At A GLANCE

BC summer taxes are due Sept. 14

Besides cooler days and turning leaves, there is another sure sign of fall's impending arrival -- the deadline for payment of summer taxes.

In Boyne City, summer property taxes are due on or before Sept. 14. Tax bills can be paid at city hall or can be mailed to 319 N. Lake St. -- a postmark of Sept. 14 will be sufficient. City Hall also has a drop box where payments can be made outside of regular office hours.

For more information, call city hall at 582-6597.

JRAC to hold annual meeting and theatre auditions

The annual meeting of the Jordan River Arts Council will be held Sunday, Sept. 16, in the GAR Park across the street from the Art Center, 301 Main St., East Jordan.

Getting off to a good start

School's back in session, and by all indicators, local school districts are off to a good start.

"We've had a super start to the new school year in each of our schools," said East Jordan schools superintendent Chip Hansen. "It's been great to have the kids back in school, and everyone was ready for them to return."

TENTATIVE ENROLLMENT numbers in East Jordan are looking good, with 1,296 students enrolled in kindergarten through grade 12, adding in preschool students takes the number to nearly 1,340. The district is budgeted for the current year at 1,281.

Tentative figures at East Jordan Elementary School tally about 623 students (more than 660 if preschool is included). The middle school is at 292 students, and the high school has 381 students.

The biggest boost in numbers has come in the kindergarten/young fives programs, with a district record-high of 122 students. "We're serving them in nine sections, and we also have five sections each of first grade and second grade for the first time ever," said Hansen.

Hansen added that the district will continue to monitor enrollment through the official count day, Wednesday, Sept. 26.

Regardless of the number of kids coming through the doors each day, teachers, staff and administrators were ready for them. "Getting ready for a new school year is a big job," said Hansen, "and I can't say enough about the efforts of our faculty and staff members, and the job that each of them did to make sure that everything was ready for the students."

The elementary school has already held an Open House, which, said Hansen, entered a great turnout. "I've really been impressed, as I always am, with the level of parent support we enjoy here in East Jordan," he said.

IN BOYNE CITY, the normal pressures of the start of the school year were compounded with the daunting task of getting the high school building, under renovation all summer, back in shape for the first day of classes.

Fortunately, plenty of hard work by school staff assured that the building was indeed ready in time for the first day of school. "Our staff, they deserve all the credit," said Boyne City interim superintendent Jim Cooper. "They worked extremely hard, right up, I understand, until the evening before school started."

Among the changes that took place at the high school over the summer were, most visibly, the new doors at the front entrance, facing Boyne Avenue, in a Rambler shade of blue. "We've had favorable comments" about the color, said Cooper. Inside, classrooms have been added in the gym area, along with new restrooms, and plenty has been done in the way of electrical work throughout the building. New windows and carpeting have been installed in some areas. "The media center is one of the last areas that we could get into," said Cooper, noting the presence of a few boxes and other evidence of renovation that remained at the end of last week, "but the staff has been really good working around that."

Outside, work has continued with excavating on the Brockway side for some new athletic fields. Other physical changes in the district include a reconfigured parking lot at the elementary school, with a new and improved drive-through area for student drop-off, and most noticeably, the removal of the portables at the building.

Tentative enrollment numbers put the elementary school at 415 students, the middle school at 397, and the high school at 428 students.

"We're off to a good start," Cooper concluded.

BOYNE FALLS' T.J. LICK FINDS SUCCESS WITH

THE ART OF WILDLIFE

By ANGELA SHULTIS

When Boyne Falls artist T.J. Lick traveled to Fresno, Calif., with a friend to check out the competition in the Wild Cat Art 2001 juried show and exhibition, he had no illusions of grandeur. However, despite that modest approach, Lick did indeed come away a winner.

His first place nod in the Big Cats division, with a 33 inch by 14 inch acrylic rendering of a snow leopard mom and cub, titled "Watchful Whelp," took Lick completely by surprise. "I was absolutely amazed," he said. "I was just floored. You're in there with big time [veteran artists], who have coffee table books and have been doing it 20 or 30 years."

When he and friend, fellow artist Kim Diment of Alpena, who also had work entered and took second place in the small cats category, first decided to attend the show, it was mostly on a lark, to have a chance to look at the other work on exhibition. "When we walked into the gallery, I immediately recognized a few works and artists I'd seen before in books and magazines," said Lick. "First and foremost, I'm an art fan. I enjoy it, and it was a wonderful show just to view."

Walking around, he said, "you kind of sneak a few glances at your own work. There's no reason to go and look at it close up, but you want to see what type of space they gave you." Sidling over to his own work, Diment told Lick that there was a sticker at his painting that said "first place." "I think you won first," she told him.

Not ready to believe it, Lick casually wandered over to check it out himself. It did, in fact, say First BC (Big Cats), but he still wasn't ready to celebrate. The place, said Lick, was "full of beautiful artwork. I thought that maybe they'd mistakenly put [the Local artist T.J. Lick, shown here working at his Boyne Falls home, recently took first place in the "Big Cats" division at the Wild Cat Art 2001 juried exhibition in Fresno, Calif. Juror for the show was internationally known British wildlife artist Simon Combes, of whom Lick is a big fan. "I was just floored," said Lick of the honor.

Room to grow?

■ EJ school district looking at options

With enrollment numbers up and programs increasing, the East Jordan Public Schools are facing an issue that is both very simple and very complex: the need for more space.

Recently, a Facility Review Committee presented some preliminary recommendations on the issue to the school board. Meeting since late May, the committee was formed in response to the growing enrollment in the East Jordan schools, particularly, said schools superintendent Chip Hansen, at the elementary and middle school levels. This year, for the first time, East Jordan Elementary is offering nine sections of kindergarten and preschool, along with five sections of both first and second grade. It is the first time in school history, said Hansen, that the three lower grade levels have required so many sections.

An influx of younger families looking for affordable housing in an area with successful schools is one big factor in the increased enrollment, as well as, said Hansen, the fact that the district "is seeing a trend in non-resident enrollment." The district currently has about 60 non-resident students enrolled, compared to about 11 just five years ago. "The impact of choice is evident here," he said.

While enrollment numbers play a big part, a need for more space can also be attributed to other elements in play, such as a steady increase in programs offered to students. For the first time, the district is offering an enrichment program to serve, Hansen said, the school's most able learners. The relatively new Kids Club daycare program at the elementary school creates space issues, as well as the need for more classroom space for special education programs. The fastest growing population group in schools, regionally, statewide, and nationally, said Hansen, is special education.

"As a district, we need more and more classroom space for special education programs than just a few years ago," he said.

Construction of playground is just days away

TO THE EDITOR:

It's time! In just days, the construction of the Boyne Area Creative Playground will begin. On Wednesday, Sept. 19, volunteers will begin construction of the wooden playground structure to be built in Veteran's Park.

Since October 2000, the Boyne Area Creative Playground committee has been working very long hours to make this dream playground a reality for area children. The playground was actually designed using the imaginations and ideas of area children who met with a playground designer from Leather's and Associates.

So far, over $90,000 has been raised by fund-raisers such as the Mid-Winter Ball, the Up North Big Band event, raffles, bake sales and the generosity of many local businesses, service organizations, individuals and foundations. The committee has been selling pickets that will be on the fence surrounding the play area, and $100 plaques to be placed on the sidewalk leading into the playground are also still available. Playground components are also still available for sponsorship.

Along with financial contributions, many volunteers are still needed to complete the playground. All skill levels are welcome. During construction, the committee will feed the volunteers and provide child care for young children.

To volunteer, please call Ann Parks at 582-9076 or Debbie Day at 536-7809. For financial contributions, to by a picket, plaque or component, please contact Cindy Grice or Tim O'Leary at 582-6597, or Scott Mackenzie at 582-0486.

Cindy Grice

The winner of the Boyne Area Creative Playground log playhouse raffle is Sharon Togood from Rodney, Mich. The raffle was held Sept. 1 at 2 p.m. in Veteran's Park during the Labor Day Car Show. A total of $4,360 was raised during this fund raiser. Materials for the playhouse were donated by Town & Country Cedar Homes of Petoskey and Boyne Falls, and the playhouse was constructed by Nord Schroeder Builders and new Vision Construction.

Coming together

TO THE EDITOR:

Guess what's happening in this area? God is moving? Can you imagine four churches having a service together without any special occasion? Can you believe pastors, from different denominations, getting together to pray for each other, for the other pastors and the people and churches in the area? I believe God is pleased that His body is beginning to come back together.

The Bible says that Jesus is the head of the body and the body is the church. We just worship in different buildings. Jesus did not die for denominations. He died for people. It's time for the churches to become one body again - the body of Jesus Christ. There should be no competition among the churches. The purpose of the church of Jesus Christ is to get people born again into the Kingdom of God so they do not have to go to hell but will go to heaven.

The Bible calls us an army. We should all be on the same team. We should not be fighting one another, we should be fighting the devil. It's the devil that causes division.

People will know we are Christians by our love. How can we win people to Jesus when we are not in unity?

1 Corinthians 1:13 the Bible asks, "Is Christ divided?" The word "Christ" in the Greek is "Anointing" and yes, it is divided. Some denominations allow the full power of the anointing and others lesser degrees, and some none.

God's Anointing Power is too great to be trapped inside of a denomination.

We should not hinder what God wants done.

Let's all allow God to use us to the fullness of His Will.

No shortage of young heroes

TO THE EDITOR:

My heroes go to Boyne City High School. They participate in co-curricular activities. They participate in co-curricular activities for three main reasons: To be with their friends, to be around adults who care about them, and to have fun. My heroes are involved in co-curricular activities to learn about themselves, enhance their education, and push themselves in ways not possible in an after school job, or during the regular school day.

One of my heroes played just two seconds in a basketball game last season. He was good enough to play more, but the flow of the game didn't allow him an opportunity to get more than a few seconds of playing time. Instead of getting mad at the coach, instead of parental calls to administration calling for more playing time, or demanding that we find a new coach, my hero just kept on working hard in practice waiting for the opportunity that he knew would come. His opportunity came the very next game. After falling behind by nine points early in the second quarter, our coach put my hero into the game. Once in the game he made the most of his opportunity to play and proceeded to score four, three-point baskets in a row and helped lead one of the more memorable comebacks in the past few seasons.

One of my heroes at Boyne City High School got cut from the varsity girl's basketball team. Instead of being mad at the coach, or mad at administration, my hero called up the cross-country coach the very next day and asked if she could join the team. Despite not being the best runner, she dedicated herself to the team. My hero wanted to be part of a team, hang around adults who care and to have fun. The conclusion to this story is quite remarkable. My hero led the cross-country team to their first ever conference championship, and she earned all league honors.

One of my heroes at Boyne City High School was recently offered a Division One athletic scholarship. I was amazed when I found out that she was considering all her options. I know that if I were offered a Division I scholarship I wouldn't have to think twice about taking it. Maybe this is why I was never a Division I athlete. My hero is grounded enough to consider all the important variables in her college choice. Does this college offer the educational opportunities I want? Will the coach stay at the school for all four years? Will I fit in with the other players on the team who already have scholarships? My hero, at 17 years of age is wise enough, and articulate enough, to make an informed choice on her college experience. I wish at this young age I could have been so wise.

Many people today say that young adults are not as patriotic as previous generations. My hero is patriotic. If you have had the opportunity in the past year to attend a Boyne City High School game then you have had a true patriotic experience. Last season we had 18 different students step up to the microphone and sing the National Anthem as a cappella. How many of us could stand before 1,500 people at a football or basketball game and sing with pride the national anthem? Those of you who attended a game in Boyne City last season know that on many evenings the high point was the singing of the National Anthem, not great plays, or victories, but students celebrating with pride the greatness of America.

My heroes go to Boyne City High School. They have learned how to deal with adversity, they are grounded in their decision-making and they are patriotic. My heroes participate in co-curricular activities to learn about themselves, enhance their education and push themselves in ways not possible in any other activity. My heroes want to win, but they would rather be with friends, be around adults who care about them and to have fun. This fall when you are out watching a high school game, please don't forget about my heroes.

A great season of music in the barn

TO THE EDITOR:

Once again we would like to thank everyone for the seventh successful season of Concerts in the Barn.

We would especially like to thank the people who helped us prepare for the season, helped with our weekly tasks, and those who brought snacks to share at intermission. We continue to feel extremely fortunate that we live in a community that appreciates and supports our endeavors.

The Concerts in the Barn series continues to give emerging and established song writers/singers a perfect venue to showcase their rich talents. Hosting these events not only enriches our lives, but also provides a unique concert setting where the audience and performer can share an informal evening together in a relaxed and intimate atmosphere.

We continue to be surprised and encouraged by the growing number of new faces and are excited about the prospect of an eighth season next summer.

We would especially like to thank The Citizen-Jordan Journal for their support. Their weekly publication of concert information certainly made many more people aware of these events, and contributed to their success.

Finally, we would like to thank all of this season's performers: Joel Mabus, Kitty Donohoe, Michael Camp, Tom Kimmel, Josh White, Jr., Barbara Bailey Hutchison, Robert Jones, Caroline Aiken and Tanya Savory. Their love of their craft and desire to perform in this intimate venue makes these concerts possible.

If you would like to be included on a mailing list for next year's concert schedule, or think you have lost anything at the barn, or have suggestions/complaints, please call us at 549-2076 or email baten@atenplace.com.

Thanks again, and hope to see everyone next summer!

Local businesses receive Healthy Workplace honors

Three local businesses were recently announced to be among the recipients of this year's Governor's Council of Physical Fitness, Health, and Sports Annual Awards.

Local honorees include Honeywell International of Boyne City with the Gold Healthy Workplace Award; Grandvue Medical Care Facility of East Jordan with a Silver Healthy Workplace Award; and Industrial Magnetics, Inc. of Boyne City, with a Rookie of the Year Healthy Workplace Award.

"Businesses nominated for Healthy Workplace Awards must have shown outstanding commitment to the health of their employees by establishing creative worksite health promotion programs with demonstrated success.

Honeywell, as a Gold Award winner, is being recognized for having a sustained comprehensive program in physical fitness, health and sports. For its more than 200 employees, Honeywell sponsors walking programs; to encourage participation and generate interest, the program has tracked walkers' total mileage on a mapped route to California and back, and incentives are offered along the way. Employees also take part in health screenings and get flu shots. Honeywell's health education programs cover topics like breast cancer, prostate cancer, diabetes, nutrition, and stress management. The company also recently opened a fitness room for employees, open during break times and after work hours. Honeywell, an avionic components manufacturer, has offered their in-house health promotion program to its employees for 10 years.

As a Silver Award recipient, Grandvue Medical Care Facility is being honored for its 12-year in-house health promotion program, which offers employees heart health screenings, as well as stress and conflict resolution classes. Many of the over 150 employees at the long-term medical care facility also participate in walks and activities on National Health and Fitness Day.

Industrial Magnetics is being honored with a Rookie of the Year Award, in recognition of their effort to "get Michigan moving" in physical fitness, health and sports, by promoting health and physical fitness to its employees, and offering incentives to participating employees through drawings and prizes. The company, which manufactures magnetic components and employs over 70 people, has been running its in-house health promotion program for two years.

Representatives from each company recognized will be honored Oct. 15 at the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health, and Sports Annual Awards Event at the Lansing Center in Lansing.

Fire safety program on tap for BF youth

Boyne Valley Township Fire Chief Mike Richards has announced that the department is organizing its annual Fire and Burn Safety Program for the children of Boyne Falls.

Over 300 youngsters, ages 5 through 12, will receive educational fire prevention materials created and geared to each specific age level.

The department is in the process of mailing sponsor request letters explaining the entire program to area business, industrial and professional leaders, asking for their financial support to help cover the cost of the materials used by the department.

Boyne Falls artist wins big accolades in California show sticker] close to my painting." A show official soon confirmed that Lick had, indeed, earned the honor. "I asked her 'what does this sticker mean?' and she said, 'Congratulations.'"

The best part, added Lick, is that she also told him that the show's juror, British wildlife artist Simon Combes, "just loved your painting."

"He's a celebrity in my eyes," said Lick. "I was absolutely thrilled."

One might suspect that, having received such an accolade, painting big cats must be something that Lick has toiled at for years, suffering many failures before finding success. As it turns out, although he's been an artist since childhood, "Watchful Whelps" is only his eighth painting.

"I've been working at it hard, said Lick, noting that he took his first workshop in 1998 with Kalkaska artist Rod Lawrence, an established veteran who has won the Michigan Conservation Stamp competition numerous times. "I worked in pencil and pen and ink and colored pencil before for a few years, but it took me awhile to get up the courage to try a new medium like acrylics. It's a daunting task."

Lick's passion for art, though, evidenced itself early in his life, as he grew up in East Lansing, the son of Michigan State University basketball center (65-69) Tom Lick and educator Ardis Heacock. "I started out with art classes as a child, and in high school," he said, learning to do the requisite still lifes in different media, like charcoal and watercolor. "In high school, I got into architectural drafting some, and architectural rendering became fascinating for me." Lick spent some time working on black and white pen and ink architectural renderings, though even at that age, a separate interest in wildlife always lingered. "I drew snakes and bugs as a kid, too," said Lick. During summer visits with his grandparents in Gaylord, he said, his grandpa would take him out "every day of the week" to pick berries and mushrooms, and check out the resident wildlife, including deer and elk. "He introduced me to the love of the outdoors, the woods and water," Lick said.

Still, as a youth, art wasn't everything to Lick. As a high school basketball player under MHSAA Hall of Fame coach Paul Cook at Lansing Eastern, Lick achieved All Conference, All State, and All American honors in his senior year. After receiving many offers to play college ball, Lick accepted a scholarship from Ball State University in Muncie, Ind.

However, life threw Lick a curve ball three days before high school graduation, in the form of a near-fatal motorcycle accident. Lick recovered, but not without the loss of a leg with an above-the-knee amputation. His basketball career over, Lick was, he said, facing at least a month or two laid up at home. When his mother handed him a half-completed picture he'd set aside before the accident and told him

"finish this," he decided, he said, it would be "better than playing video games or whatever." He finished the drawing, which led to another drawing. Soon, Lick said, he decided that "doing wildlife art, and aspiring to do it well, was something that intrigued me."

"I thought it would give me a lifestyle that would be just a blast for me," he added.

Lick went on to study wildlife biology at Lansing Community College, where he honed his skills in photography, and graphite and ink animal renderings.

Working at home, Lick travels and visits zoos and wildlife rehabilitation centers to learn about his subjects, and pores over photographs and renderings, both his own and others, until he's sure he's got the details just right. "Each painting is a mini-research project," he said, "without having to write anything."

Big cats have been a relatively recent interest, though, he admits, "I'm not really a cat guy, domestically." Wild cats, though, hold a certain fascination. "There's a certain beauty and grace in these large cats. They have a certain poise, that everyone's kind of aware of."

That beauty is something that inspires Lick. "I think it's something you aspire to capture as an artist," he said. "If you get it wrong, you're way wrong, but if you get it right, [the piece] is effective."

"Successful painting for me became a pass or fail type of endeavor. Either they have come out well or they haven't." Obviously, "Watchful Whelps" is one that, by all accounts, came out well. The piece, along with the rest of the exhibit which includes one other painting by Lick, was shown in Fresno, West Hollywood, and Clovis, California, and can be viewed at www.cathaven.com. While the recognition for the big cat painting is great, Lick is already moving on, currently at work on a wolf painting, which is, he said, "coming out nice." The artist, who has done commissioned work as well as family and pet portraits and commercial work, is looking forward to the possibility of participating in some larger shows. "What I want to do is a half-dozen big shows around the country," he said, "and travel around." In the meantime he's working at home and hoping to get more work out locally.

Though not originally from the area, Lick now calls Boyne Falls his permanent home, taking up residence in a house in town once owned by his grandparents. "The Lick family has been in Boyne Falls for a long time," said Lick. After his grandparents passed away in the early 90s, the house stood empty, used only for occasional ski trips or for a homebase for trips into the northern woods. After awhile, though, Lick decided to take advantage of the opportunity to get out of the city and concentrate on painting, and to "be closer to what inspired me." It's taken awhile to settle in but now, he said, "it's a place that, when I leave Boyne Falls, I miss it and yearn to get back. I think I've turned the corner."

Back to school

ment, with a tentative total sitting at a "strong 320" according to school superintendent Mark Parsons. "We're real pleased," he said.

The incoming kindergarten class currently has 35 students enrolled, nearly doubling last year's kindergarten section of 18 students. According to Parsons, the school had 25 in-district students, and was able to accept 10 schools of choice students.

Having had the first day of classes a week earlier than some other area schools, beginning on Aug. 28, Boyne Falls has had a little more time to get situated. "We're feeling very settled right now," said Parsons, especially since, he added, last year at this time they were dealing with all the troublesome details of moving into a new building.

The enrollment increase will create both opportunities and potential difficulties for Boyne Falls. Coupled with the district's recent NCA accreditation and the resulting expanded curriculum, more students may mean more educational opportunities for students. At the same time, said Parsons simply, "we're going to need room." Some adjustments have already been made to create more class space, and the issue will be under discussion in the coming months, with projections likely to be presented to the school board in November.

Once again a common sight, children scurry to catch the bus home after a busy day at East Jordan Elementary School. At left, a parent gets a student off to Boyne City Elementary in the newly-configured pull-through student drop-off area of the parking lot.

Our dear husband, dad, granddad, and great-granddad. It's been 2 years since you've left us to be with our Lord above. They say time heals the heart, but it doesn't replace that emptiness in our hearts and in our daily lives. But you suffer no more and we feel your presence as you watch down upon us and know that you'll be there waiting for us when the angels bring us to be with you, when the Lord says it's our time. Until that time we all want you to know how very much we love you and miss you in our lives.

Sadly missed and loved, by all your family & friends

Her teaching experience includes three years in Ellsworth as a resource room teacher, student teaching in East Jordan and at Resort School, and teaching at Camp READ. Hinkle's husband, Michael, works at Charlevoix State Bank, and the two have three sons, Zachary, Mickey, and Max. "I'm looking forward to working in the elementary with such an enthusiastic staff," said Hinkle. "I especially look forward to helping the students learn and grow."

Greg Frey is a new fourth grade teacher at Boyne City Elementary.

Frey has a Bachelor's degree in natural resources communication from Michigan State University and a Master's degree in curriculum and teaching, also from MSU. He brings six years of teaching experience in second and third grades in the Gaylord Community Schools to the position. NEIGHBORS in East Jordan's Grandvue.

By NANCY NORTHP

DAWN PETERSON and Laura Carpenter recently visited their brother Mitchell Moore at his home in California and helped him celebrate his 49th birthday. While there, they visited Laguna Beach, House of Blues Gospel Land for lunch, and then Catalina Island, Long Beach Aquarium, and dinner with Mark Dean of BDS Marketing of Irvine, Calif., and Pageant of the Masters in Laguna Beach. As a gift from his friends at BDS Marketing, Mitchell was sent to Prague in the Czechoslovakia Republic for a luxurious vacation. A special thanks to Reanatta, Roman and Randy Schrock for planning the trip and also thanks to Ronanna, Vera, and Paola for being such great hosts while Mitchell was in Prague.

CORRECTION: Joan Strawbridge of Boyne City did not have a heart attack, as was reported last week. She is now at home, recuperating from heart surgery.

BILLAND JANE CHARVAT and daughter Katy (a Nov. 10 bride-to-be) have returned to their home in Winter Park, Fla. after having spent a couple of weeks at their Boyne City home.

SGT. JAMES MAC NAUGHTON, son of Janet Massey and Don Mac Naughton, spent two weeks here on furlough visiting his parents and friends, his grandmother, Betty Kelts, and uncles, Jerry, Jeff, and Justin Kelts, and many other relatives. James will be stationed in Fairbanks, Alaska for two years, with the United States Army.

BETTY AND NEAL KLEINDOLPH of Muscatine, Iowa paid a surprise visit to Boyne City this past week to visit former wintertime friends of Holiday Travel Park, Fla. Flo Davis and Doc Heaton, and Doc's wife, Vivian Heaton

SCOTT NICLOY arrived on Tuesday from his Salvation Army Post off an island in the South Pacific to spend a week here with his ailing parents, Curtis and Carmelita Nicloy, and other friends and relatives.

ELINOR DUBIN, Oral and Eleanor Sutliff, Jim and Leanna McCary, Eileen Bellieu, Tim McCary and daughter Alyssa, and Norman and Joann Miller, all of Boyne City, drove to Higgins Lake on Sunday to attend the wedding of Leanna Sutliff and Chad Hess. The exchange of vows took place in an outdoor ceremony at Camp Westminster. Parents of the bride are Cindy Wenzel and John and Theresa Sutliff of Ann Arbor. Leanna is the granddaughter of Carol and the late T. J. Sutliff of South Lyon. Parents of the groom are Jim and Kathie Hess of Mt. Pleasant.

EXCITEMENT IS CATCHING! And that's the way it was for Betty Kelts on Saturday. An enthusiastic and excited phone call came in twice, from her grandson, Kimo Kuheana, from the stadium in Washington, during the Washington-University of Michigan game. He wanted to be sure she was watching and sharing the time with her!

THE AYERS FAMILY Reunion was held at Whiting's Park on Sept. 2. Everyone was from the state of Michigan -- 91 total! The food was great and everyone enjoyed fun and games. The oldest attending was Lucille Ayers, age 88, of West Branch, with the next oldest being June Boss of Ellsworth, and Clifford (Bud) Ayers of Wixom. The youngest was Marlena Vermuth, five months, of Traverse City, the daughter of Mathew and Jasta (Moes) Vermuth. This year's host was Gayla (Ayers) Wolf of Quincy, with Deneille Moes and Rachelle Wittenmyer doing a wonderful job as auctioneers. Next year's reunion will be held June 29, 2002.

MERLA VOUGHT was transferred from the Charlevoix Area Hospital on Wednesday to Bortz Health Care following her recent hip fracture. She is in room 210, Center Wing, joining roommates Evelyn Kerbawy and Gloria Chapman. Merla plans to get right into therapy and walking, so she can return to the Avalanche Park AFC Home. Cards of encouragement can be sent to her, c/o Bortz Health Care Facility, 1500 Spring Street U.S. 131 S, Petoskey, MI 49770.

LINDA ARNO of Boyne City took a beautifully decorated cake, inscribed with 'Let's Celebrate 100 Years of Memories' to Grandvue on Tuesday, Sept. 4, to share with staff and residents, in honoring what would have been the 100th birthday of her dearly departed mother, Ella Nulph. On Saturday night, there was a good turnout at the Community of Christ Church (formerly known as RLDS) in celebrating a "memory" party, which also honored having known Ella.

THE REV. ANDREW and Jo Kipapa (formerly of Boyne City) of Alba, their daughter Ipo and grandchildren Kayla and Albert are in Hawaii, visiting daughter Kailani and family and attending a reunion of past King Kanehanha for Aloha week. Andrew was a 'King' quite a few years ago. It is an island tradition. They also saw their nephew, Keoki Kuheana and wife Lore. (Hope I got this one right, folks!)

MARVIN AND EMILY HOWE of Grand Rapids were overnight guests of Anne Jenkins in Boyne Falls. Other welcome visitors were her daughter, Myra Jenkins of Missouri, and niece Marsha Lewis of Sterling Heights.

East Jordan School District looking at building options

These elements, combined with enrollment growth, are "eating us out of house and home right now," said Hansen. Currently, the district is compensating by making whatever adjustments are possible in the current configuration.

For example, at the elementary level, the Chapter I program is no longer utilizing classroom space, but rather has been moved to the stage in the small gym at the school. The technological hub of the district is no longer utilizing classroom space, but has been moved to a storage space at the high school. A staff training room has been "tucked over into a tiny cubbyhole," said Hansen, in order to help make room for extra class sections.

While shifting spaces will work for now, it is, by no means, a long-term solution. The Facilities Review Committee, then, is on task to ultimately make recommendations on some long-term possibilities. Not only is the elementary school being targeted, but the middle school as well.

"It's just hard to imagine," said Hansen, "that a building four years old is filled to the seams." However, with current the enrollment growth rate, adding classrooms at the middle school is a very real possibility.

In addition to addressing space problems, the committee is also looking at other capital needs in the district. Needs from the basic, such as carpeting, and roof repair and maintenance, as well as more complicated areas, such as the possibility of expanding the technology infrastructure, are being considered.

Other areas under consideration are the expansion and improvement of the vocational education program in the high school. While the voc ed program has been successful, the spaces were designed in 1978, when the building was constructed. "The capabilities of the students have changed so much," he said, "that the spaces are no longer appropriate for what's being taught."

Playfield space and parking areas district wide are also under the microscope, with the district already "seeing those areas stretched to the limit with enrollment growing and programs growing," said Hansen. The district is also interested in exploring the viability of adding an auditorium.

Preliminary recommendations in these areas have already been passed on to the district's Traverse City-based architect, Clark Walter Serrine, and are in the process of being investigating in terms of cost and viability.

Once data from the architect is received by the district, which Hansen expects will be a "couple of months yet," the information will be given back to the Facilities Review Committee for discussion. The committee will then make its recommendations to the school board.

Of course, improvements cost money, and so its likely that the possibility of a bond issue may lie ahead. "The board of education is going to have to contemplate a bond issue sometime in the near future," said Hansen. "We will continue to have a lot of classroom shortages." It is, however, he added, "way too early to speculate on what [the bond issue] looks like."

While the growth in the district is bringing up a lot of complicated issues to deal with, the difficulties are not entirely unwelcome. "It's an exciting time," said Hansen. "It's a good problem for our district to have, an indication of growth and prosperity."

Check Your Cholesterol (Part II)

The new NCEP cholesterol guidelines recommend aggressive treatment focusing on lowering LDL cholesterol. "Studies show conclusively that lowering the level of low-density lipoprotein, or LDL, the 'bad cholesterol,' can reduce the short-term risk of heart disease by as much as 40 percent. Treatment may lower risk over the long-term - that beyond 10 years - even more," according to Dr. Claude Lenfant, director of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute. The new guidelines also urge doctors to use a detailed lipoprotein profile as a first screening for high cholesterol. The current first test is a more general screening.

Five Ways to Help Save Money and Energy at Home This Winter

(MS) — For many Americans, last winter not only meant some of the highest home energy costs since the 1970s, but also cutting back on personal expenditures. And after the summer's rolling blackouts, energy shortages and high utility bills, it's never too early to prepare a home for this season's expected energy costs.

According to the Energy Information Administration (EIA), natural gas prices in the winter of 2000 to 2001 more than doubled from the previous winter's average price. The EIA is predicting that the average price for natural gas for this winter could range from $9.26 to $11.08 per thousand per cubic feet.

"Earlier this year we conducted an energy survey measuring homeowners' reactions to high heating bills," said John Pagano, vice president, Insulating Systems Business, Owens Corning. "We found that 40 percent of Americans said last winter's heating bills caused them to cut back on eating out, entertaining or making other personal expenditures. Instead of cutting back on spending, we are urging consumers to invest in simple home improvements that can help save money and conserve energy." Americans can help lower their heating bills by making these simple energy-saving home improvements now:

• Add Another Layer of Attic Insulation — Since the majority of homes built before 1980 are under-insulated, heat can escape through the ceiling, past the roof and into the atmosphere. According to the Department of Energy, one of the easiest and most cost-effective ways to help cut heating and cooling costs, and to make a home more comfortable, is to add more insulation in the attic. As a general rule, if you have less than 11 to 12 inches of attic insulation, you probably need more.

• Turn on the Humidifier — It's not just the heat; it's also the humidity. If your furnace doesn't have a built-in humidifier, use a portable unit in frequently occupied areas like the bedroom and living room. The additional moisture will increase the "heat index" inside of your home, making 68 F feel more like 76 F. The relative humidity in the home should be between 20 to 40 percent. To help avoid condensation on windows, lower the percentage as the outside temperature gets colder.

• Install a Programmable Thermostat — Why heat the house when nobody is home? A programmable thermostat can automatically lower and raise your home's air temperature when you are at work or sleeping. By simply turning your thermostat from 72 F down to 65 F for eight hours a day, you can save as much as 10 percent on your annual heating and cooling costs. If used appropriately, the energy savings will offset the costs for a programmable thermostat (starting at $30) in less than one year.

• Seal the Ducts — The most logical way to stay warm is to only heat only living areas, not the attic or unfinished basement. However, in many homes, the warm air generated by the furnace often escapes into the attic or basement before it reaches its intended destination because of cracks or holes in the air ducts. As a result, the furnace works overtime to keep the rest of the house warm. Check your ducts for leaks each fall and use duct tape to repair and seal holes or sections that may have separated. If you are buying new ducts, consider a system that is already surrounded by insulation.

• Plug the Drafts — The exterior of your house is your first line of defense against drafts, so caulk, seal and weatherstrip around all seams, cracks and openings. Pay special attention around windows and where siding or bricks and wood trim meet. You can also reduce drafts from the inside by caulking, sealing and weatherstripping around windows and door frames, and near electrical boxes and plumbing penetrations.

THEY'RE FOR REAL

■ After impressive win over Benzie, Ramblers leave no doubt they are a team to reckon with this season

If there was any doubt about how good the Boyne City Ramblers are, it was erased Friday night when they dominated Benzie Central in every aspect of the game on their way to an impressive 35-6 victory.

It was all clicking for the Ramblers.

The offense, particularly in the second half, was dominating. In the third period they put together a 19-play scoring drive that took nearly 9 1/2 minutes off the clock and the life out of Benzie Central. It also gave the Ramblers a 21-0 lead.

"That was the most impressive drive we have had since I've been here," said second year coach David Hills.

The defense was also at the peak of its game. The Ramblers held Benzie scoreless until very late in the fourth quarter and they held the visitors to only 40 offensive plays, compared to Boyne City's 81.

Boyne City's special teams were also impressive. The kicking game kept Benzie trapped deep in its own territory for much of the first half, and Tim Wellert was 5 for 5 kicking extra points.

"We're pretty pleased," Hills said. "We came out of non-conference games very well. Now we've got bigger aspirations as we get into conference games."

"We know if we work really hard, good things will happen. We want to win our conference games and win the conference title."

That journey starts Friday when the Ramblers, 3-0, host Kalkaska, who after starting the season 2-0, suffered a 20-7 loss to St. Francis last Friday. "Kalkaska is much improved," Hills said. "We will have our work cut out."

In addition to his two touchdown passes, Ryan Amesbury also ran one one touchdown and had an interception.

If the Ramblers play with the intensity and precision they did against Benzie, it should be a good start to the conference season for Boyne.

The Ramblers opened their scoring against Benzie midway through the first quarter when quarterback Ryan Amesbury connected with Kyle Gibbons for a 39-yard touchdown pass.

It was an outstanding pass and catch," Hills said. "The pass was right where it should be." Midway through the second quarter, the Ramblers found the end zone for the second time when Cole Andrews took a hand-off from Dustin Moore on an inside reverse and raced 30 yards to the endzone.

Benzie threatened late in the first half but an interception by Moore preserved the Ramblers' 14-0 lead.

After forcing Benzie to punt on its first possession of the second half, the Ramblers took possession and marched down the field on a 19-play scoring drive, culminating with a two-yard run by Amesbury.

The key to the drive, Hills said, were the players in the trenches. "Our offensive line was dominating," Hills said. Rob Wiltjer, Tim Follette, Dustin Marquardt, Paul Simeri, and Seth Krchmar "absolutely dominated the second half."

It didn't take the Ramblers long to find the end zone again. On Benzie's next drive, Amesbury intercepted a Benzie pass, which started the Ramblers on another long scoring drive. This one was a 13-play seven minute textbook drive that culminated with another picture perfect pass from Amesbury to Gibbons covering 35 yards.

The Ramblers scored their final touchdown with about four minutes remaining when Chris Grice bulled into the endzone from one yard out.

"We played very well offensively," Hills said. "We were not making the mistakes of the first two games. When our offense does not make mistakes we can do a lot of things."

Statistics show just how effective the Rambler offense was for the evening. It gained 322 yards rushing and 88 yards passing for a total of 410 yards.

Andrews led the team with 121 rushing yards on 15 carries, followed by Luke Simon with 59 yards on 13 carries and Grice with 53 yards on eight carries.

Amesbury had a nearly flawless night connecting on 5 of 6 passes for 88 yards and two touchdowns. Gibbons had two touchdown receptions. For the defense, Simiri lead the Ramblers with 11 tackles, followed by AJ Spaay with nine and Mark Gaudard with five.

Hills also had high praise for the defensive end play of Ben Hausler and Wellert, and the inside dominance of defensive tackle John Ku.

Hausler, Amesbury and Moore each had an interception.

For Moore, it was his fifth of the season.

Aerial attack too much for EJ

When experience meets youth, experience usually wins.

That's the way it was at Boswell Stadium Friday night when East Jordan hosted Charlevoix in the Lake Michigan Conference opener for the Red Devils.

Charlevoix's talented and experienced passing game shredded the Red Devils defensive backfield in the Rayders' 42-13 victory.

"They passed exceptionally well," said East Jordan coach Alan Peterson. "They were on. Every pass was right there. They are a really good football team."

The precision of Charlevoix's passing game and the Red Devils' inexperience in the defensive backfield, which has two sophomores and one junior - who is a first-year player - starting, created big problems for East Jordan.

"We were a little disappointed," Peterson said. "We have a young team. Charlevoix is a good team, starting a lot more seniors. We're learning as we go. Hopefully we will grow from this."

"All we can do is keep trying to learn and trying to grow. If we do, we will be fine."

Charlevoix went to its passing game early and found success, scoring twice through the air in the first quarter. In the second quarter it went from bad to worse for the Red Devils, who gave up three touchdowns in a span of three minutes. At the half, Charlevoix lead 35-0.

The Red Devils converted a Kevin Whiteford fumble recovery on Charlevoix's 14-yard line into a touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Pat Bearden scored from seven yards out to cap a three-play drive.

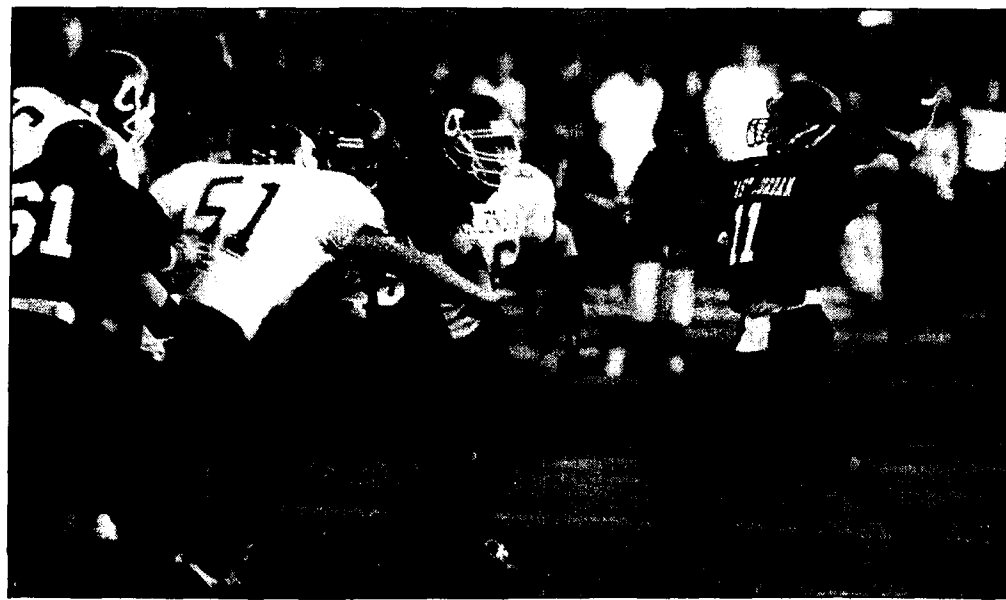

The Red Devils set up their next score in similar fashion. Again it was Whiteford recovering a fumble, and four plays later Robert Grover scored on a one-yard run.

For the evening, Grover lead the Red Devils with 86 yards on 20 carries, followed by Bearden with 30 yards on five carries.

Quarterback Scott Murray connected on two of three passes for 39 yards. Kevin Roberts was on the receiving end of both.

Defensively, Brian Diller led the team with 13 tackles, while Roberts had seven, and Aaron Woodard and Whiteford each had six.

The Red Devils, 1-2, will be put to another severe test Friday when they play Benzie Central, a team that beat Charlevoix in the second game of the season and lost 35-6 at Boyne City last Friday.

With the Charlevoix defense closing in, Scott Murray spots his receiver downfield and releases the ball.

Boyne runners take first at Manton

Last week, Boyne City's cross country team participated in the Manton Invitational, with the Rambler girls taking first overall, and the boys pulling out a third place overall win.

Twenty-one teams participated in the meet, making it Manton's biggest invitational ever.

The meet was based on combined time of five runners, two from the 11-12 grade race, two from the 9-10 grade race; and the next fastest time regardless of race division. Medals were awarded to the top 20 runners in each race.

For the 9-10 grade girls, Boyne's Emma Dunne placed fifth with a time of 23:15, and Carly Stieber took ninth, with 23:24. Hannah Decker finished 17th for the Ramblers, with Savannah Hartwick rounding out Boyne's placings at 40th.

In the 11-12 grade girls division, Boyne's Jane Stieber ran away with second place with a time of 20:52, followed in fourth by teammate Mindy McCutcheon with 21:47. Brie VanDam also placed for the Ramblers, in 15th.

For the 9-10 grade boys, Justin Conklin took fourth place with a time of 19:03, followed by Ian Smith in sixth with 19:58. Also placing for Boyne were Justin Weisler, 18th; David Burns, 32nd; Aaron Harbaugh, 58th; John Eastwood, 59th; and Ben Place, 67th.

For the 11-12 grade boys, Rambler Brad Winkler took 15th with a time of 19:01. Brian Miller also placed for Boyne in 28th, followed by Erik VanHorn, 30th, and Geoff Martin, 43rd.

"We had some pleasant surprises," said Boyne City head coach Andy Place.

"I was very excited for the boys team's third place finish," he added. "It says a lot about our improvement from last year."

For the girls, said Place, "Mindy McCutcheon ran an exceptional race." The Ramblers were slated to compete at East Jordan on Tuesday.

Front row: Ben Kroondyk, Ben Place, Tyler Barsi, Skylar Mac Naughton, Justin Conklin, and Justin Knysz. Not pictured are Kevin Paul, Randall Sutton, Joe Hauser, and coach Nick Balc. The team was scheduled to play its first game on Tuesday at Boyne Valley Lodge against Forrest Area, and will travel to Harbor Springs on Thursday, Sept. 13, at 4:30 p.m.

Lady Ramblers making home debut

The Boyne City Ramblers enjoyed the taste of victory for the first time this season when they defeated Mancelona last Tuesday, Sept. 4. On Thursday, it was a different result as the Ramblers dropped a 60-42 decision to Benzie Central.

"Mancelona was a good win for us," said head coach Michele Deming. "We rebounded the ball really well." Boyne City was particularly dominant on the offensive boards where it hauled down more rebounds than on the defensive boards.

The Ramblers came out strong against Mancelona, created a few steals off their press, then put the game away with a big offensive spur in the third period.

For the Ramblers, Kriste Gaither led the way with 14 points and 9 rebounds. Kelsi Brewer added 10 points and Lindsay Tomkins had 8.

While their win against Mancelona was full of positives, it was a different story in the Ramblers loss to Benzie. "It was a disappointing loss,"

The Treasurer is further directed to open a separate depository account, to be designated 2001 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS CONSTRUCTION FUND into which the proceeds of the Bonds, less accrued interest and premium, if any, shall be deposited, which account shall be used to pay the costs of constructing the Improvements. Proceeds remaining after completion of the Improvements shall be applied as permitted by law. The Bonds are of equal standing and priority of lien with other bonds issued by the City payable from such State-collected taxes and the City hereby reserves the right to issue additional Bonds of equal standing and priority of lien with the Bonds as to such State-collected taxes to the extent permitted by law.

The Bay Township Planning Commission will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 2, 2001 at the Bay Township Hall, 05045 Boyne City Road in the Village of Horton Bay.

The purpose of the public hearing is to hear comments from the public on a proposed text amendment to the Bay Township Zoning Ordinance to provide for and regulate B & B's (Bed and Breakfast Facilities) as a special use in all zoning districts. The text provides: the facility be in a single family dwelling; have no more than 6 rooms for guests, have lavatory and bathing facilities available to all guest rooms; have the appearance of a single-family residence; have only one (1) sign of twelve (12) square feet or less; serve meals to overnight guests only; create no excessive noise, traffic or other nuisance; provide parking on site; cover no more than 50 percent of the parcel with structures and parking areas; for the screening of refuse and garbage collection areas; prohibits snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles, boats, etc. to be used on site; requires a site plan showing the total property and also the relationship to adjacent property.

A definition of "B & B" will appear in the Ordinance. The provision allowing a B & B as a matter of right in the Village Overlay District will be deleted and it will become a special use as in their districts.

Persons may comment in person or, send written comments for presentation at the public hearing, by mail to Bay Township Planning Commission, 05045 Boyne City Road, Boyne City, MI 49727 or by facsimile transmission to (231) 582-3594. In addition, written comments may be e-mailed to wildwind@voyager.net. Written comments must be received not later than 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 2, 2001. A copy of the proposed amendment may be viewed by calling the Bay Township Clerk at the Bay Township Hall (231) 5823594, or visiting the Boyne District Public Library or Horton Bay General Store.

MORE SPORTS

Deming said. "We didn't find the shooters and defensively we struggled."

The Ramblers will put that loss behind them as they begin their Lake Michigan Conference schedule. They played Elk Rapids Tuesday night, then make their home debut on Thursday against Charlevoix.

"It will be nice to be in our home gym," Deming said. "We are anxious to play in front of a home crowd."

Although the Ramblers were 1-3 in their non-conference schedule, Deming sees progress in her team. "We are improving on turnovers," she said. "We started with 30 turnovers and have progressively worked it down to 17 and 15, which is our goal."

"We're handling the ball much better."

The Ramblers have also been rebounding well, but have struggled converting their chances. "We need to work on converting our opportunities," she said.

In addition to it being their first home game, Thursday's contest against Charlevoix is parents' night.
