Proud little sister

With diplomas in hand, the Class of '98 begins its journey into the future. But the first order of business for the newest high school alumni was a celebration after commencements filled with well-wishes, smiles, tears and hugs from family, friends, classmates and teachers. Boyne City High School graduate Kara Dietze, takes time to bask in the glory of her achievement with proud little sister Haley Welch.

It's now up to voters

Will Boyne Falls be building a new school? Answer comes Monday

To build or not to build a new K-12 school will be the question put before Boyne Falls voters at next Monday's election.

"I think it will be close," said school board member Joe Skop who's been hearing more positive than negative comments about the $6.2 million millage since the state gave the district approval to issue bonds for the new construction.

The voting booths will be set up in the school library and polls are open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

The school board has been in favor of building new since the idea was introduced this past winter, along with renovation and expansion proposals by an architectural committee charged with researching and making a recommendation to the board on building improvements.

Inspections of the existing building by Traverse City architectural firm, GBKB, revealed numerous safety and health code violations and found most of the classrooms below the standard in size, lighting and ventilation. The media center, science lab, art room, locker rooms, kitchen and cafeteria were also found to be inadequate.

The 29.8 year, seven mill bond proposal would cost a household $280 per year based on an $80,000 home and isn't much more expensive than estimates for renovating the building at $3.6 million, or remodeling and expanding at $5.2 million.

The new facility would segregate the three grade levels into two separate wings, and centralize shared facilities such as the media center, computer lab and distance learning lab. It would also address the issue of classroom and recreational area size, including outdoor sport and physical education areas.

BEE Proud Committee member Mary Jo Skop believes the science, drama and music programs should entice some students to come back. "I can't imagine they wouldn't want to return."

A current lack of salable property in the village, an increase in taxes due to the bonding, and a perception that there will be fewer births in the community has left some residents skeptical that the district can support a new school.

According to superintendent Pat Smith, demographics do show a slight increase in the city's birthrate over the next five to seven years and the board foresees a new facility and curriculum attracting students who have left as well as new students.

Additionally, it believes a new facility will virtually guarantee an educational presence in the community should area schools end up consolidating.

The school forest, a 65-acre tract on M-75, is the site for the proposed facility. The board has not yet made a decision on the future of the current building, and is exploring all options. The bond issue has funds set aside for its removal if it becomes necessary. If the money is not used for demolition it will be used to reduce the overall project costs.

"If things go like we want them to go it's going to be a long summer," said school board president Mary Schwern.

In addition to the new school proposal, incumbents William Britton and Phyllis Marchinkewicz are running unopposed for the two, four-year terms on the school board.

Boardwalk one step closer to becoming a reality

Beckett and Raeder Inc., an Ann Arbor landscape, planning and engineering firm, has been selected by the Boyne City Downtown Development Authority to design the Boyne River boardwalk.

The boardwalk will be built along the river from Lake to Park street. It will follow the south side of the river, then cross on a footbridge to the north side.

Serving as project manager for Beckett Raeder is Connie Pulcifer, who worked with the DDA in developing its overall long range plan two years ago when she worked with the firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy.

Among the issues that will be considered in the boardwalk's design will be how it connects to the downtown retail areas, how it connects with Old City Park and Veteran's Park and how it may link to a possible future trail system throughout the city.

The design will also include plans for improvements along the south side of the river from the point the boardwalk crosses the river to Park Street.

The DDA currently has $175,000 plus a $45,000 Coastal Zone Management Grant set aside for the design, engineering and construction of the boardwalk. When it sells the property it owns on the corner of East and Water streets, across from the Dilworth and next to Mather's Ford, it will put that money toward the boardwalk project.

Depending on the availability of funds and the cost to build the boardwalk, the project may be done in phases.

The DDA had hoped to begin construction of the boardwalk this spring, but it encountered problems securing easements along the boardwalk which has pushed back the start of the project.

The DDA is currently in the third year of its 15-year plan. Revenues in 1996 were $33,000 and estimated revenues for 1997 were approximately $42,000. In developing its long range plan, the DDA estimated it would receive approximately $1.6 million over 15 years, with the majority of the revenue received in the last five years of the plan.

The DDA receives funding from Tax Increment Financing (TIF). Unlike some other DDAs in Northern Michigan, Boyne City's DDA has no special assessments.

TIF occurs when the tax base — in this case the DDA district — is frozen (that was done in 1995) and the revenues generated by the reassessment or new development in the district are given to the DDA. The "increment" is earmarked or "captured" for the DDA rather than going to the city's general budget or to other taxing units.

COMMUNITY PORTRAIT

History and a lot more fill walls of barbershop

By GINA SOLTIS KENDELL

The inside front cover of his textbook "Practical and Scientific Barbering" is crammed with hand-written, potential exam questions: Name three blood vessels. What is a lymph node? Identify the bones in the face (back then barbers gave massages.)

It's not surprising that Bruce Woodcock was able to unearth the primer from his 1967 barbering school days. His barber shop on Main Street in East Jordan is a treasure trove of memorabilia — old photos, animal trophies, a black and white issue of Life Magazine.

At first glance these items seem oddly out of place among the combs and scissors — just jumbling things up in there. But by the end of a visit, each piece seems rather suited for its spot — a 3-D scrap book filled with the life and times of Bruce the Barber.

It's not something he's done his whole working life — cutting hair. He's only been at it for 24 years, he said.

Prior to barbering he was in WWII, then drove an ore freighter for six years, and then spent eight years at General Motors in Grand Rapids. It was the recession of '67 that prompted him to learn the trade.

Haircuts are $7, reads the sign tucked behind a corner of the mirror. One of his two barber's chairs holds a stack of mail. You can only give one hair-cut at a time, after all.

Bruce still gets a few requests for flat tops. He's given the "bowl-cuts" to kids. "But it's not my practice."

Local folks like Spike Russell, Jim Bennett and Harold Miller have been coming in for years. Some of the vacationers are repeaters too.

He only has three bottles of shampoo tucked in a corner for sale. He never was one to push the hair-care products. He scans the ingredients on the Nexus bottle, then puts it back in its place.

Sometimes clients need someone to talk to about their health problems or matrimonial problems, Bruce said. Occasionally he offers bits of advice. But

The best chance for Boyne Falls

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter is intended for those Boyne Falls School District residents who were unable to attend our community meetings or school board meetings where the decision for a proposed new school was made.

When it became apparent that extensive renovations and repairs were necessary for the school to pass safety and health requirements, cost and results studies were done to investigate all possible options. This was not a decision made in haste. Our attitude was, "let's take our time and do it right."

One of the first assumptions that the board made, based on "Town Meeting" input, was that the community wanted their school. When making its decision the board had two positions it could take:

1. A pessimistic outlook that improvement in our school would not draw or retain more students and that we could not survive as a district.

2. There is a good possibility of attracting more students and that the district and community will grow and prosper.

We chose the latter. During the decision-making process the pros and cons of the three major options were discussed in length and many contingent conditions were discussed, such as transportation, curriculum needs, and building maintenance. It must be remembered that the board not only has a moral responsibility to provide the best possible education and learning environment for the children of the community, but also has a financial responsibility to ensure that the taxpayers' dollars are spent wisely.

The first option (called by some as the "Band Aid" approach) was considered least desirable primarily for the following reasons: It does not solve any of our programmatic (curriculum) problems. If the district experiences growth in the next 30 years there would be no possibility of expansion. By the time the debt was retired we would be left with a building whose basic structure consisted of one section that is 82 years old, one section 63 years old, and the third section 40 years old.

Although the second option (restoration and addition) helped in solving many of the programmatic deficiencies, it also provided no room for future expansion and in fact would further reduce the size of our already small play field. One advantage over the first option is that at debt retirement our building would only be 63/40/30 years old. A major disadvantage would be the time required to complete the project and how to continue school during the minimum of two construction seasons required. We do not have the option to shift students to other school buildings during this time as larger, multi-building districts do.

The third option (a new school built on our M-75 property) solves all of the problems in the first two options plus has many advantages not found in either of them, two of the biggest being:

1. A financial one, that by extending the same millage levy for four years (30 years instead of 26), at debt retirement we have a school that is only 30 years old and has plenty of years left in it.

2. It almost guarantees (nothing in life is an absolute guarantee), an educational presence in the community. A big consideration was what to do with the current building. This is why the cost of demolition of the present building was built into the proposal. If this is not required this money can be used to reduce the amount of the debt or other construction costs.

Taking everything into consideration, the board, unanimously, chose the option of the new school as the best possible solution to the many problems facing the district and the most prudent investment. Most importantly, it was the one that would provide an enhanced curriculum, the best possible learning environment for our students, and the best chance for the district to survive.

New track a big hit

TO THE EDITOR:

Speaking for the Boyne City Middle School Track team, I'd like the community and especially the Boyne City Foundation to know how much we appreciated the new sports complex this spring.

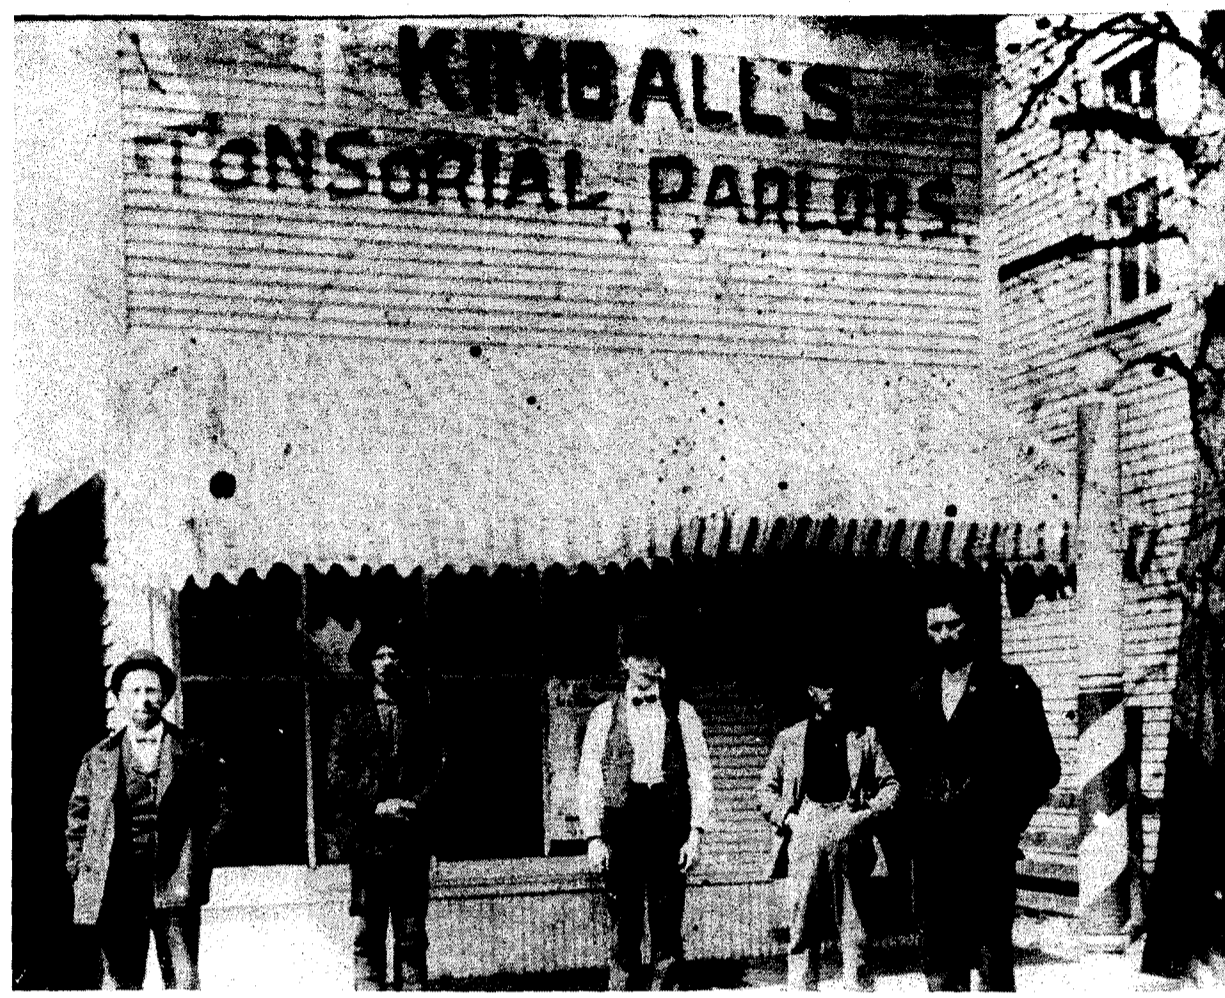

It was a thrill for us to practice and compete on it. Rave reviews were given from all. Athletes, parents, coaches and officials couldn't say enough about how lucky we were to have such a fine facility. Many times we were asked how we did it, and each time my response was, "You have to have quality people with strong backs and generous hearts."

The kids of Boyne City are very LUCKY to live in a community like ours. THANKS for all you've done for them. Our 7th and 8th grade athletes responded to the challenge of making this their first season on the new track with conference championships with both boys and girls teams. This is the first time this has ever happened. The kids worked extremely hard and deserve our applause as well.

Shave and a hair-cut

A little off the top, a dab of moustache wax, or a warm towel followed by a straight-edged shave may have been in order for this barber's (center) customers, posing outside the tonsorial parlors in downtown East Jordan, circa 1910. The shop still stands today, nearly 90 years later, in the identical spot on Main Street. Its modern-day proprietor, Bruce Woodcock, has winnowed his services down to cuts and good conversation in the same relaxing atmosphere.

A MOM'S LIFE

Turning the other cheek is easy to say but at times hard to follow

By CINDI PLACE

There is nothing that can get my dander up faster, or make me want to seek revenge more than hearing about someone hurting any of my children. I think that's a pretty universal response for parents. We don't like to see our children in pain, or upset because someone, purposefully or by accident, mistreats them.

I've had to learn over the years not to simply jump to my children's aid when they tell me some type of wrong has been done to them. It's an automatic response to want to protect them and keep the hurt from happening. But, especially as they grow older, they don't always appreciate any interference. And I think forcing them to confront unpleasant issues and find good solutions will help make them better people in the long run. But it certainly isn't easy for me to stand back and keep my nose out of it. Especially when the hurt is really mean or done with total lack of concern for the effect on our child.

The one kind of person that even I have a really difficult time understanding is a bully. We all have to deal with these kind of people. They want their own way and they really don't care who they hurt or whether their actions are right or wrong. They appear to think that their needs and wants should be placed above others, for reasons known only to themselves.

Of course, my first response as a mom when my children are faced with a bully is to teach those kids a lesson they won't soon forget. But then common sense prevails and I am faced with explaining the concept of "turning the other cheek" and "treating others like you wish to be treated" to my confused children.

You see, in this era of kids shooting other kids, gang violence and all the other ugly sides to growing up today, we have tried to teach "old-fashioned" values to our children. And sometimes that has complicated our children's lives. Because they know that if they choose to do something that their family doesn't agree with, or if they were to treat another human disrespectfully, they would have consequences. And the consequences wouldn't be pleasant.

So when our kids find themselves dealing with the inappropriate behavior of another person, they are a bit confused. And we, as parents, have found it necessary to explain that although they are expected to meet our family's high standards, many people aren't quite so lucky.

And I hope that's a lesson that stays with them for the rest of their lives.

Hours spent in search of nameless folks

By JANE BROCK

Our phone was busy a lot this past weekend. My daughter and I have spent way too much time on the Internet. It is still pretty new to us, so we are doing a lot of searching just for the fun of it — trying to think of things we want to know, people we might look up, chat rooms that it would be safe to enter.

Chat rooms can be unnerving, and we have learned to enter with caution, but they can make research more fun. Kate is doing a report on people with a specific disability, and she got into a chat room designed for the use of those folks.

Though she didn't share the characteristics that brought them there, my daughter's interest earned her a warm welcome. She learned some kinds of code words — terms that identify people with this particular disability — in much the same way the fish symbol identified the early Christians, for example, to protect them from persecution. It is possible that some of the same fears motivate this modern day cryptology. Katie stumbled onto a web site dedicated to horribly derogatory jokes and frightening threats to these very people.

The chat rooms can be friendly, too: a gathering place, where questions are sincerely posed: Where are you from? What are your interests? And heartfelt hellos and good-byes. Thinking up "handles" was fun. Kate steered me away from plain ones, like, well "Jane," for example, and discouraged psychologically disadvantageous ones, like "Frieda." I like Frieda, personally, but Kate insists that it evokes an image that is not conducive to response.

My sister has used the Internet as she researches canoes and kayaks prior to purchase, and there is the advantage of trip planning the hi-tech way. Forget maps! They don't give you hot tips on Bed and Breakfasts. The Internet gives you access to places you couldn't get to otherwise — and might not want to. Once I was working on a social issues report and got into an unauthorized Jack Kevorkian home page. Whatever your views on that subject, that was one dark, scary alley to be in.

Kate and I even found a source for celebrity addresses, but we couldn't think of anyone we needed to write to. Still, it was nice to know where to find them if we discovered we had a need in the future.

Let's face it — it's the people you meet in there that make the Internet exciting. So isn't it funny that we would spend hours, inaccessible to our friends and family, in search of those faceless, fleshless folks?

Yes vote offers a bright future

TO THE EDITOR:

On June 8, voters of the Boyne Falls School District will be asked to make a decision that will greatly impact the future of Boyne Falls Schools. It is a decision that could send our students into the next century with all the tools we can provide them. Your vote could provide our community with a new facility to which we could all be proud to send our children. Or your vote could be the demise of our school.

Our schools hold us together, give us a sense of belonging, and are a necessary part of every community. Without them, a community can be just a cluster of houses.

I've heard many opinions both ways on this issue. That's our American right. That's the right our fathers have fought and paid so dearly for us to have. But we also have a responsibility to use our vote in a wise, rational and prudent way. We must use our vote in a way that will best serve our children, our grandchildren, and the rest of the community.

Some mistakenly believe a no vote will prevent their taxes from rising. It will not. All surrounding school districts have or will be passing substantial millage issues. A no vote will most likely only divert your taxes to another school district. The Boyne Falls School Board and the BEE Proud Committee have made every attempt to get all the information and facts to the voters through town meetings and informational brochures.

You have the chance to give our children the brightest of futures. Our fathers and our grandfathers have always built schools for their children. It is time for our generation to stand up, be proud, and build a school for our children. Please vote YES on June 8. For our community. For our children. For our fathers.

School election '98

BOYNE CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT VOTERS WILL BE GOING TO THE POLLS MONDAY, JUNE 8, TO ELECT A NEW TRUSTEE TO A FOUR-YEAR TERM TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION. PHILLIP CLOYD AND JILL ROWLEY ARE RUNNING TO SUCCEED JUDY FOLLETTE, WHO IS NOT SEEKING ANOTHER TERM ON THE BOARD. FOLLOWING ARE PROFILES OF EACH CANDIDATE IN THEIR OWN WORDS. POLLS WILL BE OPEN MONDAY FROM 7 A.M.-8 P.M. IN THE BOYNE CITY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. EAST JORDAN SCHOOL DISTRICT VOTERS WILL ALSO BE GOING TO THE POLLS TO ELECT A TRUSTEE. LAWRENCE CHANDA IS RUNNING UNOPPOSED.

PHILLIP E. CLOYD

BACKGROUND:

Boyne City area homeowner and grandparent, with experience as an educator and a business owner. A six-year volunteer with Camp Quality and a cancer survivor for over 20 years myself, I gain pleasure from helping others, especially young people. Since 1996 I have been volunteering weekly at the Boyne City Elementary school, helping with at-risk students, and this season I have been helping the Boyne City Little League five days a week. I am also currently serving on the Educational Facilities Committee.

WHY ARE YOU RUNNING FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD AND WHAT DO YOU HOPE TO ACCOMPLISH?

I am running for the school board because I see a need for a change, and rather than sit in the background and complain about the way things are being done, I decided to jump in and do something about it. If elected to the school board, some of the things I would like to accomplish are:

1. To temper the thinking that problems can be solved by throwing more money at them.
2. To determine the true needs and help separate them from the wants of the school district.
3. To help the public to understand the needs and what can be done to meet those needs.
4. To champion the sentiments of the public at school board meetings.

5. To become a liaison between the school board and the public.

WHAT SKILLS DO YOU BRING TO THE SCHOOL BOARD?

Besides having been a parent, educator and businessman, I would like to think that I have the skill of common sense. I listen to facts, not opinions, to gather information, and I base decisions on logic, not emotions.

DO YOU SEE BOYNE CITY SCHOOLS MOVING IN A POSITIVE WAY? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

I see the Boyne City Schools as stagnated. Like a ship without a rudder, it is adrift in a sea of bureaucracy, politics and personality conflicts. This is evident in the failed millages, the mistrust for the current administration. The fact that Boyne City has received funds for materials, equipment and a curriculum that has yet to be implemented. The Paullin Group fiasco, in which an attorney was asked about the legality of the contract, but never asked about the advisability of it. The Boyne City Schools have the potential for greatness, but to reach it, the public will have to give its support. Forget what is in the past, let's learn from it and give our kids the best education that we can.

WHAT ARE THE OTHER MAJOR ISSUES FACING THE SCHOOLS AND WHAT IDEAS DO YOU HAVE TO ADDRESS THEM?

One of the major issues facing the schools is lack of space. Not only space for a growing school population, but also space for ancillary needs such as storage, shop, band, meeting rooms, nurse's station and teacher prep rooms. Another concern is that of air quality in the three buildings, and the need for updated wiring. The best way to address these needs is through education. Let the public know the facts, don't cloud the issues with sentiment or opinions. Present logical proposals that can be funded with existing monies, not astronomical hikes in the millage. I hear a lot of talk about all the money pouring into the Boyne City area, but for the most part we are a working class community. Let a builder give us what we need, for the amount we can afford to spend. We also need to get the citizens more involved with the education of our youth. The more quality that goes in, the better the out-

JILL ROWLEY

BACKGROUND:

I made Boyne City my home in 1981 after graduating from Western Michigan University. In the 17 years I have lived in the community, I have owned and operated a design business and have been a volunteer in numerous local organizations. I am active in the school system and currently have children enrolled in both the elementary and middle schools.

WHY ARE YOU RUNNING FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD AND WHAT DO YOU HOPE TO ACCOMPLISH?

I love Boyne City and I am committed to educational excellence. To see each student truly achieve his or her learning potential with enthusiasm and pride is an accomplishment I would hope to see reached.

WHAT SKILLS DO YOU BRING TO THE SCHOOL BOARD?

As a college graduate, I bring my educational background which emphasized math and other academics, business and design-build courses, the arts and athletics. As a parent, business person and volunteer within the schools and community, I bring commitment, integrity, an open mind and a listening ear.

DO YOU SEE BOYNE CITY SCHOOLS MOVING IN A POSITIVE WAY? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

Yes, Boyne City is second in the ISD only to Petoskey High School in Career-Technical Education program offerings. Students' state test scores are of the highest in the area. Teachers and staff remain devoted. Parental involvement in the PTO and school sponsored activities has increased. The community shows great support for the drama and athletic programs. Though there is always room for improvement, Boyne Schools are headed in a positive direction.

WHAT ARE THE OTHER MAJOR ISSUES FACING THE SCHOOLS AND WHAT IDEAS DO YOU HAVE TO ADDRESS THEM?

One of the most pressing issues facing the school system today is the problem of inadequate facilities throughout the district. I am presently part of the Educational Facilities Steering Committee which came about to develop a facilities plan that will satisfy the current and future needs of the district and be supported by the community. Other issues in the district include curriculum and technology concerns.

A LACK OF COMMUNICATION AND TRUST HAS BEEN A COMMON CRITICISM OF THE BOARD. WHAT CAN BE DONE TO IMPROVE THESE TWO AREAS?

A board that remains accessible, visible, encourages community participation (i.e. parents, retired persons, business owners, teachers, students) at meetings and school events, supports its decisions and policies, has the education of each student in mind always, can only be successful.

Keith R. Annear, 81, died on Wednesday, May 27, at his home in East Jordan.

Memorial services were held on Saturday, May 30, at 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in East Jordan. The Rev. David R. Downton officiated. Boyne City band director Becky Palmiter resigns

The Boyne City School Board accepted the resignation of band teacher Becky Palmiter at a special meeting last Thursday, to be effective Aug. 31, 1998.

Palmiter has worked for the schools for 12 years.

According to Superintendent Bob Nakoneczny, the district is in the process of posting the newly opened position.

Palmiter's departure comes on the heels of two other recent resignations.

High school principal Xavier Gaudard will leave his position on June 30 after six years with the district, citing a desire to explore other opportunities.

Pat Klooster also stepped down from his post as varsity football coach, which he held since 1990, but he will continue to teach physical education at the school. In a March interview, he said he wanted to spend more time with his family and extended family.

And after 10 years as superintendent, Nakoneczny decided this winter not to ask the school board to extend his three-year contract by an additional year. His contract was renewed last summer which means he has 2 1/2 years remaining. He said his decision not to renew was in the best interest of his family.

Last-minute details

Tracie Fanter, left, and Stacy Morrow listened intently to final instructions just prior to commencement exercises Friday evening at Boyne City High School. The Class of '98 was presented with its diplomas in front of a packed high school gymnasium. Solos sung by students, scholarship awards and a slide show were followed by the turning of the tassels, bringing the ceremony, and an era, to an end.

Chuck Stanek, left, Isaac Caverly and Alex Palasinski attach their boutonnieres just prior to a final walk from the Boyne City High School media center, to the gymnasium.

EJ teacher wins education award

Kathryn Holley, East Jordan language arts, eighth grade teacher, was honored at the third annual Outstanding Persons in Education Awards Banquet held recently at Boyne Mountain Resort.

Holley was selected for the award by teachers from the East Jordan School District, in recognition of her dedication, love and extra efforts toward the children in her community.

The event, attended by more than 300 people, honored 17 teachers and educational support staff from northern Michigan.

"She is an outstanding teacher," said middle school principal Shirley Bishop. "She's just one of those people who cares about kids. Kids know it and parents know it."

Bishop described Holley as one who regularly communicates with parents and students and is very easy to work with.

Holley has served on several district committees and has been a member of the middle school corps team for seven years — a district committee focused on staff development and school improvement. She has also served on curriculum writing committees and is on an action team for innovative programs at the middle school.

Bishop said Holley's students have received the highest MEAP scores in the state for writing, citing that 91 percent of the kids pass the test.

"Kay is just one of those teachers that whenever there's a project to do, she's always right there. She's always involved," said Bishop.

The meeting begins at 10 a.m. and will be held in the Lake Superior Room of the Michigan Library and Historical Center. Those wishing to make comments on the nomination can mail them to the State Historic Preservation Office, Michigan Historical Center, 717 W. Allegan St., Lansing, Mich., 48918.

Heading to the Big Apple

East Jordan Girl Scouts are going next week

Start spreading the news. The East Jordan Girl Scout Troop #362 is leaving for New York City next week.

After dropping their bags at a hotel in Times Square, the ninth and tenth graders will head off to Madison Square Garden for lunch and then take a tour of the city's garment district which will include a personal tour with Julie Diller of fashion design business, Beth Schaeffer Inc. Julie is the daughter-in-law of Boyne City resident Jane Diller and works for the company which designs and produces contemporary women's sports lines which it sells to specialty companies.

The scouts raised all the funds for the Big Apple trip through cookie sales, pop can and grocery receipt drives, bake sales, a craft show and other activities, earning a few badges along the way.

Keep an eye out for them in the crowd of NBC's Today Show on Thursday, June 11. During last year's trip, the young women couldn't get near the set because of the large crowds watching The Bee Gees, who were guests on the show. After disappointedly leaving the site, the girls were "body-slammed" by television talk-show host Rosie O'Donnell — to their delight — who happened to be walking down the sidewalk.

The scouts will also attend a taping of People's Court which will be rebroadcast this fall. Central Park, Television City, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and a tour of the Seventeen Magazine headquarters are also on their agenda, as well as a viewing of the Broadway production Beauty and the Beast. The scouts will dine at the Rainbow Room and the super-model-owned Fashion Cafe.

New flags flying at schools

All classrooms and flag poles at Boyne area schools now have American flags, thanks to the veterans of Boyne City's American Legion Post 228.

The school flag project is another part of the nationwide "Show Your Colors, America!" campaign.

In addition to flags, schools were also given pamphlets on flag etiquette for classroom study.

Flags which are unserviceable (faded, torn, frayed, etc.) may be brought to the Legion Hall or given to any Legionnaire for proper disposal which will take place the evening of June 14 at the waterfront in Boyne City's Veteran's Park.

Presenting the flags to Boyne City Middle School Principal Steve Smith is Commander Jerry Evans, along with Jim Martin and Maxine Hough.

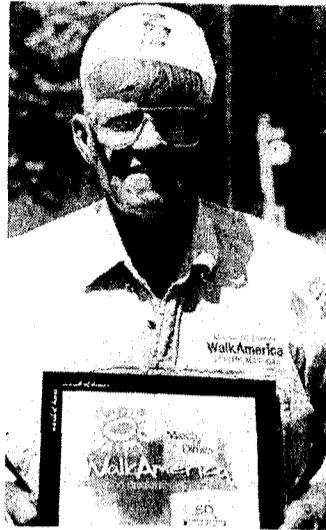

Going the distance for March of Dimes

For the second year in a row, Boyne City resident Joe Bauman has stepped ahead of the other fundraisers to earn the "Top Walker" award for the local Walk America campaign.

Bauman raised $2,617 for the March of Dimes charity this spring, covering seven miles in the walk in Petoskey. This was the eighth year 68-year-old Bauman made the trek to help prevent birth defects. He estimates that he collects 85 percent of the money people pledge to the cause.

His daughter Cheryl Bauman said he got involved with March of Dimes when his own two healthy grandchildren, Frankie Spencer and Brittany Bauman, were born.

The retired well-driller works as a maintenance man at The Landings condominiums in Boyne City.

Hawaii, graduation -- what a week

The tradition of honoring Boyne Falls 50-year graduates at the school's annual commencement program was carried on this weekend when the class of 1948 gathered for the ceremony. From left are: Allen Reynolds, Walter Kaminski, Marjorie Hausler Goldsmith, Harry Reynolds, Lewis

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

1998 BOYNE FALLS High School graduate Krysti Webb was honored by her parents, Tom and Patty Webb, following commencement on Saturday. Amidst the welcomed rain, underneath large awnings, neighbors, friends and relatives gathered for a great time of celebrating. At this point, future plans for Krysti are to continue her job at Boyne Mountain.

IT WAS GOOD to see Jerry Kelts of Boyne City, aided via a walker, getting out and about, just two weeks after knee replacement surgery. He said all was going great and (if he hasn't already) he was planning to return to work soon.

MR. AND MRS. NYLE (Marvel) Gould recently entertained 18 relatives and friends of Mildred Sheldon, sister of Marvel, who was here from Springtown, Texas. An outdoor picnic was enjoyed by all.

MICHAEL AND JOYCE NORTHUP of Eastpointe spent Sunday in Boyne City, visiting his parents, Dick and Edna May.

RAY SOBLESKI of Litzenger Place is now a resident of Petoskey's Bortz Health Care.

BOYNE CITY HIGH School graduate Travis Garrett was honored by his parents Bob and Ruthanne Garrett, with an open house party on Saturday. A great turnout of friends and relatives were there for this special time of celebrating. Travis plans on doing construction work for the summer and attending Central Michigan University in this fall.

GARY WADE JENKINS, wife Tracy and their 14-month-old daughter Brianna of Reno, Nevada, spent a week here with his mother, Anne Jenkins. On Saturday, the family celebrated the birthday of U. S. Marine grandson, Jeremy Morey, and also the May birthdays of the two grandmothers and a cousin.

"HOW COULD I HAVE forgotten to list her name!" said my caller. Betty Kelts should have been included in last week's Neighbors column, as one of the swim group who enjoyed the mid-May bus tour trip to the Holland Tulip Festival. "She was our great entertainment on the bus, with her singing and all, which really added to the fun time!" It wasn't her fault, nor was it mine. Betty, just an unintentional oversight of an "unforgettable character!"

BCHS GRADUATE Brianne Korthase was honored on Saturday by her parents, Bill and Deb Korthase, with an open house. Among the many friends and relatives attending were her sister Adrea who attends the University of Michigan, Deb's aunt and uncle, Carol and Ben Hill of St. Jo, and Brianne's aunts Nancy Lawson and husband Bruce of Rochester, Heidi Connor of Grand Rapids, and cousin, Christian Robinson and husband Ken of Lake Orion. Brianne will leave June 11 to attend a nine-week course at the Art Academy of San Francisco, Calif.

JASON ROZYCKI, a 1998 BCHS graduate, was honored with an open house on Sunday by his parents, John and Jane Rozycki, with 250 high school friends, neighbors and relatives attending from Detroit and the surrounding area. Jason will be doing a variety of odd jobs for the Johnchecks until he leaves to join an AAU basketball team in West Virginia at the end of July and then, with a basketball scholarship, continue his education at Oakland University this fall.

BCHS GRADUATE Chuck Stanek was honored on Sunday by his parents, Chuck and Lauri Stanek, with an open house. Chuck plans to do construction work in the summer and continue his education at Lansing Community College in the fall.

AFTER THE MORNING worship service at the Christ Lutheran Church this past Sunday, eight confirmants, nine high school graduates, three college graduates and eighteen new church members for this year were honored with a reception.

BCHS GRADUATE Sarah Bobowski, daughter of Bob and Katie, was honored by her parents with an open house on Saturday, with a good turnout of classmates, friends and relatives attending. Her summer months will include working at Ye Nyne Olde Holles Golf Club. In the fall she will attend Central Michigan University where she plans to pursue a degree in physical therapy.

RICHARD MAPES of Litzenger Place was transferred from the Charlevoix Area Hospital on Tuesday to the Boulder Terrace Therapy Unit after a fall earlier last week.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD MIEL of Whitehall and John Sheldon of St. Johns and his mother, Mildred Sheldon of Texas, visited the Boyne City home of Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Gould and family.

SPORTS

Ramblers put it all together to win district baseball title

For the fourth time in five years, the Boyne City Ramblers are district champions.

They earned the title with strong pitching, hitting and solid defense, the three basic ingredients any baseball team needs to be successful.

The Ramblers opened the tournament with a 15-4 win over Charlevoix. Then in the championship game, they defeated Mancelona 4-1. Mancelona nipped host team East Jordan 4-3 in the first game to earn a berth in the championship.

The Ramblers' season continues Saturday when they travel to Leroy Pine River for regionals. The Ramblers face Suttons Bay which defeated Elk Rapids, the Lake Michigan Conference champion. The Ramblers play at 10 a.m. The championship game starts at 3 p.m. Leroy is about 20 miles south of Cadillac.

The Ramblers' statistics for the district tournament tell the whole story. They had 22 hits, including nine extra base hits, committed only three errors and pitchers Chuck Stanek and Phil Simpson gave up only one walk.

"The defense is coming along at the right time," said coach Beano Archey, who was back coaching the Ramblers following his recent heart attack. "We're making great plays and smart plays."

If that continues, who knows how far the Ramblers might advance. Last year they made it all the way to the state championship game.

"If you get on a roll you can go a long ways," Archey said. "But this is baseball and you can look like a world beater one day and the next look like you don't know how to play."

"This is a great group of kids. They'll do fine."

The Ramblers jumped out to a first-inning lead against Charlevoix in the opening game, thanks to Danny Arner's first home run of the season, and they never looked back.

Although he struggled early, pitcher Chuck Stanek settled down and took control of the game. He went the distance and gave up seven hits, four of them in the first inning, walked one, and struck out 10.

The Ramblers led 9-3 after two innings then scored four more runs in the fifth, highlighted by Scott Karaszewski's home run blast that landed in the softball field well past the left field fence. Karaszewski also had two doubles against Charlevoix.

Phil Simpson also had a home run while Josh Bush had a double and two singles, Jesse Simon a double and single, Stanek two singles, and Derek Price two singles.

In the 4-1 win over Mancelona, Simpson pitched a four hitter and did not allow a walk. "He pitched an excellent game," Archey said.

While Boyne's bats cooled some, the Ramblers managed timely hits. Simon had a home run, Bush had two singles, Price doubled, and Arner, Stanek and Simpson each singled.

East Jordan was just one hit away from meeting Boyne in the district championship game for the second year in a row. The Red Devils had runners on second and third when they made the final out.

Mat Whiteford was on the mound for the Red Devils and pitched a strong game. He allowed three hits, two of them home runs, struck out five and walked one. Rob Vincent led the team with three singles.

After working through a shaky first inning, Rambler Chuck Stanek settled down and silenced Charlevoix's bats. If he wasn't on the mound Saturday, Stanek would have been competing in the high jump at the state track meet. "We're happy he chose baseball," said coach Beano Archey.

RAMBLER REPEAT

Sarah Bobowski had a strong tournament for the Ramblers. She was steady at her second base position and had three hits in the championship game against East Jordan.

For five innings, pitcher Heather McLaren held Mancelona hitless. Her arm was a main reason for the Red Devils' outstanding 24-10 season.

Boyne City beats East Jordan in high-scoring game to win second straight title

An over-the-fence, three-run homer by Katie Dhasaleer propelled the Boyne City girls varsity softball team to a victory against Charlevoix at the district tournament on Saturday, and left one unlucky spectator with a cracked windshield from the ball's impact.

The Ramblers also claimed the win in their second game against East Jordan 10-8 to clinch the district title for the second year in a row.

Dhasaleer's 200 plus foot hit in the first game ignited the team to a 6-3 lead in the bottom of the fourth and spurred them on to beat Charlevoix 12-6.

Winning pitcher Abbey Roberts threw three strikeouts and allowed eight hits and two walks.

Katie Bernthal hit a triple, Kelly Sweet had three base hits, Brandy Barren and April Roberts had two singles each, Abbey Roberts, Sara Bobowski, Heidi Van Hoosier and Laura Cassidy each had a base hit.

East Jordan won its first game against Mancelona, 11-1, which set up a rematch in the district final with the Ramblers. Last year the two teams also met in the finals.

"This was a real exciting game for us," said Devil's coach Meg Fowler, about East Jordan's victory over Mancelona. "Heather threw a no-hitter through five innings. The defense was solid."

Heather McLaren struck out seven batters, walked one and allowed one hit.

Hitters for East Jordan were Raissa Schroeder with a double and three singles, Rachel Boss with three doubles, Cassie Krause with a double and a single, Kristina Nelson and Betsy Banfield with two singles each, and Jenny Murray and Terise Cutler with a base hit each.

Abbey Roberts picked up the win against East Jordan.

"Our bats saved us for the day," said coach Rick Simon of the 15 hits racked up by the players. McLaren pitched for East Jordan and struck out four, allowed 11 hits and no walks.

"We tried very hard, but Boyne outplayed us," said Fowler. "We had very few mistakes but they were costly."

Ramblers Abbey Roberts and Bobowski each had three base hits. Sweet had a triple and a single, Katie Bernthal and Barren each had two base hits, Dhasaleer and April Roberts had a single each, and freshman Amanda Bargas, up from the junior varsity team for the playoffs, had an infield base hit.

The Devils' hitters were Krause and Cutler with three singles each, while Nelson, Banfield and Murray all had singles.

"I knew it was going to be a back and forth thing," said Simon of the game. "They're pretty strong and we're pretty strong."

Boyne City now posts a 17-11-1 record overall. East Jordan finished its season at 24-10.

Boyne will face Elk Rapids at regionals next Saturday in Leroy Pine River in the regionals.

Elk Rapids is the conference champion and also won the Sutton's Bay District title.

"If we play well, we can beat them," said Simon. "We're gunning for our first regional win. We've been there enough, now it's time we win."

Super fan

East Jordan coaches give that honor to John Mitchell

"It's fun to watch. It's fun to participate. It's fun to cheer," said John Mitchell about East Jordan schools' sports.

It seems he does all those things better than anybody else because he was voted "Fan of the Year" unanimously by a committee of East Jordan coaches at the May sports banquet.

"We've got a great bunch of kids up here. A lot of talented kids," said John. "I live and work here. I feel I should be supporting the kids."

"He exemplifies good sportsmanship," said athletic director Tammy Jackson.

John has given numerous hours to East Jordan athletics, both as a spectator and through his assistance in volunteering to work at events.

When family can't make it to an event, John wants the athletes to know that others support them too. "I may be a little late, but I'll be there. I've never promised a kid a thing I haven't done."

John moved to East Jordan nearly two years ago from the Detroit area where he worked for years as a youth counselor through the Knights of Columbus. He wanted to continue helping kids and found his niche at the school.

His time and talents extend beyond the sporting venue to theater, band, and concerts. "Any activity that concerns kids, I'll be there," John said.

That includes the sports' banquet which John attended in support of the athletes. Unbeknownst to him, he would receive the award.

"This was a total surprise to me," John said. "I didn't even know there was any such thing."

Along with the students, he'll take the summer off from school events. But he has already arranged his work schedule to accommodate the busy fall seasons.

"It's difficult for me to say no to a kid. That's how I got so many Girl Scout cookies."

John Mitchell

River's friends organizing cleanup

The Friends of Boyne River are seeking helpers to clean up the river on Saturday, June 13. Volunteers should meet at the old City Dump just past Consumers Power on the north side of the river at 10 a.m. The river will be divided into four sections: dams and ditches, upper river; Millpond, and lower river. Bring rakes and gloves. Trash-bags will be provided. A potluck barbeque will follow at 1 p.m. at 447 Pearl St. The grass-roots organization, formed to help preserve and maintain the river and its watershed, will meet again on Wednesday, June 17, at the Wolverine-Dilworth Inn at 7 p.m. It plans to establish committees, nominate a slate of officers and adopt by-laws, at this, its third meeting. The public is encouraged to attend. For more information call Tom Sheets at 582-5824.

(During its meeting last week, Friends of the Boyne River decided to survey the community to measure what help is available to restore the river to its former self.)

If you are interested in donating your talent and time to Friends of Boyne River, complete the questionnaire below and return to Vicki Standen at 401 Pearl St., Boyne City, or drop off at the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce. Yes, I am interested in learning more about Friends of Boyne River I will participate in the clean-up of the Boyne, Saturday, June 13. East Jordan student is lone grad at Charlevoix's Northwest Academy

Kevin Allen of East Jordan will be the sole graduating senior from Charlevoix's Northwest Academy on June 6.

He attended East Jordan schools until the beginning of his junior year, when he transferred to the academy.

He began taking college prep classes in the 10th grade.

Kevin plans to attend college, but is undecided at this time as to where. His parents are Larry Allen of East Jordan and Karen Blanchard of Charlevoix.

Dunmaglas hosts golf scramble for Boyne Valley Fire and Rescue unit mostly he listens. His mini-museum can help take the mind off those things, for a while at least.

Archival photos hang clustered on a length of wall space next to the mirror. They provide a gray-shaded panoramic history of East Jordan. Loggers and their teams of horses. A lumber mill crew with Bruce's grandfather as a young man in it. East Jordan Iron Works employees, lined up end to end. Chemical plant workers. All the schoolchildren, with Bruce as an adolescent in the middle. He points out in one photo the same four fellows are at either end of a group photo. They ran around to the other end of the group, Bruce explained, ahead of the panning camera. On the right-hand side of the photo they perpetually smile at their mischief.

Attached to the back wall are animal trophies. The head of a mountain goat from a hunting trip to British Columbia. A black bear head from outside his camp in Munising with its teeth bared in a silent roar — perhaps the taxidermist's artistic touch. A beaver pelt somebody gave him. Crisscrossed snowshoes. The coat of a coyote.

There is a smattering of magazines. Some are old, some are sleek and colorful with the latest fly fishing news. He has a little set-up by the front window for making his own flies during lulls in the day. He advises buying Hex flies to coincide with the upcoming hatch.

His Brittany dog, Sandy, snoozes in a chair nearby, ignoring visitors, except Charley Carney who brings treats. "He doesn't leave Charley alone until he gets the last dog bone," said Bruce. Sandy has been with him for nine years. Jake was the dog that came before — a 14-year companion.

There is plenty of competition in haircutting these days. Men go to salons now for a wash, cut and style. It costs more than just a trim, but some of the younger fellows want that.

His most common request is for the size two or one and a half clipper. He doesn't provide shaves anymore. Too risky these days, unfortunately.

It was a treat to be a face-shaving model in barbering school, Bruce recalls. A massage, the warm towel, the close shave. "It's relaxing I'll tell you."

Quite a contrast to the barber he came across in South Africa last year, on a side trip during a safari, who had only a canvas overhead to keep the sun off of him and a generator to motor his hair clippers.

At least once per year Bruce makes off for Montana to visit his brother. Once they went to the Northwest Territories. More snapshots, enlarged and framed, and propped against the wall, chronicle those trips. In one photo, he's headed back from hunting with a trophy for his shop.

The building on Main Street has always been a barber shop, and was probably moved to its current spot from beside the lake.

Bruce had a 1910 photo of it restored and framed. It pictures a barber out front of Kimball's Tonsorial Parlors with clientele, or maybe some friends. An identifying striped pole is off to the side.

It's still an old time barber shop with scents of powder hanging in the air. He may partially restore the exterior to resemble that old picture.

"I enjoy barbering. I could retire anytime now as far as age goes." He does the shaky hand routine, implying when he reaches that point, he'll hang up his shears.

come will be.

The first part is easy, if you have a lack of communication, start communicating. This doesn't mean just start talking, it also means listening to the students, parents, public, staff and yes, the administration. Keep everyone advised as to what is going on — no secrets, no surprises. Remain high profile, encourage discussion, solicit comments. This is an elected position, be responsive to the electorate.

The second part is not as easy. Trust is like a wall of glass, it can be firm, solid and protective. But just like glass, once broken it is almost impossible to repair without replacement. Trust has to be earned, and if elected, I will continue to earn that trust every day that I hold office. After all, the public elects the school board, so the public is really the boss.
