Devils Whip Gaylord For Second In Row

East Jordan's fired up ball club broke into the win column again Friday with a last minute winning score over Gaylord, 13-7 that racked up two wins for the locals in one of the most hectic seasons they have seen in several years.

Gaylord began the scoring in the second period with Glasser sweeping around the Red Devils right end for a 13 yard dash over the goal. The extra kick made the tally 7-0.

East Jordan then opened up a passing attack which surprised fans since the local team had not taken to the air this season. But three interceptions by both teams kept the ball near center field in a game which began to bog down.

With no score for East Jordan at the opening of the last quarter, Dick Streeter drove across pay dirt with an off tackle rush from the eight.

Streeter then ran across for the extra point.

During the final minutes of the game Streeter passed to Woodcock making four yards and then Woodcock went over for the winning score.

Friday night the Red Devils will face one of the best teams in the northern circuit when they meet Boyne City on the latter's field. Boyne City dumped Harbor Springs last week to remain near the top (second to Charlevoix) in northern league standings.

Main Street Parking Is Big Problem

Members of the East Jordan Businessmen's Association meeting at the Jordan Inn Tuesday night discussed the increasing difficulty found in Main street parking.

Chairman Donald Clark said the parking problem is getting steadily worse and that within a year or so the city will have a "real problem on its hands."

Greatest period of congested traffic is summer months, it was pointed out, but it was felt that the city needed a parking program that would be effective the year around.

Some members felt the city should provide an off Main street parking lot close to the business district.

It was suggested that the city might be able to rent space on vacant land until a permanent parking lot could be provided.

It was pointed out again that merchants themselves are great offenders of over-time parking on Main street. But it was said that keeping those offending merchants from Main street parking would not solve the entire problem.

Blacktopping of the alley next to Memorial Park by the lake has been suggested by several merchants. Angle parking in the alley would eliminate much of the problem, it was said.

City-Wide Garbage Pick-Up May Be Voted By Council

Mayor Vern Whiteford told members of the East Jordan Businessmen's Association Tuesday night that the city council is discussing the possibility of setting up a city-wide garbage and trash pick-up program.

The plan under discussion, the mayor said, is to establish certain days each week when a city employed truck driver will make residential and business district pick-ups.

It was thought that the city would charge $1.00 per month for business district pickups and 50c for residential.

Mayor Whiteford said the council has not taken a formal vote on the plan, but that he brought it up to the Businessmen's meeting to see how the members felt about it.

Chairman Donald Clark took a quick vote of members present. They voted 100 per cent in favor of the plan.

MAYOR WHITEFORD said the plan would result in more orderly operations at the city dump, since it is planned to have a man there at all times to supervise dumping.

Also the plan would aid the fire department. Several times this past summer the department has been called to the city dump when fire has gotten out of control and threatened nearby woods.

It was said that nearby motels and cottages might enter the plan by contacting the man hired to make the pick-ups. However, those outside the city limits would have to make direct payments to the truck driver. The plan calls for adding the city pick-up charges to either the property taxes or sewage tax.

The mayor repeated the fact that the council has taken no action on the plan, but is attempting to find out how the residents feel about it.

He said the council generally was in favor of the plan, which

May Hold Second Ann'l. Swan Festival

A second annual Swan City festival to be held early next summer got approval from the members of the East Jordan Businessmen's Association meeting at the Jordan Inn Tuesday night.

Chairman Donald Clark said the festival will be further discussed at the November meeting of the association.

Boat races, which always attract large crowds and the addition of fireworks attraction was suggested for the next festival.

Since the November meeting will be a dinner meeting at which time the annual election of directors will be held, Chairman Clark said he would wait for a formal vote on the festival plans until then. He wanted a larger turnout of members for additional discussion.

The members discussed additional ways and means of aiding Jordan River Sportsmen's Club in the development of Sportsmen's Park.

Farm Bureau Names Smith As President

George Smith, of Charlevoix, was named president of the board of directors of the Charlevoix county Farm Bureau at the annual board meeting held in the home of Carl McBride Monday night.

Smith represents the Hayes Community Farm Bureau group. First vice-president is Ole Nielsen, Sr., of East Jordan representing the Ironton Community group.

Second vice-president is Louis Jones, of Boyne City, representing the Walloon Lake community group.

The board voted to combine the offices of secretary-treasurer. They named Mrs. Lucille Sheridan, of East Jordan to the post.

The above officers represent the Farm Bureau's executive committee.

HOT TIME AT FIREHALL

Six Firemen Honored For 156 Years Of Service To City Of East Jordan

There was a hot time at the old fire hall Monday night. A potluck dinner, a movie, speeches and appreciation awards helped make history for the East Jordan Volunteer Fire Department.

The dinner for retiring firemen brought stories of those "big fires" of years past and recalled times when the older men fought fire under the most dangerous conditions.

The young firemen paid tribute to the older more experienced men, and the retiring firemen returned their thanks and appreciation for the way the younger men are operating the department today.

Men like Ed Kamradt, Louie Peterson and Merl Thompson, seasoned firemen with many years of experience behind them, looked back on the "big ones" that not only change the face of the city, but made history for East Jordan.

Called to mind was the Caning Company fire, the Drenth fire, the school house fire and also the burning of the fire hall itself.

"The boys continue to have as good a department as they have had in the past."

BIGGEST EVENT of the evening was the presentation of 1000 day clocks. They were handed out one by one to the six men who gave so much of their lives to the defense of East Jordan against fire.

The clocks were presented by Sherman Thomas and went to the following men: Gus Anderson, Ed Kamradt, Joe Nemecek, Merl Thompson, Gilbert Sturgell and Louie Peterson.

Chief Thomas recalled the long and unselfish service rendered the department by the late Mary Green, former telephone operator. She sounded the alarm and often spent much time in contacting individual firemen when necessary.

Each retiring fireman wore a red plastic helmet and the place settings for the dinner were small red fire hydrants.

In his address to the older firemen Chief Thomas extended the department's thanks to the wives of the firemen. "They are the people who get us out of bed at night" he said. "And they are the people who see that we are

The campaign quota for the 1955 East Jordan community chest has hit the half way mark, chairman William T. Downs said Tuesday.

He issued a plea that all workers and contributors remember that Saturday is the deadline and that the total quota is $6,500.

Downs said that the 50 per cent in now includes a good share of industry's quota, although individual contributions are "coming in good."

The chest's mystery man was on the Streets Tuesday afternoon after making a visit to Rotary members at their noon luncheon.

Residents are making a silver donation to the mystery citizen's aide and then guessing who the person is.

The mystery citizen is dressed like a dog with the motto: "Don't dog it on the campaign."

EAST JORDAN was bombed last Friday with community chest leaflets telling the campaign story. Robert Strehl and Eric Golke were in the plane which flew over the city dropping the information.

The mystery citizen will be on the streets for short times on Thursday and Friday and residents are urged to take part in the guessing contest.

On Saturday the Boy Scouts will be selling apples on the streets with donations going to swell chest funds.

Also, Saturday, those persons appearing on the streets downtown with out a red feather or pin will be "arrested" and taken to court and fined. The fine will be a few cents.

The many activities to raise funds for the chest have been working out as planned, according to Downs.

Hallowe'en Parade Mon.

The elementary school pupils will have a Hallowe'en parade Monday, October 31st, weather permitting. The parade will start from the school, go through the business section and return to school. It will be followed by parties in the individual rooms.

The six men, for whom the appreciation dinner was given are leaving the department with a combined 156 years of service to the residents of East Jordan.

Following are their names and the number of years they spent as volunteer fire fighters: Gus Anderson, 40 years; Merl Thompson, 25 years; Gilbert Sturgell, 24 years; Ed Kamradt 23 years; Louie Peterson 22 years; and Joe Nemecek 22 years.

THE OLDER men moved from the basement meeting room and went up stairs to look over the modern, efficient equipment which stands ready to challenge the rage of fire.

There were 46 firemen and wives and children on hand to take part in a ceremony that has made history for the department.

Upon receiving their present, some of the men were unable to say what they felt, but it was evident to all how they felt about the tribute paid them by their fellow firemen.

The appreciation dinner was an event not easily forgotten by the men who have devoted their lives to a public service upon which so many depend.

I hate war with a complete hatred. It takes off with bullet or shell or surgeon's knife the capacity of men to achieve their own livelihood or do the work for which they would otherwise be fully qualified.

Brave men, self-sacrificing men, for the rest of their life are put on the limits and strangely suffer in stormy weather from limbs amputated.

How much of the human family in every century has been cut up and shot to pieces and passed into mutilation! American manhood had hardly recovered from the lacerations of the war of the Revolution when it was called to be carved by the swords and stabbed with bayonets and blackened with the gunpowder of 1812.

HARDLY RECOVERED was our American manhood from that when the war with Mexico began its butchery. Hardly was American manhood recovered from that before the civil war took hold of it and dug its grave trench through the north and its grave trench through the south.

Hardly was our American manhood recovered from that when the Spanish War came with its malaria and crowded hospitals.

Thank God that now four of the greatest nations are allied in good understanding — the United States, England, Germany and Russia — and if they will do the right things they can forever stop national and international strife and put an end to wholesale amputation. (From a sermon delivered by Dr. Talmadge at Washington, D. C. and reported in the "Enterprise" of Thursday, February 8, 1902 at East Jordan, Michigan.)

Dr. Talmadge had no way of knowing that in 1916 and again in 1941 the "wholesale amputation" would flare anew to further disgrace mankind.

We leaned into this column today with a nice armful of thoughts, but when we took typewriter in hand to write they fled. Our lily white intentions were to write along here and not rip into anything that might raise pressures of blood. So we'll just start easy like from the beginning and work forward.

A fellow came in from Elmira the other day and stopped at Ken Dillers to pick up a square barrel. A few uneducated on-lookers attempted to correct him by saying he was without doubt referring to a box. But that sort of lingo didn't change the farmer's mind at all. He said back at them: "I still want a square barrel, regardless how you arm chair startegists figure it out."

Editor's note: Squares barrels came into general use back during the war. That was about the time the round ones were all rationed on a pickle priority. So the farmer knew what he was talking about.

The other day we felt a sty coming into our eyes and immediately some one said we were seeing too much. But we haven't had them looked into since a uniformed officer checked them back in '43. But as we get along in age it is increasingly noticeable to us that sooner or quicker glasses will be forthcoming. We certainly hope they bring untold delights to our eyeballs and make seeing a circus.

We thought East Jordan had its fair share of occasional rumors and behind the hand talking and whisperings and goings-on. But they tell us now that Boyne City has suddenly beat us four ways to next Friday afternoon.

We have a darn good fishing guide around town. He can guide you through thick and thin and come out safe and sound. But put him in a bank vault and he doesn't know which way to turn. The only reason he couldn't guide himself out of the vault of the new bank was because he didn't have a compass. Friend Teddy spent something like two uncomfortable hours in the new vault as helpers made unnecessary comments about his probable length of stay. And taking it all in good fun he spoke only King's English back at them. And he isn't going to try to get something back on those guys. Naw, not a bit.

Every once in a while someone comes up with the comment that we ought to have a lady on the council or as mayor. This small feat can be accomplished by the simple matter of voting. But still, if the ladies should ever be of a mind to put some civic deal across they could all join hands and speak as one mouth. This would make a heck of a racket and put pressure where pressure belongs.

Rev. DeHaven came into the restaurant the other day scratching his head and saying: "I just saw a man driving a horse into a gas station." This fetched forth all sorts of comments on the why and what for and that sort of thing. But the strangest thing about the whole incident is that he saw a horse. Folks say there hasn't been a horse around East Jordan since they used to sell peanuts at the E.J. & S. whistle stop.

A newspaper report out of Traverse City said the East Jordan Swan had come down there to stay the winter. But not knowing they were supposed to set up house keeping, the Swan flew back again. Shucks, lots of people from East Jordan visit Traverse City once in a while. But that doesn't mean they are going to camp out there.

We were poking around in the Christmas toy order George Sherman received the other day. He's got an electric train that follows a rubber track. You push the track into any shape on the floor and the train follows the curves without falling over. That is the slickest thing we've seen since false teeth.

A feller came right out and informed us that we didn't know a good newspaper column from a whipple-tree; and how do we get off thinking we can write comics? Our off the elbow answer is that we took a funny correspondence course. Our diploma came through the mails and we graduated on the post office steps, capless and gownless, enjoying a minimum of fanfare. So, there.

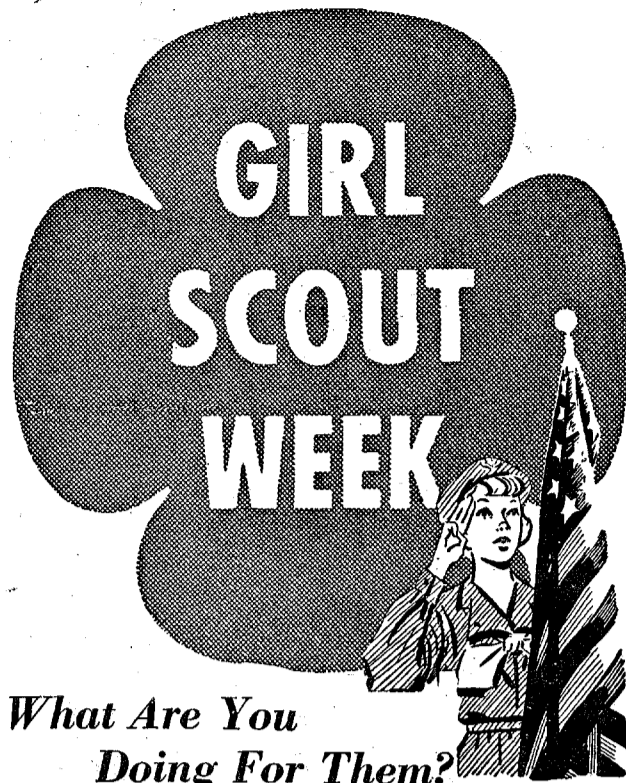

This column may do several things for you. It may irk, it may flex your grin, it may fetch a frown, it may produce an occasional belly laugh, or make you want to turn the page and read

Good Bird Hunting Season After Hot Summer Months

Although our hot, dry summer was rough on humans, Michigan's game birds thrived on it and now abound for outdoorsmen, be they hunters with gun or camera.

Along about the time they're full grown and legal for hunters they're also in full plumage and best shots for the camera fan, according to U. of M. professor of Wildlife Management, Warren W. Chase. And the time is now.

Woodcock, partridge and pheasant will be in their heyday, and although there won't be as many grouse—"they're approaching a low in their ten-year cycle"—there'll still be plenty to pot at.

The best time for hunting by gun or camera is in the early morning, says Professor Chase. The birds are feeding then and an obituary. But in one instance it fails miserably. It simply cannot make sour stomachs sweet again.

less easily disturbed. Michigan is an especially good place for woodcock hunters, this wildlife expert points out. "We have many low, marshy swampy areas with the thick cover favored by the woodcock," he explains, adding that the Canadian woodcock will migrate through Michigan southward within the next few weeks so hunters will have a good shot.

Hunting and good eating attract a lot of sportsmen to the birds, but even more people go out to see the brilliant plumage says the professor, who urges color film for shutter-bugs.

Some of the birds are popular because their feathers make chic ornaments for ladies' hats. There was a time when the egret and heron were in danger of extinction because of overzealous hat hunters, Professor Chase relates. More stringent hunting laws have solved this problem, and he cautions hunters to check with local conservation officers on hunting seasons and limits on bag.

FISHERMAN! PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

If the "Skipper Fly" ever becomes popular for trout, F. W. Rea of Detroit is liable to wind up with a hairless cocker spaniel. And there is a good chance that very thing might happen.

Two weeks ago when Rea was fishing Lake Ann, he tried a new streamer fly which he had made up from hair that he clipped from his black and white cocker spaniel, Skippy. Sure enough, a big rainbow took hold of the fly. Gave Rea quite a battle, but finally broke away, taking the fly along.

Although Rea has returned to Detroit, the Skippy fly will get another try on the Lake rainbows. Rea sent one to district fish supervisor Stan Lievens, who will see if he can duplicate the feat of hooking a trout on the dog hair lure.

FOR FLY-TYERS who are interested, the Skippy fly has a yellow body ribbed with silver, a black head and a red tail. The streamer part consists of white under black hair —clipped from a dog named Skippy.

What was that about fishing going to the dogs?

East Jordan Telephone Lines

LES JOHNSON
 Michigan Bell Manager

STARTING TO WONDER about family Christmas gifts? Additional telephones are wonderful to give, because they do so much for everyone. Installed in the bedroom, kitchen, basement, living room, they save hours of time and countless steps.

You needn't run when the phone rings . . . just reach! In solid or two-tone colors, they will brighten up your home, harmonize with your decorations. The cost? You can have three additional telephones in your home for about 11 cents a day. Order your gift telephones from our Business Office today.

PERHAPS YOU'VE HEARD that the Bell System has started installation of a new telephone cable under the Atlantic to the British Isles. The amplifiers (which keep voices strong and clear) are being built right into the cable and must last for years without repairs. It's vital to keep lint and dust out of the amplifiers so they are built in pressurized workrooms where employees wear special orlon work clothes, get their shoes vacuum-cleaned before going to work, and wear no cosmetics. They also get special fiber-free tissues if they get a cold in the head!

NOW THE BUSINESSMAN can hire an efficient, attractive secretary that his wife can't possibly be jealous of. It's an electronic telephone answering device called "Amanda." Here's what it does: Answers your telephone, gives the caller your recorded message, asks him to leave a message, then records what he has to say. You play back the calls when you return. Amanda is a "hot" item, but if you want one, we'll get it for you as soon as possible. Call us for full information.

San Francisco—Unquestionably the roughest road trip of each season for the Lions is the annual 10-day visit to the West Coast, where they play the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers, both always tough for us, on successive Sundays.

It was bad enough meeting the Rams and 49ers one after another at Briggs Stadium, but playing them in succession on their home grounds is doubly difficult. Unlike trips to Eastern Cities, we must remain out here between games instead of returning to the friendlier atmosphere of Detroit, the cost of two West Coast trips in one season being prohibitive.

This creates a number of problems, chief among them being the eventual loneliness of many of the married men for their families. Then there is always the fear that some player might get a little too rambunctious so far away from home and land in trouble—though the Lions, fortunately, have little to worry about on that score.

EXTRA DOSE OF FILM
Just to make sure, however, and to keep the family men's minds on football instead of home, Coach Buddy Parker and his staff keep the Lions occupied with more practices and more team meetings than normally. One of their first tasks after checking in at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, following the seven-hour flight from Detroit Friday, was to view films of the Rams' game the preceding Sunday. Saturday morning was devoted to a brief workout. Immediately after the game day, the team was treated to a buffet at the hotel. Monday they were flown to San Francisco, but they're staying at a pretty motel near Palo Alto, home of the Stanford Indians, while preparing for the coming Sunday's clash with the 49ers. They will fly home the following day.

In between this moving about, the schedule is as I outlined it last week, studying game movies, practicing offense, more movies, practicing defense, more movies, trying out new plays and more movies.

CARDS, MUSIC AND MOVIES
Of course, not all the time is devoted to practice and studying films, and the Lions while away their idle hours in a number of pursuits.

Card playing is a big favorite, fellows like Bobby Layne, Jug Girard, Jim Cain, Jim Doran, Doak Walker, Leon Hart, Sonny Gandee and sometimes Dick Stanfel engaging in bridge or hearts or similar games.

Joe Schmidt likes to listen to popular music, and so do Jim Martin, Layne, Stanfel and Andy Miketa. Virtually everybody enjoys going to the movies—sometimes the team is taken in a group—but by and large you'll find the rookies are in the film houses more than the others. This would include Dave Middleton, Jim Salsbury, George Atkins and Lee Riley.

Sometimes the players visit the Hollywood movie sets, and this is an experience, though so far no one has been given a screen test—but I'm still hoping.

Michigan is the only state which permits a manufacturer the option of paying personal property tax on either the inventory value as of December 31, or on the average value throughout the year.

Sell Timber For Kalkaska Jet Base

Timber on 8,000 acres of Au-Sable state forest will be auctioned this winter to make way for a projected Air Force jet base a few miles west of Kalkaska.

The Conservation Commission approved the auction, together with $54,000 in sales on 10 other state forests, at its October meeting at Gull Lake.

Department director Gerald E. Eddy said if the base is approved he will retain fishing rights for the public on the Boardman River, south boundary of the proposed base, and that the land will be leased to the Air Force for 99 years with the proviso that it return to the state if no longer being used.

Basic oil and gas leases were changed from five years to 10. Reasons listed for the change were that deeper drilling and more thorough exploration methods take longer in development.

The Commission also ruled on land exchanges, flowage easements, general land matters and other routine business. Its next meeting is slated in Lansing, November 9-10.

Most Apples Not Bought At Grocery

Most Michigan apples are not sold in grocery stores. The majority are bought at roadside stands, farmers' markets and directly from farmers, a survey indicates.

It was taken by J. D. Shaffer and G. G. Quackenbush, Michigan State. The economists noted food purchases for the last week in September. And about 39 per cent of the families reported buying apples at that time.

While 75 per cent of the families bought apples at grocery stores, the men found, only 37 percent of the apples purchased were bought in grocery stores.

The reason: Housewives bought an average of around four and a half pounds at a time at the store. But the families bought over 20 pounds at a time in other places.

And the average price at grocery stores was slightly over 11 cents compared with only 6 cents a pound from other sources. That was due mainly to larger quantities purchased from the latter — 42 per cent in bushel baskets.

Give Polio Shots to Kids Age 5 to 9

If you have a child in the five to nine year age range, "right now" is an ideal time to see to it that he gets the new polio vaccine, the Michigan Department of Health urged today.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, said local health departments have vaccine on hand for five through nine year old youngsters, and based upon local decision, the vaccine also may be given to youngsters in the one through fourteen age group and to pregnant women.

While not enough vaccine is stocked to care for all in these groups, "large numbers should be vaccinated without delay," Dr. Heustis said. He said the polio season is about over, and this is the best time to start immunization which will give protection against paralytic polio next year.

"Your own family doctor can get vaccine from the local health department to immunize anyone in your family in the designated group," Dr. Heustis said. "The vaccine is being supplied free, with the only cost the office charge made by the family physician."

The Commissioner termed results from the use of the vaccine so far, "most encouraging both in Michigan and country-wide." He said Michigan should make prompt use of every dose of vaccine secured, "so more youngsters will have the maximum protection from paralytic polio by the time the seasonal rise in polio begin next year."

"In time," he added, "every Michigan child should have the opportunity to get the protection from paralytic polio which this vaccine offers, and for those youngsters in the designated priority groups, the time to act is right now."

County Farmers Can Cut Dairy Herd Feed Costs

The average farmer in Charlevoix county can cut his dairy herd feeding costs as much as 25 per cent by improving the quality of his forage and less feeding more forage and less grain.

That's the conclusion of Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. He points out that feed makes up about half the cost of producing milk.

C. R. (Ray) Hoglund, farm economist at Michigan State, conducted a study of 172 south central Michigan dairy farms which showed that 50 per cent of the farms' alfalfa-brome stands rated excellent. That means 70 per cent or more legumes and few weeds.

Yet only 25 to 30 percent of the hay harvested in this area was of excellent quality. Poor harvesting and storage methods were the reasons, according to Hoglund.

If a farmer has a good alfalfa-brome stand and uses improved harvesting methods, he can produce all the protein most dairy cows need, Rebman contends. If a cow produces two or more pounds of butterfat daily she probably will need more protein, however.

He points out that early harvest of alfalfa-brome—by July 1—will furnish cattle with a good supply of protein. But, he adds, if you have late-harvested grassy forage it will pay to feed protein supplement. The crude protein content of grass hays often drops as low as eight per cent by July 1.

Jordan River Fishing Site Purchase Okayed

The Conservation Commission recently approved plans for purchase of 460 acres of state forests, game lands and three fishing sites.

A total of 161 acres of hunting lands was added to the Rife Lake state forest in Grand Traverse county. Another 144 acres were added to the Pigeon River state forest in Charlevoix county.

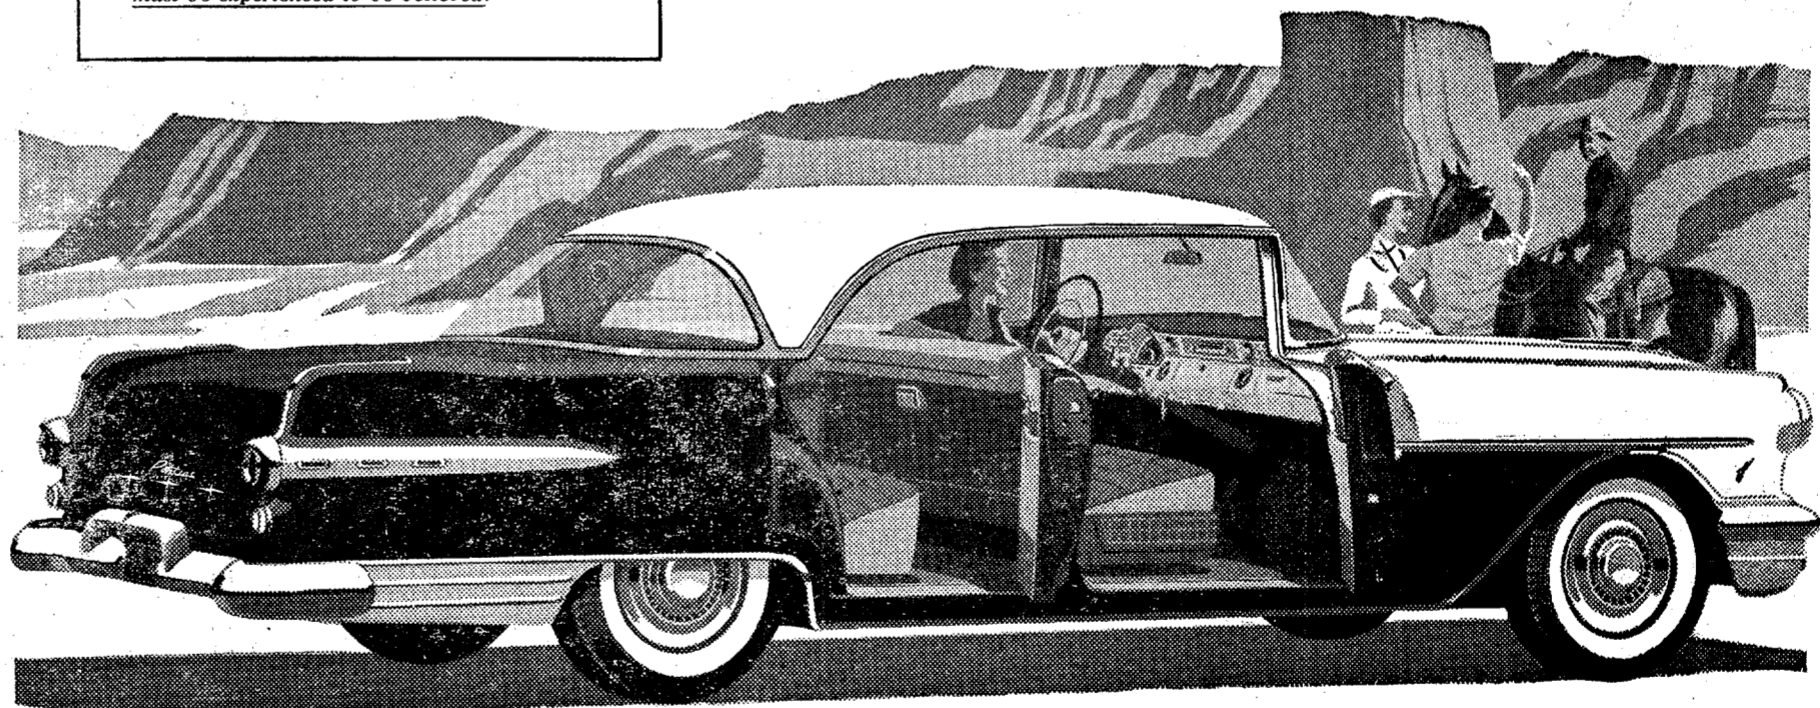

Four parcels of land, totaling 155 acres, were added to state game areas under the Pittman-Robertson program. The additions were: 80 acres to the Shawassee River area, 40 acres to the Lapeer area, 20 acres to the Crane Pond area, and 15 acres to the Manistee River area.

Fishing site purchases were approved on the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette
