Serving East Jordan, Boyne City and surrounding areas

at a GLANCE

School board elections are next Monday

Area school board elections will be held on Monday, June 14 from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. at the schools.

In Boyne City, Boyne Falls and East Jordan candidates will run unopposed for each of the schools' two, four-year seats.

Incumbent Marty Moody will run again in Boyne City and Cathy Allen will run for the other vacant seat. Retiring board member Bill Hawkins is not seeking another term.

In East Jordan, Kevin Keene and John Kempton will run for their own expiring seats for another four year term.

In Boyne Falls, board member Ken Giem will run again, as will new candidate James Hawkins. Board member Tom Howell is not seeking another term.

Benefit lunch planned for BC officer Lee Cloyd

The Boyne City Police Department will hold a benefit luncheon on Saturday, June 12, at 2 p.m. at the pavilion in Boyne City's Veteran's Park for police officer Lee Cloyd who is recovering from a brain aneurysm she suffered in late April.

Officers are also collecting donations for a silent auction to be held at the same time. The cost is $5 and will include a chicken dinner and dessert.

To purchase tickets, make a donation or for more information, call the police department at 582-6611.

Garage sale signs are not welcome on public property

With garage sale season in full swing, the Boyne City Police Department reminds weekend retailers to keep their signs on private property and off utility poles.

The city sign ordinance prohibits affixing signs to utility poles, trees, rocks, shrubs, fences or other similar objects.

Officers will remove signs which are in violation of the ordinance and the owners may be fined.

School's out for the summer

Boyne Falls School's last day of classes before summer break is Thursday, June 10. Students will be dismissed at 11:40 a.m. Lunch will be served to kindergarten through sixth graders.

Boyne City Schools will let out on Friday, June 11. The elementary and high school students will be dismissed at 11:15 a.m. and middle schoolers at 11:07 a.m.

East Jordan Schools' last day is Monday, June 14. The middle school will be dismissed at 11 a.m., the high school at 11:05 a.m., and the elementary school at 11:10 a.m. Lunch will not be served.

Mother Nature turns out the lights

Thunderstorms coupled with high winds knocked out power to hundreds of Great Lakes Energy and Consumers Energy customers on Sunday, leaving some in the dark until Monday afternoon.

There were 231 Consumers customers in Boyne City who lost electricity on Sunday. Power was restored to all of them by Monday.

Great Lakes Energy crews had restored power by Monday afternoon to most of its customers in parts of Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Osego counties following the severe storm Sunday night that knocked out power to 5,600 customers.

The National Weather Service in Gaylord received calls of downed trees and power lines from Boyne Falls and Boyne City around 9:20 p.m. Sunday. Winds were clocked close to 50 m.p.h. near East Jordan, with winds in other areas reaching 60 m.p.h.

"That happens to be the lower limit as far as when we start getting damage," National Weather Service meteorologist Brian Hurley said. "That is the minimal threshold of when a storm is severe."

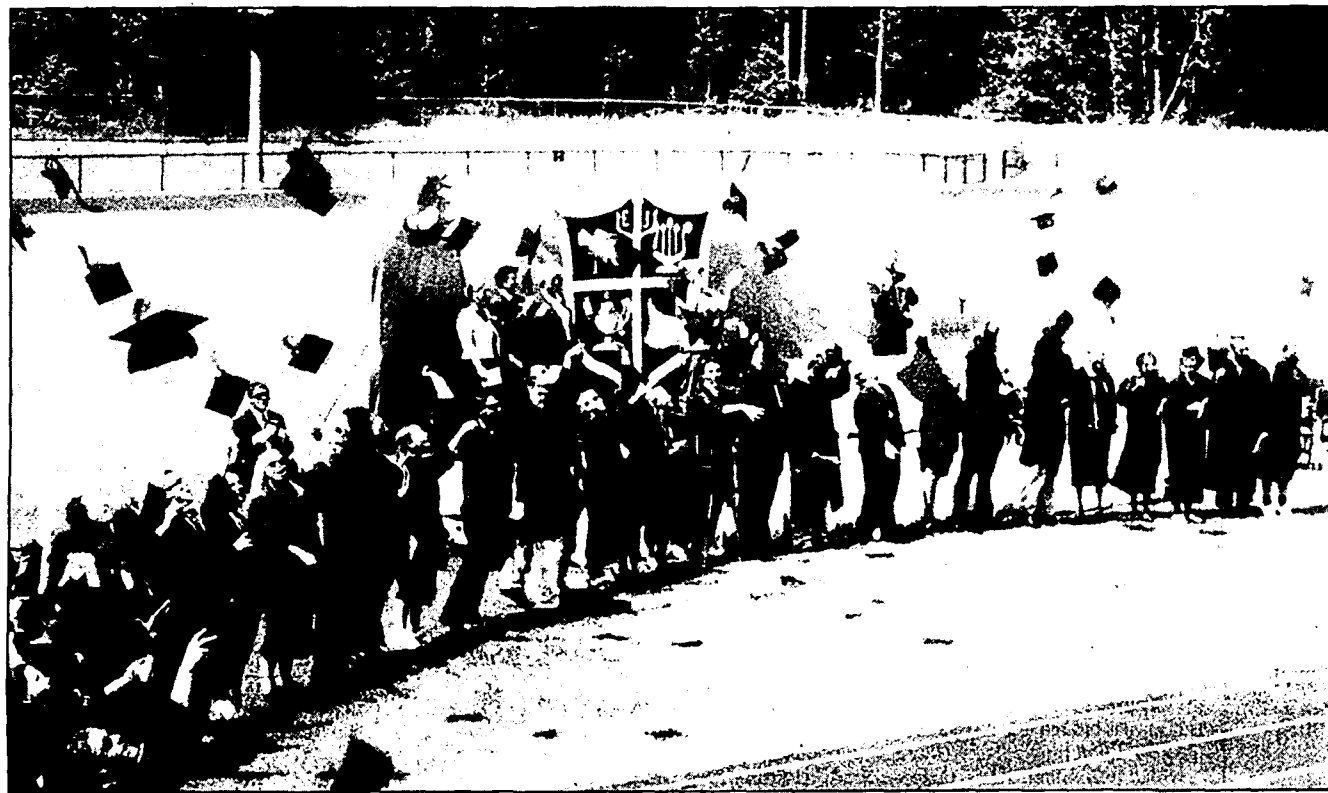

About a quarter inch of rain was dumped on East Jordan, with Boyne City and Boyne Falls accumulating from a half inch to one inch. Wind and sunshine helped lower the humidity early this week.

"This seems to happen every year. We get intense heat in late May and early June and then have a storm to cut the humidity," Hurley said.

Although temperatures are above normal for this time of the year, the weather is still pretty typical for what you would see in the latter part of June or early July, Hurley said.

A sailboat, tipped over in the Boyne City marina parking lot, was just one sign of the strength of Sunday evening's storm.

One final toss

It was hats off, literally, for East Jordan graduates who tossed their caps high in the air following the commencement ceremony at Boswell Stadium on Sunday. For more graduation photos, turn to page 8.

EVENT OFFERS A WIDE RANGE OF CLASSES AND ACTIVITIES

Seniors invited back to school

The halls of Boyne City High School will be quiet for just a few days before they come alive again with a group of new students.

The high school is hosting the first annual "Senior Citizens Back to School" Conference on June 17 for all Boyne City School District residents who are 55 years old and older.

The event is free and sponsored by the Boyne City School Board. Trustee Anne Thurston is the chief organizer.

"I am a teacher at heart. That is my degree. I taught school, I taught some college. I taught high school and middle school," she said.

"I just believe education is the answer to a lot of our problems and needs. I don't think education ever quits."

Senior Day is modeled off a program in Big Rapids that is now in its 12th year and has "become extremely successful" attracting hundreds of senior citizens.

Thurston learned of the program at a state workshop for school board trustees.

"The day is set aside for fun, fellowship and learning," Thurston said. It begins at 8:30 a.m. with coffee, donuts and an explanation of the day's events. Classes begin at 9:30 a.m. and lunch will be served at 11:20 a.m. The afternoon sessions begin at 1 p.m.

During lunch, the Back to School committee will present a Volunteer of the Year award to recognize a senior citizen for "their love and devotion to the community," Thurston said.

The afternoon sessions end at 3 p.m. but the day's events will resume at 6:30 p.m. with a dance featuring the Up North Big Band.

There is no cost for any of the day's activities. Everything has been donated.

Class offerings for the day are numerous and varied to appeal to a wide range of interests. The conference offers four sessions, two in the morning and two in the afternoon. Each session offers at least 18 different classes, ranging from computer classes to stocks to exercising to fly tying. All instructors for the classes are from the area.

St. Matthew's ready to move back home

After more than a year of fundraising, followed by nine months of construction, St. Matthew Catholic Church's fellowship hall is complete.

The new parking lot was paved Tuesday with deviations from the original plan which was to use the original parking lot. Because of drainage issues, a lagoon was built at the end of the parking lot to capture run-off instead of letting rain drain off the site.

Connected to the church's west side, the 8,000 square foot gathering center includes a barrier free entrance to the church, eight dividable areas for religious education classes, a kitchen, storage areas and lavatories.

With only a 180-seat capacity, the former hall in the basement was too small, said St. Matthew's pastor, the Rev. Francis Partridge.

The new hall will hold 350 people. The church will hold a mortgage with the Catholic Diocese of Gaylord with plans to pay off the loan in 15 years.

St. Matthew's will hold its regular mass schedule this weekend for the first time since construction began, but will first host an open house for Boyne Falls' St. Augustine parishioners on Friday night at 7 p.m. The Boyne Falls Church was the site of an additional Saturday and Sunday mass for St. Matthew parishioners during construction.

"They've been such good hosts," Fr. Partridge said.

The mass schedule at St. Matthews is 5:30 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. on Sunday. St. Augustine will revert back to its 9 a.m. mass only.

Working out the details

Superintendent candidate still interested in job

Even though he was offered the Boyne City superintendent's job under less than desirable circumstances, Dana Compton said he still intends to accept the position.

"Despite all the concerns at the onset, I still want to be in Boyne City," Compton said. "I still want to try this. I want to come and do the job."

Compton is currently superintendent for Morenci Community Schools, a position he has held for the past nine years.

He was one of 42 candidates who applied for the Boyne City opening and was the only finalist the school board considered. He was offered the job last Tuesday evening, but the original board vote was only 4-3. A second vote was taken, and that vote was 6-1 to hire him.

Compton is working with the board's personnel committee on his contract and both parties hope to complete negotiations in time for the board to approve it at next Monday's meeting.

"I have a tendency to thrive on challenges," Compton said. "All members of the board have been supportive."

Area police search lake in vain for driver who left scene of car crash

Local law enforcement officials, a team of divers from the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and the East Jordan and Charlevoix County Fire Departments, the Charlevoix County Marine Patrol and a US Coast Guard Helicopter from Traverse City searched the waters of Lake Charlevoix Saturday morning for the driver of a four-door Oldsmobile found upside down in Lake Charlevoix, only to find the suspect showering at a friend's home in Boyne City nearly 12 hours later.

Jason Alan Groh, 19, of Boyne City, was identified as the driver and an investigation has determined that alcohol, marijuana, and high speed all contributed to the crash. He was not arrested, but an arrest could be forthcoming, according to Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater.

Charlevoix County deputies, Boyne City police officers, Boyne City Ambulance and Fire Departments and the United States Coast Guard Station in Charlevoix all responded to the report of the one-vehicle traffic crash on Lakeshore Drive approximately 1/2 mile west of Stumbling instead of running out of the chute

There is nothing sweeter in life than to have an expectation met. And there is nothing more disappointing than to have an expectation fall far short.

For those of us who strive to live life on an even keel, avoiding expectations and letting life be digested as it is delivered, is a primary goal. Yet, sometimes the lure of an expectation can be too overwhelming.

That's what happened with the resignation of former Boyne City Superintendent Bob Nakoneczny. With his departure there were high hopes for a new beginning for Boyne City schools. For a variety of reasons, Nakoneczny was the excuse many people gave for the school district's problems and he received little credit for its successes.

Some of the criticism he brought on himself. The rest was the residue of making difficult decisions over the years.

His departure created an opportunity, an opportunity for the school district, the staff and community to come together and to meet the challenges that lie ahead.

It didn't happen, at least not yet. Rather what we have now is a worst-case scenario.

A new superintendent has been offered the job, but the position has been given to him under less than ideal circumstances.

Instead of the bus loaded and ready to move in a positive direction, the leadership of the district is split. The school board, except for board president Kathy Anderson, liked Dana Compton and had confidence in his ability to lead the district.

The school administration, on the other hand, had "serious reservations" about Compton's abilities and encouraged the board not to offer him the job. They expressed their opinions last week at the meeting the board scheduled to make a decision on whether or not to offer the job to Compton.

Many of their comments should never have been voiced at a public meeting. While no one can fault their honesty and sincerity, other channels exist to express opinions like the ones they offered.

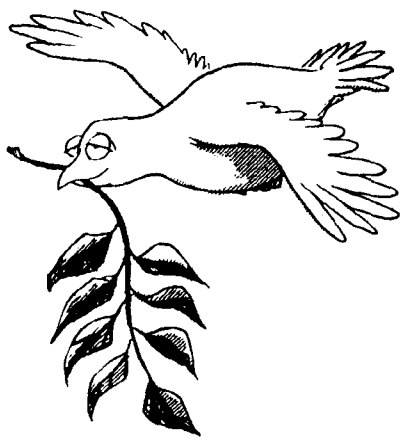

And not only did they create concern in Boyne City about Compton's ability to lead, but word travels fast in this age of technology.

The residents of Morenci read about the comments made about their community and superintendent via the internet, which makes the situation bad on both ends, particularly for Compton.

The choices before him are not pleasant, certainly not what he was hoping for when he applied for the job. He can accept the position in Boyne City with the doubts and divisions that exist, or he can stay in Morenci where he is not a very popular person right now.

Neither one seems desirable to me.

School board looks forward to working with new superintendent

TO THE EDITOR:

The search for a superintendent is not an easy one. It requires hours of criteria preparation, application review, interview processes, reference checks, school district visits and contractual negotiation -- all of which are scrutinized by the press, community and school staff.

After studying 42 candidate applications, conducting interviews with five of the 42 applicants, checking references, and visiting the Morenci School district and community, Dana Compton was clearly the leading choice, from a pool of several qualified candidates, for the position of Boyne City Schools' superintendent.

It is with reservation by some that Dana be offered the job because of the manner in which Morenci's system functions at the administrative level. While our administrators have recently become a true working team, Morenci's three building principals have not. Yes, our system functions differently than their system. However different, Morenci Schools do function.

During the course of his superintendency at Morenci, Dana has brought the district from a $26,000 deficit to a $2.1 million fund balance (Morenci currently operates with a $6.2 million annual budget). The district has well maintained and updated facilities and grounds. K-12 staffing and curriculum have improved. Team teaching has been introduced. Morenci is now a leader in technology within the Intermediate School District (ISD) with networked labs and classroom computers K-12. Most recently, Morenci has earned district-wide North Central Accreditation and is a pilot school for transition endorsement.

Dana's knowledge of budget management, his ability to negotiate contracts successfully, and his experience in grant writing demonstrate clear financial expertise.

In curriculum matters, Dana places students as his top priority. He endorses academics, the arts and athletics all as part of a comprehensive program for improved student achievement and learning. He believes that strong professional development is necessary in order to maintain a high standard curriculum. His work at the ISD level has brought about the extensive use of technology in his own district and the development of a vocational tech center utilized by 13 districts within the ISD.

Dana is held in high regard by his colleagues, school board and community. He knows his staff and is in the school buildings regularly. He is honest and approachable, communicates well, and has a refreshing sense of humor. Dana is a devoted father and community member.

We, as a school board and representatives of the community worked hard to find a superintendent who would be an educational leader, manage a budget, be involved in curriculum development and be visible.

Most importantly, we sought a person who would communicate effectively with our district and community. We support Dana and look forward to working with him.

A MOM'S LIFE

There's no need for straight rows

By CINDI PLACE

Rarely do we get an experience quite like helping a child plant their first garden.

The excitement that begins with the planning process and runs right through to waiting for the seeds to sprout is wonderful to watch. Of course, explaining to a young child why the seeds they have just sown haven't grown into plants right away complicates the process a bit.

For many years, we had a pretty large vegetable garden. But the local deer herd had frustrated our attempts at growing our own food, so it had been a while since a vegetable garden had been planted on our property.

Choosing which vegetables to grow was a fairly complicated process. Especially for a child who hates to eat anything green. Or red, or yellow. Except, of course, corn or the cob. But, planting only corn would make for a rather boring garden. So we compromised and agreed that just because it came from his garden, didn't mean he had to eat it.

Finding a space in our already packed flower garden area became a bit of a challenge. And we didn't want to plant too far from the house ... the still rather large and hungry local deer population would destroy this child's hard work for sure.

Finally, the plot is chosen, the seeds purchased, the soil tilled and we're ready to begin planting. Now, my idea of a good vegetable garden is rows and rows of individually labeled seeds in some semblance of order. But I forgot I was dealing with an extremely creative 8 year old.

Struggling to remember just who this garden was to belong to, I gritted my teeth as seeds were scattered willy-nilly, without logic and with total abandon. When I asked how he planned to remember what had been planted where, the answer was pure little boy.

"It'll be a surprise, okay mom?"

One man's junk, most likely, is still just junk

By GINA SOLTIS KENDELL

Do you ever watch that PBS program called "The Antiques Roadshow?"

You know the one, where people drag treasures, junk, or what-have-you out of attics, basements, garages and rip them off walls in hopes of becoming the next instant millionaire.

It's the "I think it's a piece of junk, but there's a sucker born every minute" mentality.

The show keeps the audience's, not to mention the item's owner, guessing at its monetary value as an eccentric curator, amazingly well-versed in just this particular type of antique, talks about the item's history -- how, when, where it was made. Blah, blah, blah.

You can see the item's owner could really care less. They can hardly concentrate on what the man's saying, his voice sounding like a muffled adult from the Charlie Brown cartoons.

They're just waiting for the bottom line. Is Aunt Nellie's old lamp a Tiffany or not? Is great-grandfather's collection of president's signatures going to put my kids through college? Will this rock I found outside on the sidewalk as I happened by the show allow me to retire?

Amazingly enough, what was nearly relegated to the garbage heap conjures up visions of wealth beyond the wildest dreams.

Surely, they hope fervently with fingers crossed, if that ancient Roman headress several programs ago was worth nearly six digits, this, um, ancient Kodak camera I unearthed at an archaeological dig must be worth more.

When the big number is finally announced, you can read the excitement, disbelief and most interestingly, disappointment in their faces.

It's difficult to watch the latter reaction, when the smiling estimator says, "It would have been worth $60,000 if you hadn't stripped off the original painted patina so your children wouldn't ingest it during that confounded lead-paint debacle in the 1970s. But I would pay you $75 at auction for it."

They answer, lip quivering, "I would never sell it anyway. It's been in the family for 12 generations. It has sentimental value. We all learned to potty-train on it."

Uh-huh. They would have sold their eye teeth if the price was right. And the piece gets dropped in the nearest trash receptacle before they go drown their sorrows.

"How much did you pay for it," is the inevitable follow-up question.

Lucky ones didn't pay dime one. They found it in the neighbor's garbage can on their way out the door, tossed it in the back of the pick up truck and hoped for a miracle. They're just trying to figure out how to get out of there without getting mugged.

The other ones, well, they felt sure their original $5,000 "investment" would pay off in spades. They, of course, with a telltale shift of the eyes and clearing of the throat, say they paid only $10 for it.

I wonder what happens behind the scenes between family members when they find out, through the grapevine, that sis was on the show and now holds hostage to their inheritance.

I can just picture it. One wants to keep mother's antique wedding ring, a gift from the Queen of England who got it from the Queen of Sheba. The rest, who never wanted the gaudy piece in first place, have already spent the money on lottery tickets, swamp-land in Florida, and tarot card readings.

It all comes to a head in a sitcom scenario, complete with dramatic music and the ring flying out from between two struggling hands into the surf at Big Sur. A flat tuba note ends the scene.

The hand-me-down, garage-sale-find, or inheritance -- most recently just irritating dust collectors -- have disappointed because they are worth, in one person's estimation, what they've been worth all along after all.

Next stop: Vegas.

Veteran's name left off Memorial Day list

TO THE EDITOR:

As I read the May 26 edition, I was delighted to see the page in memory of veterans from the local area who have served our country. But as I read the names of those who were buried in Maple Lawn Cemetery, I was disappointed that my father-in-law's name was not to be found.

Stanley H. Holland served in the Spanish American War, being honorably discharged from the 117th Company of the Coast Regiment of Artillery on October 9, 1904.

After his discharge he learned the barbering trade from his brother in Grand Rapids and worked as a barber in Boyne City for 50 years. He was the proprietor of the Kozy Barber Shop under the old bank building that stood where Johnson's Furniture now stands.

Nancy Holland

(Editor's note: We have heard from a few other readers like Mrs. Holland about names of relatives left out of the list of veterans on Memorial Day. We printed the lists we received from Sue Hobbs for the Boyne City area and Ken Richards for the East Jordan area. If you know of a veteran's name that was omitted, please contact either of them or contact the Boyne City or East Jordan VFW or American Legion.)

Going above and beyond the call of duty

TO THE EDITOR:

While visiting friends in East Jordan over Memorial weekend, I unfortunately lost my glasses in Lake Charlevoix Sunday evening. I am blind as a bat without them.

Monday morning (Memorial Day) we found Pearle Vision listed in the yellow pages and called. Even though we knew they would not be open on a holiday weekend, we still dialed. We were right. We got a recording giving hours and an emergency phone number. Well this was an emergency. Calling, I spoke with Mrs. Gary Mellon and explained my plight. Her husband, Dr. Mellon was walking the dog and would be back shortly.

About 45 minutes later Dr. Mellon called. I explained what happened and he said, what time can you meet me at my office. We agreed on a time and met at his office. He unlocked the office and went to look in the files for my records. I explained I'm from Saginaw and my records should be in the computer as I do business with Pearle Vision in Saginaw. The computers are not linked so Dr. Mellon gave me an eye exam to determine my corrected vision. He fitted me with a pair of contact lenses to get me by. Glasses were not an option because of my poor vision and besides the office was officially closed. Dr. Mellon then proceeded to give me all the necessary supplies for contacts, case, cleaning solution and eye drops.

When I had all in my possession I asked, what do I owe you and quickly held my breath, after all this was a holiday. Dr. Mellon said enjoy the rest of your weekend and buy me a drink next time you are in the area. This just totally blew me away.

My hat goes off to Dr. Mellon, a very considerate and generous person. In this day and age of fast pace business and make a buck at all cost it is truly refreshing to have met someone like Dr. Mellon. You are very fortunate to have Dr. Mellon residing and working in the community of Boyne City. Dr. Mellon has renewed my faith in mankind.

Former Boyne Falls resident feels left out by newspaper

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently the Boyne City and East Jordan honor students had their pictures and a write-up in the paper. How nice, but why were the Boyne Falls students left out?

Two weeks ago all the cemeteries and those who served in the armed forces were mentioned for Memorial Day. Again it was only Boyne City and East Jordan. Boyne Falls may be small, but we have two cemeteries and had men that served for our country. In fact a few were killed as young boys. That hurts a bit.

Thank you for at least including Boyne Falls students as "Students of the Week." Then the white fronted goose that landed on the Boyne Falls Mill Pond was interesting.

I may not live in Boyne Falls anymore, but I get the paper and enjoy a little bit of the news from my home town.

Thank you kindly for allowing me to express my opinion.

"We are all so aware we need to build bridges to our community, not just for a new facility but to get better education for our kids," Thurston said.

"We just need to do it better. Part of it is to reach parents and grandparents and bring them up to speed" on what's happening in education.

Thurston said some have said the Senior Citizen Day is just a way to try to generate support for the upcoming school bond election.

"It really doesn't have anything to do with that," she said. "That is not a goal. I just think the seniors in our town will be enriched if they can go to some of these classes."

Since this is the first year, Thurston is not sure how many seniors might participate. "We're flying by the seat of our pants. We don't know if we will have 50 or 200," she said.

No matter the number, she has been overwhelmed by the support she has received from businesses, community residents, school staff and students.

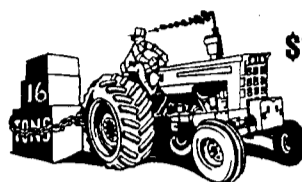

"I have been amazed at the community and people asked to be teachers, how pleased they are to do it. They have been really good about it."

Boyne City after local residents heard the sounds of a crash and located the upside down car in the lake around 1 a.m.

The driver could not be located. The car was in several feet of water, and local divers were called in to search the surrounding water. A strong thunder storm hit the area and the search was briefly suspended.

The search continued after day-break by deputies, the Charlevoix County Marine Patrol and a US Coast Guard helicopter.

K-9 units from the Michigan Technical Rescue Operations Team were called in to conduct a search with their ground and water-cadaver dogs. They were able to locate a small amount of blood along the shore where it appeared the victim had left the lake.

Around 11:05 a.m. a citizen called CCE-911 to report sighting the suspected driver entering a house in Boyne City. Deputies responded and located the suspect taking a shower at the home of a friend on East Main Street.

He was turned over to the Boyne City Ambulance EMTs and transported to Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey for treatment of multiple lacerations and abrasions.

According to the sheriff's department, Groh was eastbound on Lakeshore Drive and lost control at a high rate of speed. His vehicle ran off the roadway striking a driveway then it went back across the road and over an embankment and rolled sideways before coming to rest upside down in Lake Charlevoix.

More than 50 people were involved in the search and rescue operation.

Student builders hosting open house

The Boyne City High School Building Trades students will host an open house on Thursday, June 10 from 4-9 p.m. to showcase the home they have nearly completed constructing on Deer Lake. Community members are invited to attend.

The 20 students, three from East Jordan High School, began the project last fall for Michele and Jeff Deming, working two hours each school day.

The 2,300 square foot home includes four bedrooms, three bathrooms, attached two-car garage, tongue and groove ceiling, cultured stone fireplace, ceramic tile and vinyl siding.

Approximately 90 percent of the house will be complete by the end of the school year and contractor Nord Schroeder will finish the rest. A July 1 completion date is anticipated.

This is the 13th house in as many years Neidhamer has overseen construction. His assistant is Tim Baker.

Leaving a career filled with kids

(Editor's note: Following are brief profiles on area educators and school personnel who are retiring at the end of the school year.)

EAST JORDAN

Phil Goebel Sixth Grade Teacher

Phil Goebel teaches social studies four class periods each day and also teaches drama and reading academy.

He has been part of the district for 19 years and has enjoyed working with the kids.

"I also enjoy the fact that every day is different and all kids are unique. This has made my job very enjoyable and boredom was never an issue," Goebel said.

Not only have the teachers at the middle school been fun to work with, but he has also enjoyed working with superintendent Chip Hansen. "Since Chip arrived, our school has improved immensely. Our school board has also been an excellent group to work with."

Upon retirement Goebel plans to continue growing raspberries — three acres worth. This is his 20th year of growing the berries, most of which he sells to large markets and offers a "Pick Your Own" service as well. He also plans to do more farming, perhaps plant some fruit trees and grow other berries.

"I plan to spend more quality time with my wife and three daughters and also my two grandchildren," he said.

Dave Graham Bus Driver

"I like children and enjoyed transporting them to and from school, especially the kindergarten group," said Dave Graham, who has worked for the East Jordan School District for 16 years.

"I also liked taking everyone on field trips and to sporting events. I also like socializing with the other bus drivers and teachers," he said.

Retirement won't slow Graham down, who said he plans to work his farm and "travel to places I have never seen."

Ted Jeffery High School Teacher

Ted Jeffery will spend part of his retirement the same way he's spent his summers for the past several years — working as a carpenter and performing small remodeling projects.

"I also plan to do a bit more traveling and to enjoy life as much as possible," said the East Jordan high school teacher of 25 years.

Jeffery taught a variety of math classes, but was mainly involved with the high school drafting and CAD programs.

"I have enjoyed working with the kids, helping them prepare for further education or the world of work," he said.

"It has been very satisfying to help students prepare for their futures."

Georgia McKenney Library Media Specialist

Georgia McKenney said she'll spend time on an old hobby — photography — once she retires.

She'll also have time to sew again, travel a bit and "oh yes, read!" said the library aide.

She has spent almost 20 years working for the East Jordan School District which has also included substitute teaching and teaching community education.

McKenney is responsible for the organization and operation of the school's media centers. She spent her first two years at the high school level and then worked at all three levels for 14 years until the middle school was built. Since then she has worked at the high school and elementary school levels.

"I have enjoyed working with the kids on all levels and I have enjoyed the many friendships and associations made during the years I've been with the East Jordan Schools," she said.

Peg Millard Third Grade Teacher

Peg Millard started out teaching third grade in 1970 for two years, then moved up to fourth grade with many of her students. She then taught fourth grade for 24 years before moving back to the third grade, which she has taught for the past three years.

"East Jordan has been a wonderful place to spend my teaching career," Millard said. "It has been a very forward moving, progressive school district with a staff that is willing to do whatever is necessary to benefit kids. I will really miss the kids and the people I have worked with."

Kathie Copeland

Her immediate plans for retirement are to do the things at home that "have waited 29 years to get done," she said. "I plan to take some classes for fun — photography, art, computer classes and probably piano lessons."

Ruth Ann Sheridan Teacher Assistant

"I think one-on-one tutoring is the most rewarding part of my job," Ruth Ann Sheridan said. "There is a special feeling when a student 'cracks the code' of reading and reads with confidence."

"The many adult friendships I have made have also been important to me."

As a teacher assistant, Sheridan worked on the playground, tutored individuals and groups, worked in second grade reading academy, with JumpStart, in the cafeteria and in the classroom under the direction of the classroom teacher.

And after 28 years with the East Jordan School District, she plans to spend more time with her children and grandchildren.

"Hopefully there will be more time for my many hobbies — sewing, reading, gardening and traveling," she added.

Patti Spence Library Assistant

In her 25 years with the East Jordan School District, Patti Spence has enjoyed the family of teachers and the kids the most.

As library assistant, Spence reads to kindergarten through second graders and has also worked at the pool in the afternoons, as well as run the elementary library circulation desk.

Like many retirees, she plans to travel as much as possible.

BOYNE CITY

Kathie Copeland Elementary Art Teacher

Kathie Copeland has worked for more than 20 years as Boyne City Elementary School's kindergarten through fourth grade art teacher.

She said she has enjoyed getting to know every student that has attended Boyne City Elementary School over the past two decades and working with such a wonderful group of people.

"Every day, getting to see the delightful child-like images the students produce makes me laugh. I will miss this so much," she said.

Becoming a student of the arts again is top on Copeland's list after her retirement from teaching, along with traveling. A new career may also be in order.

BOYNE FALLS

Bernie Corpe Teacher

Bernie Corpe is grateful to have had the opportunity to touch the lives of hundreds of young people in his 23 year teaching career at Boyne Falls School.

"Being around them has kept me young," Corpe said. "I've also had the chance to work with some excellent teachers. It's been a great experience, but it's time to move on to new challenges."

Corpe has taught fifth grade science, seventh grade science and English, sixth-eighth grade physical education and high school health and physical education.

Upon retirement from the school, Corpe plans to operate his own web-based business, work at a Christian school in the Gaylord area and do some traveling to Australia and New Zealand.

"There will be plenty to do," Corpe said.

JoAnn Gibes Third Grade Teacher

After 28 years as a teacher at Boyne Falls School, JoAnn Gibes can say it's the people that she enjoys the most.

"We are so small that working here is like being in a big family. We take care of each other and are able to follow the progress of our students from the time they enter school until they graduate," Gibes said.

She said she will miss working with the great staff. "Our children are in very capable hands when they come here," she said.

She is also proud of the community's support for the school. "The new school is the result of the hard work of many and will be an exciting, beautiful facility for the students."

"Finally, I have enjoyed working with a great group of children over the years. It was very rewarding to have them come back for a visit to the school and see how successful they are."

Gibes doesn't have any immediate plans for retirement, but to work on the festival for most of the summer and maybe get a part time job in the fall. Traveling may be part of her future as well.

Sue A. Goebel Counselor/Teacher

"Throughout the years I have worked with some very creative, intelligent and enjoyable young people," Sue Goebel said. "They have enriched my life and have made my years of teaching very rewarding."

In her 28 years with the Boyne Falls district, Goebel has been the K-12 counselor, Title I director, MEAP coordinator, Safe and Drug Free Schools Coordinator, sixth grade language arts teacher and a middle school computer teacher.

She plans to enjoy spending time with her husband, daughters and grandchildren.

Dale Reinhardt Sixth Grade Teacher

Physical Education Teacher for first through fifth grade

After 29 years in the East Jordan classroom, Dale Reinhardt plans to do some farming and upkeep and remodeling to his house, as well as take some trips in the spring and fall which have eluded him as a school teacher.

He has enjoyed getting to know the students and their families "and being able to follow the progress of students throughout their school years."

"I have also enjoyed the close relationship I was able to develop with the other staff members."

Conservancy exploring Skow Family Preserve on Saturday

The Charlevoix County Land Conservancy will explore the wooded uplands, transitional fields and mature cedar lowlands of the Skow Family Preserve in South Arm Township on Saturday, June 12.

The visit should be colorful since summer wildflowers are abundant throughout the preserves diverse ecosystems.

The Skow Family Preserve is located on the Antrim/Charlevoix

County Line approximately four miles west of East Jordan. It was the third preserve added to the 193-acre St. Clair-Six Mile Lake (Great Blue Heron) Natural Area.

After the walk, participants are encouraged to attend the Ellsworth Pig Roast festivities.

Rain or shine conservancy members and guests will carpool from the 108 Park Ave. office at 9 a.m. The walk will not be strenuous.

Early birds should meet at 8:15 a.m. to share favorite nature readings and poems. This week members will look at "Earth Prayers," a collection of poems from around the world honoring the earth.

Potters open studio and shop in Boyne

Potters Meriwether "Meg" and John McClorey have opened the Fire and Clay Pottery retail store and studio on Lake Street in downtown Boyne City, next to the mouth of the Boyne River.

Although the couple came from Kentucky where they operated a studio by the same name for two decades, Meg has been vacationing regularly in the Charlevoix area for several years, thus the impetus for the move. They have two teenage children, Meriwether and Chris.

Meg is the chief artist, crafting functional pottery such as dishes, primarily in stoneware and also in porcelain. She will craft dinnerware to order and keeps samples on hand for customers to peruse.

"We cook a lot, so a lot of my items are based on that," Meg said.

They also craft Raku, a form of pottery distinguished by its crackled glaze. John, whom Meg calls the firemaster, "runs the kiln and plays with the fire." Meg creates the pieces.

"With this stuff, I have an idea of what it could be, but I don't know what it will be," Meg said, explaining she does it for the excitement and fun.

Some of her Raku work, such as fish sculptures, vases and bowls, is displayed on the store's walls and shelves. These, she reminds customers, are strictly decorative, they won't necessarily hold water.

Both Meg and John are self-taught potters. Meg has a degree from the University of Cincinnati's College of Design, Art and Architecture and has done graduate work at the University of Kentucky under John Tuska.

She is a juried member of the Sheltoe Artisans, the Kentucky Craft Marketing Program and the Kentucky Arts and Crafts Foundation.

John, an attorney by trade, displays his ornamental angels and other delicate pieces near the store's front counter and has recently added water fountains to his pottery line. One is on display in the store.

Meg has taught pottery for a number of years and has regularly participated in the Watershed Arts Alliance's Artist in Residence with Kids (ARK) program that brings working artists into the schools in Kentucky.

She is currently teaching four-week stoneware pottery classes in Boyne City. The next sessions will begin the first Tuesday in July and August. The cost is $80 for each session and includes materials. Classes begin at 7 p.m. and last about two hours. By the end of the fourth session, students should have completed pots that they can use in everyday life.

Fire and Clay Pottery is open from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., through Sept. 15. The phone number is 582-7689.

Boyne River's friends plan river clean up

Friends of the Boyne River recently adopted a vision statement to improve and conserve the environmental health and recreational quality of the Boyne River and its watershed.

Part of their efforts toward that end have been through education committee members Tom Sheets and Larry Maltby, who work with Boyne City, Boyne Falls and Concord students to educate them on the river and its surroundings.

Other efforts include river clean-ups and the group will host another one on Saturday, June 26, at 9 a.m. Participants are asked to meet at Riverside Park — formerly known as the city dump — on Spring Street. For more information, call Mary Campbell at 582-6504.

They will also hold their monthly meeting on Wednesday, June 9, at 7 p.m. at the Wolverine-Dilworth Inn, which will feature a presentation by Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council's Scott McEwen called "Living in a Watershed."

Four candidates in the running for East Jordan curriculum director

East Jordan schools has narrowed the candidates for the director of curriculum and instruction position to four.

The applicants, two of them East Jordan schools employees, will be interviewed on June 22 and 23.

She has been actively involved in Carrollton's curriculum and technology initiatives and is an experienced staff developer in each area.

guide the district's curriculum and staff development activities.

Gabos is also a member of the district's Technology Committee and directs the certification processes associated with the high school's vocational education programs. She holds a Masters Degree in Administration from Central Michigan University.

Teresa Hart teaches technology and is the media specialist at East Jordan Middle School. She is a member of the district's Core Team in which she works with other teacher leaders to guide the district's curriculum and staff development activities. She is also a member of the district's Technology Committee.

Hart has a Master's Degree in Curriculum/Assessment from Michigan State University.

Jeff Whipple is the assistant middle school principal at Grand Ledge Public Schools. He has a Master's Degree in Reading from Michigan State University and an Education Specialist Degree in Administration, also from Michigan State.

Whipple has served as a reading specialist and has been active in curriculum development and implementation initiatives.

The district anticipates selecting a candidate by July 1, with an Aug. 1 starting date.

A team consisting of teachers, administrators, school board members and parents will be involved in the interview process. Their consensus recommendation will be forwarded to the school board for action at its regular meeting in July.

School board trustees earn MASB awards

The board members are being honored for participating in voluntary training programs for educational leadership.

Boyne City board member James Stackus received the Certified Board Member Award for attending 30 hours of MASB classes.

East Jordan board member Barbara Malpass was awarded the Master Board Member Award for earning 425 MASB education credits.

District champions

Boyne City wins baseball title, faces Benzie Central in regionals on Saturday

Offense scores runs, but defense and good pitching win games.

When you have all three, look out.

The Boyne City Ramblers were clicking on all cylinders last Saturday on their way to winning the district baseball championship hosted by East Jordan. The Ramblers defeated East Jordan 11-4 in the semi final and beat Mancelona 15-5 for the championship.

The title was the second straight for head coach Beano Archey and the fourth in a row for the Ramblers. They move on to the regionals on Saturday at McBain where they will face Benzie Central.

Benzie, 22-10 for the season, beat Elk Rapids, which finished second in the Lake Michigan Conference to Boyne City, in its district.

Boyne City, 19-9-1, and Benzie have not played this year, but they did get to scout each other when Benzie played at and won the Boyne City invitational tournament early in the season.

The winner of the Boyne City-Benzie game will play the winner of Rogers City-LeRoy Pine River for the regional championship.

"With the heat and the long wait between games, we were pleased with the kids keeping their concentration," Archey said. "We played two complete games. Defensively we played exceptionally well."

So did Andy Douglas, especially in game one against East Jordan. He had the kind of game you only dream about as a kid. In three straight trips to the plate, he gave the ball a ride over the fence. Four pitches, three home runs. Two were solo shots, the other had one runner on base. Archey said he's checking to see if Douglas' feat qualifies for the record book. It certainly would for Boyne City.

East Jordan took an early one-run lead after the first inning, but the Ramblers came back with two runs in the second while holding the Red Devils scoreless. In the third inning Boyne scored one run and East Jordan scored twice to tie the game.

In the next three innings, Boyne outscored the Red Devils 8-1 to take control of the game. Neither team scored in the final inning.

Jesse Simon was the winning pitcher for Boyne. He gave up six hits and five walks while striking out nine. Mat Whiteford took the loss for the Red Devils. He went 5 2/3 innings before he was relieved by Mike Wladischkin. Rob Vincent finished the game.

In addition to Douglas' hitting heroics, several other Ramblers were hot at the plate. Jeremy Grice had a home run. Jeremy Peck had three singles. Josh Bush had two singles, and Kevin Metzger had a double and single. Nick Karaszewski, Simon and Danny Arner each singled.

For East Jordan, Nathan Skop had a home run and double. Whiteford singled and doubled. Bryan Banfield tripled, and Wladischkin singled.

The Red Devils finished their season with a 15-12 mark overall.

Against Mancelona, the Rambler bats kept booming while pitcher Justin Callahan threw a complete game.

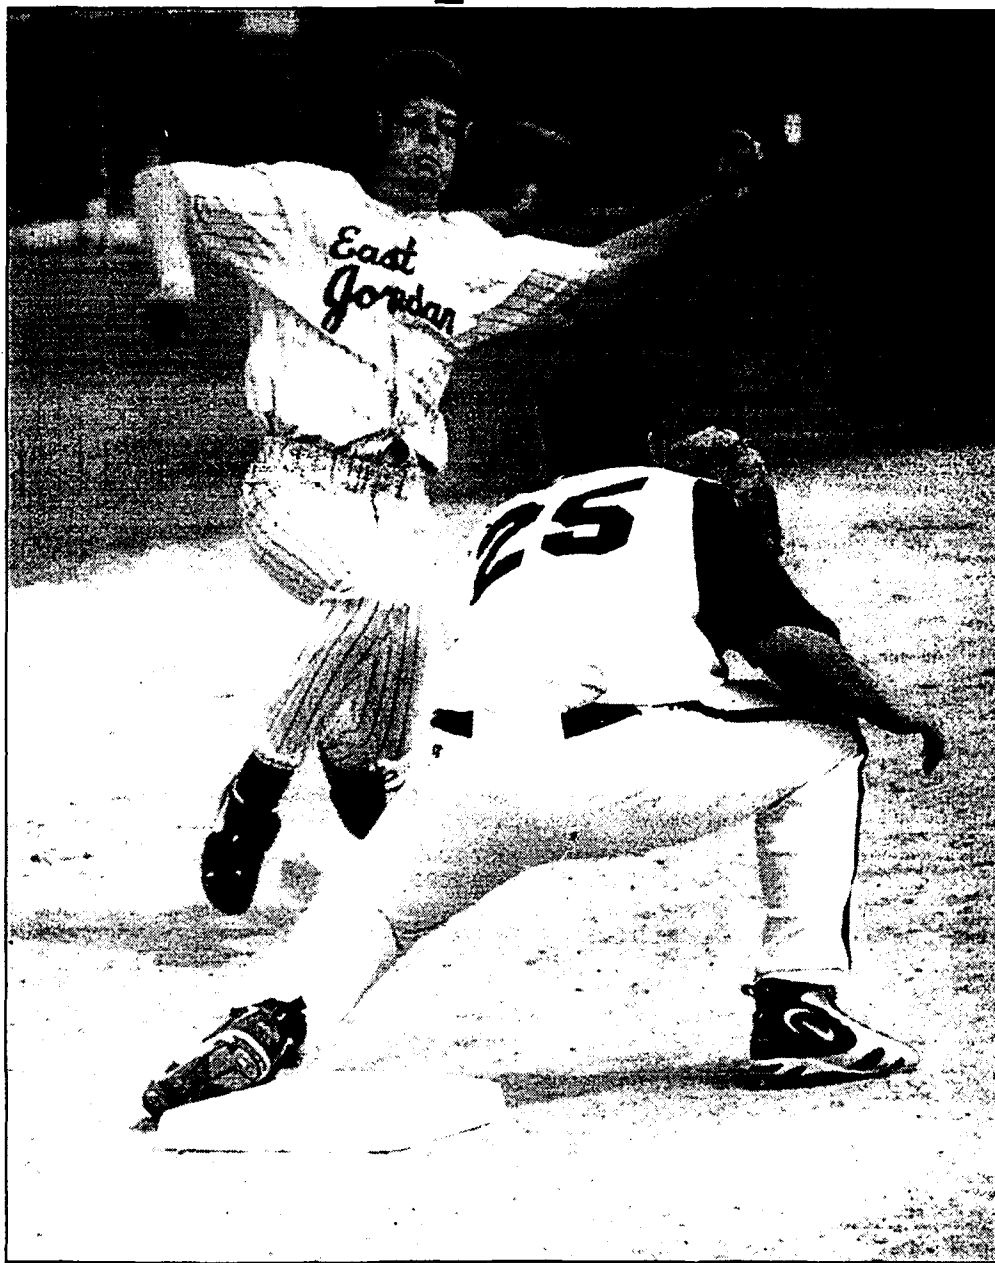

He allowed five hits and two walks while striking out four. He also helped his own cause at the plate with a home run.

Grice's hot hitting also continued as he slammed another home run and doubled. Metzger homered and singled. Bush, Simon and Arner each doubled and singled, and Karaszewski doubled, and Peck and Josh Hall each singled.

Following their victory, several Ramblers were named to the All-District team. Simon and Callahan earned honors for pitching; Bush, catching; Metzger, first base; Arner, infield; Peck, outfield; and Douglas, outfield.

Named to the All District Academic team were seniors Nick Riehl, Hall, Simon, Arner, Peck, and Tim Bouters, and junior Luke Reinhardt.

Archey was named All-District coach along with Rogers City's Howard Madsen.

Bryan Banfield starts his slide into third base as Nick Karaszewski awaits the throw. Banfield was tagged out on the play and he injured his ankle and had to leave the game. He received his diploma Sunday wearing a cast and walking with crutches.

East Jordan takes on Elk Rapids

East Jordan hung in to beat a tough Boyne City team 2-1 in district semifinal play Saturday, advancing to the final against Charlevoix and beating them 4-0 for the Division III District softball championship.

East Jordan Sophomore Linda Slough was on the mound for both games, allowing only two hits in the opener and throwing a perfect title game against Charlevoix.

Lindsey Malpass and Slough scored a run apiece in the first inning. After hitting a single, Malpass advanced to second on a wild pitch. Slough singled to send Malpass home for an RBI and Mary Ann Brooks moved Slough around with the inning's second RBI.

The Red Devils didn't score again until the sixth inning. Brooks led off with a double, moved to third on an error and made it home on an RBI by Kristin Haley.

Stephanie Sweet had the second RBI of the inning.

Slough and Malpass each had a single and Brooks had two doubles.

Against Boyne City, Stephanie Sweet scored first for the Red Devils in the fourth inning, with an RBI single by Wendy Walczak.

Kelly Hammond scored the second run, getting on base with an error, moving to second on a sacrifice by Lindsey Malpass and advancing to third with a single by Slough. Rachel Boss walked to load the bases and Brooks hit a single, knocking in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Boyne City's Brandy Barren took the pitching loss allowing five hits, three walks and striking out three.

East Jordan will play Elk Rapids at noon on Saturday during regional action in McBain. Lake City and Inland Lakes play at 10 a.m.

The winners of those games will face-off at a 2 p.m. final.

All eyes were glued to the track as sprinters raced to the finish line at the state track meet.

Tracksters compete with the best

Although temperatures soared into the 90s, East Jordan runners turned up the heat even higher at the state track meet in Saginaw on Saturday.

Tarn Leach finished fourth in the 3200 meter run with a time of 9:48.7 and also ran a leg of the 3200 meter relay, breaking the two-minute mark for the first time ever, and helping the team set a new school record at 8:13.

The relay team finished sixth and included Chris Bacon, Micah Middaugh and Scott Fisher. Despite the heat, East Jordan coaches said the boys turned in excellent performances, with Middaugh and Leach running outstanding legs in the relay.

Middaugh also ran the 3200 meter run in 10:11, finishing 18th.

The top eight finishers in each event earned medals.

THE BOYNE CITY girls didn't medal, but the 3200 meter relay team of Jane Stieber, Kelsey Brewer, Mindy McCutcheon and Jackie Cyr finished 10th, and "was right on time," coach Tom Nagurka said. Cyr finished 10th in the 800 meter run, but "didn't run the way she wanted to," Nagurka said.

Ann Gaudard, who finished first at regionals, did not advance out of the preliminaries in the 100 meter dash. Nicole Kurtz, fourth at regionals in the high hurdles, did not advance in her event either.

"You run your best and wherever you end up, you end up," Nagurka said.

They deserve kudos just for the mere fact that they made it to the state meet, Nagurka said "because only the very best make it there in the first place, and they should feel very proud of themselves, because I definitely did."

EAST JORDAN's Holly Petkewicz ran a 2:30 in the 800 meter run, "which is a good time for her," coach Dennis Snarey said.

Suzie Malpass ran the 300 hurdles in 48.91, winning her heat, but facing two other faster heats.

"She was a little bit off her time, but it was a very hot day," Snarey said.

Neither runner earned a medal. "We've had a good year — both the boys and the girls," Snarey said.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

American Legion

At the June 3 meeting of the veterans of Ernest Peterson Post #228 of the American Legion in Boyne City, an Installation Ceremony was held for the newly elected officers. Outgoing Sergeant-at-Arms John Mathers escorted the veterans to the front where they were administered their oaths of office by National Executive Committeeman Alton Ford.

Immediately following the installation, Commander Jerry Evans presided over an impressive initiation ceremony, which included an explanation and meaning of the various parts of the American Legion Emblem. New members initiated were Gail Gerrie and George Karl. Also included were several Legionnaires who had not participated in the ceremony: Jim Bates, Maxine Hough, Don Wilson, Pete Faskey, Culver McCoy and Fred Leyh. Following the service, Commander Evans presented each new member with a small American flag, a booklet on flag etiquette and an American Legion lapel pin. National Committeeman Ford then presented each with a 3' x 5' outdoor flag set, a gift from National Headquarters.

At the meeting following the services, plans were made for the District 19 meeting to be held at the Boyne City Post on Sunday, June 13. A service officer's meeting will be held at 11 a.m., followed by a social hour, dinner, and then the district meeting.

Plans were made for the Flag Day ceremonies to be held on the waterfront at Memorial Park at 7 p.m. on June 14, at which time unserviceable flags will be properly and ceremoniously destroyed.

GARDEN PATH

Bringing color back to the bridges

By ANGELA SHULTIS

If you need evidence of community pride, just look around.

Case in point: if you've driven through East Jordan lately, you may have noticed the flowerboxes that seemed to have sprouted overnight on the bridge. But their creation did not happen overnight, by any means. It took a little time, and the work of many hands, to bring a little bit of living color to the landscape.

Years ago, some of you may recall, the bridge was adorned with similar flowerboxes that, ultimately, fell victim to vandalism and sporadic upkeep. So, for several years, the bridge has gone without.

But, it seems, with all the changes taking place in the area, it was time to try again. On this particular project, it was East Jordan Lioness and garden club member Ginny Carey whose initiative set the wheels in motion.

Ginny had long been admiring Petoskey and Boyne City's brightly planted bridges, and bolstered by hearing others voice similar opinions, decided to do a little research. After Carey presented her plan, the East Jordan Lioness club and the garden club both offered financial support for the project. Following approval from the city, they gathered supplies, and Ginny's husband, Bud, a builder, got to work with a little help from grandson Matthew. Bud, said Ginny, "knows how to get the most out of a piece of plywood."

Next was a call to Connie Roberts, Girl Scout Troop leader, to try to recruit the scouts for a little painting detail. More than happy to pitch in, the girls spent two afternoons priming and painting. Once the boxes were ready to go, rain delayed their installation. Still, they were able to get them up and planted in time for the Memorial Day weekend. "Everyone was enthusiastic and supportive," said Ginny. "People honked their horns as they drove by and gave us the thumbs up."

It is, to be sure, a community project. When they went over budget, Pam Pinney at Jordan Valley Greenhouse was happy to donate the extra plants they needed. The garden club's Jean Pardee was consulted on the planning. The City of East Jordan built a watering machine for them and gave them a place to store it. Lioness members will do the watering and weeding, and non-Lioness and non-garden club members have volunteered to help out, as well. The list goes on and on. "That's what it's all about," said Carey. "Working together, the caring and sharing. It's for the betterment of the whole community."

And what about vandalism? Will these boxes suffer the same fate as their predecessors? Not likely. Ginny said, and I agree, that kids are taking more pride in the community, that kids seem to care more today. And it helps when they have good examples to follow, of adults that are working hard to maintain and improve the community.

I should mention that flowers are brightening up other parts of East Jordan, as well. The garden club has, as they have done for years, planted at the welcome sign, Elm Pointe, the Chamber Office, and the Civic Center, among other places. Even homeowners in the area seem to be planting more flowers.

If you ask me, community pride is alive and well, and flourishing.

All eyes on Lee

As his classmates look on, Boyne City third grader Lee Blossom cuts loose with a tennis ball toss he hopes will win him a prize at the class' year-end field day held last Friday at Whiting Park. The tennis ball toss was just one of the events students enjoyed during the day.

East Jordan cracking down on messy lots

Cut your grass and pick up your junk or the City of East Jordan might do it for you and send you the bill.

City ordinance requires that on land within the city, weeds and grass taller than ten inches, posing a danger to health or safety, or detracting from the neighborhood's appearance, must be cut down.

If the problem isn't taken care of within 10 days of receiving a notice, the city has the right to mow it and charge the owner for the expense.

The same goes for junk, trash or other rubbish left scattered on property — including junk vehicles.

City administrator David White said the ordinances will be enforced

"That's why we had the spring clean up, to help people out," he said.

A copy of the complete ordinance is on hand at City Hall.
