Boyne Falls school working towards fund-raising goal

Boyne Falls Public School students are continuing to fund-raise this week, working towards a two-week, $10,000 goal set in the aftermath of the terrorist attacks on the United States on Sept. 11. With one week to go, the students have raised over $3,000, including $2,000 brought in through the efforts of the school's cross country team and $1,000 in other fund-raisers held in the building. All money raised will be donated to the American Red Cross Disaster Fund.

According to school principal Bill Aten, a school-wide "hat day" brought in about $170. The first three days of this week, Aten said, students brought in returnable pop cans, and all week students will be bringing in loose change.

Regardless of whether the school reaches its lofty goal, the fund-raiser, said Aten, is a big success. "It's phenomenal what people do," he said. "I had three kids give me a jar of coins they had, three kids from a family, which was $100."

The school will be accepting donations from the community through the end of the week. For more information or to make a donation, call the school at 549-2211.

Boyne eighth-graders raising funds for the Red Cross

Boyne City Middle School's eighth grade class has organized a fund-raiser for the American Red Cross Disaster Relief fund, in the wake of terrorist attacks against the United States earlier this month.

Collections will be held at Glen's and Carter's markets in Boyne City from 4-8 p.m. Spare change will also be collected from students and staff at the middle school.

For more information call Susan Martin at 439-8207.

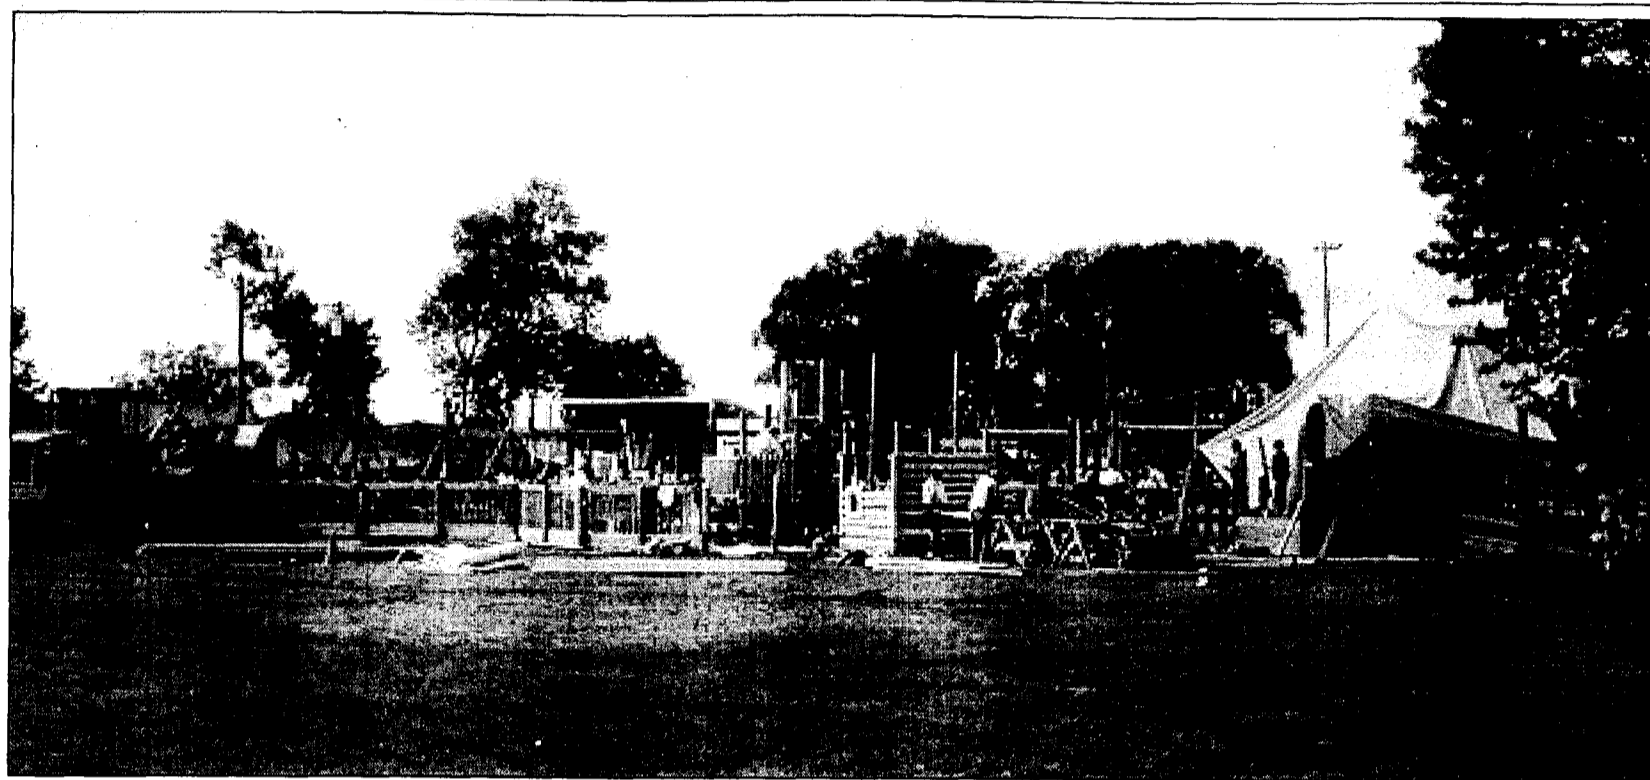

Fall fun on tap in East Jordan

Fall is definitely in the air, just in time for East Jordan's annual Leaf Peeker Open House event, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 6. Area merchants will be holding open houses with special fall sales, along with offering refreshments and the fun of a downtown filled with scarecrows and festive fall decorations.

Color tours on the trolley will also be on tap for the day.

More fall fun is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 18, with Moonlight Madness downtown, and on Saturday, Oct. 20, for the seventh annual Leaf Peeker Craft Show to be held at East Jordan Middle School from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

For more information on these events, call the East Jordan Area Chamber of Commerce at 536-7351.

Realizing a dream

Despite buckets of rain and chilly fall winds coming in off the lake, community members gathered in Veterans Memorial Park in Boyne City over a five-day period last week to create the long-awaited Boyne Area Creative Playground. Under the direction of chairperson Scott MacKenzie and a host of committee members, the project kicked off in earnest about a year ago, with design collaboration and fund-raising, culminating in the volunteer construction. For more photos of the project, see page 4.

Reconstruction on Main Street in EJ ahead of schedule

Things are looking good on Main Street, according to East Jordan city administrator Dave White.

At last week's regular meeting of the city commission, White announced that the Main Street reconstruction project continues to be a week to a week and a half ahead of schedule.

"The sewer connections are completed and the storm sewer is being finished up," said White.

New water services will soon be started, as well as the additional water main.

"Over the next few weeks, the street crews will be in to start working on the curbs and final grades for the streets," he said.

Also at the meeting, city commissioners approved a bid award for the construction of a 40' by 60' masonry building to be used by the Department of Public Works in conjunction with the Salt Storage Building.

Upon the recommendation of White and the DPW superintendent, the bid was awarded to Petrie Construction of East Jordan, in the amount of $53,000, with a budgeted down payment of $10,000 and a lease/purchase of $43,000.

Other bids received included Louis Drapeau Concrete, Inc., of East Jordan, in the amount of $66,297.24 and Albert L. Shindorf Builders, of Charlevoix, in the amount of $64,950.

According to White, the new building will be used primarily to house equipment, and is a larger structure, as proposed, than was envisioned at budget time due to the fact that the larger plan will be easily expandable when the DPW facility is permanently relocated to Bartlett Street.

East Jordan Community Park shapes up for the future

Though construction has run a bit past schedule, the end result is worth the wait — the East Jordan Community Park has shaped up to be a facility that should accommodate the community's needs for years to come.

After more than two years of planning and work, the 40-acre park has made huge strides this summer, taking shape with four ball fields, and three adult soccer fields, which can be broken up into six youth fields. All fields are fully irrigated and have been seeded.

Visitors to the park will be able to enjoy concessions at the newly refurbished concession stand, which also contains bathrooms and will double as a warming hut for the planned skating rink in the winter months.

Lighted parking areas have been completed, with one paved area with a 50-car capacity, and an unpaved area will accommodate 250 cars.

Formerly known as Boswell Field, the property now known as the Community Park has long been a fixture in the community, first as the Charlevoix County Fairgrounds and later as the location of high school athletics. After the construction of Boswell Stadium at East Jordan High School, an agreement was hammered out in which the City of East Jordan took over possession of the property.

For the last eight or so years it's been in the city's possession, though, the field has sat idle waiting for a new life. In October of 1999, the seed for that new East Jordan city administrator David White gave commissioners and city staff a tour last week.

According to local farmer Steve Johncheck, shown here serving customers last weekend at the Boyne City Farmer's Market, a dry spell in July made for a rough Labor Day at his produce stand.

HARVEST TIME

■ Dry summer affects farmers' harvests both statewide and locally

Like farmers all over the state, local producers have had to deal with the effects of what's been deemed a full-fledged drought statewide.

Steve Johncheck of Johncheck Farms on Camp Daggett Road called the year "average" in terms of corn production, though the season's one dry stretch experienced in northern Michigan, which consisted of four or five days straight of 90 degree weather "shoved things ahead for us," he said. "From Gaylord south had a lot less rain [than the local area]," said Johncheck. Locally, a couple weeks might pass without rain, but then "we'd get a shot [of rainfall] that pulled us through."

According to Jeff Andresen, a Michigan State University assistant professor of geography, though, while this year's weather has been especially challenging for Michigan producers, it's nothing new.

"This is a classic agricultural drought, where we start off the season too wet and it becomes too dry," he said. "For some parts of the state, it has been the worst we've seen since 1988."

The dry summer weather over much of the state resulted from a ridging pattern in the jet stream. With Michigan situated on the eastern edge of the ridge, precipitation was effectively prevented from forming over or moving into the state. From the middle of June through the middle of August, less than three-quarters of an inch of rain fell in most areas of Michigan, causing severe crop losses.

The resulting weather has been so devastating to some crops that federal disaster relief may be necessary to assist farmers who will suffer financial losses this year. Crops affected by the drought include: corn, alfalfa, mixed forage, pasture, soybeans, dry beans, tart cherries, sunflowers, apples, squash, pumpkins, first-year fruit trees, and Christmas trees and seedlings.

Time to raise higher than the demons

TO THE EDITOR:

Sept. 11, 2001 brought the joie de vivre of most Americans to a screeching halt. The preachers Falwell and Robertson said God allowed it. I say they are wrong! I say this wrathful act of hate that wreaked havoc in America was caused by a paradigm of evil directly from Hell!

We are told it was endorsed by the Taliban, a group of religious zealots who live in a profound abyss of utter misery. Their followers live in a hell where they are kept dumb, where they are virtual slaves, don't have freedom, justice or equality. The intellectual leader Osama bin Laden, whose guile has stirred his followers with envy and revenge, has deceived mankind as he walks about seeking whom he may devour. He is the patron saint of negativistic revolt. He has stirred up impure, evil, blasphemous thoughts, through doubt, fear, pride, irritability, malice, avarice, and envy.

In the vale of darkness this happy group sees the people of New York and America suffering pain as a punishment for their sins, the surging flames - a school of burning creatures. From that sight waxes for them a winsome joy, when they observe the others enduring the evil they have wrought.

Ignorance is the instigator inducing man to indulge in all three of the triple gates to Hell - lust, greed and anger. We have become aware of the smallness and fragility of humankind. That the good and evil forces of the universe should seek to do battle, using us as pawns, seems inevitable. Evil is still alive. We know we are not doing enough, and punish ourselves while someone, somewhere is suffering. It is now time to rise higher than the demons who taunt us and seize the "superhuman" power God has given us.

My kind of hero

TO THE EDITOR:

There is another group of heroes in and around Boyne City High school that also need recognition. They are, for the most part, not teenagers but adults who come in contact with the students and play a vital role in their growth and maturity.

The first is a high school English teacher. One of the assignments for his class is for each student to write 50 poems. After the assignment is completed he sits down and reads each and every poem written. He takes the time to comment about the poems. He does not fill each page with red-penciled corrections to grammar or punctuation but reads beyond the occasional misspelled word into the heart of the student. He also makes notes about the poems that he especially likes - "I really liked #17," "Number 34 was really great!" In this day of computers and laptops with spell-check, grammar-check and a functioning thesaurus he knows that the small errors can easily be corrected, it's the feelings that the student put down on paper for all to see that are important.

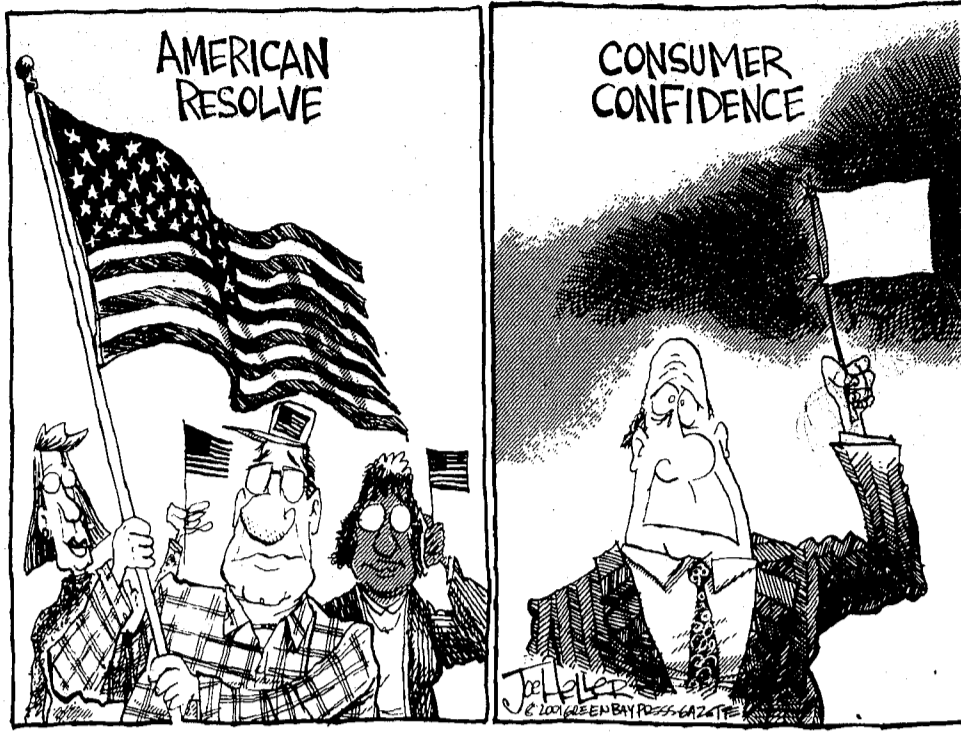

The second is a coach who took on all 18 girls who wanted to be a part of the team. He doesn't believe in cutting to make the team more "manageable." He knows that participation is the key, not winning. This coach allowed every girl to feel necessary, even if her playing time was short. The bench warmers were the cheerleaders, the score keepers, the all-around helpers. And in the end, they all were winners. They all received their district medals and they all went to regional.

The third is the school administration members, teachers and school board members who actually go and watch the games, contests, concerts and plays that our students are involved in. Unfortunately, this is not a large group but they are noticed and appreciated by the students.

The fourth are the parents who take their concerns to the school administration or to the school board. There are situations that arise that the student alone can not make right. It is the responsibility of the parents not only to follow and resolve those issues, but also, by example, teach their children that you don't have to stand by and do nothing. Pursuing fair treatment and, in some cases compromise, you can challenge authority and you can do it in a civilized manner. That is a lesson that will stay with our children throughout their lives.

The fifth and last hero is a former high school student. As a sophomore, she was invited to join a varsity team. She had the athletic ability to compete at the level and she felt honored to be asked. She told the coach that she would move up to varsity on one condition, that no other player is cut to make a place for her. She knew that she would have plenty of opportunity to play during the next three seasons, on junior varsity or varsity and she was not about to take away that same opportunity from someone else. Now, that's my kind of hero!

A Mom's Life

Looking for the silver lining

By CINDI PLACE

Over the years, I have found that one way to cope with an unhappy circumstance is to search for the silver lining in the "cloud."

Sometimes that will mean searching long and hard for something good in a rotten situation. Other times it's right there in front of my face. Like the times when an athletic team hasn't won a game in a while. We tell our kids that they're learning how to face adversity and that they will bond together as a team.

Or when a family vacation just doesn't work out and we're faced with spending a whole week together at home. Not only does a lot get done on the honey-do list, but also we find something new about our town or area that we hadn't discovered before, like a hidden beach or a cool new store.

The recent events in our country have brought forward a cloud of unprecedented proportions.

Our children, like ourselves, are still walking around in a fog, wondering how anyone could hate that much. But even now, we search for that silver lining. And in many cases, those good things are right in front of us.

Patriotism, honest love of our country, has emerged in amazing ways.

I can't remember another time when "USA" was chanted at something other than an athletic event. It is now. Or when people honestly acknowledged all that is good and right about our country.

What pleases me most are the genuine feelings that seem to have uncovered themselves. People are helping each other cope in small, but important ways. We hug more.

And smile at each other, even though it is still a sad, bewildered smile. We look for heroes in all the right places. We try to counter our feelings of anger with those of compassion.

And we turn to prayer. Never before in our country's history has God and church seemed more important, and more in evidence.

Our public officials speak of praying for our country. Kids are gathering "around the pole" once again. And it feels okay to tell someone that they are in your thoughts and prayers. Even a complete stranger.

Which, as I recall, is exactly what God intended. Another silver lining.

Former Boyne exchange student expresses her view on terrorist attack

Editors note: The following is an e-mail message received last week by local resident Janet Froats-Shepherd from a former Rotary foreign exchange student, Zeynep Erkan, who is now residing in her native country, Turkey. Erkan spent the 1993-94 school year in Boyne City with Janet and her family.

First of all, you should know that everybody is devastated about the attacks. Life pretty much stopped in Turkey too at the time of the attacks. For a few hours we were glued to the TV, not answering calls or doing a single work.

People predict many things: this is World War III; this is World War III not among countries but this is World War III among terrorists and countries; this war could not last long because latest technology will be used and thus everything would be over pretty quick.

As for Turkey, people here understand what Americans feel at the moment because we have been suffering from terrorism for the past 20 years. As you might know, we (finally!) put an end to it. No country, under what circumstances, deserves such an attack. Many believe that this is the chance to create a better world, with the right balances. Countries will fight together against terrorism. This was something Turkey was trying to get everyone's attention to. We have been saying that terrorism is the biggest problem of the world and all states. Now, everybody understands.

It is very unfortunate that terrorism is remembered with Islam. You know that although I do not believe in religions, I do know that Islam does not mean terrorism. As true for any religion, religions can be taken so far by extremists. On the surface, this might all seem like there is religion at the root of it all. But this can only fool the ignorant. The real reason is always political, economical, etc. Unfortunately, belief is something which can be used and abused.

If war starts (which probably will), Turkey will be in the middle of the things, because most of Turkey's neighbors are supporting terrorism. Turkey has always been the only Muslim country who had to fight against terrorism for years in order to protect its land. We are also the only secular Muslim country, which means we do not govern the country according to religious beliefs or rules, but other Muslim countries do.

Because of all this, when war starts Turkey is also under tremendous danger since we are the closest target for those countries.

Nobody wants war. We are hearing that everyone wants revenge in the States. Innocent Muslim people are getting killed. It is easy to declare and want war when the war is going to take place on another land, but not on your land. As a country, which has suffered from war with terrorism for a long time, we know that WAR IS NO GOOD. But when you have to, you have to. It should not be forgotten that people of different religions, origins, backgrounds have died in those towers. They were not only Americans.

We don't know or think that there will be other attacks on the States. Anyway, not this big. There could be live bombs (suicide attacks) but who knows? Moreover, the US is protecting itself better than ever, these days.

Before I finish my e-mail, I send you my condolences. Many here believe that this was not an attack against the U.S., this was an attack against humanity, democracy, independence and freedom.

Zeynep Erkan

A PASTOR'S PERSPECTIVE

Violence on America raises tough questions

By RUSS HAGER

On Sept. 11, 2001 we sat in stunned silence as the day's events unfolded. We were shocked as innocent lives were brought to a violent, unexpected end. Many questions were raised on that day, two of those questions being asked is Why did God do this? Why did God allow it to happen?

What does the Bible say?

First let me say, God is not to blame. Yes, we would like to be able to blame someone and sometimes God is a convenient target for our anger. But, God is not to blame. God did not do this, man did it.

One thing in scripture is clear. From Genesis and the Garden of Eden to Revelations, God has always given humankind a choice, a free will. In the garden God showed the tree of knowledge of good or evil to Adam. It was Adam that had the choice to obey God and not eat the fruit, or disobey Him and eat the fruit.

In Deuteronomy, as I quoted last week, God invited us to choose between life and death, blessing and cursing. In the Book of Joshua 24:15 the people are commanded to choose this day whom they would serve.

In John 3:16 Jesus said that whosoever would believe, indicating a choice to believe or not to believe.

Man has free choice. We have the God given right and responsibility to make choices. The flip side of that is, we must then live with the choices we make. For every choice we make there is a consequence, either a positive or negative effect on our lives. Unfortunately, as in the case of these terrorists, the choices we make can also have an impact on the lives of others. In this scenario these men made the choice to disobey God's command to not murder. They then acted on their choice, exercising their free will and flew commercial airplanes into the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

Then the next question most of us would ask is: "Couldn't God have stopped it from happening?"

The answer is yes, and no. God most certainly has the power and the ability to do anything. God is also a holy and just God. By giving man free will, God has placed self-imposed limitations on Himself to not prevent man from making choices, acting on those choices and then reaping the results of those choices. Galatians 6:7 states what a man sows, so shall he reap. So while God has the power He does not violate His own law, the law giving man free will. The one way God will change the course of human events is when we exercise our free will and pray about the situations confronting us, we have then invited God to come into that situation and He is able to do so without violating the limitations He has set.

It is God's greatest desire that we use this power to choose wisely. When people choose, as these terrorist did, to use this power for evil, God grieves. I am sure that God is grieving over the events of Sept. 11. The good news is this, you can also use this God given power to choose to do good. Let me encourage you this day, make a choice, choose to do good. Look for ways to help others in need. Instead of cursing someone, bless them. Instead of knocking someone down, help them up. Show yourself, and others that we do indeed have the power to affect other people's lives in a positive way by choosing to do good. Be an instrument in the hand of God to do good and not an instrument of Satan to do evil.

May God bless America.

(Russ Hager is the pastor at the New Beginning's Assembly of God Church in Boyne City.)

East Jordan Community Park shaping up

 life was planted, when the city received word that it would receive a hefty $369,000 grant from the Department of Environmental Quality from the Clean Michigan Initiative bond funds. Local financial support has been strong and ongoing, including $24,000 from the East Jordan Rotary Club and a $60,000 grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

The City has kicked in more than $200,000 in matching funds, with $10,000 coming from timber sold off the property as the way was cleared for new fields. According to White, the project's total price tag thus far is right around three-quarters of a million dollars.

In October of 2000, the city awarded the bid for Phase One of the project to Weisel Construction out of Gaylord, with Petrie Construction completing work on the refurbished concessions building in Phase Two.

While the bulk of the infrastructure work has been completed in the current phase, plans for Phase Three and Four of the project are in place for the future, including the completion of an ice/in-line skating rink, a nature trail, the paving of the second parking lot, the completion of a press box, and the development of a sledding hill.

The new East Jordan Community Park features three new soccer fields, which can be divided into six youth fields.

Red Devil pride

At halftime in Saturday's Homecoming game, Jackie Haley and John Thompson were crowned Queen and King for 2001. The game and ceremony enjoyed the only spot of good weather in the weekend. Boyne City topped the Red Devils 41-7; for more on the big game, see page 8.

Charlevoix-Emmet ISD holds open house at new Boyne City location

Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance have recently joined forces under one roof to enhance the services they offer separately and jointly to the community.

Earlier this week, the ISD held an open house for the community at their renovated building, the former Big Boy restaurant on M-75, next to Carter's Foods. Tours of the renovated office space, staff presentations and light refreshments were offered.

The ISD purchased the building and is leasing office space to the Economic Alliance.

Charlevoix-Emmet ISD is a regional educational service agency, providing direct programs and services to students and educators in 11 local districts in Charlevoix, Emmet and portions of Antrim County. Almost 12,000 students, 1,000 handicapped students, and more than 2,500 students in Career and Technical Education receive services through the intermediate school district.

In addition, Charlevoix-Emmet ISD provides technical assistance in many ways to local school districts and is the link between the school districts and the Michigan Department of Education.

Open House attendees toured three Char-Em ISD services located in the Boyne City Building: the Media Center; Early Education services; and Career and Technical Education services.

The Media Center houses learning materials for educators to use in the classroom. It also maintains laser disc players, overhead projectors and other audio-visual equipment for loan. Media Center staff also coordinate bulk buying of basic school supplies, enabling schools to save money on purchases.

Early Education staff members make available services to local schools, parents, students and communities to provide education, referral, training and support for general early childhood education, birth to age eight. Included are a variety of programs within local districts, technical assistance to local staff, and resources and referrals for families to local early childhood and child care programs throughout the region.

Career and Technical Education staff offer career preparation services to local schools, businesses and families to provide education for employment and workforce development. Included are academic preparation, work site experience, career counseling and partnerships between business and education. All students in local schools within the Charlevoix-Emmet ISD -- grades kindergarten through 12 -- their families, and businesses and industries throughout the community are offered Career and Technical Education program assistance.

The Northern Lakes Economic Alliance is a non-profit organization offering confidential business counseling and community economic development services. Its mission is to enhance the economy in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties, in partnership with MSU Extension, by acting as a resource to retain and create quality jobs.

Economic Alliance Executive Director Tom Johnson and ISD Superintendent Mark Eckhardt said they expect to see enhanced cooperation between the two organizations housed under one roof.

"We're excited about the opportunities to provide even better services that link schools, businesses and communities," Johnson said.

Banned Books Week is all about exercising freedoms

By NANNETTE MILLER

Among other things, libraries are sources of information. Of course everybody already knows that. What everybody may not know is how librarians around the state have worked to make information about recent events and their repercussions easily accessible to the public. State librarian Christie Brandau sent a message out to libraries all around the state, urging us to "do what we do best -- provide information." Many libraries have put links to helpful Internet sites on their home pages. Librarians have worked to add news, data, and links to related sites to the Michigan Electronic Library (<http://mel.org>) which is a very useful and well organized information "clearing house."

President Bush has said the terrorist attacks on our country were not only attacks on the United States, but attacks on freedom. This sentiment strikes a chord with librarians, who are often called upon to protect certain freedoms: freedom of access to information, freedom of expression, freedom to read. Sept. 22-29 is Banned Books Week. The Boyne District Library is once again displaying some of the most famous banned and challenged books, such as "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings" by Maya Angelou, "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck, "Huckleberry Finn" and "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" by Mark Twain, and "Anne Frank: Diary of a Young Girl," to name just a few. We do this each year to remind ourselves, and the community, how important our freedoms are, and how we must fight to protect them. Freedom is threatened in many ways, subtle and catastrophic, but if we don't stand strong against those who threaten us, the end result is the loss of our rights.

According to the American Library Association, the message of Banned Books Week is more than the freedom to choose or the freedom to express one's opinion. The essential message is the importance of ensuring the availability of ALL viewpoints, even if unorthodox or unpopular, to all who wish to read them. Librarians take that responsibility seriously.

Exercise your freedom this week. Go where you choose, speak what you believe, read whatever you like. Remember this message of Banned Books Week: Free people read freely.

Winterize Your Property to Save Money

When fall arrives, many find it hard to think ahead toward anything but the holidays. Yet fall is also a time when you should look toward preparing your home for the winter. By winterizing now, you can save money and conserve much-needed energy in the long run.

One look at a utility bill and it's obvious that energy prices are steadily rising. It is important to ensure that no excess dollars are being wasted. The first step is to conduct a thorough evaluation of your home -- both inside and out. Some energy companies offer this as a free service or may charge a nominal fee. If this service is not readily available then you can perform the inspection yourself. Prepare for the cold months ahead with these easy ideas from www.essortment.com and ConsumerEnergyCenter.org

• Gutters and Chimney: Clean all gutters and chimneys so that they are free of leaves and debris. Gutters must be in good condition so that melted snow can freely drain away from your home. Chimneys can be further protected by installing a screen over the top for the winter.

SAVE MONEY by winterizing your home -- like closing the damper when not using your fireplace.

• Fireplace: Remember to close the damper on your fireplace when a fire is not burning. If the damper stays open with no fire burning it acts as a large open window and draws warm air out of the house.

• Cooling Units: Most central air-conditioning systems require the unit to be placed outdoors. Be sure to cover the unit so that excess weathering does not occur on fan blades or damage electrical wiring.

• Trees and Shrubbery: Trim trees and remove all dead branches. This is important because the snow and wind could cause weak trees or branches to break, damaging your home or car and possibly injuring someone on your property.

• Steps/Handrails: Make sure that all steps and handrails are sturdy and in good condition. Banisters and steps can become dangerous snow and ice. Make any repairs before the first snowfall to prevent a potential hazard, or even costly lawsuits.

• Equipment: Drain gasoline from lawnmowers, weeders and other engines that will not be used again until summer. Cover and store away any equipment (tools, barbeque) and backyard furniture from the weather so that you will not need to replace it next season after it's been damaged.

• Precautions: It is a good idea to have bottles of water, canned foods, extra blankets, candles and lighters, working flashlights with extra batteries, a cell phone and emergency phone numbers on hand in case your home is without electricity for an extended period of time. You don't want to risk a serious injury by humping around in the dark. ♦ F1119815

Under cover of a perpetually grey sky, the Boyne Area Creative Playground seemed to grow up out of the ground at an amazing rate over the first three days of construction.

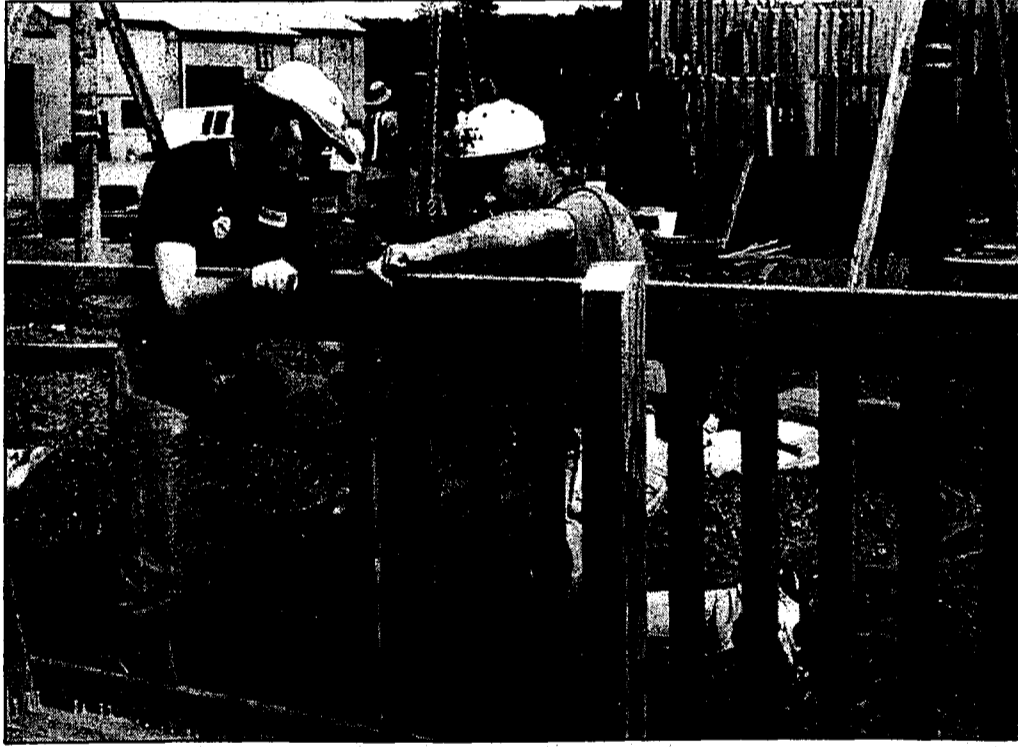

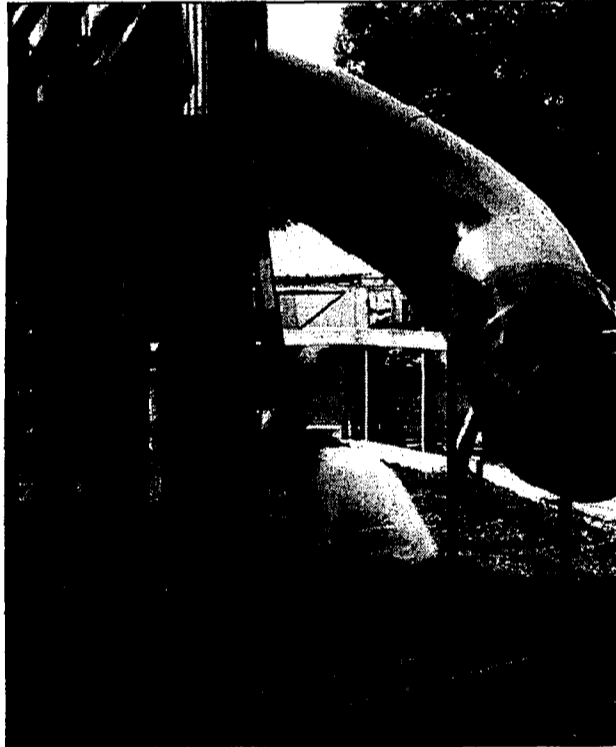

The project was a family affair for Bo Hosmer and his sons Brian and Jeff as they worked side by side to help complete the project.

Committee member Tim O'Leary took a turn at the saw, while larger equipment (below) was used for things like moving wood chips.

There was a place for everyone during construction. At far left, Jeff Kelts attends to the details, while others worked to install pickets inscribed with names of businesses and individuals, sold as a fundraiser for the project.

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

JUDY SHIOTELIS of Boyne City, and her mother, Helen Elder, have just returned from a 12-day vacation in Paradise, Calif., where they visited with Judy's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Murr. Their return flight had to be rescheduled, due to the airline shut-down.

A BENEFIT for Camp Quality, "Tacky Prom Night" is being held at the Eagles on Sept. 29 at 7 p.m. Open to the public, it is hoped that all will be digging out some tacky duds or visit a resale shop, in creating a prize-winning outfit. Music will be donated that evening by the "Northern Nights." Sounds like a fun time!

EVERETT SAYLES of Boyne City spent a few days this past week in Northern Michigan Hospital with pneumonia.

SCOTT NICLOY, who has been on vacation from the Salvation Army and is an accomplished organist, performed a special number from his home church, the Boyne City Free Methodist, this past Sunday.

NIECE GERALDINE and her husband Bud

O'Brien of Flushing arrived in Boyne City on Monday to spend a few days with her Aunt Virginia Burns.

HEARTFELT SYMPATHIES from residents of Litzenger Place are extended to the family of Gordon Maul, who passed away at his apartment on Saturday night.

CONGRATULATIONS GO out to former Boyne City resident Shawn McCleary and wife Natalie of Grand Rapids on the birth of a son. Isaiah Daniel McCleary was born July 31, 2001 at Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids. Isaiah weighed 9 lbs. 7 oz. and was 21 inches long. Proud grandparents are Mike McCleary of Boyne City and Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Terri Tompkins) Barns of Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fiorenzo of Grand Rapids. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Roy (Caroline) McCleary of Boyne City, and Mrs. Marvin (Joan) Tompkins of Petoskey. Isaiah was also welcomed by an older sister, Alexis, and several great-aunts and great-uncles, including Patrick McCleary of Petoskey.

A GROUP OF 12 from Litzenger Place went to Petoskey and were welcomed by a good turnout, in attending a brunch with Friendship Club members and also enjoyed a tour of their new Senior Center.

COMMUNITY PRIDE stemmed far and wide this week, as the many volunteers labored together, on the new Boyne City Playground. Had many excited calls, even throughout times of rain and working under tents. Churches and other organizations helped, providing meals and desserts for the workers. An overheard comment, "I'm glad to be 'giving back' to Boyne City, for all it's given to me and my family!"

EUGENE AND JUDY SMITH and daughter Alaina of Niles, and daughter Katrina of Lake Superior State College were here over the weekend visiting their families, Leroy and Betty Nicloy in Boyne City and his sister, Rosealie Slagle and family in the Central Lake area.

FREE METHODIST WOMEN, Cindy Bullock, Ruth Hayden, Betty Nicloy, Janet Mackie, and Margaret Bennett spent Friday and Saturday, attending the North Michigan Conference Women's Retreat held at the Marenatha, a beautiful conference center near Grand Rapids.

OBITUARIES

Robert B. Tainter

Robert B. Tainter, 89, passed away on Sept. 18, 2001 in Grand Rapids. Interment was in the Evangeline Township Cemetery.

He was born on May 16, 1912 at the family residence in Evangeline Township to Fred N. and Lila M. Tainter. He was the grandson of Daniel A. Tainter, a Civil War veteran. Mr. Tainter lived for 76 years in Evangeline Township before moving to Grand Rapids to live with his son Tom.

He was employed by the Michigan Tanning and Extract Company for many years until it closed in the late 1960s. Tainter loved the outdoors. He worked the family farm and enjoyed camping around northern Michigan. After moving to Grand Rapids in 1988, he traveled to all 50 states with Tom and his family, always anticipating the next trip.

He was preceded in death by his wife Dorothy in 1976 and son Douglas in 1944.

He is survived by six children, Richard of Boyne City, Joan (Keith) Wieck of Fountain Hills, Ariz., Gordon (Deborah) Tainter of Woodinville, Wash., Nancy (Frank) VanVoorst of Grand Rapids, Thomas (Elaine) Tainter of Walker, Mich., and Shirley (Tim) Baldrige of Madison, Ala.; 17 grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Those who wish may make memorial contributions to the Boyne City Historical Museum.

Elwood Alstine Dunlop

Elwood Alstine Dunlop, 85, of Boyne City passed away Thursday, Sept. 13, 2001, at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

A memorial service was held Monday, Sept. 17, at the Walloon Lake Community Church. Pastor Jeff Ellis officiated. Graveside service will be held in Maple Lawn Cemetery in Boyne City on Monday, Oct. 1, at 2 p.m. for both Elwood and his wife Imogene, who preceded him in death on Nov. 15, 1999. Terry Nelson, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, will officiate.

Elwood was the son of Alstine Dunlop and Mable (Habner) Dunlop. He was a native of Boyne City with sisters and two brothers. He attended the Boyne City High School, and was active in track and field events. During the depression years, he quit school and rode the railroad with the hobos to Oregon.

In 1938 he married Ruthanna Bartlette, and she preceded him in death. They gave birth to their daughter Ellen Laurie (Dunlop). In 1963 Elwood married Jean McCulloch.

In earlier years, Elwood was very active. He owned and operated a hardware and bicycle shop in the Detroit area. He worked in real estate, and became a building contractor and remodeled many homes, while also working at Pontiac Motors. Before retiring he worked for the former Boyne City Railroad doing remodeling of the old railroad cars and railroad building and was co-owner of the Boyne Village Inn.

Throughout his life, he was a member of the Masons and the Eagles, and enjoyed very much the companionship of friends made there. He loved hunting birds, deer, and even bear. He met Imogene during his bowling activities which led to their eventual marriage. He also enjoyed smelt dipping, bass fishing, and wood working.

Elwood loved his little home on Forest (Mud) Lake. He would sit by the hours just watching the water and the animals that came to drink. He was also a regular at the Country Star in Boyne City for breakfast each morning, as well as at the Eagles each afternoon. His grandchildren remember how soft spoken he was in nature, and the many times he spent in watching them play. Elwood was admitted to the Grandvue facility in January of 2001, after he became too ill to stay at home. Elwood's outlook on life was that "every day's a good day."

He is survived by his daughter, Ellen (Dunlop) Laurie, and her husband, Don of Boyne City; son, Jackie E. Dunlop and his wife, Connie of Boyne Falls; eight grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild, all of Boyne and the surrounding areas.

The family requests memorials be given to the Boyne Area Gymnastics to help with their new facility. Arrangements were handled by the Stackus Funeral Home in Boyne City. The family wished to thank those people who helped in taking care of Elwood during his stay at home, and also the staff at Grandvue. The many hours they spent were greatly appreciated.

Raven Hill open house and exhibit will feature "2001 Connections"

Raven Hill Discovery Center in East Jordan is planning an open house and art exhibit for Sunday, Sept. 30, from 1-4 p.m. The event will mark the culmination of the "2001 Connections," a grant program sponsored by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

Two yurts will house imaginative displays of original artwork created by participants — students and artists — in the grant program. A wide assortment of art will be featured, including clay pots fired in a raku kiln, pendants and bracelets of silver, pounded copper bowls, felt creations, glass paperweights and beads, and stained glass pieces. Media boxes depicting the art, science and history of four different media, including clay, copper, felt, and glass, will be on display in the museum.

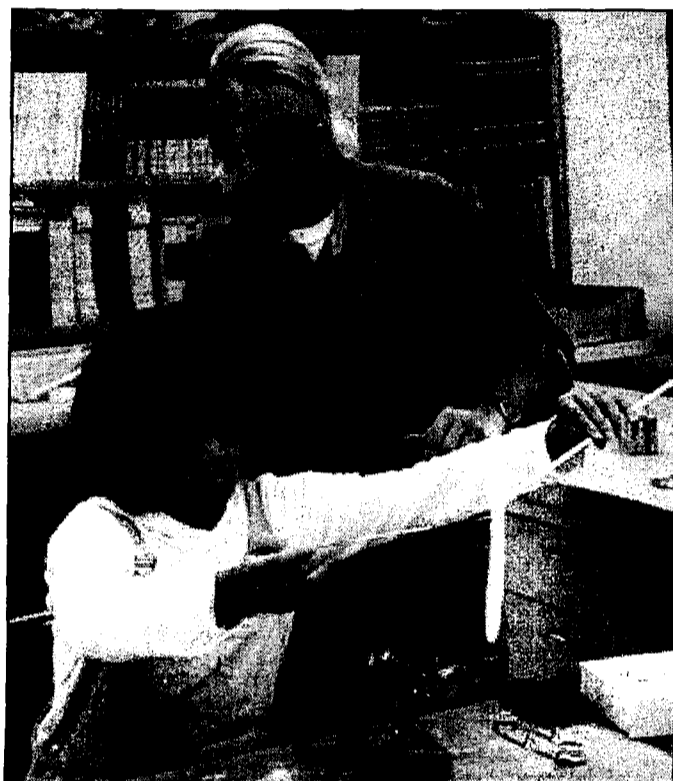

"2001 Connections" was intended to link the science, history, and art for children and adults in the areas of fiber, metal, glass, and clay. The workshops and invitationals, along with the media boxes, stressed the interrelationships between science, history, and art that are critical to true understanding.

Area residents and visitors alike are invited to attend the open house event. The hands-on museum will be open for adults and children to explore over 100 hands-on exhibits, and refreshments will be served.

Raven Hill Discovery Center is located between East Jordan and Boyne City off of C-48 at Pearsall Road. For more information, call 536-3369.

Other supporters of the "2001 Connections" program include The Great Lakes Energy People Fund, the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation, Mr. and Mrs. Michael L. Dow, the Ralph W. and Marilyn F. Boeker Family Fund, Robert DenHerder, and other members of the community.

Tim Leach helps East Jordan student Jill Cook get started on glass bead-making at Raven Hill Discovery Center.

Easing into fall ...

Finding the perfect pumpkin may be harder this season

Though summer's long gone, the effects of the season's dry weather will still be felt when folks head out in search of the perfect pumpkin this fall. According to Bernard Zandstra, Michigan State University Extension vegetable specialist, pumpkin supplies will be limited.

Wet weather in late May and early June prevented a number of growers from getting into the fields on time. Pumpkins that were planted before the period of cold, damp weather (in May and June) suffered cold stress and did not grow well. Those that were planted later, said Zandstra, just before the drought, suffered heat stress and did not grow well.

Locally, pumpkin-grower Steve Johncheck said that pumpkins are, indeed, smaller this year, and though close in number to normal, there will be fewer to choose from, as early ripening will make them less plentiful as we get closer to Halloween.

And though numbers will be down, Johncheck assured consumers that pumpkins will still be readily available for fall decorating, but added that decorating early might not be a bad idea.

Summer drought

According to National Weather Service meteorologist Brian Hirsch, here in northern Michigan, rainfall amounts in April and May were above normal, but, he said, "as we slipped into the summer, we had some small departures, with the month of July being very, very dry."

Where Johncheck saw the biggest impact from the hot, dry stretch in July was when the Labor Day weekend rolled around. "We missed [the farmer's market in Boyne City] a few times during that Labor Day period," he said, due to corn in that "patch" not having developed properly.

"We didn't have the quantity of corn we needed during Labor Day weekend," said Johncheck. "That did hurt us. But that's mother nature." Later patches developed fine, however, bringing production back up later in the season.

Michigan Farm Bureau announced earlier this month that it is supporting Governor John Engler's federal disaster request for 73 Michigan counties, including Charlevoix, Antrim, and Emmet counties. Engler's request, in a letter to U.S. Department of Agriculture secretary Ann Veneman, was based on 30 percent or more loss estimates in at least one commodity from each of the included counties.

In order for federal disaster status to be granted, original crop loss estimates must be verified from harvest yield data.

If losses of 30 percent or more are confirmed and the request is granted, eligible producers will have access to low-interest emergency loans from the USDA's Farm Service Agency for up to 80 percent of their weather-related production losses.

FALL WEATHER

While summer may have been dominated by dry conditions, fall seems ready to provide the area with plenty of precipitation before the snow is ready to fly.

According to meteorologist Brian Hirsch of the National Weather Service in Gaylord, fall conditions will be "near normal," though the chance for continued rainfall is "better than normal through the next two weeks."

Area residents can expect daytime temperatures reaching into the upper 50s through the early part of the season, with nighttime low temperatures remaining in the lower 40s. "That would be an average, and not bad, fall," said Hirsch.

While the continuing rain may not be great for getting out to see the fall colors, it will make for a longer season. In a wet fall, said Hirsch, "the length of color is typically longer, as the leaves stick onto the trees" rather than drying up quickly and falling off.

Colors, however, will likely not be as bright as they would be with dry, sunny days.

FALL COLOR

Why, when and where ...

What is the best time to view northern Michigan's fall color?

Generally, the annual seasonal show peaks in stages, beginning at the top of the state in the U.P., where it gets cooler first, then moving southward. Peak color is usually found in the U.P. between mid-September and early October; in the northern Lower Peninsula between late September and mid-October; in mid-Michigan from early to mid-October; and in southern Lower Michigan from mid- to late October. Color patterns, however, depend greatly on the weather as well as other factors including lake-effect warming and geographical factors.

What makes the leaves change color?

Daylight length is a determining factor. Shorter days cause leaves to stop producing chlorophyll and lose their green color and begin the process that causes leaves to drop. Weather conditions in early September largely determine how brilliant each season's color will be. If there are bright sunny days and cool nights, colors will be more spectacular. Rain also helps growing conditions. Adequate summer rainfall means leaves will be bigger and healthier come autumn. But due to adequate snow-fall last winter, the summer drought in many areas of the state should not affect color in established trees. Some autumn rain is desirable, but continuous warm, cloudy weather is not, since such conditions hinder the sugar production that creates the brilliant reds and golds found in oaks and maples. Bright sunny days and cool nights are ideal.

How many species of trees are there and what colors do they turn?

Michigan boasts about 150 different species of trees in our 18.6 million acres of forest, which make for a wide range of colors in the fall. Hardwoods such as aspen, maple, birch, sumac and oak, give brilliant displays of yellows, reds, golds, and oranges.

For an update of fall color conditions, call the Travel Michigan hotline at 1-888-78-GREAT (784-7328). The recorded line operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with conditions updated each Wednesday starting in mid-September. Color condition updates can also be found on the AAA Michigan website, www.aaamich.com.

Apples ripe for the picking

Crisp, juicy apples are everyone's fall favorites and, according to Judy Kehr of Friske Orchards, this year's harvest is in full swing. Apple production is, said Kehr, "just a little ahead" with lots of varieties coming into their prime.

Currently the orchard is picking honey crisp, galas, cortlands, macs, and ginger gold. Other varieties, she added, are probably ready to go, but just haven't been gotten to yet.

The cool nights, said Kehr, have helped ripen apples in time for area harvest and fall festivals. "People are really ready [for them]," she said.

Michigan expected to enjoy good color season

Despite higher fuel prices and drought over much of the state, travelers and local folks can expect to experience a color season as good or even better than normal.

According to AAA Michigan, a recent survey indicates that more than two million Michiganders plan to enjoy a fall color road trip this season, with the northwest lower peninsula the top destination — 46 percent of those surveyed planning to visit.

Low rainfalls experienced over most of the state this summer shouldn't keep travelers from seeing the great color show their hoping for, said Michigan State forestry professor Melvin Koelling.

"We had a good amount of snow-fall last winter, which recharged the groundwater across the state. And, historically, when we had dry summers and falls we also had brilliant color."

What we don't want, according to Koelling, is warm, cloudy, muggy days over the course of the next month and a half, which is exactly what's predicted (see weather story above). Bright sunny days and crisp nights are ideal for the sugar-formation that is a precursor to fall colors, said Koelling. "Rainy, wet autumns may be good for lawns but not for color."

Koelling also said that gypsy moths, which defoliated large tracts of northern Michigan hardwoods a few years ago, should be minimal this season.

SPORTS

Finding a big hole in the defensive line, Boyne City's Ben Hausler finds a clear path to the end zone as he scores the Ramblers' first touchdown Saturday afternoon. Hausler blocked the Red Devils' punt on their first drive of the game to set up the Ramblers' scoring opportunity.

BOYNE CITY STARTS FAST AND NEVER LOOKS BACK IN VICTORY OVER EAST JORDAN

So far so good for 5-0 Ramblers

Reaching out to greet East Jordan's Robert Grover, above, as he bulls through the line is Aaron Sulak, who drew the praise of his coach for his outstanding play at defensive tackle. At right, Boyne City quarterback Ryan Amesbury found success running and passing. He threw two touchdown passes and ran for a third score.

The setting was nearly perfect at Boswell Stadium Saturday afternoon when East Jordan hosted Boyne City for its 2001 homecoming.

The sun was shining, the temperature was warm, the crowd was large, and the field was in tremendous shape considering all the rain that had fallen the days prior.

And even though the two teams are headed in opposite directions this season, with the Ramblers boasting a 4-0 record entering the game and the Red Devils 1-3, you just never know what can happen when these two teams get together.

But the Ramblers quickly put any doubt about the outcome to rest.

They scored early and often, building a 34-0 lead midway through the second quarter on their way to a 41-7 win.

"Things went right for us early," said Boyne City head coach David Hills. "We were real intense early on. We came out of the box quickly."

Leading the charge was the Ramblers' Ben Hausler. He broke free and blocked the Red Devils' punt on their first drive. A few plays later, he took a handoff from quarterback Ryan Amesbury and scored from six yards out for the Ramblers' first touchdown. And that was only the beginning for Hausler. He also scored the Ramblers' fourth and sixth touchdowns, recovered a fumble and contributed six tackles from his defensive end position.

His performance continued a trend that has developed with the Ramblers this season. Every week it seems like a different player steps into the spotlight. That comes as no surprise to Hills.

"The greatest strength of our offense is our balance," he said. "We are two deep at every back position.

We have two great receivers (AJ Spaay and Kyle Gibbons) and backs who can score. It's never going to be the same guy week to week. It will depend on what they are giving us and who's hot."

While Hausler may have been the brightest, there were many stars for the Ramblers. They scored a touchdown on each of their first five possessions and none of the drives was more than five plays.

Amesbury was 3 of 4 passing for 102 yards and two touchdowns. He also ran for one score. Cole Andrews had 81 yards on six carries and Dustin Moore had 104 yards on six carries. Hausler had 56 yards on 10 carries. Overall, the Ramblers had 261 yards rushing.

While it was erased by a Boyne City penalty, one of the most exciting plays of the game was a punt return by Gibbons late in the first half. He received the ball around midfield, then juked, twisted, jumped, spun and danced his way into the end zone. The play was called back because of a roughing-the-kicker penalty.

Gibbons did find the end zone early in the game when he hauled in a pass from Amesbury and raced to the end zone for a 63-yard touchdown. That gave the Ramblers a 12-point lead with just under six minutes remaining in the first quarter.

On the ensuing kickoff, a muffed kick turned into an onside recovery for the Ramblers at midfield. Just a couple plays later, Amesbury connected with Spaay for a 28-yard touchdown pass.

On the Ramblers' next possession, Hausler capped off another short drive, scoring on a three-yard run to give Boyne a 27-0 lead with 10:30 remaining in the second quarter. The Ramblers went up 34-0 on their next drive when Amesbury scored on a three-yard run.

The Red Devils scored their lone touchdown with just under four minutes left in the first half when Corey Purvis scored on a one-yard run. The score was set up by Robert Grover who broke through the Rambler defense and raced down the sideline on a 58-yard run. He was finally caught at the Rambler three-yard line.

The Ramblers' final score came midway through the third quarter when Hausler scored on a five-yard run.

"They are just a very good football team," said East Jordan head coach Allan Peterson. "They are good at every part of the game. They are well coached and have some great athletes. Our kids played hard. They didn't give up. We were just up against something insurmountable."

Grover rushed for 113 yards on 15 carries while Purvis had 31 yards on seven carries and Pat Bearden had 28 yards on 10 carries. Quarterback Scott Murray connected on 3 of 6 passes for 25 yards.

Defensively for East Jordan, Bearden had 11 tackles followed by Bryan Diller and Jon Reese with 10, and Kevin Roberts, Kevin Whiteford and Murray each with eight.

"Allan does a great job," Hills said. "His kids come out and fight hard. I think he is doing a nice job."

Defensively for the Ramblers, Spaay had 11 tackles and Tim Wellert and Paul Simeri had eight.

Homecoming is the theme again this week as the Ramblers host Elk Rapids for their celebration, with a 1:30 p.m. kick-off, while East Jordan travels to Harbor Springs for the Rams' homecoming. Game time is 3 p.m.

East Jordan tops Boyne on the court

East Jordan rolled over Boyne City in varsity girls basketball action last week, taking home a 54-43 win.

Red Devil Courtney Hammond gave a stellar performance, tallying more than 30 points. "I can't say enough about Courtney Hammond," said Boyne City head coach Michelle Deming. "She did a great job. We struggled to shut her down."

"When we did manage to contain her, she would pass it off Lisa Talboys who would hit the open shot for them."

Top scorers for Boyne were Kriste Gaither with 16 and Michelle Metzger with 12.

Boyne City's jv squad improved its record to 4-2 overall and 1-1 in the conference with a 48-21 victory over East Jordan.

Kim Foster led the team with 14 points followed by Whitney Spaay with 10. Top rebounders for the Ramblers were Karlene Gaither with nine and Christine Dixon with eight.

LATER IN THE week, Ellsworth edged out host East Jordan 55-53.

"We jumped out to a quick 9-0 lead," said East Jordan head coach Dan Pepin, "but from that point on, our defense was mediocre at best."

"In fact," he added, "Ellsworth outplayed us in all facets of the game. They came ready to play."

Loggers down Vanderbilt, lose to Leelanau St. Mary's

It was a mixed week for the Boyne Falls Loggers, as they defeated league foe Vanderbilt on Tuesday, then made the long trip to Leland to play Lake Leelanau St. Mary's in non-conference action.

The Tuesday contest was not really much of one. The Loggers took charge from the opening tip, running off to a 22-5 first quarter lead. By the half, the lead was 39-11 and the game was well in hand. After three periods, the Loggers were up 47-19 and, eight minutes later, they earned a 66-41 victory.

The game showed a well-balanced scoring effort from the Loggers, with Kim Wagner coming out on top with 13 points. Amanda Raphael and Jenny Kuhn scored 10 apiece, with Erika Jarema matching Kayla Reynolds with eight points each.

There was no jv game.

The trip to Leland saw the hot-shooting home team slip ahead 12-7 in the first quarter, then drop in the scoring arsenal in the second period, putting the Loggers into a 27-12 hole. The lead reached 35-21 after three periods, and held St. Mary's off a final surge to win 47-35.

Wagner had 19 points and 10 rebounds, Emily Korhase scored seven, and Rachel Lewin added six points.

The jv game went to St. Mary's by a 48-15 score.

EJ's Courtney Hammond boasts a reach that spells intimidation.

Boyne girls take first at invitational

The Boyne City girls set the pace Saturday to win the 11/12th grade title at the Petoskey Invitational Cross Country meet held at Boyne Mountain.

With a score of 68, the girls topped Benzie Central, placing second with 71, and Charlevoix in third with 110. Inland Lakes rounded out the placing teams with 170.

Other teams participating were Boyne Falls, East Jordan, Rogers City, Rudyard, Harbor Springs, Onaway, St. Ignace, and Newberry.

Boyne City head coach Andy Place was pleased with the team's win, noting that going in, he wasn't sure they'd have a complete team.

"Meredith Clemens is our hero for finishing as our fifth runner," said Place. "Both Meredith and Brie Van Dam passed runners near the finish to help us beat Benzie Central."

Top finishers for the Rambler 11/12 girls were Jane Stieber in third, with a time of 20:15; Mindy McCutcheon in fourth with a time of 21:07; Van Dam in seventh with a time of 21:29; and Kelsi Brewer in ninth with a time of 21:42. Clemens finished 45th with a time of 32:54.

Though Boyne Falls' team didn't have enough finishers to score overall, Logger Jenny Kuhn finished 12th with a time of 22:04.

In the 9/10 grade girls race, Emma Dunne, Carly Stieber, Hannah Decker, and Savannah Hartwick all ran their fastest races of the year. Dunne finished sixth with a time of 21:51, followed by Stieber in eighth with a time of 21:59 and Decker in ninth with a time of 22:25. Hartwick took 29th with a time of 27:37 — three minutes off of her previous best.

Boyne City's 11/12 grade boys finished fourth overall, with a score of 153 (Charlevoix placed first, followed by Benzie Central and Rudyard.) "Brad [Winkler] ran well to lead us," said Place, who also noted that "Brian Miller had an outstanding race."

"Matt Brong gets an Ironman award for running this race after completing ROTC physical training tests earlier in the morning."

In the 9/10 boys race, Boyne City took home the runner-up team plaque, finishing second to Benzie Central.

Top finishers for Boyne included Randall Sutton in 10th with a time of 19:28; Justin Conklin 12th with a time of 19:32, and Justin Weisler in 14th with a time of 19:46.

Neither of East Jordan's teams placed, but "considering the distraction of Homecoming, we ran pretty well today," said coach Matt Peterson.

Added coach Dennis Snarey, "We saw lots of improvement today. Tiffanie Bearden and Ruth Elliott are starting to move up."

Bearden finished fifth in the 9/10 girls with a time of 21:46. Elliott took 11th in the 11/12 girls, with a time of 22:04.

Snarey also noted that Jeremy Penzien "sure is racing well." Penzien placed eighth in the 11/12 boys with a time of 17:40. Garrett Romero, also running for East Jordan, finished second overall with a time of 17:08.

"These next few weeks are the key to achieving our goals," Snarey concluded.

EARLIER IN THE WEEK, Boyne City hosted the Boyne Valley Invitational at Boyne Valley Lodge in Walloon Lake. Eight schools were represented, in a first-time co-ed relay race, featuring a male-female pair taking turns running 2.5K loops, with each partnered team running a total of a 10K.

Team scoring was based on the finishes of the top two pairs from each school.

Boyne City took first overall with six of the top nine places in the relay with teams of Brad Winkler/Jane Stieber; Justin Conklin/Mindy McCutcheon; Brian Miller/Brie VanDam; Ian Smith/Emma Dunne;

With the Grand Lodge under construction behind them, runners in the girls' 11/12th grade division jockey for position at the start of the race.

Erik VanHorn/Carly Stieber, and Justin Weisler/Hannah Decker.

Boyne City runners also took two of the top 10 places in the open race, including Geoff Martin in sixth with 19:51 followed by Randall Sutton in seventh with a time of 20:03.

Boyne Falls also placed well, taking third overall in the co-ed relay, behind Harbor Springs, with the team of Adam Utley and Jenny Kuhn taking third. Boyne Falls also took four of the top 10 places in the open race, including Steve Ward in fourth with a time of 19:36; Joshua Jarema in fifth with a time of 19:39; Chris Crego in eighth with a time of 20:06; and Adam Raphael in 10th with a time of 20:45.

In the middle school race, Boyne City's Amy Anderson and Lindsey Mansfield finished one-two for the girls, with times of 12:04 and 12:55 respectively. Boyne Falls runners Darryl Kowalski and Chris Zimmerman also placed, with Kowalski in fifth overall with a time of 11:07 and Zimmerman in eighth with a time of 14:09.

East Jordan beats Boyne, Ellsworth was also, apparently, ready to play, finishing the night with a game-high 30 points along with eight rebounds, five steals and five deflections, and four assists.

"Although we did not play very well, the difference in free throws awarded ended up being the most dominant factor in our loss," Pepin said. "When a team loses by one basket, the fact that Ellsworth was 9-13 from the foul line as opposed to East Jordan being only 1-2 really jumps out at you."

The Red Devils didn't shoot a free throw until the last two minutes of play.

Along with Hammond, Lisa Talboys was a leading scorer for East Jordan with 11 points for the night. Jackie Haley was also a top rebounder with five.

The team is 2-4 for the season and 1-0 in the conference.

Tuesday, the Red Devils were set to face Elk Rapids at home, and are scheduled to travel to Charlevoix Thursday and St. Francis on Friday. Facing a tough part of their schedule, the Red Devils will have some work to do in the coming weeks.

"The next two weeks brings us five games against some of the better teams in the area," said Pepin. "We had better pick it up, or it could prove to be a disasterous two weeks."

In JV action, East Jordan topped Ellsworth 35-29. Jessica Skop led the Red Devils with 13 points and 10 rebounds.

BOYNE SOCCER

Boyne City's U-12 boys soccer team split two games at Rotary Park on Sunday. Boyne lost game one against Traverse City 2-1, with Beau Kroondyk scoring Boyne's lone goal.

The team won game two against TC, 1-0, with Philip Conklin scoring Boyne's goal on a penalty kick.

Ruth Elliott of East Jordan strides ahead of a group of runners, including Boyne City's Kelsi Brewer, as they pass the midpoint of the race.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Evans-Myaard

Andrea Dawne Evans and Matthew Alan Myaard were married on July 7, 2001 at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Michael Van Kampen of the Vriesland Reformed Church and Rev. Michael Mitchell of Charlevoix Assembly of

Andrea and Matthew Myaard
God. The bride is the daughter of Joel and May Jane (LaCroix) Evans of East Jordan. The groom's parents are Alan and Beverly (Hop) Myaard of Zeeland, Mich.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore an Italian Satin strapless, diamond white dress with corset bodice, trimmed with gold piping. Her full skirt with box pleats swept into a cathedral-length train.

Music was provided by Steve Stargardt, piano; Lorijane Stargardt, flute; and Krista Knight, violin. A children's choir was directed by Angie Way and Kris (DJ) Way. Special music "The Legacy" was written and sung by Kathleen Whittaker.

The honorary maid of honor was Erika LaCroix Evans. Matron of Honor was Amber Drenth and bridesmaids were Bernadette Raymond, Tara Eding, Rebekah Johnson, Candice Chaves, Sara Malpass, and Hilary Klepadlo. Junior bridesmaids were Tori Mae Car and Betsy Hop. Best Man was AJ Bosch and groomsmen were Mike Barber, Joshua Evans, Tim Disler, PJ LaRose, Tony DeJonge, and Dennis Klepadlo. Ring bearers were Lucas Matthews and Noah Raymond.

The wedding guests were greeted by Dean Behan and Jennifer Nichel and seated by ushers Joshua Evans, brother of the bride; George Goalen, brother-in-law of the bride; Aaron VanLangevelde, cousin of the groom; and Jon Way, friend of the bride.

Programs were handed out by Haley Behan and Becca Hop while the guest book was attended by Meredith Carr. The reception was given by the brides parents at the Charlevoix Country Club. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bosch. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the groom at the Staffords Bay View Inn. Andrea and Matthew vacationed in the Caribbean and on their return will be making their home in Hudsonville, Mich. Matt has a masters from Michigan State University and is a CPA for accounting firm in Grand Rapids. Andrea has a masters from University of Illinois in Social Work and is employed at D.A. Blodgett in Grand Rapids.
