If homes lost by fire last year in Michigan could have been saved, their dollar value would be enough to house all the people in St. Louis, Michigan (population 3,500).

That fact was pointed out by Richard G. Pfister, extension safety specialist at Michigan State in calling attention to Fire Prevention Week, starting October 9.

The week is a memorial to the great Chicago fire which started on Oct. 9, 1871.

One hundred sixty-nine people died from fire last year in Michigan, he emphasizes, and many of those fires could have been prevented.

Eight out of 10 fires that will occur in Michigan this year could be prevented, he asserts, if everyone would clean up rubbish and correct faulty electrical wiring immediately.

The U. S. suffered more than a billion dollars worth of property loss from fires in 1954.

Local Hospital Bed Service Gives Aid To Many Residents

How are Things?

What goes on in our good land? Well, churches have 89 million members and they contribute $2½ billion a year toward their work. Hospitals have increased their capacity 50 per cent in the last 20 years.

Our schools have an enrollment of 33 million, of whom 2½ million are in higher education—55 percent more than in 1940. We spend $1-billion a year on our schools. We have more than 40,000 libraries, 2500 art museums, support 170 symphony orchestras.

There are 37,000,000 married couples in the U. S., and more than half of them have got hitched since 1940. These are having bigger families—nearly twice as many second and third children, two-thirds again as many fourth children, compared with 1940.

Editor's note: The following news story, presented the News-Herald by the Odd Fellow-Rebekah Hospital Bed Service, is published as written by a member, with the hope of better explaining to the public the extent of the much needed service offered by this committee.

In May, 1944 the Odd Fellow-Rebekah Hospital Bed Service started out with two beds, three wheelchairs and 15 pair of crutches.

Within two years the equipment was increased to 8 beds, 5 wheelchairs and 15 pairs of crutches.

Over the years an average of 16 beds and 12 wheelchairs per year were loaned out.

This equipment is loaned to anyone in need of it regardless of race, color or creed, rich or poor, as long as it is available.

However, it is not loaned out to hospitals or convalescent homes. There is no rental charge on the equipment, but if the committee delivers, there is a $3.50 charge which also pays for its return.

THERE IS no charge for delivery of crutches when the patient is unable to call for them.

The committee will accept free will donations for the use of the equipment when the patient desires to help out, but none is expected.

The committee is glad to serve people in surrounding communities when their local equipment is not available.

On hand are 8 beds which are furnished with mattress covers and rubber sheets, 6 wheelchairs and 12 pairs of crutches.

The committee expects to purchase several bed tables, new mattress and several pairs of children's crutches. In addition to this the old equipment will be renovated and painted.

Anyone having equipment belonging to the committee which is not being used, are asked to return it so some one else may benefit from its use. However, there is no time limit on equipment being used.

THE EQUIPMENT is kept at the home of Committee Chairman Carlton Bowen and anyone desiring beds, chairs or crutches may call him at LEnox 6-7265.

Anyone unable to contact him call Martin Decker, Mrs. Manual Bartholomew or Mrs. Charles Murphy and they will relay the message.

Sometime prior to 1950, 2 wheelchairs came up missing. Will anyone having an Odd Fellow wheel chair please let the committee chairman know as they are too expensive to lose and apparently no record was made of their going out.

PTC Club to Hold Supper, Oct. 12

The Parent Teachers Club will hold their annual Harvest Supper at the East Jordan high school on Wednesday evening, October 12th at 6:30 p.m. Open house will follow the supper.

The whole family is invited, and a movie will be shown for the children.

LETTER BOX

Technical School Suggested For Youth of Northern Area

To the editor

In a recent issue of the News-Herald there appeared an item relative to trade training in which I was quite interested.

In the past 20 years I have made a study of the need for industrial education in the smaller school systems of Michigan.

The objective of a plan which I have evolved are enclosed with this letter.

The trend is toward decentralization of industry with small towns and cities sought for suitable factory sites, and, as you point out in your article, the lack of preparation in the fundamentals of trade education compels many to seek such training elsewhere.

Space will not permit me to go into the details of the plan I have evolved, however, I would be happy to present this plan before any group interested in the subject.

—A. L. Drapeau

Editor's note: The News-Herald has obtained the information on a "Paul Bunyan Technical Camp for Boys" at East Jordan. The plans are proposed by Mr. Drapeau and have been under consideration by him for some time.

Mr. Drapeau's idea has been to locate the proposed technical camp four miles north of East Jordan on lake front property, which he owns.

It would be a summer activity for ambitious boys from grades 8th through 12, with the training being academic, trade and technical. The session would last six weeks with 90 clock hours of instruction—3 hours per day, 5 days per week.

Instruction would be given by qualified teachers and there would be a good recreation program—fishing, boating, swimming, hiking, and field games.

OBJECTIVES
Objectives of the technical camp would be to provide industrial arts and industrial education experiences for boys attending schools where little or no such training is offered. (Class D and some class C schools.)

The camp would also be for those boys whose local school schedule might be in conflict whereby they might be deprived of taking part in industrial training—even though the course might be offered in their school.

Other objectives of the camp would be: (1) Provide opportunity for advanced academic training for more ambitious students;

Color TV is going to change a lot of things, they say. For instance some nationally advertised products will have their familiar colors changed so they will look better over color television. It was reported this week that Philip Morris, now is changing their pack from brown to white, gold and red to look better on color television.

If our friend David Crockett knew how taxes have gone up he'd probably turn in his grave. A speech of Crockett's before the full House of Representatives back in March, 1830 is reported by University of Michigan.

Crockett talked against a transportation bill saying: "I discover a determination to squander the public funds in some way; and, therefore, I should strive to 'come in for snacks.'" Then he voted for the bill.

HE ADDED, however: "I would not be surprised if we should finally be obliged to resort to a system of direct taxation. This will be a tough morsel for the people in my part of the country to swallow."

A regional health council meeting to study improvement of community health will be held October 27th in the Park Place hotel, Traverse City. The meeting is open to the public and a large group is expected from Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Benzie, Kalkaska, Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

Here's the interesting results of a farm-city survey made by University of Michigan.

(1) One fourth of the farmers who are "mainly farmers" leave their work long enough to work part-time in semi or unskilled factory jobs.

(2) Although 35 percent of the men quit school after junior high to farm, 7 per cent of the women and 4 per cent of the men went on to college.

(3) Ten percent of the city women and 15 percent of the men have some college training.

(4) Seventy-five percent of the farmers said they had "always lived in this area."

(5) Only 26 percent of the city folks said they were natives of the city.

(6) Farm population is much older than that of the city.

(7) Half of the city dwellers were under 40.

(8) Only one-quarter of the farmers were under 40.

(9) One quarter of the farm husbands were over 65.

(10) Only six percent of the city husbands were over 65.

(11) Half the farmers reported less than $3,000 total income for '54.

(12) Only 7 percent of the city people said they earned as little as $3,000.

(13) Sixteen percent of the farmers said they earned more than $5,000.

(14) Three percent of the farmers said they earned more than $10,000.

(15) Thirteen percent of the city folks reported more than $10,000.

(16) Of the two groups (city-farm) 75 percent of both had television sets.

(17) Seventy-five percent of the farmers owned their homes.

(18) Only 62 percent of the city people owned the house they were living in.

It's too late now!

It's too late now for fire prevention. Rush the kids out of the house—a quick phone call to the fire department—lucky to be alive!

Face one fact squarely: fire is possible in your home now. Only constant vigilance will prevent it. Nine out of ten of all fires are directly traceable to human error or neglect. Fire prevention is more than a set of rules. Each person must become fire-aware so that he or she can anticipate what things may cause fire and avoid them.

Remember, to keep your home and job free from fire: Don't smoke in bed—Don't use flammable cleaning fluids—Be careful of oil stoves—Don't let children play with matches—Don't overload your wiring system—Don't let junk accumulate in attic and basement—Don't use ordinary extension cords on heaters and irons—Don't be careless with cigarettes. Be fire-aware. Don't give fire a place to start!

LOOKING BACKWARD

Reviewing The News-Herald

OCTOBER 9, 1915
The first snow storm of the season arrived this morning.

Miss Reva Porter and Lewis Kamradt were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lillian Porter.

R. Y. McBride of Shady Nook farm lost the end of his right little finger while loading an ensilage cutter at H. E. Hutton's Tuesday.

A hay pony belonging to the East Jordan Lumber Co. fell off the tramway at Mill B Monday driving one of the thills through its neck. The thill was removed and the pony seems none the worse for its experience.

OCTOBER 9, 1925
Mrs. Mary Lilak, 76, died at her home October 2nd.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson on September 30th.

A. G. Rogers began work on a new home on the corner of Second and Estery Streets.

The Board of Education has voted to include in its curriculum a course in manual arts with a special instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gruber, parents of Frank J. Gruber celebrated their golden wedding at Cherrysvale October 7th.

Joseph Clark has been appointed to serve as rural route mail carrier on Route 1.

OCTOBER 11, 1935
Supt. L. G. Balch was transferred from the Cheboygan district of Michigan Public Service to the Boyne City division, which includes East Jordan.

Miss Virginia Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Wilson Township and Kenneth Blossie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Blossie, were united in marriage by Rev. James Leitch.

Steps leading to the abandonment as a state trunkline highway of the route formerly followed by M-66 from East Jordan south are being taken by the state highway department. At the same time, the new routing of M-66 over this distance will be officially determined as a trunk line highway.

Graduate Nurse

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Shades of Tom Sawyer!

Hack Willis had just stopped the tractor so's he could cool off at the pump, when a young insurance salesman came up the drive. Hack was tired of plowing, and needed insurance on his new barn. But he also needed to get that winter rye in fast. The salesman, an eager kid, noticed hesitation. "I come from a farm," he said. "Why don't you look at these booklets—get all the dope—and I'll take that plow a couple of rounds for you."

Young fellow laid off a pretty straight furrow, too. It was almost dark before Hack—sitting in the shade—was able to decide just what kind of policy to get. From where I sit, to be a good salesman—or a good citizen—it always helps to "put yourself in the other man's place." He may have a different sort of job with different problems... he may prefer to close a deal over, say, a friendly glass of beer while you might prefer something else. But both of you can co-operate if you make it a "policy" to try.

THE MIDDLE GUARD
by LES BINGAMAN

Clad in a freshly-cleaned uniform, helmet in perspiring hands, the muscular young player sat in front of his locker and gulped nervously as he waited for the signal to call the team onto the playing field.

He glanced at other players, also in varying attitudes of waiting, some of them first-year men like himself and nervous but most veterans of other campaigns and visibly composed over the contest that was only a few minutes away.

No, this wasn't a high school youngster waiting his first game or a collegian about to make his big debut but a professional football player, with eight solid years of gridiron experience behind him, as jittery as a school-boy ready to play before mom and dad for the first time.

The cause of the young player's nervousness was the realization that once again he was a freshman, this time on the most competitive level of football, the intensely rugged professional level.

SELECT SOCIETY

Where thousands of players annually land berths on college teams and an even greater number plays on high school squads, the opportunity is diminished tremendously in pro football.

Less than 400 players are actively engaged in the National Football League, 33 players on each of 12 teams, or a total of 396 to be exact. And most of these 396 are veteran performers, the most talented, durable and clever in the land. Only half a dozen to a dozen rookies make the grade on any team in any given season.

Thus, to join this select society, a player has to be very, very good—exceptional, in fact—and the nervous young player awaiting his first pro game is well aware of the fact.

No matter that he has survived the initial cuts of the training season. He can be cast adrift any time his performance suffers, for this play is for cash as well as for keeps. There are any number of talented young men eager to fill his shoes.

USING WILL POWER

I well remember how upset I was during my first year as middle guard with the Lions in 1948. I was fearful that I was playing poorly and that every game would be my last. It took me a long time to get over that feeling.

with the competition so keen and the threat of unemployment always a factor, why do most of the topnotch collegians graduate into pro football instead of immediately embarking on a business or professional career?

There are several answers. One is the pay, which for an established star of the first rank can run up to $20,000 for six months' work. Others are the glamour, the opportunity to make contacts for business positions later and the strong desire to prove worth as one of the best 400 players in the country. In addition, there is love for the game, which I still have, well over 300 pounds of it. It takes a lot of will power for me not to get on the field with the Lions again, but I'm going to limit my football to assisting in broadcasting the games and writing this weekly column on pro ball and the Lions. I'll have a lot to tell in the ensuing weeks.

Many Fires Caused by Gasoline

When the homemaker borrows a gallon of gasoline from the storage tank to do some dry cleaning in the kitchen, she is in almost as much danger as if she were playing with 83 pounds of dynamite.

That's the word from Ed Rebbman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, in calling attention to Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15.

Many fires in farm homes are caused by using gasoline as a cleaning fluid. Hard rubbing of material often generates static electricity. And the spark causes the explosion of the gasoline vapor, explains Richard Pfister, extension agricultural engineer at Michigan State University.

Gasoline vapor is three times heavier than air, he adds, and it will float along near the floor or drop to the basement where a gas burner or a floor furnace will cause a violent explosion equal to 83 pounds of dynamite.

If carbon tetrachloride is used as a cleaning material, cautions Pfister, remember that it is very toxic. It should be used outside and the fumes should not be inhaled.

Pfister says that several effective cleaners are available that are safer and are much less toxic. In any case, he warns read the label on any chemical cleaning compound you buy and heed its instructions.

Orchard Notes . . .

On account of low priced Montmorency cherries, some growers are talking about planting sweets. Political maneuvers run the price of sweets way up a few years ago and this year the price of sweets were low.

Ludington sweet cherry growers at one time years ago enjoyed a shipping trade. Today the scourge of brown rot cannot be over come to an extent where their sweets can be shipped to the fresh fruit market.

The planting site for sweets should be elevated and sloping to the west as the sweets do not wind whip. The sweets need more air drainage and should be planted thirty feet apart or else they rot easily.

On real good soil the Bing grows too large and cracks easily. The Schmidt is the blackest of all and does not crack but is sometimes a shy bearer. The Napoleon yellow is the best and most productive for marchino cherries.

Test yourself on this Fire Prevention Quiz

Write under each picture the fire prevention rule you believe is being broken. No prizes—you just may save your life and the lives of your family. Try it!

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

5. _____

6. _____

Can you honestly say that none of the above examples of fire hazards occur in your home? The answers are: 1. Don't be careless with cigarettes; 2. Don't use flammable cleaning fluids; 3. Don't overload your wiring system; 4. Don't let children play with matches; 5. Don't let junk accumulate in the attic and basement; 6. Don't smoke in bed.

Maybe you answered all the questions correctly, but don't for a minute think that rules alone will prevent fires. There are thousands of different ways a fire can start in your home. Only by being constantly aware of the danger of fire can we avoid doing those things which produce fire. Nine out of ten of all fires are caused by human error or neglect.
