busiest of the working units in either house.

Sen. John T. Bowman, D-Roseville, said he foresaw the problem that the public would assume the entire $10,000 allowed was being spent by every committee. This would be a very high figure for most committee activity in past years.

The other side of the coin is that legislators might feel the limit is a mandate for spending, rather than a ceiling.

Sen. Bernard O'Brien, Detroit Democrat who heads the Insurance Committee whose activities at least partly prompted the limitation, said he planned to ask for $5,000 before the ceiling was set.

Under normal circumstances, for routine committee business, even this would be a relatively high figure. He didn't indicate whether he would keep his committee expenditures within his intended request in view of the higher level set by the leadership.

Spending by legislative committees has frequently been criticized in many quarters.

Study trips near and far have been used and abused often enough to have earned the derogatory name, junkets.

Whether the $10,000 spending limit will do much to improve the image of committee study is questionable. Previously each committee asked for specific appropriations for interim work such as the various trips.

Only if the limitation is used as a guideline, maintaining careful scrutiny of individual sizeable expenditures, can the image of committee work hold any hope for improvement.

LOCAL HELP

Rapid growth of the state's major colleges and universities is frequently chronicled while another education institution gets less notice despite increasing importance.

Community colleges are now taking their place in education. Today there are 19 in operation

Another five will soon open doors to students.

Last year the state contributed about $4 million to assist in the creation and expansion of community college facilities. This year the capital outlay allotment is expected to be at least double that, and possibly triple or more.

Space problems at the four-year institutions of higher education continue to exist despite massive construction programs. The community colleges seem to offer the answer to part of these problems.

In addition, schooling beyond the secondary level becomes more in demand. Community colleges offer many courses on a one or two-year basis to enable youths to fit into jobs.

Existence of the college programs locally, or within commuting distance, brings higher education within the financial reach of many thousands who could not attend a campus elsewhere.

Proof of the community colleges' importance is seen in statistics other than the basic number of such units now in use or planned. In 1955 community colleges, usually known at that time as junior colleges, listed enrollments of about 13,500. Last fall some 61,275 students were enrolled.

Tax on Landpower

Look under the hood of a modern automobile and you'll see a bristling power plant capable of producing speeds no sane human would dare sample.

Some people do sample them. If they live to tell the tale, quite often they find themselves telling it to the judge.

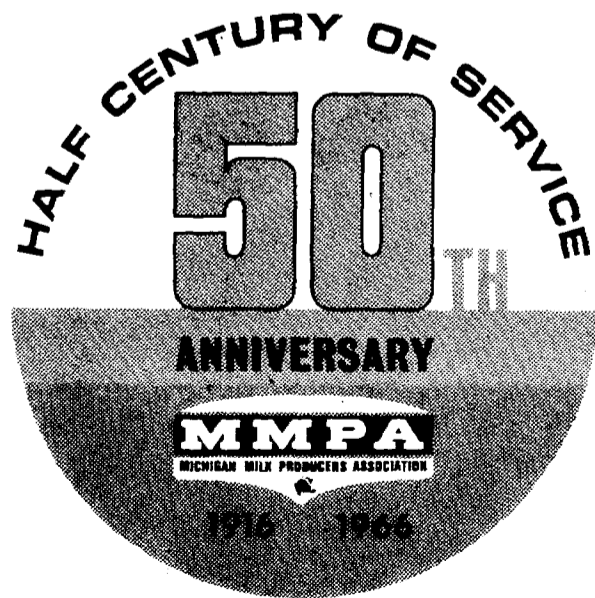

In these same cases, justice is meted out. After all, there are laws against speeding, and those who violate the laws should be penalized.

But who would suggest that a citizen should be punished merely because his automobile is capable of speeding? It would not make sense. The capability of breaking the law is something we all possess. There is an amazing parallel, though, in the way property taxes are imposed upon our farmers.

Their farms, fringing a suburban area, are looked upon by many assessors as "potential" building lots, and assessment ratings are set accordingly. This spells real tax trouble for the farmer. The land may look like a bustling future shopping center to the assessor, but the farmer sees it only as grazing land for his cows or for growing corn. No agricultural use to which

ITS

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF SERVICE

What is Michigan Milk Producers Association?
What does it do for its members?
What does it do for you?

Michigan Milk Producers Association was founded by a handful of Michigan dairy farmers in 1916. Today, MMPA has more than 9,000 members and last year marketed over $127 million worth of milk. In fifty years, MMPA has become one of the largest dairy cooperatives in America. What is responsible for this remarkable growth? Service. Outstanding service to its members—and to consumers as well.

THE PURPOSE OF MMPA

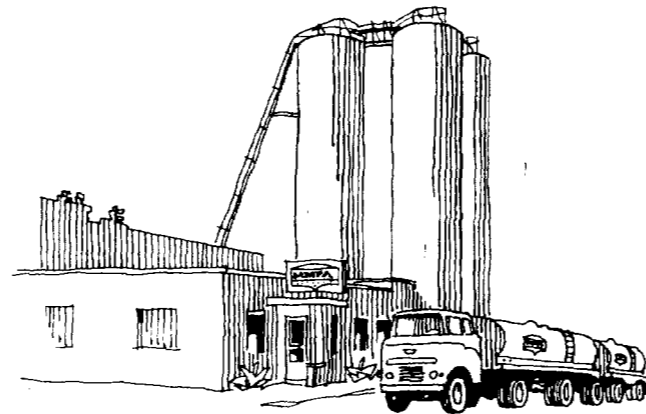

The main purpose of the founders of Michigan Milk Producers Association was to assure members a fair return for their milk through price negotiations with dairies. That is still the main purpose today. Over the years, however, MMPA has added many special services and guarantees which assure a more stable market for members and help assure you, the consumer, an uninterrupted supply of fresh, wholesome milk.

GUARANTEED MARKET AND PAYMENT

All MMPA members are active dairy farmers—shipping large quantities of milk to market every day. Because of the perishable nature of milk, even one day without a market can be costly. MMPA, therefore, guarantees every member a market for his milk, every day of the year—providing it meets health standards. What's more, MMPA guarantees each member full payment for his milk at all times.

DISASTER AND QUARANTINE PROTECTION

Dairy barns and herds are essential to the dairy farmers income. If a member's barn or milking facilities are damaged by fire or windstorm, MMPA pays that member up to 75% of his milk income for a 90-day recovery period. The same financial protection is guaranteed any member prevented by disease from shipping milk.

TESTING AND FIELD SERVICE

MMPA professional testers check regularly to make sure each member is paid on an accurate basis. MMPA's professional field men call on members regularly to help them with individual problems and to help keep them informed about current quality standards, health department regulations and marketing facts.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Many changes have taken place and much has been accomplished in fifty years. Today, MMPA stands as the modern marketing arm of Michigan dairy farmers. Its major purpose still is to serve the dairy farmer members who own and operate it. And the result is to provide you, the consumer, with an uninterrupted supply of fresh, wholesome milk.

We measure our success in terms of our service to our members and to you. And we think we have reason to celebrate.

MICHIGAN MILK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

OWNED AND OPERATED BY MICHIGAN DAIRY FARMERS

Look under the hood of a modern automobile and you'll see a bristling power plant capable of producing speeds no sane human would dare sample.

Some people do sample them. If they live to tell the tale, quite often they find themselves telling it to the judge.

In these same cases, justice is meted out. After all, there are laws against speeding, and those who violate the laws should be penalized.

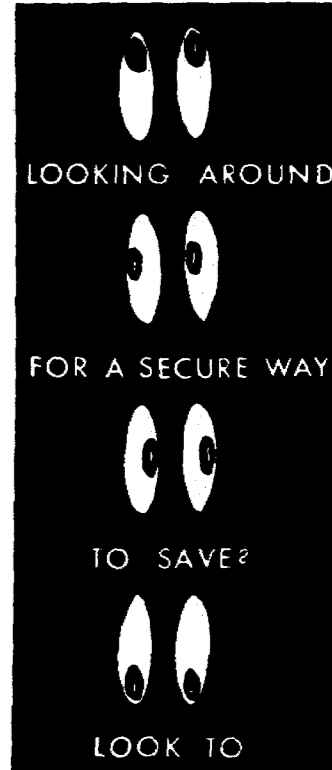

But who would suggest that a citizen should be punished merely because his automobile is capable of speeding? It would not make sense. The capability of breaking the law is something we all possess. There is an amazing parallel, though, in the way property taxes are imposed upon our farmers.

Their farms, fringing a suburban area, are looked upon by many assessors as "potential" building lots, and assessment ratings are set accordingly. This spells real tax trouble for the farmer. The land may look like a bustling future shopping center to the assessor, but the farmer sees it only as grazing land for his cows or for growing corn. No agricultural use to which the farmer puts the land could possibly pay the tax bills under such an assessment load.

The Michigan Legislature, in its 1966 session, will consider this kind of injustice. A bill in each house would provide that farm land under cultivation should be assessed for that purpose and not a potential residential or business property.

The problem no longer hits the "occasional" farmer. The rapid expansion of our cities in southern Michigan has brought this problem to the fields and hills of a large percentage of our Michigan farmers. And the urban expansion moves on.

Farmers close at hand mean cheaper, better food products for the cities. It can be a handicap to the urban people to foreclose on the farm neighbors through taxes.

This is the heating element on an electric range. You can set it at high, medium-high, medium, medium-low and low. It takes a while to reach the desired temperature, of course. And quite a while to cool after you turn it off. It's difficult to keep it clean. And it's the most expensive way to cook.

This is the burner on a modern Gas range. It gives you an infinite number of heat settings. Turn it on and immediately you get the exact controlled heat you want. Turn it off and it cools almost at once. You can remove the entire assembly and wash it in your dishpan or dishwasher in a matter of minutes. And it's the least expensive way to cook. See the new Gas ranges at your dealer's or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms. And remember: because it's so controllable, GAS MAKES A GOOD COOK BETTER.

big part in keeping streams clear by preventing soil erosion and they furnish hiding places for the fish and water loving animals among their roots and fallen logs.

Not least among the benefits of the forests is the beauty of our roadside scenes and autumn colors. The talk was illustrated with many beautiful slides.

The Michigan State Forester plays the biggest part in helping to preserve our forests. Mr. Lawrence explained how the jack pine is being preserved and propagated by controlled burning and reseeding the burned over areas with the seeds of the cones which open in the intense heat. The aspen tree which was not held in high regard for many years is now being encouraged in growth for pulp wood and some types of ply-wood. The aspen tree, when cut, will send up root sprouts and reestablish itself if kept free of shade. The new growth furnish cover and browse for Elk rabbit and deer.

A continuous inventory of state forest lands is kept, trees are thinned to keep the remaining ones healthy, over mature trees rot in the heart and must be removed. Seedlings are grown in state nurseries and replanted in burned or cut over areas. Hardwoods take over areas where the pines have once been because they will grow in the shade of the remaining pines or aspen. Mr. Lawrence said that aspen may be harvested in 30 to 45 years but it takes a hardwood tree 80 to 85 years to reach the same stage of maturity.

Bogs, marshes and open grass land are also included in the state reserves and are important in furnishing food and homes for wild-life. The beaver helps man in thinning trees and creates ponds for other small wild animals. The forester and game warden work closely together watching for fires, cutting browse and planning for food areas for the preservation of two of our most valuable, natural resources—our forests and wild animals.

The unusual and very attractive decor for the tea table was reminiscent of old Erin to celebrate the birthday of the Irish Saint. On a white, flocked, nylon cloth was placed a green, Lava lamp, a book of old Irish stories and a pair of spectacles which might have belonged to grandma O' Lafferty herself. Off side, an Irish coffee cup filled with Boston Ivy added the final touch. All but the cup were on loan from the Huckle's Antique Shop. Mrs. Jack Bliss and Mrs. George Simons from Centerline served the guests. Mrs. Simon is the mother of Mrs. Lawrence Schumacher. Mrs. Ewald Redmer and Mrs. Don Langschwager were hostesses for the afternoon.

Have You Registered For Medicare?

A crash program to register residents eligible for Medicare hospital and medical insurance before March 31 is now underway in East Jordan by NORCAP (Northern Citizens Action Program), according to Harold M. Totten who heads the drive in Charlevoix county.

Volunteer workers are on the job for the remainder of the month seeking out eligible persons to get them registered before the deadline. The next registration period will not be until October, 1967 with benefits starting July 1, 1968.

Persons 65 or over who have not received Medicare forms from Social Security must file registration forms before March 31 to be covered by the Medicare hospital insurance to which they are entitled at no cost. They may also apply for the Medicare medical insurance which cost $3.00 per months.

NORCAP volunteers are available throughout the county to help eligible persons get their registrations to Social Security before the deadline.

East Jordan City Clerk Benjamin E. Bustard has registration forms available at the city hall. The only information needed is name, address, date of birth and

The 1966 telephone directory serving Charlevoix and Emmet counties will be delivered to all subscribers beginning Tuesday, March 29, announced Kenneth T. Harrold, manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Harrold said some 20,000 directories will be delivered in Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston, Petoskey and Walloon Lake.

Social Security number if one has been issued.
