at a GLANCE

Skate and board park officially open Friday

A dream will come true this Friday for area skateboarders and roller bladders when a ribbon cutting ceremony is held at the new Avalanche Skate and Board Park in Boyne City.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony begins at 4:30 p.m. and will be followed by skateboarding demonstrations.

The park, located at the recreational skating rink at Avalanche, was paved last week.

The park's purpose is to give area youth a place where they are welcome to enjoy their sport. It was spearheaded by 4-H and interested skateboarders.

The new park will have lighting, public bathrooms, public phones, and police patrol.

The opening ceremonies will include demonstrations from area skateboarders and roller bladders. A few ramps and quarterpipes will be in use. The public is invited to attend.

4-H will host skateboarding education clinics at the Avalanche Skate and Board Park in August. The dates for the clinics are Aug. 2, 4, 9, and 11. The clinics will run from 1 to 2 p.m. The cost is $8 and there is limited enrollment. Pre-registration is required through 4-H at 582-6232.

Safety equipment is available for those who need it.

Boyne's friends touring river by canoe, kayak

The Friends of the Boyne River are hosting a tour of the Boyne River by canoe or kayak on Saturday, July 24.

All are welcome to attend the tour which begins at 10:30 a.m. The tour will meet on Dam Road Bridge.

Those not interested in the longer tour are invited to meet at 445 Pearl St. to view and tour the Mill Pond area.

A potluck dinner will follow at noon at 447 Pearl St., overlooking the Mill Pond of the Boyne River.

If you need a canoe or kayak or need further information, call Mary Campbell at 582-6504.

Lining up

As they wait for the starting gun, racers in last Saturday's Jim Kuhn Memorial Race complete last minute preparations before heading out on the course. The race, also a fund raiser for Camp Quality attracted 17 boats and raised $6,000.

Keeping with tradition

By GINA SOLTIS KENDELL

They first arrived in town in a Ford station wagon packed with family and luggage, pulling an old wooden sailboat behind them.

It was vacation in Boyne City for the six-member Wiseman family of Lexington, Kentucky.

"It doesn't get any better than this," thought Steve when they drove down Water Street, with the post office greeting them from the east, a row of buildings lining either side of the downtown's main thoroughfare and a vista of Lake Charlevoix straight ahead.

It seemed like a "kind of heaven on earth," Steve said. A good place to raise a family.

A preservation architect and traditional designer by profession, Steve made a cold call to Bay Harbor in Petoskey to see if they needed architectural help. They did.

Steve and his wife Tina extended their family's vacation a few more days to check out local churches, housing, office space, and even talked to a local police officer about crime in the area. By fall the decision to move north was made.

Projects in Kentucky — a church and Courtyard Marriott — kept Steve tied over until his clientele developed in Boyne City. And nearly two years later his architectural touches have subtly changed the look of Boyne City's downtown and are in keeping with community leaders' wishes for the town to reflect a turn of the century look.

Steve put the building at the corner of Lake and Water streets — now Medicap Pharmacy — through a complete facade and interior renovation, with a residence upstairs and pharmacy down.

The exterior of dentist Dennis Kirby's building on Main Street was also renovated, as was the inside.

When Country Now and Then on Main Street decided to expand to the building next door, Steve helped them bridge the gap with a connecting addition. A traditional-look exterior is also nearly complete.

He helped turn the vacant eyesore at the corner of Lake and Groveland streets into headquarters for Tri-State Cast Technologies.

Crack down

Sheriff's department continues zero tolerance policy with PWCs

They're viewed by some as sleek, fast and fun. To others they are a loud and dangerous nuisance.

The personal watercraft: you love them or you hate them.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department does neither. But if you break the laws while operating a PWC, officers will show no mercy.

There will be no warnings. If you break the law, you'll be ticketed.

Due to the number of complaints and the increased number of PWCs on area lakes, the sheriff's department last summer started a zero tolerance program. The same policy is being followed this summer. Marine laws, Sheriff George Lasater said, will be strictly enforced.

On a typical summer weekend afternoon, Lasater estimates there could be in excess of 100 PWCs on Lake Charlevoix, and possibly 50 on Walloon Lake. So far this summer, there have been approximately eight accidents, although many others may go unreported.

Most accidents occurring on area lakes, Lasater said, involve PWCs. "The potential for injury is very definitely there," he said.

What concerns him most is the lack of responsibility shown by some PWC owners. "Some of the complaints are giving us serious concerns," he said.

Underage children are being allowed to operate PWCs, novice operators are not being given proper instruction, and users are coming way too close to swimming areas, he said.

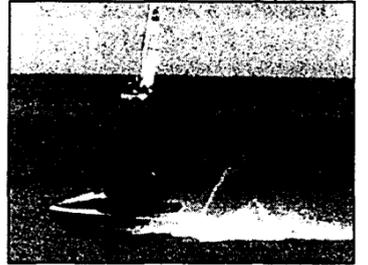

Just over the 4th of July holiday at Whittings Park, there were at least six complaints of PWCs too close to the beach.

The sheriff's department patrols county lakes with four marine officers, three of whom are full time. It has three boats and one PWC, donated this summer by Dry Harbor Marina.

A marine officer patrols Lake Charlevoix seven days a week.

Walloon five days a week and other county lakes as time permits. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources also has two officers patrolling area lakes.

As a warning to PWC operators, the sheriff's department issued a list of laws that will strictly be enforced.

The sheriff's department estimates as many as 100 PWCs are on Lake Charlevoix on a busy summer weekend.

They include:

- Any operator or occupant on board a PWC must at all times be wearing a Coast Guard approved personal flotation device that fits and is in good serviceable condition.

- A person shall not operate a PWC between the hours from one hour before sunset to 8 a.m.

- Whenever a PWC is within 100 feet of an anchored boat, drifting boat, raft, dock, pier, buoyed swim area, or swimmer in the water, the PWC must be operated at an IDLE-SLOW NO-WAKE speed.

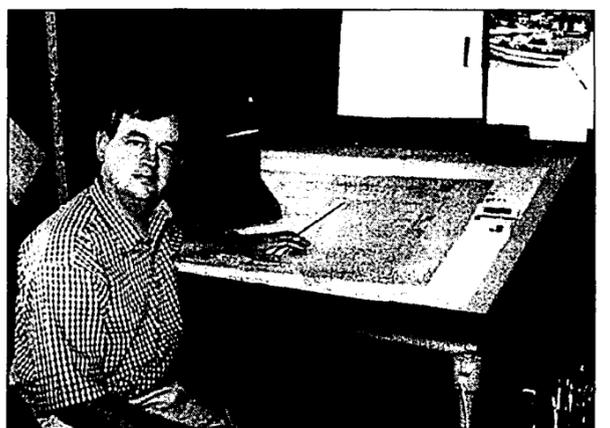

- A PWC shall not cross within 150 feet behind another vessel, other than a personal watercraft, that is traveling at a speed greater than slow no-wake.

- A PWC shall not be operated by a person under the age of 14 years old.

- A person who is 12 or older and less than 14 years of age before Jan.

East Jordan schools hire new curriculum director

Heather Ballien is the new director of curriculum and instruction for the East Jordan School District.

She was officially appointed to the position at Monday evening's school board meeting. Ballien moves to East Jordan from Carrollton High School in Saginaw where she was a math, science and technology teacher. She fills the position left vacant by Gus Bishop, who left East Jordan in June to become superintendent in Central Lake.

Ballien recently completed her education specialist degree in school administration from Saginaw Valley University. This will be her first administrative position. Her starting salary is $57,500. She is expected to begin her job Aug. 9.

"We're excited about Heather's presence in East Jordan," said superintendent Chip Hansen. "and can't wait to begin to work alongside her as we continue to implement the vision imbedded in our district's strategic plan."

"We were very impressed with her background in integrating technology into the curriculum as well as with her experiences as a staff developer."

"Heather's experiences and skills are suited to her new position where she will spend the great majority of

"WERE IN BIG TROUBLE... THEY PLAY LIKE GIRLS!"

A company that really does care about family

By ANGELA SHULTIS

In a world where most people, both male and female, must work outside the home in order to make ends meet, "family-oriented" employers and activities have become the Holy Grail, sought after by all, often in vain.

Some are fortunate enough to be able to choose employers that are sensitive to, or even encouraging of, the needs of family. Others of us are just thrilled if we happen to luck into such a situation.

This past weekend, the East Jordan Iron Works held its annual employee picnic at Whittings Park. As my husband is newly employed there, we were among the many attendees.

We've all been to company picnics, I suppose, and know what to expect: a scattered grouping of employees, some picnic tables, dishes to pass, and perhaps the obligatory game of softball; fun, sure, but usually not a really big event. As we pulled up to the park, the sheer number of cars lining the road told us that this was something a little different. It was 11 a.m. and threatening to rain, yet the park was already well on the way to being filled; staking out a spot for lunch was obviously going to be a priority, and a challenge.

Our first glimpse inside the park, though, was the real surprise. We encountered a fair-like atmosphere, with lines of midway games in red and white striped booths, and huge, air-inflated activities including a slide and moonwalk, as well as a peak for aspiring rock-climbers. A volleyball tournament was already in full swing. Speakers blared a variety of music, and door prizes were announced frequently. The prizes were good stuff, too, like power tools, small household appliances, and the grand prize, a kayak. The pavilions were already close to packed, and many people had brought lawn chairs and spread out blankets of their own.

The most striking thing, though, was that this was obviously a family affair; children were everywhere, and I mean everywhere, taking full advantage of the free cotton candy, ice cream and snowcones, toting prizes from the games, sporting face paintings, and full of excited energy. Parents ushered kids from one game to the next, chatting as their kids enjoyed the fun. The mood was relaxed, jovial, as if it were truly a family gathering.

Even a 20-minute rainshower didn't deter the crowd; people just kept coming, and the lines at the games hardly faltered. And by the time lunch was served, a roast chicken dinner with all the trimmings, the skies were starting to clear.

All levels of employees were represented, from new hires in the grinding room right up to members of the Malpass family, who, of course, own the Iron Works, and are responsible for putting on this whole thing. And a truly remarkable thing it is. I could go on about the positive atmosphere, about how friendly and considerate those attending were, even to us new folks. But what is really unique is the level of interest the company takes in its employees and their families. There are many other extensions of their family-oriented and employee-focused attitude, but the picnic is the most elaborate and visible of them. It is obvious, just standing back and observing the scene, that these people are happy and proud to be part of an organization that recognizes their hard work and rewards them by treating them like people, rather than just labor.

These types of activities breed a sense of unity and, yes, family, and give them all a chance to create a community for themselves and make human connections with their fellow workers and their families. It's nice for the families, too, the husbands, wives, and children, to feel a part of the company where their spouses, parents, etc., spend so much of their time and energy.

By the end of the day, our kids had run themselves ragged, and my husband and I, too, in the process. Our stomachs full, we left with handfuls of trinkets the kids had won, as well as a much-needed weed-eater that we'd been lucky enough to receive as a door prize. But more than that, we left feeling fortunate to be part of group of decent and dedicated families.

And, really, what more can we working parents hope for?

So others can shine

It was another successful Camp Quality Benefit Weekend.

Boyne met Broadway at One Water Street Restaurant, sailors raced on Saturday and golfers competed on Sunday at Dunmaglas.

More importantly, approximately $25,000 was raised, about the same amount as last year.

There were many people who contributed again to the success of the benefit weekend. Really, too many to mention for fear of leaving someone out.

But I would like to focus on one individual who was associated with the Boyne Meets Broadway production. It serves as a reminder of how some people, no matter the time sacrifice they must make, will use their talents to help others develop their own.

First of all it is remarkable that directors Bob and Jackie Wollenberg in the middle of the summer can gather enough talent together to put the show on.

With all the things young people do these days, rounding up 12-15 of them to practice and perform, is a sizeable accomplishment.

It is also remarkable the dedication of Bill Kelly, the sound and music man for the drama department. No matter where these students perform, Bill is always there.

Friday he was sitting in the middle of the tent controlling sound and music. He must have had 20 tapes to prepare and organize for the show. Each song the students sang had its own music, which he arranged and recorded for them on a tape. The many hours of production were followed by superb organization which make every number proceed smoothly. On the surface, it all seemed so effortless.

Bill obviously enjoys what he does. He enjoys seeing students learn, improve and achieve. And his talent and dedication are a big part of the continued success of the drama program. He gives students the opportunity to shine, and shine they do.

A MOM'S LIFE

Letting go -- one of a parent's toughest tasks

By CINDI PLACE

There are an awful lot of things that make being a parent really difficult. Giving our kids enough of our time, paying attention to their needs, not paying attention to all their wants, knowing when to give advice and when to let them solve their own problems all rank right up there with "the-toughest-things-a-parent-has-to-do."

But, we're finding that one of the most challenging tasks for us so far is the need to let go of our children. To let them sink or swim.

To be honest, when our eldest left for college last year, we were pretty proud of ourselves. We felt that we'd handled the situation quite well. We watched her pack, knowing full well that she'd be back of course, and we remained upbeat and excited for her and the adventure she was about to embark on. We acted pretty grown up, considering we were slobbering idiots in private and couldn't conceive of our lives without daily contact with all our children.

That first year went relatively well. We didn't melt down and our college student survived her first critical year of higher education. But, what we didn't know was that we weren't done with the emotional stuff. And we really weren't ready to discover that, in our absence, our eldest child had grown up.

As the college year drew to a close, we prepared for this first summer with another adult in our household like we prepare for anything else. We made sure that she would have her own space and we tried not to set too many ground rules about "living in our house." We talked with other parents, read an awful lot of books and articles. And then we prayed -- a lot.

But nothing could have prepared us for the need to really let go of this child-woman. We thought we'd done a good job letting her go off on her own last September. But the real point was we were letting her go like we had some say in when and how she would come back.

Now we realize that our control over our eldest child is pretty much over. She is on her own, can make her own decisions (and mistakes) and her life is now her responsibility. We have given our daughter the best start we could, but now she goes it on her own, which should be a relief for us. And, to some degree, a source of satisfaction.

But there will always be days when I long for the little girl who cried for the first two weeks of every school year and could only be comforted with a hug from mom and dad.

One of the more popular events at the Walloon Lake Antique Tractor, Engine and Craft Show is the daily parade of tractors. It begins each day at 2 p.m.

A trip back in time

■ Flywheelers host annual antique tractor show

Dust off that old engine, shine up the antique tractor, polish up the old spinning wheel and bring your old time musical instruments to the Northern Michigan Antique Flywheelers showgrounds for some good old fashioned fun.

More than 15,000 people of all ages are expected to visit the 12th Annual Walloon Lake Antique Tractor, Engine and Craft Show that promises a weekend packed with entertainment July 23-25.

"The purpose of the weekend is to preserve a disappearing heritage for the benefit of our kids to see what life was like back then," said Flywheeler club member, Gene Farley.

There will be tractor pulls and demonstrations of threshing, corn chopping, stone crushing, and of a hay press, silo filler and baker fan. An original Ironton Ferry diesel engine will be in operation as well.

Check out the arts and crafts tent and the flea market. Peruse the shingle and saw mills. Watch hay loading, a buzz saw, a blacksmith at work and sheep herding.

New attractions for this year's show include a display of an antique Veneer Mill, donated by Manthei Development Corporation. There are also new scale buildings to weigh-in the tractors.

The main new highlight of the weekend is a turn-of-the-century fashion show, sponsored by the Flywheelers Museum Committee, on Saturday, July 24 at 3 p.m.

"Each year we're trying to do something new, but people are generally interested in seeing the old tractors," Farley said.

A non-denominational church service will be held Sunday morning.

Gates open each day at 7 a.m. Opening ceremonies are at 9 a.m. The parade of tractors will get rolling at 2 p.m. Music will be played in the pavilion from 4-5 p.m. There will be a tractor safari Friday and Saturday night at 7 p.m. At 8 p.m. get ready to kick up your heels with some round and square dancing.

Come for a day or spend the weekend primitive camping on the grounds. Admission is $3 per day for adults and is free for children under 12.

No pets, bicycles or alcohol are allowed on the showgrounds which are located on U.S. 131 between Walloon and Boyne Falls.

Traditional

while not very traditional due to existing circumstances, allow residents to enjoy the outdoors, out of the sun and elements.

"I love taking old facades and doing something with them," Steve said.

Educated and trained in architecture at the University of Kentucky and through the Institute for the Study of Classical Architecture in New York City, Wiseman was in his element in historical Lexington.

But his love of old architecture came as a "conversion" of sorts. Educated in the modernist style, it was essentially one book, "The Revival of Architecture" by Clive Aslet and Quinlan Terry, which hooked him.

He looks to the old architectural masters for ideas and details — using what already works as a precedent.

"They're timeless, they endure, and they will always endure," he said.

His eye and appreciation for the older buildings translated easily to the streets of Boyne City, a place already containing many of the elements of a traditional town.

On his drawing board now are exterior renovations for two more downtown businesses, which when completed, will reflect a more traditional look.

But not everything has to look the same, Wiseman concedes. "The grand traditional encompasses many different styles.

"You make improvements where you can, when you can," he said.

And he's never renovated a building exactly the way he would do it if it were his own.

"You rarely get an open slate," he said.

But the fun of it is working with the owners and within a budget to make things fit.

Residential design is where Steve's real passion lies.

His most recent in-town renovation at the corner of Main Street and Boyne Avenue is a home, done in the colonial revival tradition.

"My clients must be given proper credit since all of this is impossible without a patron."

The house itself, with Wiseman listed as the architectural designer and Tom Looze builder, will appear in an Old Mission Windows ad in Traverse Magazine.

There is an English-style cottage on Lake Charlevoix, a renovation in Horton Bay and a complete refurbishing of a home with a log-cabin facade on Walloon Lake.

Sketches of the latter show an original house built in the 1970s, with

"I feel like this is where I was meant to be."

--Steve Wiseman

low pitched roof and plywood siding. Wiseman's subsequent drawings show a split log exterior. The trees for siding were logged from ones the owner planted on the property when she was a little girl.

"The final home is the ultimate architectural piece of work because it means so much to the person," he said.

Because the design process includes learning the owners' interests, hobbies, habits and so forth, he becomes friends with them.

"That is the most fun," he said. "I try to focus on service and listening to people."

Two years later his tactics seem to be working.

His family is happy. He's making a living.

"I feel like this is where I was meant to be," he said.

Boyne woman injured when her vehicle rolls

A Boyne City woman was injured Wednesday evening in a one-vehicle accident on M-75 North in Melrose Township, according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

Melinda June Startzel, 36, was north bound on M-75 when she lost control of her vehicle, which skidded on the road then rolled over several times.

High speed and alcohol appear to be factors in the accident, according to the sheriff's department.

Startzel was transported to Northern Michigan Hospital by Boyne City ambulance. She was wearing her seatbelt which prevented further injuries, according to the sheriff's department.

Melrose Township first responders and fire department members also assisted at the scene.

Building plans getting fine tuned

By NANNETTE MILLER

THE NEW AUTOMATED circulation system is up and running, more or less smoothly. At busy times there may be a slight delay in checking out books while we enter patron information into the system. We appreciate your patience. The first day we used the system we broke all records for number of items loaned, checking out almost two percent of the entire collection in one day.

SOME COMMUNITY MEMBERS are talking with representatives from The Breton Group, a fund-raising consulting firm from Grand Rapids. The library board decided to hire a consultant to determine the feasibility of raising the money necessary for an endowment fund.

The Peabody Foundation is giving the money to expand and renovate the library, but they want to be sure the community supports the facility. They also do not want the larger facility to become a financial burden for the community. For these reasons, the foundation requires the board to establish an endowment fund to cover the additional operating costs of the larger building and expanded services.

Determining the exact amount of money that will be needed is basically a guessing game. We have estimated how much more it might cost to run the new library. The Breton Group is helping us determine how to proceed to raise enough money in an endowment fund to generate the additional money needed. We appreciate the community's willingness to participate in this study, and thank those who have agreed to an interview.

THE BUILDING PLANS are being fine tuned, and the Design Development phase of the architectural process should be completed in August. After that, the construction documents need to be completed and the project put out for bid. The original timeline for the project estimated that construction could begin as early as this fall. At this time it seems more likely that construction will not begin until early spring.

THE LIBRARY is once again holding a Book Lover's Book Sale during Sidewalk Sales July 23 and 24. The sale will run Friday from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Because of the lack of free space in the children's room downstairs, the sale will be set up on tables in the upstairs of the library. Rather than set prices for the books, we are again asking for cash donations for books taken. (Nannette Miller is director of the Boyne District Library.)

They're off

Tucked tightly together, a crowd of J 22s (above) jockey for position at the starting line of the Jim Kuhn Memorial-Camp Quality Race. The J 22 Class attracted the most boats, but the most picturesque was the spinnaker class which provided a burst of color against the gray, misty sky. Members of the Little Traverse, Charlevoix and Boyne City yacht clubs participated.

NEWS FROM BOYNE CITY HALL

By SUE HOBBS

contact John Stevens at 582-3710.

THE CITY HAS RECEIVED the Notice to Proceed from MDOT for the North Lake Street Project. Construction is scheduled to begin Thursday.

THE RINK AT AVALANCHE is paved. 4-H is hosting a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Friday at 4:30 p.m., along with a demonstration of some skateboarding techniques. It would be great to have an appreciative audience for these kids who have campaigned hard and worked with others to make this facility available to practice their art. In the meantime, a little help is needed to put some finishing touches on the ramps. Some of you retirees who are handy with a hammer and saw, this would be a good chance to help construct a facility which will provide many hours of activity for area youths. If you can help,

AS YOU CAN SEE, work on the bike/pedestrian path has started. Department of Public Works Superintendent Dennis Jason did an excellent job of designing this pathway to preserve as many trees as possible. Weather allowing, this should be paved by the end of the next week.

THERE HAS BEEN some confusion recently about use of the park at the city's municipal marina. This is a public park. The restrooms and showers are for use by those paying for marina docking only, as are the finger docks which are leased by the boat owners, and the public does not have access to those. The rest of the marina area, including the pavilion, is public.

(Sue Hobbs is city clerk for Boyne City.)

July 15: The department received a call of a car driving into a driveway on Silver Street with the driver fading in and out of consciousness. One minor was arrested for MIP.

A runaway was located and transported to a juvenile home.

Officers assisted the fire department at a car fire on the corner of North Lake and River streets.

July 17: A loud party was reported on Second Street. One person was cited for MIP and another was cited for disturbing the peace.

Conservancy hosts open house at historic office

The mission of the Conservancy is to advance community land stewardship and protect land in Charlevoix County. The year-old conservancy has acquired the Margaret P. Erber Preserve on Beaver Island and the Peter P. Faskey Preserve on the Boyne River.

The Ingalls-Campbell DeWitt home now has a new roof, the old living room has been restored to provide office space for the Conservancy, and the home will be painted this year.

No beach time for army recruit

By MAGGIE DOUGHERTY

Summer for a typical teenager is usually very relaxed. Many teens spend their days working or hanging out at the beach.

For Ann Gaudard, a 1999 graduate from Boyne City High School, her summer was spent at Fort Jackson, S.C., marching in cadence and wearing camouflage.

Ann, or Private First Class Ann Gaudard, is in the National Guard. She made the decision to join last summer and spent July and August at basic training in Fort Leonardwood, Mo. This summer she spent six weeks at Fort Jackson, S.C., for Advanced Individual Training, or AIT. Because of her extensive training, she has been qualified as an administrative specialist.

Recently returning home from training, where she was recognized as Honor Graduate for her excellence in soldier skills, physical fitness, academic achievement, and initiative, Ann is getting back into the life of being a teen.

"I'm used to wolfing down my food," she said. "It's a relief to finally shower by myself and not have to wake up so early in the morning."

The decision for Ann to join the National Guard was difficult at first, but now she is thrilled she did it. "I wanted the experience and the challenge. I also liked the benefits and I wanted to serve my country," she said.

This summer's program was not as rigorous as basic training which demanded extreme physical commitment, but Ann was still pushed to the extreme physical and mental limits.

"It was a little relaxed this summer. We got to bring CD players and I didn't have to wear the hideous military issued glasses."

The relationships she made with other recruits at Fort Jackson were significant for Ann.

"The people there are just like me," she said. "They all were athletic in high school, captains of their sports teams, involved with student government, and are just looking for direction."

Being involved with National Guard, she said, helped her during her senior year where she was the yearbook editor, co-president of her class, participated in a marketing class called DECA, and she was also involved in volleyball and track. This summer's experience has prepared her for entering college this fall. Ann will be attending Western Michigan University.

Ann is undecided at this point on what her future in the military might be, but she is looking into joining the ROTC.

Before entering the National Guard, Ann was already a determined leader, but now she has the confidence that was gained from her training to be a stronger and more efficient leader. "What I've done has instilled me with pride for my country. Through my training I've learned that with determination, I can achieve anything."

CITY OF BOYNE CITY COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
2nd READING AND CONSIDERATION OF
ADOPTION OF AMENDMENT A 29(2),
HOUSING ORDINANCE,
TAX EXEMPTION AMENDMENT.

At a regular meeting of the City Commissioners of the City of Boyne City, County of Charlevoix, MI held at City Hall in said City the 6th day of July 1999 at 12 o'clock noon, the following amending ordinance A-29(2) to City of Boyne City Ordinance #A-29, Housing Ordinance, was presented and approved as a First Reading, the following is a synopsis of that amending ordinance:

THE CITY OF BOYNE CITY ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. This Ordinance amendment shall be known and cited as the "City of Boyne City Tax Exemption Ordinance."

SECTION 2. Preamble.

It is acknowledged that it is a proper public purpose of the State of Michigan and its political subdivisions to provide housing for its citizens of low income and to encourage the development of such housing by providing for a service charge in lieu of property taxes in accordance with the State Housing Development Authority Act of 1966 (1966 PA 346, as amended, MCLA Section 125.1401 et. seq., MSA Section 116.114(1) et. seq.) The City of Boyne City is authorized by this Act to establish or change the service charge to be paid in lieu of taxes by any or all classes of housing exempt from taxation under this Act at any amount it chooses not to exceed the taxes that would be paid for this Act. It is further acknowledged that such housing for persons of low income is a public necessity, and as the City of Boyne City will be benefited and improved by such housing, the encouragement of the same by providing certain real estate tax exemption for such housing is a valid public purpose; further, that the continuance of the provisions of this Ordinance for tax exemption and the service charge in lieu of taxes during the period contemplated in this Ordinance are essential to the determination of economic feasibility of housing developments which are constructed and financed in reliance on such tax exemption.

The City of Boyne City acknowledges that the Boyne City Housing Commission (the "Sponsor") has offered, subject to receipt of an allocation under the Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC), to erect, own, and operate a housing development identified as Boyne Senior Housing Development on certain property in the City of Boyne City to serve persons of low income, and that the Sponsor has offered to pay the City of Boyne City on account of this housing development an annual service charge for public services in lieu of all taxes.

SECTION 4. Class of Housing Developments.

It is determined that the class of Housing Developments to which the tax exemption shall apply and for which a service charge shall be paid in lieu of such taxes shall be Elderly, which are financed or assisted pursuant to the Act. It is further determined that Boyne Senior Housing Development is of this class.

SECTION 5. Establishment of Annual Service Charge.

The Housing Development identified as Boyne City Housing Commission Development Number One and the property on which it shall be constructed shall be exempt from all property taxes from and after the commencement of construction. The City of Boyne City, acknowledging that the Sponsor and the Authority have established the economic feasibility of the Housing Development in reliance upon the enactment and continuing effect of this Ordinance and the qualification of the Housing Development for exemption from all property taxes and a payment in lieu of taxes as established in this Ordinance, and in consideration of the Sponsor's offer, subject to receipt of an allocation under the LIHTC program, to construct, own and operate the Housing Development, agrees to accept payment of an annual service charge for public services in lieu of all property taxes. The annual service charge shall be equal to 0% of the difference between the Annual Shelter Rents actually collected and Utilities.

SECTION 6. Limitation on the Payment of Annual Service Charge.

Notwithstanding Section 5, the service charge to be paid each year in lieu of taxes for the part of the Housing Development which is tax exempt and which is occupied by other than low income persons or families shall be equal to the full amount of the taxes which would be paid on that portion of the Housing Development if the Housing development were not tax exempt.

The term "low income persons or families" as used herein shall be the same meaning as found in Section 15(a)(7) of the Act.

SECTION 8. Payment of Service Charge.

The service charge in lieu of taxes as determined under the Ordinance shall be payable in the same manner as general property taxes are payable to the City of Boyne City except that the annual payment shall be paid on or before December 31 of each year.

SECTION 9. Duration.

This Ordinance shall remain in effect and shall not terminate so long as the Authority's Mortgage remains outstanding and unpaid or the Authority has any interest in the property; or the Housing development remains subject to income and rent restrictions pursuant to Section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, provided that construction of the Housing development commence within one year from the effective date of this ordinance.

Notice is hereby given that the Second Reading and Consideration of Adoption of Amendment #A29(2) will be held at the City Commission Meeting on Tuesday, 10 August, 1999 at 7:00 p.m. in the Commission Chambers, 319 North Lake Street. A copy of the entire text of this amending ordinance is available at the City Clerk's office at the above address during normal business hours. This amendment shall be published within ten days following final enactment and shall take effect fifteen (15) days following final enactment. The Public is invited to attend this meeting and give input into the adoption of Amendment A-29(2) to Ordinance A-29.

First Reading: 6 July, 1999
Second Reading: 10 August 1999
Effective Date: 25 August 1999

Sue Hobbs, City Clerk

In Traverse City Saturday, East Jordan jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and was up 10-0 after the second inning. The final score was 11-1.

Nathan Skop, who threw a no-hitter with 8 strikeouts, was the winning pitcher for East Jordan.

Nathan Diller went 4 for 4 at the plate with three singles and a double. Bill Nichols had a triple, double, and single, while Matt Birgy had three singles and Bob Nichols added two singles and a double.

EAST JORDAN'S 9/10 BASEBALL All Stars' quest for a district title ended Sunday when it lost 7-4 at home to Alpena.

On Saturday in Alpena, East Jordan lost 13-1 in the first game of the best-of-three series.

In game one, Matt Pater pitched for East Jordan while David Marr, Jr. was on the mound in game two.

A SEVENTH INNING rally fell just short for the Boyne City Junior All Stars Monday evening as they lost to West Branch 11-10 in the District 8 best-of-three finals.

The two teams played Tuesday night in Boyne City and, if needed, will play in Gaylord Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Boyne, trailing 11-7 in the last inning, started its rally with two outs.

Nick Follette led Boyne with a triple and two singles while Jeff Prested, Ben Hausler, Chris Grice, and Corey Dickson each had two hits.

HOPES FOR A DISTRICT title faded Friday for Boyne City's 11/12 All Star softball team when it lost to Huron Shores 15-5 in Gaylord.

Boyne won the first game in the best-of-three series on Wednesday at Huron Shores 17-12. On Thursday the two teams played in Boyne City and Boyne suffered its first loss of the tournament, losing 13-5. Boyne's tournament record ended at 4-2.

Leading hitters on the team were Emily McLane, Amanda Westrick, Kim Foster, and Kassie Bedford.

Pitchers Monica Cornell finished the tournament with a 2-1 record and 26 strikeouts, and Cadie Britton was 2-1 with 17 strikeouts.

"This was one of Boyne's best teams with a great attitude and great support from their parents," said manager Tom Clemens.

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners met for their regular meeting on July 14, 1999, in the Commissioner's Room, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

CITY OF EAST JORDAN
ELIMINATION OF ZONING DISTRICT AND ZONING CODE TEXT

The City of East Jordan Planning Commission has reviewed its Master Land Use Plan, and is recommending a change in the City's Zoning Map and Zoning Code text. Page 8, section 10, of the Master Land Use Plan calls for the elimination of "R-2" zoning within the City limits. R-2 zoning is for "Duplex-Family Residential Use." Only one such area of zoning exists within the City and this area is on Nichols Street. The Planning Commission proposes to rezone the following described area from R2 (Duplex-Family Residential District) to R3 Multiple-Family Residential District. The R3 zoning code for the City of East Jordan provides for multiple family residential dwellings from as small as two living units up to large apartment complexes.

Property being considered for rezoning:
Properties commonly known as 611, 617 & 619 Nichols Street, whose legal descriptions are contained in tax property records #15-053-024-017-00, #15-053-024-016-00 and #15-053-024-016-10.

A Public Hearing to receive comments on the Planning Commission's intent to amend the Zoning Map and Zoning Text for the City of East Jordan, to eliminate R-2 zoning, will be held Thursday, Aug. 12, 1999 at 5 p.m. in City Hall. Concerned citizens that are unable to attend the public hearing may submit written comments to: East Jordan Planning Commission, c/o City Clerk, P.O. Box 499, East Jordan, MI 49727.

This is not a rezoning petitioned by the property owner. It is a change in zoning initiated by the Planning Commission.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Boyne planners want quick action to quiet car wash

The Boyne City Planning Commission has heard enough from The Max Car Wash in downtown Boyne City.

Commissioners made it perfectly clear at their meeting Monday evening that they want the noise from the drier silenced — pronto.

Although the item was not on their agenda, planners passed a motion at the end of their lengthy meeting recommending to the city commission that the car wash's blower system be shut off. The city and car wash owner Paul Fairbairn have been working on ways to quiet the drier on the automatic car wash for several months, but so far have been unsuccessful.

The two sides thought they had found a solution when Fairbairn contracted with the manufacturer a few months ago to build a quieting system for the dryer. The city believed the unit would be delivered at least by now. As it turns out, the manufacturer has told the city it would be late July at the earliest before it could be delivered.

That delay apparently extinguished what little patience planners had left and they are asking the city to pull the plug on the drier.

The planning commission believes the car wash is in violation of the site plan it originally approved in 1995. According to information in the site plan, Fairbairn claimed the only noise the business would create would come from the spray wands. There was no mention of drier noise.

This is not the first time the planning commission has expressed its irritation with the noise, which can be heard all over the city. In March it passed a motion stating that it felt the owner misrepresented facts on the site plan application and encouraged the city to seek remedies in an expedient manner.

City manager Eric Strahl said the planning commission's most recent recommendation will be forwarded to the city commission, but since he will not be at next week's meeting it will be at least two weeks before it is placed on the agenda.

In other business, the planning commission:

- Approved a request from the Charlevoix County Transit to build a new five-bay garage.
- Approved a request for Blockbuster Video, formerly Horizon Video, for new signs at the Lake Street Mall.

• Considered a request from Boyne Lake View Limited Partnership to construct a 24-unit apartment complex at 600 Court St. The commission referred the request back to city staff to work with the applicant on several concerns it had. The commission will consider the revised plan at its September meeting.
