

TOLEDO RESIDENTS, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ziehr, and the 93 mushrooms they picked in Boyne City's memorial park.

Ohio couple earn their own type of championship

Boyne City - Little did Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ziehr, 3210 McCord Road, Toledo, Ohio, dream that they'd earn a kind of left handed championship of their own when they registered here last weekend for the running of the 10th annual National Mushroom Hunting Championship.

After inquiring about details of the contest when registering at the local Chamber of Commerce office, the Ohio couple, who had never picked mushrooms in Michigan before, decided to take a stroll around the community. After dinner at Betty's Restaurant, a North Lake Street eatery, they went strolling in the city's Memorial Park, which is located near the motel where the Ziehrs were staying.

There, to their amazement, they found 93 fine white morel mushrooms - - the night before the hunt had even started.

The following day in the elimination rounds, they didn't do even half as well, although Mrs. Ziehr did have the distinction of finding the first morel as hunters got under way.

"We expected to find mushrooms once we got here," said Mrs. Ziehr, "but to find them growing right in the town's park - - that's just too much. . ."

In the ten year history of the hunt here, the experience of Frank and Nelly Ziehr will probably go down in history as another of the legends that are growing up around this fantastic outdoor event.

Board discusses school sites with architects

Boyne City--Members of the Twin Valley School District Board of Trustees met here for a short business session Tuesday night, then adjourned and went into a special site selection discussion with Warren Holmes architects and school consultants.

Before adjourning, the board agreed to purchase an electric check writing machine for $630. Also discussed and "strongly recommended" by Assistant Superintendent Max Damoth was the purchase of an accounting machine. Damoth explained that the machine would give administrators and board members ready access to information they presently don't have.

"It would also give us a better means of control," said Damoth "and wouldn't change the size of our staff."

Both Damoth and Superintendent Howard Bray said that they were impressed with the operation of accounting machines in the Alpena and Onaway school systems.

According to Damoth, price of the machine ranges between $13,000 and $18,000. Two companies, Burroughs and National Cash Register, Damoth said, were interested in supplying the school with an accounting machine. The board agreed to table purchase of a machine pending a discussion with representatives from both companies.

In other action, Dr. Fish, a member of the board's music committee, led discussion on the upcoming summer band program. Fish said that in the past, East Jordan and Boyne City have operated different summer band programs. "We should have a uniform policy which ever way we go this summer," said Fish "but frankly, I'm not sure which way to go right now..." It was agreed to postpone any action until more discussion and study could be held.

Doug Newville, vice-president of the Babe Ruth League asked board members what their plans were for the school owned baseball playing field. "The field's a mess," said Newville "and we would like to do something with it."

Board members agreed to let the league use the field this summer, however told Newville they weren't really sure what use future school plans would make of the field.

The board also... --Agreed to ask for bids on busses and a carry all.

--Approved the payment of bills...General Fund-$11,204.74; Athletic Fund-$458.67; and Hot Lunch-$3,990.19.

--Agreed to hold a budget meeting next Wednesday night.

Lear names Boyne Electric outlet

Boyne City--Boyne Electric, Inc. has been appointed the franchised area representative for Lear electronic products, it has been announced by the nationally famous firm.

John Moeschke, manager of Boyne Electric, said that the principal item in the line to be carried at the firm's retail outlet here will be the 8-track, stereo tape cartridge, portable player, which can readily be carried in an auto, removed for music while fishing or picnicking, or played in the home.

A whole new stock of cartridge recordings as well as portable players have been stocked by Boyne Electric for no-wait delivery service.

Bank will stay open May 29 from 4 - 8 p.m.

The Northwestern State Bank, with offices in East Jordan and Boyne City, will stay open Thursday, May 29, from 4-8:00 p.m. it was announced today by bank vice-president Bill Grauel. Grauel said the extension of bank hours would offer area residents an opportunity to get their banking done before Memorial Day, May 30th.

Chamber to expand next year's National Mushroom Hunt

Boyne City - The outstanding success of the 1969 National Mushroom Hunting Championship, which set all-time records for the event, will be the principle topic of tonight's meeting of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce, Andy Bogema, president, disclosed this week.

"Even before this year's event was staged, the board had been discussing ways of expanding the festival which is the most unique in the country," Bogema stated. "But there wasn't time this year to do much about it, until we picked up enough experience to evaluate what the potential would be. . ."

Thursday's meeting is open to members of the chamber who may wish to attend to present any new items of business before the board.

Among the possibilities president Bogema mentioned for the 1970 mushroom hunt would be to make it a three day event, with the possibility of booking in a big name band for a gala banquet to be followed by a prominent speaker as entertainment, and the dance at some suitable location - - such as the high school gym.

President Bogema said he was grateful for the work of the hunt committee, headed by directors Bud Bates and Al Arnold; the co-operation of Department of Natural Resources Officer, Frank Dufon; the Boyne City Boy Scouts, Troop 49, and the Northland Press for arranging advance publicity for the event, which saw a record smashing number of entries (179) competing for more than $300 in cash prizes, as well as the mythical honor of being the world's best mushroom hunters.

Weekend weather conditions were absolutely perfect for the hunt which saw all kinds of picking records topple. Prior to last weekend, warm days and plenty of rain brought out the bounteous crop which enabled Stanley Boris, the 1968 mushroom champ, to pick 857 morels in just 90 minutes time in Sunday afternoon's wind-up.

Borises total broke the old record of 703 set by Jim Karlskin in the early years of the contest. Karlskin placed second this year with 806 mushrooms while Kenneth Carson, Boyne Falls, came in third with a harvest of 755 morels.

A total of 9,173 mushrooms were picked by the contestants twenty finalists on Sunday, in 90 minutes picking time.

Winner of the non-resident division was Robert Sudman of Ypsilanti who picked 702. Sudman, who was born and raised in Boyne City, and now operates a carpeting business, said he had entered the contest just to see if he "had the old touch."

Marvin McGinnis, of Flint, and Lester Savage of Sheridan, Indiana, picked 601 and 563 morels to cop second and third prizes.

Chairman of the event, Bud Bates, expressed some disappointment that more local people didn't enter the two day event. Of the total 179 persons entered, 138 contestants were classified as non-residents. "Next year," said Bates, "we're going to campaign to get more local people into the contest. . ."

Area residents making the top ten preliminary list on Saturday were, Jim Karlskin, Boyne City, 696; Irene Mackie, Walloon Lake, 527; Ken Carson, Boyne Falls, 502; Dale Karlskin, Boyne City, 495; John Wilson, Petoskey, 488; Lois Crozier, Boyne City, 363; Bill Boyer, Boyne City, 348;

Felix Wasylewski, Boyne City, 311; Larry Johnson, Boyne City, 301; and Stan Boris, Boyne City, 265.

Sunday's final round totals were Boris, 857; J. Karlskin, 806; Carson, 755; Mackie, 601; Wilson, 572; Crozier, 477; Wasylewski, 311; Johnson, 307; D. Karlskin, 226; and Boyer, 218.

Non-resident finalists were: Robert Sudman, Ypsilanti, 371 and 702; Lyle Kowalski, Alpena, 274 and 284; Larry Bean, Ypsilanti, 253 and 349; Hershel Graham, Sheridan, Indiana, 232 and 235; Lester Savage, Sheridan, Indiana, 210 and 563; Harold McGinnis, Grand Rapids, 511 and 342; Marvin McGinnis, Flint, 458 and 601; Mike McGinnis, Flint, 420 and 500; Tom Boris, Dewitt, 411 and 319; and Clara Beauchemin, Roseville, 194 and 148.

East Jordan and Boyne Chambers set plans for Michigan Week

Chambers of Commerce in both Boyne City and East Jordan are readying plans for marking Michigan Week, which starts Saturday, May 17th, and runs through May 24th.

East Jordan

At East Jordan, a flurry of preliminary Michigan Week activities like the Chamber's flowering crab tree sale, street washing and free rubbish and leaf removal, have set the stage for the week long observance.

Mayor Jerry Olson will travel to the tiny thumb community of Port Hope, Monday, as part of Mayor's Exchange Day, and a special Mayor's Exchange Day luncheon at the Jordan Inn is being planned for Port Hope's mayor.

As in the past, displays will again be set up in the city building. Visitors are welcome Monday through Saturday, and refreshments will be served.

Of special note this year is a coloring contest, staged by the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce for youngsters in grades 4-9. According to Chamber secretary, Virginia Carey, students will be asked to draw the picture that in their mind best represents the beautiful State of Michigan. Drawings can be in color or black and white, but must be on an 8 x 10 sheet of paper. Name, address and phone number should be printed on the back of each drawing. All drawings must be turned into the Northland Press office in East Jordan by Saturday, May 24th. Pictures will be judged for neatness and originality, and cash prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Boyne City

At Boyne City, Michigan Week activities will get underway with a poster contest next Thursday, May 22. The posters, depicting different Michigan scenes and made by school children, will be exhibited in downtown business windows. Members of the local Rotary Club will judge the posters and a $25 bond will be awarded to the top boy and girl artist.

A Chamber of Commerce open house will be held on Friday, from 12 to 9:00 p.m. All residents are invited to stop in and enjoy the free coffee and doughnuts.

Climaxing the Michigan Week observance will be a bicycle rodeo on Saturday, staged by the local Child Study, Rotary and Lions Clubs. The rodeo will be held in the REA parking lot from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and all kids are invited to have their bikes checked and ride through the obstacle course.

Boyne drafts own liquor ordinances

Boyne City--To bolster the cost of operating the magistrates court, city commissioners, here Tuesday night, in a speedy session, approved ordinances proposed by City Attorney Harvey Varnum to place offenses involving furnishing liquor to minors, contributing to the delinquency of minors, and minors in possession of alcohol on the list of city ordinances.

In so doing, the infractions of these regulations (previously coming under the jurisdiction of state law) will now be handled through the local magistrate's court.

Revenues could run as high as $4 to $5 thousand annually, and the city will thus be qualified to take one-third of the amount assessed in fines.

Police Chief John Talboys discussed recommendations made by the American Automobile Association to have parallel parking on both sides of Water street and Lake street but the issue was tabled because it was felt that too much parking space would be lost.

Reviewing operations of the cemetery City Mgr. Forbes Tompkins reported that prices here were in line with those charged at Charlevoix and East Jordan. Commissioners decided that an effort should be made to sell more "perpetual care," policies with grave lots since annual care payments usually ran out after a few years, when the immediate members of a family died off, or moved away.

The commission agreed to apply any annual payments that have been made as credit toward the cost of a perpetual care policy.

Keith Fitzpatrick and Steve Moody, were re-appointed to the planning commission appeals board for a term to expire in 1971; Jack Hale and Bob Mathers were re-appointed to terms expiring in 1970.

Commissioners agreed to lease the Posch hangar on the new city airport addition to Essex Wire Corp, at a monthly rental of $100, and to make it useable, the city accepted a low bid of Contractor Dick Whale to pour a concrete floor for the hangar at a cost of $1,337.

It was reported that the city has $110,895.64 cash on hand. This includes general savings certificates of $70,000; general savings $8,011.83; general checking, $2,405.53; street department $25,877.93; water receiving $2,545.30; operation and maintenance $2,055.16.

The Book Worm

Iron works book is appropriate

News of the East Jordan Library

Joan Burkey

Since we live in an iron works town, I thought the following book very practical and appropriate - - - "Decorative Antique Ironwork" by Henry Rene Dallemagne; A pictorial treasury. This is a catalog of the collection of ironwork in the LeSecq des Tournelles Museum in Rouen. There are photographs of the museum, inside and out - grilles and fragments of grilles from tabernacle doors, and screens from all over the world. Door locks, chest locks, keyhole plates, keys, door plaques, belt buckles, bells, ink stands, chains and many other lovely pieces of metal work are included in the book.

"40 Acres and No Mule" by Janice Holt Giles. Set in Appalachia, this is a story of the ways of people the author came to know so well, and the surrounding region. The time is 1952. The author has written this as an up to date book, since this is her second writing on the same subject. The people she lived with were "farm folk", shy, proud, courteous and stubborn. They had to be that way. Their land was barren, but they still tried to farm it.

"Monograms and Ciphers" designed and drawn by A. A. Turbayne. I would presume to say the object of this book is if you want to have a monogram printed up you can take your choice. Inside the covers are many, laid out in black and white in Roman, Gothic, cursive and rustic designs.

"On Borrowed Time" by Leonard Mosley. How World War II began, - - - from the Munich Agreement in September, 1938 to the invasion of Poland in September, 1939. What happened between those days caused the war says the author. Many of the leaders from Germany, France, Britain, and other European countries are scrutinized. A very good account.

"Victoria" by Knut Hamsun. First published in 1898, this book has been newly translated from the Norwegian by Oliver Stallybrass. A tender story of a young couple in love. The girl lives in a castle and the young man is the son of a miller. It is a short book with larger than average print which makes the story fast reading.

Standard To Award Prizes in Contest

Prizes ranging from a 1969 station wagon to a sailboat will go to lucky heating oil users in a sweepstakes contest announced by Wilson (Bud) Mitchell local Standard Oil agent at 1315 Pleasant Ave., Boyne City.

Heating oil users, whether or not they are customers of Standard Oil will be eligible to win a 1969 Chevrolet station wagon, an Apache camper trailer, a Snark Triumph sailboat, a Bell & Howell Filmsound 8 movie system or a pair of patio Tiki torches, with no purchase required.

Entry blanks are included in several major magazines.

Winners will be determined by the R. H. Donnelly Corporation of Chicago.

All persons entering the sweepstakes will receive a free gift: a treatment of their oil-storage tanks with Amoco TBI (Tank Bottom Inhibitor), a chemical that prevents rusting due to the condensation of moisture in the tanks.

The sweepstakes contest is designed to call attention to Standard Oil's annual summer fill program for home heating oil customers. Oil delivered during June through August helps to retard moisture condensation since it fills the air space above the level of oil remaining in the tank following the winter heating season.

Summer fill customers are also given price protection. If the price of heating oil were to be reduced subsequent to a customer's taking delivery under the summer-fill program, the customer's bill would be adjusted prior to October 15, when statements for summer-fill deliveries become payable.

National Mushroom Championship - 1969

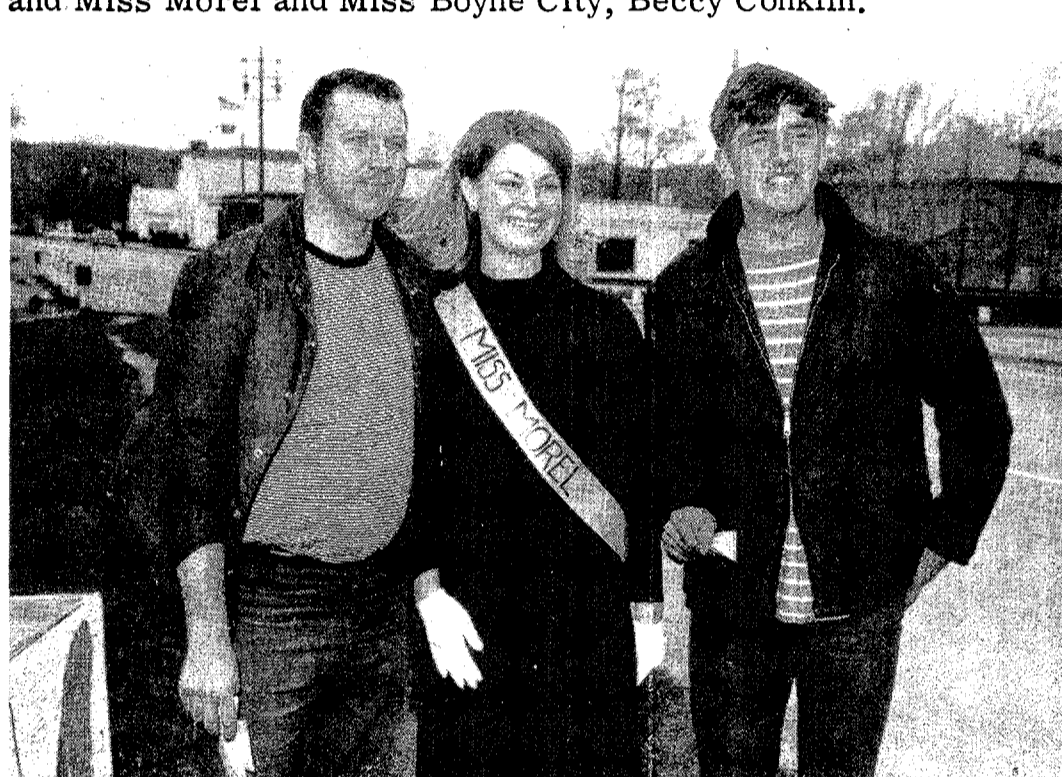

THE CHAMPS -- Local "eagle eyed" residents Stan Boris, standing next to queen, Beccy Conklin, Jim Karlskin and Kenneth Carson picked a total of 2,418 mushrooms to win the top three places in this year's chamber of commerce sponsored mushroom hunt. Chairman of the hunt was Bud Bates, left.

PROUD parents were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conklin when their daughter Beccy was crowned city queen by last year's queen, Miss Gail Meyer. The ceremony took place Saturday morning, prior to the start of the 1969 National Mushroom Hunt.

MISS MOREL, Beccy Conklin, poses with the two division mushroom hunting champions, Bob Sudman and Stan Boris.

Award winning senior band presents concert

Boyne City - The second and final concert of the Twin Spring Concert program will be presented Tuesday night, May 20th, at 7:30 p.m., by the Boyne City High School Music Department in the school's auditorium.

According to band director Dennis Johnson, the program will feature the state award winning senior band and the elementary school band. Tuesday's concert will mark the first appearance of the elementary band in public. Both bands, under the direction of Johnson, will present a program of "light" concert numbers. A highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the John Phillip Sousa Award. Director Johnson explained that this is the first year for the award, which was initiated by the band booster's club. The recipient of the award is selected by fellow band members as the person they feel has contributed most to the success of the band throughout the school year. "This is our last concert of the school year," said Johnson. "These kids have worked real hard, and I hope they're rewarded by a good turnout of local people..."

Admission to the concert is free.

Babe Ruth league needs a manager

Boyne City - Babe Ruth League officials here are still looking for a manager and co-manager to complete this year's league roster.

"If we don't find one soon," said Doug Newville, vice-president of the Babe Ruth League, "from 20 to 25 boys will not be able to play ball this summer..."

According to Newville, league tryouts will be held Thursday night, May 15th, at 6:00 p.m. at the high school ball field. In case of inclement weather, the tryouts will be held Friday night, May 16th.

Player bidding will take place immediately after the tryouts at the REA building. The tryouts are being held for all boys who have completed little league baseball, and new boys in the community. All boys between the ages of 13 and 15 are eligible. Boys 16 years of age are eligible if their 16th birthday is on or after August 1st.

Players with last year's uniforms must turn them into managers or league officers. This league officers are Lyle Kowalske, president; Doug Newville, vice-president; Charles Hawley, secretary-treasurer; and Larry Behrens, umpire-in-chief.

New library hours

East Jordan - A selection of books of Michigan will be on display at the public library here during Michigan Week, according to Mrs. Richard Hamerski, librarian.

Residents are encouraged to stop in and browse around, and enjoy a cup of coffee - - compliments of the East Jordan Public Library.

Dolly and her ironing board

Erma Bombeck

Dolly Drought invited the gang over to her house for a sherry hour the other day to celebrate, "Fight The Filthy Fly Month." I love Dolly. Her approach to housecleaning is the same as mine: slowly.

"What did you do to your living room?" asked Myra.

We all stopped and looked. "Did you send some furniture out to be covered?" asked Pat.

"Something's missing," said Jan.

"I took my ironing board down," said Dolly quietly.

"Dolly! You're moving!" I shouted.

"No," she shrugged. "I just took it down."

"You're not going to tell us you finished your ironing," said Myra. "You got diapers in the bottom of that basket and Army shirts on top and they both belong to the same kid!"

We looked around. "Is that chair new?"

"No, it was just always buried under clothes."

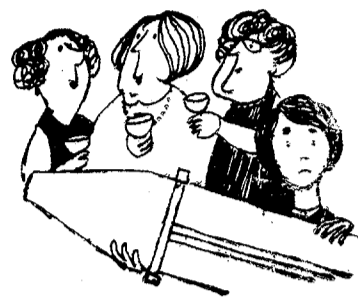

"Where do you want us to put our purses and sweaters now that the ironing board is down?"

"There's room in the closet," said Dolly.

"Where do you want me to put the jelly glasses and the cups with no handles for the sherry now that the board is down?"

"There's room on the coffee table," said Dolly.

"Well, here's to the filthy fly," said Barbara.

"Cheers," we all said in unison.

"What did Dick say when you took the ironing board down," said Myra.

"I didn't get a chance to tell him," sighed Dolly. "He tripped over a hole in the carpet the ironing board covered and sprained his ankle."

"And the kids?"

"They always stored their school books on the board and when it was gone they had to look all over the house and missed their school bus."

"But you thought it was a good idea."

"I don't know," she said. "I always used to iron whenever I talked on the phone and watched soap operas. This morning with nothing to do I started to smoke again. All I wanted," she began to sob, "was to be like the women in the magazines."

"Can't you see where cleanliness and orderliness will lead you?" asked Pat. "Next, you'll wash the coffee pot after each use. Then you'll start to put sugar in the sugar bowl. And you'll defrost your meat before five o'clock. Then no one will be able to stand you. You'll lose all your friends. People will call you Mrs. Olsen behind your back."

Dolly marched to the utility room and came back with the ironing board. It was up faster than we could say, "See you next month when we celebrate National Test Your Battery Week."

Lions and owls make best pillows

Barb Christensen

Make a friend a friend. Lions, elephants and owls are the best people to talk to. And the easiest pillow friends to make for yourself and your friends. They use up those small scraps of leftover material and you don't have to be a real pro to make them.

You know that a simple little gift you took the time to make, is always nicer than one you took the time to buy. Pattern books have a whole section full of those great little animals, flower power pillows, and a zillion other things you can have fun sewing. So stop by your pattern counter and thumb through the big catalog. After you look through the clothes, you can look through their zoo!

of snugly soft rabbit fur which you can get through the catalog stores in white, natural-chinchilla color, or stenciled to look like jaguar or zebra. Materials come with velveteen backing, just sew around all sides, turn right side out and stuff with foam or old nylons.

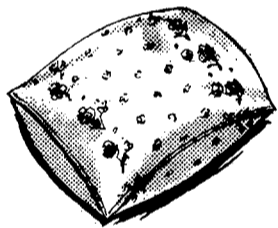

Instead of a sewing machine, use an electric glue gun to make big, showy applique pillows. The of glue. You can protect the surface of your board with wrapping paper.

Draw your design and glue it in place first. Apply a bead of glue to the felt, press it into position, then reinforce bond with a hot iron. When you've completed the design, turn in 1/2" seam allowance on all sides of the pillow, and press after gluing.

If you want to have tassels on the corners, wrap yarn around your fist 35 or more times, depending on the size tassel you want. Tie the loops together at one end with several strands of yarn, leaving a 2" tab of the strands to be inserted into a corner of the pillow; wrap another strand of yarn around the loops just below this point to form a small knob. Cut the loops at the other end and fluff out the yarn. Tuck a tassel into each corner of the pillow and seam the other two sides with glue, pressing the bond as you go. When the cover is finished and the glue is dry, the pillow is ready for stuffing. Why not dress up your home with these rich looking pillow accessories, or cut down on the cost of your gift list!

gun handles cartridges of waterproof glue said to withstand normal scraping. Choose a tightly woven scrap of fabric, such as ticking or sailcloth for the cover. With a large enough piece, you can fold the fabric in half to form the back and front. Felt makes the best applique fabric since you don't have to turn under any raw edges. Work directly on an ironing board, because you should press the fabric after each application

East Jordan places 7th in loop track

East Jordan - The Red Devil track team, coached by Bob Snyder, placed seventh here in the first Northern Lower Michigan Conference track meet held Monday night.

Top places were copped by Grayling with 42.5 points and Harbor Springs, with 40 points. Other teams finishing above East Jordan in the standings were Onaway, Mancelona and Pellston. Kalkaska and Petoskey St. Francis drew the cellar positions.

For East Jordan, Kurt Siegel was the top point getter with 8 points. Siegel placed second in the high jump, third in the shot put and fifth in the long jump. Senior hurdler Ron Roberts totalled 4 points, with a third and fifth place in the high and low hurdles.

Randy Bennett, a sophomore half miler, took an overall second in the 880, to gain 4 points.

Other placers were John Best with a fifth in the shot put, and the mile relay team with a fourth. Members of the team were Larry Mathers, Don Arrigo, Duane Rogers and Randy Bennett.

Randy Bennett, only a sophomore, missed first place in the half mile by seven tenths of a second. "He's going to be a good one," said coach Snyder. "Last night he came on real strong at the finish and almost won. He should have a real good chance of placing in the regionals..."

Today is official opener for catching pike, walleyes, muskies

Lansing - Michigan anglers are reminded by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) that May 15 is the state's new opener for fishing muskellunge, northern pike, walleyes, and saugers in all waters except Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers.

Those three bodies of water remain off limits to muskie fishing until June 7.

The new May 15 starter for other waters is designed to provide more simplicity in fishing for major warm-water species and to give greater protection for walleyes. Previously, walleyes became legal catches with the general trout opener the last Saturday of April, as did northern pike in trout waters. Under that crazy-quilt pattern of open seasons on these fish, action began on northern pike the last Saturday of April in trout waters, May 15 in other inland waters, April 11 in Saginaw Bay, and May 21 in other Great Lakes waters.

Under another change toward more uniformity and simplicity, the creel and possession limit on northern pike, walleyes, saugers, and black bass has been standardized at 5, singly or combined, in all of Michigan's waters. Before, the limits on these fish was a confusing mixture of quotas which differed from inland waters to the Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

Saugers, which are close relatives to walleyes and look very much like these fish, thus have become part and parcel of the walleye limit of 5. While not a major change, this measure does give adequate protection to saugers which are relatively rare, and it relieves the burden of fish identification for fishermen.

Also changed this season is the creel and possession limit on muskellunge which has been cut to 1 fish for all waters of the state to better safeguard low populations of this trophy fish. Previous regulations allowed fishermen to take 2 muskies from all inland waters and an unlimited number from the Great Lakes.

Sports calendar for May

May 1: Start of archery and spearing season on certain rough fish in designated Upper Peninsula waters. Fishing begins on muskellunge, northern pike, walleyes, and saugers in north part of Lake Huron.

May 9-12: Spring turkey gobbler season for 800 permit holders each in the Mio and Baldwin areas.

May 15: New uniform opener for fishing muskellunge, northern pike, walleyes, and saugers in all waters except Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers which remain off limits to muskie fishing until June 7.

May 16-19: Second part of split turkey gobbler season open to 800 different permit holders each in the Mio and Baldwin areas.

May 30: Black bass opener in all waters except Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers.

May 31: Archery-spearing season on rough fish closes in certain streams throughout Mich.

Conservation Meetings and Events:

May 9-10: Michigan Conference on Outdoor Education at Battle Creek Outdoor Education Center near Dowling. Sponsored by State Dept. of Education and the Outdoor Education Project of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

May 15-16: Monthly meeting of Water Resources Commission at Holiday Inn, Traverse City.

May 16: Spring meeting of Michigan Association of Conservation Ecologists at Grand Valley State College, Allendale. Theme: "Pesticides, Coho, and the Consumer." Broad, timely viewpoints of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Michigan Department of Agriculture, Blackport Packing Company of Grand Rapids, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, and Michigan Department of Natural Resources' Fish Division.

May 17-24: Michigan Week. Theme: "Land of Hospitality."

DDT - another flop for State Ag. Dept.

by Jim Fitzgerald, Editor
Lapeer County Press

There's one thing almost comforting about the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture (MDA). Year in and year out, you can count on it to do the wrong thing. The history of its stupid actions goes back 30 years in our memory and runs up to the current DDT debacle.

Bang's disease was the scourge of dairy farmers in the 1930's and 40's. The Michigan Dept. of Agriculture tried to control it by the compulsory slaughter of infected cows and a costly indemnity program. In the meantime, Europe, and later some states, learned that control lay in vaccination. The MDA adopted a vaccination program 15 years later, only after pressure from farmers and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

In the meantime, a cheap test for Bang's disease was developed in Denmark. A simple test of the milk spotted infected herds, the cows in which were then blood tested to identify the individual infected animals. It was nearly 20 years before MDA adopted this milk test. In the meantime it was spending millions trying to give every cow in Michigan a blood test.

Early in this decade, the cereal leaf beetle spread into Michigan. MDA tried to stop it with an elaborate quarantine system. It stopped farm equipment and farm crops from being moved from 1 township to another unless they were sprayed and inspected. Since the cereal leaf beetle flies like a pigeon, the quarantine was as effective as stopping Russian missiles with a roadblock. The MDA admitted this after a couple of years, when the bug had spread across Michigan, and quietly forgot about the quarantine.

In recent years, there has been a growing clamor against DDT, a cumulative poison which lives in the earth and in animals almost indefinitely. Leading scientists pointed out the growing danger to all living things, including man. MDA did nothing until this winter when Federal authorities began confiscating Great Lakes salmon because of the DDT concentration. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources had warned a year earlier that salmon were dying of DDT by hundreds of thousands. MDA made the same lame excuse that DDT was a necessary insecticide - - that our food production would be in danger without it. That was bunk, as MSU scientists later testified. There are many substitutes for DDT. A lot of them are even better. DDT is used only because it is cheap.

Last week MDA banned DDT. Asked why it took so long, MDA chief Dale Ball said his agency couldn't act until the university told them DDT was unsafe.

When the head of MSU's pesticide research center, Gordon Guyer, was told about Ball's statement, he said MDA had never asked him for his opinion. Another MSU entomologist, Ray Janes, said, "We knew as early as 1949-50 that we had problems with DDT."

Ball explained lamely that "Our policy has been when something is available that will control insects, and has less harmful side effects, we think the material should be used."

Guyer said that some pesticides presently being used instead of DDT are almost as old as DDT. Malathion has been in use for 20 years. Sevin is 8 years old.

Among university and industrial scientists, and among extension workers, MDA has a reputation as a haven for incompetent, mossbacked bureaucrats. It is a reputation not undeserved.

PUEBLO crew member, Larry Strickland, showed members of Mr. Morgridge's history class last week an honorary award from the Governor of Nebraska, making Strickland an Admiral in the Nebraska Navy. Strickland spoke to Boyne City junior and senior history students last week.

Letters to the Editor OK Bob, but one good turn deserves another

Dear Ed:

I realize that many people are interested in the results of my questionnaire which was sent out sometime ago. I am hoping you will print the enclosed results as it would be a much less expensive way than if I had to mail them to each individual.

I would appreciate very much your assistance in this matter.
Bob Davis

Ed: OK, but one good turn deserves another.

SURVEY RESULTS

Here are the results of my recent legislative questionnaire which was sent out to approximately 15,000 constituents in the 106th District. Approximately 1,270 of these people answered. On the question of Abortion Law Reform 78% were in favor of making some changes to liberalize the present law, while 22% felt the present law is adequate.

On the matter of changing the system of financing education, the people are about evenly divided with 51% favoring a greater share of public educational expense to be paid with state tax dollars, whereas 49% feel the present system of local expense, present system of local financing is adequate. If the state is to pick up a greater share of educational expense, it has been proposed to be accomplished with an increase in state income tax and eliminating or reducing property taxes for operating schools. 59% were in favor of such a program, 33% were not and 8% did not know how they felt about this.

In regard to aid to non-public schools, 77% felt that non-public schools should not be given state tax moneys, while 23% favored some kind of state aid.

The results of whether or not state spending should be increased or decreased for each of the six welfare programs are as follows:

	Inc. Sup.	Dec. Sup.	Leave it the Same	Don't Know
Aid to Dependent Children	17%	35%	35%	13%
Nursing Home Care	38%	8%	35%	19%
Hospital Care	33%	9%	39%	19%
Old Age Assistance	57%	4%	25%	14%
Aid to Disabled	48%	4%	30%	18%
Physician's Services	20%	16%	39%	25%

Regarding ADC, 72% favor the state supporting a new work incentive program for ADC mothers, with 17% not in favor and 11% did not know.

Present grants to ADC mothers are based on 1961 cost levels. There are proposals to provide for increasing these grants as the cost of living increases. 46% favor legislation to increase ADC grants with costs of living, while 41% were against and 13% did not know how they felt about this.

Sincerely,
Robert W. Davis
State Representative

Publisher's Corner

Confusion over which dept.

Mrs. Margaret Bennett, of the Peninsula district, writes us that she thinks it would be a good idea for this publication, as a public service, to advise the residents of Eveline Township which fire department they should call in the event of a fire.

So we thank her for the suggestion and we wished there were more people who felt concerned about the welfare of their neighbors as Mrs. Bennett is.

According to her, if Eveline Township residents have a fire, they should call the department in whose school district they are located. She said she didn't know, but that she had called Mr. Wayne Saunders, supervisor of Eveline Township, and he had given her that information.

Presumably, Mr. Saunders meant the school district to which the resident formerly belonged, since now a great deal of Eveline Township belongs to just one district - - the Twin Valley District.

Mrs. Bennett also stated in her note to us that many Eveline Township residents did not understand the dump ordinance. She states that it is now illegal to use a neighbor's dump as many have in the past.

"Many have been wondering about the zoning ordinance, if it has been passed. Mr. Saunders says it has to be voted on by the township board which will probably be in June and that it will be published in a paper."

"These are things our women have been wondering about and I think would be of interest to others. The department to call in case of fire I feel is very important and so many do not know," writes Mrs. Bennett.

We thank her greatly for the information. And we're happy to be of service to all the people of the region. There are enough news events around this area alone that would require a staff as large as that of the Detroit News - - if we were to cover them adequately. Unfortunately the government has hiked the postage rates on newspapers so high that it is virtually impossible for weekly newspapers (in particular) to adequately cover large areas of the countryside without the co-operation of civic minded citizens - - like Mrs. Bennett.

At the present rate, we will be coughing up nearly, or more than, $52,000 to the Boyne City post office for the various publications we produce. The only way we can meet such costs and stay in business is to work, work, and work. Under such loads, it's quite understandable why newsmen are victims of ulcers, colitis, and heart attacks. We all paint ourselves into a corner.

We'd like to point out, however, that the information we've relayed to Eveline residents in the above paragraphs is not official and that this newspaper can not be held responsible for a possible mix-up in anyone calling the wrong department, or dumping in an unauthorized place.

To be official, such information must be published in a legal publication like the Northland

Press, and must be signed by the officials, or designated official of the township board.

The Eveline Township board did publish, in this publication, a notice concerning dumping, January 9 and zoning April 10, but that's the only legal notification we have carried concerning the topics Mrs. Bennett mentioned. The Eveline board, initially ordered the dumping notice to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, and it was only when we called some of the township officials, pointing out that the majority of the township received the Northland Press, that the board consented to publishing it in the Press - - so that all the township would be covered, legally, and properly.

Among the clients U.S. Secretary of State Wm. Rogers once had, as a practicing attorney, before he rose to prominence and his present post was an organization known as ASNE (American Society of Newspaper Editors). Recently, addressing the group in Washington, he told them, how he used to categorize his clients. ASNE was catalogued as "high prestige, low pay."

The new 11th Commandment: Thou shalt not PILL.

C. Merrimen Smith, the noted UPI White House correspondent, told a convention meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association:

"To refer to President Nixon as non-intellectual is ridiculous. He has already appointed 22 professors to reduce the complete works of George Romney into workable English."

Ben (evolent) Ellis, the sage of the Wildwood (Walloon's Wildwood) has been treating all of his lady friends with bouquets of the most exquisite hyacinths. And the ones in our office, appreciated them much more than his Paul Bunyan sized-potatoes and his king-sized rutabagas.

It was my intention to write personal notes to the many kind friends who kept my hospital room banked with plants and bouquets and those who shipped in a bushful of hilarious cards. But Doc Blum has ordered that I restrict my activities to "absolute essentials," and it may be many months before the chore gets finished. Please do not think I'm ungrateful. I'm strapped down.

This week, I pleaded with Doc to let me start driving. He was adamant. "Absolutely not!" he said.

"But Doc, it's harder on me to ride with a woman driving (my wife - - you cads) than it is for me to do my own driving," I countered.

He wouldn't yield. No sympathy from my wife either.

"Look silly, as long as we're paying for this advice, you're going to take it," my wife trumpeted.

And take it I'm doing.

A number of readers in the

last week have asked if the skit in this column concerning the girl with the beautiful legs in Burns Clinic was actually true.

Yes, the event actually happened just as I reported, word for word, and when I had my bi-weekly checkup Monday morning, this week, I noticed that my wife steered me to a location where I wouldn't be able to observe the fine female hardware swinging through the door.

Letters

Enjoyed your Rubdown

Dear Mr. Smith: For the last twelve years I have enjoyed your "Rubdown" column with the "corn on the cob" which you have served the public so long.

Here's hoping that "ticker" of yours will allow you to continue to contribute some more gems of wisdom to the Northland Press. Each week your newspaper has been a highlight.

Since I was born in Florida, and I am slightly prejudiced, let me recommend the Sunshine State as a great place for retirement with long summer vacations in Michigan.

Cordially yours,

Bigots aren't lazy

By Jim Fitzgerald

They don't make pots that big to stew in

Dear Ed:

The Northland Press looks good--real good, but that's no reason to drop your corny column. Hell, "Corn Coblin's" was my first -- and I think my last -- try at being a columnist. I figured if I couldn't beat the Master, I wouldn't try and compete with him.

Anyway, I don't think the Sage is going to sit around and stew in his juices -- they don't make pots that big!

By the way, one of young Gregg's columns a few weeks ago sounded as if he is solidly for the "Establishment." Hell, I was looking forward to a protest from the provinces -- anyway, I heard some of the anti-establishment at Columbia last summer and I wouldn't let them debate in my outhouse -- and you should hear some of the young girls -- -- but then they say the squaws were always crueller than the braves.

Sincerely,
Paul Herbert, News Editor,
Muskegon Chronicle,
former Press reporter.

An expert is a man who is paid whether his advice turns out good or bad.--Bill Trimble, The Ellicottville (New York) Post.

One thing I'll admit about my bigoted readers, they aren't lazy. They always have the energy and dedication to write long letters explaining that Martin Luther King was a Communist.

As a guy who still owes Aunt Clara a thank-you note for Christmas 1956, I have an instinctive admiration for all letter-writers. The man who really cares wouldn't send canned greeting cards to Mr. Hallmark himself. The classy thing is to send a personal letter, handwritten or poorly typed to prove it wasn't really your secretary's idea.

This kind of class I ain't got. I haven't written my mother in 18 years. Instead, I sneak personal messages into this column and sell her a subscription (happy Mother's Day, Gertrude). Come to think, the only letter I can remember writing was to General Hershey, the one with almonds who runs the draft. I told him I was simply returning his greetings, but I spelled every word with a lisp and a limp, hoping he'd re-evaluate the seriousness of the national emergency. It didn't work, and I never again called a general darling.

Anyway. A jerk who won't write to his mother certainly hasn't got the ambition to write letters to the editor. But I stoop in awe of people who do, which is what I started to say in the first place. And I am positively enthralled with people who do not only send me messages, but do it in a unique manner. Once I got a month-old cupcake with "This is chocolate, just your style" pricked out in the frosting.

And there was that Goldwater fan who threatened to throttle my wife. His letter was fashioned from bits of headlines clipped from newspapers and pasted on a brown paper bag, just like in a kidnapping movie. This really made me feel like a big-shot. I relayed this letter to Efreim Zimbalist, Jr. who drives Fords for the FBI. So far no arrests have been made. I think J. Edgar Hoover watches Ed Sullivan.

The messiest letter came in response to my column on draft-card burning. A reader burned my words and mailed me the ashes. Nobody likes a smart ash on his trousers.

Just now I received an envelope bulging with newspaper clippings. Some energetic soul collected dozens of crime articles. And he circled the words "Negro" and "black" each time they were used. I got his message: If we'd murder all the Negroes, there wouldn't be any more crime. And the Mafia could handle the killing at a cheaper rate per person than slaughter costs us in Vietnam. Beautiful.

You ordinary newspaper readers are in tough luck. You don't get to read these incredible letters because they are never signed and no editor publishes a letter if he doesn't know who wrote it. Which is the one thing that puzzles me most about the haters:

If they have sense enough to be ashamed, how come they don't have sense enough to think the cricks out of their twisted minds?

Melrose board complies with state dump edict

Three major steps were taken last week by the Melrose Township board to convert the township dump to a sanitary landfill as ordered by the State Health Department. The steps include the establishment of dump hours, adoption of a fee schedule and the hiring of a custodian.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Swanson of Charlevoix were elected recently as presidents of the Petoskey Whirl-Aways Western Square Dance Club.

A new scholarship has been established at Charlevoix to encourage high school seniors to enter the fields of Industrial Education, Architecture and Engineering. It will offer $200 to a student selected on a competitive basis and who has been accepted at the college of his choice.

The scholarship has been established in memory of the late Uno Suomela, Industrial Arts instructor at the Charlevoix High School for 25 years prior to his untimely death in August 1968.

Earl J. Hill, administrative assistant in the public relations division of Consumers Power Co., will deliver the commencement address at Charlevoix June 5. His subject will be "Accent on the Future".

Elected to offices in the Michigan Council of Local Administrators and Practical Arts during the group's recent meeting at Boyne Mountain Lodge were: Jane Stein, director of vocational education for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and Dale McAlvey, director of vocational education in Petoskey. Stein was elected president and McAlvey treasurer of the organization.

Consumers Power Co. has started the extended summer hours at its Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant north of Charlevoix. Effective at once the center will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily seven days a week. The schedule will remain in effect through October.

The center is one of the major tourist attractions in the area and, since its opening in 1963, has been visited by nearly 600,000 visitors, more than any other nuclear information center in the nation.

The special Boating Safety course being offered by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department has attracted more than 60 teen-agers at Charlevoix. The course will include five two-hour sessions. Edward Snyder, Charlevoix County Marine Deputy, is teaching the course. Another school will be offered in the Boyne City-Walloon Lake area shortly.

A total of $4,700 was collected by the Petoskey-Charlevoix District Court for the month of April through fines, costs and other assessments. Emmet County received $2,000 and Charlevoix County $1,500. The balance will be deposited with the state.

Owners of two commercial fishing interests are wondering how the new advisory relating to commercial fishing on Lake Michigan will affect them.

They are Cross Fisheries and Jake White Fisheries which operate fish tugs out of Charlevoix. They are the only commercial fishermen in the immediate area.

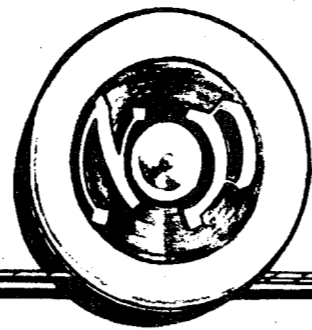

The new directive calls for the reduction of the number of operators from 700 to some 300 in 1970 and trimming the number back to 150 by 1971. The regulations are scheduled to go into effect January 1st. In addition to limiting the number of operators, the new regulation will limit catches of the commercial fishermen.

To attend Assembly

Boyne City - The Rev. Duane Ferris will attend the 181st General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America at San Antonio, Texas, May 14-22. He was elected alternate minister commissioner at the meeting of the Presbytery of Mackinac at Escanaba in January. The principal commissioner, the Rev. John B. Duncan, Chaplain at the Marquette Branch Prison cannot attend, so Mr. Ferris will go in his place. The General Assembly is the annual national meeting of the United Presbyterian Church. The commissioners are evenly divided between ministers and Ruling Elders, laymen elected to office by the particular churches and elected commissioner to General Assembly

A GRAND TOTAL of 9,173 mushrooms were picked by National Mushroom Championship finalists in the Chandler Hill area last Sunday afternoon. Poppy Day set for May 24

East Jordan - The American Legion and Auxiliary will observe Saturday May, 24th, as Poppy Day. "This year the ladies of the East Jordan Rebeck Sweet Unit 227 will be appealing to the people of the community to "WEAR A POPPY," Thursday, May 22 and Friday May 23." said Mrs. Daphne McKay, Unit Poppy Chairman.

Throughout the 50 Golden Years of Service of the American Legion Auxiliary, the red crepe paper poppy has been a symbol of remembrance and has provided assistance to our veterans and their families in time of need.

As each of us wear this memorial flower on Poppy Day, we not only honor those who have paid the supreme sacrifice but help to lighten the burden carried by the disabled veterans.

We can pay no greater tribute to these gallant men and women than by placing a poppy over the heart of every citizen, remembering that it is our tribute to those who have borne the battle, and his widow and orphan.

Keep what you catch

It may soon be legal to snag

Lansing - Fisheries and law officials of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) are proposing liberalized rules to allow anglers to keep foul-hooked salmon later this season, coupled with restrictions to control intentional snagging.

Their recommended "keep what you catch" rules covering salmon would still be subject to daily creel limits. They will be informally aired before the Natural Resources Commission at its May 8-9 meeting in Lansing.

That will give the public a month to express its views on the proposed changes before the Commission takes final action in June.

The revised measures, to be in effect from August 1 through December in all of Michigan's salmon-fishing waters, would allow anglers to use large-sized hooks to maximize the sport catch of coho and chinook and impose weight restrictions on fishing lines and lures to uphold traditional angling values.

As proposed, salmon fishermen could use single-pointed hooks measuring up to 3/4 of an inch from point to shank, and 1/2-inch multiple hooks. Under existing regulations, the maximum size for all hooks is 3/8 of an inch for fishing in trout streams after Labor Day.

The larger recommended hook sizes are adapted after those which have worked well for salmon fishing in Alaska. Compared with existing smaller hooks, they are better for taking fish, say DNR fisheries men.

The Department is also drawing upon Alaska's experience in an effort to clearly define the type of legal fishing gear which will prevent intentional snagging as much as possible. Toward this end, it is recommending that no weight be attached to any lure, or directly or indirectly to the line within 18 inches of the lure. Also, no weight could be placed upon the line so that it would trail the lure when it is retrieved.

The weight placement restrictions and maximum hook sizes would not apply to fishing from boats in inland lakes or the Great Lakes except when fishermen cast for salmon in waters less than 15 feet deep.

The proposed regulations -- both the larger hook sizes and weight limitations -- would allow anglers to keep salmon regardless of how these fish are hooked when they are caught with what is generally considered "normal" fishing gear.

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He thrills at the reflections cast upon the water by the rainbow palette of the setting sun. He is awed, humbled—yet, at the same time, fiercely proud.

His feelings contradict each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overpowering glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man—a man created in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one sense we are insignificant, and in another we are all-important. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man—the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is forever revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we must come if we are to find the proper balance in life.

New punctuation mark peddlers can give you a bang...

Russ Metz

The next salesman who comes into my office trying to sell me a new typewriter with an interrobang on it is going to get a poke in the eye with the sharp end of my swagger stick.

I was in the act of throwing out a comma last Wednesday when a slick-tongued peddler dumped his satchel on my desk and began to tell me how his machine, priced only slightly higher than a navy destroyer, would bring me up to snuff in the communications world.

"An interrobang? Watch it, fellow, this is a family newspaper," I told this character. "No, no," he pleaded. "An interrobang is a new punctuation mark."

"The hell you say!" I said. "There, you got it," he screamed. "And if you had written what you just said, you would have needed an interrobang!" "If I had written what I just said I would have needed to clean it up a bit," I corrected him.

"An interrobang is not a dirty word. It has more than four letters," the peddler said. "It is used when you exclaim a question. Understand?"

"Sure," I said, "you are a nut with an inverted colon."

"Please let me explain," he begged. "When a remark is both an exclamation and a question, the new interrobang is used. It is a question mark with an exclamation point running into it." He pulled a picture of it out of his bag.

"It looks like a hammer with sickle to me," I commented. "Didn't I see your name on the Un-American Activities Committee blacklist as a Soviet agent?"

Horried, he quickly showed me his Rotary membership card and tried to explain the interrobang. Interro comes from the word interrogate.

"You mean like the Russian secret police?" I accused. "He wasn't in good enough shape to continue. Besides we all know 'bang' is printers' slang for an exclamation point."

I didn't buy a typewriter with an interrobang on it because I have never learned what all the other little curlycoques on my old machine are for. I am no more impressed with the wedding of ? and ! than I was with Jackie and Aristotle. Mismatches never work out.

And any punctuation that has a double meaning should be used by politicians, not newspapermen. We already have a better way. We write so you can read between the lines.

 Seems mighty strange to me. I read that women own 60 per cent of the money, and yet I rarely read of any woman giving a million bucks to a charity.

You might assume from this that women are tightwads at giving away money. Then you realize how ridiculous this is. I never was great shakes in the counting house department, but with all the banks headed up by men folks, it is hard to imagine how the gals got their fingers on more than half the boodle.

Sounds like so much fiction to me. If the women folks do have 60 per cent of the money, it is only through the good grace of their henpecked husbands, who work for it and then carry their paychecks home to mamma. Even then, I seriously doubt they would keep it long enough to get a total count. Not as long as the beauty parlors are open and dress sales are going on.

When it comes to a woman the only figure you can believe is the one she is showing, and even that can be falsified.

 The... An average human being will go to any extreme to avoid having an idea.

There is a subconscious fear of causing wear and tear on the brain cells. It might puncture the cerebellum, allowing the air in the great void to escape. So he ponders moodily on the upset stomach that always accompanies the stress on his brain waves. A thing like this could have a permanent effect and prevent him from enjoying chili and strawberry shortcake, which is unthinkable. He yearns for peace of mind.

You take the average newspaper columnist, or even one of us who is less than average. He begins the day by driving at high speed to work in his Essex. He rips open the door, throws his coat into a corner and dives for his typewriter. Synchronized to his razor-sharp mind, his fingers are a blur as they type.

The... Then there is a deathly silence. For 45 minutes, he assumes a yogi freeze, eyes staring into space. After that strenuous session, it is time to cultivate the other specialists at the newspaper over cups of sick coffee. Then it's back to the typewriter and a new sheet of paper on which he hurriedly writes: "The..."

Suddenly, he notices a young woman across the room who is trying to change a typewriter ribbon. Since he believes that gallantry must be preserved, he walks over and offers his expert assistance. There is something satisfying about changing a typewriter ribbon. It puts no undue stresses on the thimble and provides a good excuse for visiting the washroom again.

After another clean sheet of paper and another "The..." our columnist concludes he is using the wrong approach, so he tries "You probably won't believe this, but..."

This is a sure-fire beginning because there are any number of things that people won't believe, but at the moment, he can't think of any.

The columnist now decides it is necessary that he get out of town, to sample the public mind, hear vox populi, and get a fresh slant on things. The first man he meets is a fat reporter in a dakota hat and tweed overcoat, who smiles knowingly and says "What a racket you columnists got." And, when you can fill your space with stuff like this, he could just be right. Semper fidelis.

"Go on, I'm behind you!"

Straight Talk But saying a prayer is violating the law

This is a continuation of the editorial of last week, quoting Gary Allen of American Opinion Magazine on SIECUS, the "sex education" organization, and how its program is corrupting American youth and, ultimately, undermining American strength. "SIECUS was born in Anaheim, Calif. public schools in 1965. The magazine Today's Health reports that in recent years venereal disease has increased 78% in this country, and 123% in California. In 1966, the year after SIECUS started in Orange County, Calif., 300 Orange County girls had to drop out of school because of pregnancy - 30 of them from junior high schools. The sexologists have found an 'answer' to this though: pregnant girls are now encouraged to stay in school. The Orange County Health Department says that venereal disease in the area is 'out of control.'

Outdoors With Gordie Fisherman is honored

Gordie Charles

One of Michigan's outstanding events is the National Trout Festival. This year it was held April 25-27 at Kalkaska. Aside from the fine fishing found in that area, a highlight is the naming of the Trout King. Selection of Stan Lievens was not only an excellent choice but it bestows an honor long past due. Stan is a fisherman's fisherman - but he is much, much more.

We have known him for almost 30 years now and often fish and hunt with him. We first met Stan one summer when he was on leave from the Navy and was spending his time whipping a fly on the upper Boardman River. After his hitch, he entered the University of Michigan and obtained a BS degree in fisheries biology.

For most of his career, he served the Traverse City district of the Conservation Department as district fisheries supervisor. In this capacity he was instrumental in turning out some fabulous trout fishing in the area. Included were some of the finest trout lakes in Michigan but warm water fish were not ignored, either. It should be noted that Stan was planting stream-mouth rainbows long before anybody thought about salmon. The little trout went out into Lake Michigan, grew like crazy, and came back three or four months later as trophy steelheads. They don't die off like salmon but keep coming back, bigger and bigger each year. For some obscure reason, he was ordered to stop that project.

From a public relations standpoint, the Traverse City district was considered the best in the state. Petty jealousies in the Lansing office, however, caused the Traverse City and Baldwin districts to be wiped out in 1964 and a combined district went to Cadillac, 50 miles from Lake Michigan. Many, even in the top echelons now admit privately this was a first-class boo-boo.

Stan was only one of the innocent victims of that blunder. He was transferred to Gaylord, where he continued to do a good job as a fish biologist, then eventually ended up in Lansing - but at no kind of salary hike or grade promotion.

More than two decades of dedicated public service by this man mean absolutely nothing in the Department of Natural Resources. In an organization that worships college degrees, Stan's BS degree is worth little. Time and again he has been passed by for promotion in favor of bright young college students who excelled at textbooks.

Stan doesn't complain about this but we can't help but be bitter about it as a friend and as a trout fisherman who appreciates those years of sincere work in the field. We rather hesitate to even write this because somebody is almost sure to use it as an excuse to blame Stan for something we write.

The people of Michigan have a right to know, however, that "good guys don't always win" in the service of state government. Some of the most dedicated, hardest-working are least appreciated.

This is why the selection of Stan Lievens as 1969 Trout King is such a wonderful thing. He knows now that in the eyes of the ordinary trout fisherman, his efforts have been, and are, appreciated.

As a friend and fellow angler, we are proud to salute our new Trout King!

On dean's list

William McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McDonald, East Jordan, has been named to the Academic Honors List and the Dean's List for the past Winter Term at Davenport College.

A high percentage of students on the Academic Honors List and the Dean's List also participate in the College Work-Study program and are employed part time in business offices. All students who graduated at the close of the Fall Term are now employed in permanent positions in business.

Claudia Dubas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Dubas, East Jordan, has been named to the Northwestern Michigan College Dean's List for the winter term. Students named to the Dean's List have achieved a 3.00 (or B) scholastic average or higher while carrying a full course load of 12 or more hours of credit work.

The Pun Of It Our band kids know how to eat

Part 2 of the Band Trip Tom Garlock

We gingerly hopped on the bus for our journey to Lansing. Before we ever reached Elmira, according to my estimates, at least 200 pounds of potato chips, pop corn, cookies and other goodies had been consumed.

I know one thing for sure. Our local kids know how to eat. I thought for sure they would all run out of food before we hit Gaylord. But a miracle always took place, and some other kid would resurrect some other gigantic sack of goodies.

Noise was bearable until some girl got out her two speaker record player. She put one speaker on each side of the bus and began to play the loudest current songs. This wasn't bad. I could tolerate this. But then someone else put their record player on, and then a boy decided he wanted to listen to his radio. Talk about noise. There was so much noise that a jet air liner would sound rubber band driven compared to what these youngsters can produce in noise.

I thought for sure there would be "sing-a-longs" and things like that. We did it when I was in school. But that was in ancient times. Each group of kids seemed to find their own entertainment. Some worked cross word puzzles, others played cards and some were content in making noise. Every parent should chaperone a group of kids once in their lifetime. It not only makes for an unforgettable experience, but it also makes you appreciate your noisy home as well.

We arrived at Ovid-Elsie High School, and 70 kids dressed in bell bottoms, jeans and the raggedy styles of the times emerged. Thirty minutes later, after grooming and dressing into their band uniforms, they emerged as good looking young men and women. They looked swell. I was proud to be a part of them.

Another thirty minutes later, I wasn't afraid to admit to anyone that I was associated with them. They had won their No. 1 rating. We were all happy. These fine young men and women Boyne City could be proud of. They represented our fair city as no other group could do. They displayed a warmth that I don't think any other kids could do. You knew they were from Boyne City. They wore their uniforms proud. They talked of Boyne City proudly. And they acted like they wanted to make their community proud. We never have to worry about our youth as long as they are made up of kids like the ones in our high school band.

The kids are wonderful, I think, because our band director is wonderful. This youthful individual has already made his mark. He can squeeze a perfect note out of the "gosh awfullest" band player in the world. Just think what he can do when he gets a few more years under his belt. In my opinion he can't do much more, but he has something going for him right now. He has the respect of the kids. Dennis Johnson, is a young man of fun, of course. But he's also a young man of efficiency and talent. He's going to go far.

The fun really begins after the competition, when we prepare to spend the night in Lansing. But I've run out of space again. I hope I can wrap the Lansing trip up next week.

THE NORTHLAND PRESS - Page 11

Single men galore in Charlevoix Co.

(Special to the Northland Press)

New York, May 12 - For single women who are interested in meeting a single man -- object matrimony -- Charlevoix County is the place.

There appears to be an unseemly profusion of bachelors running around loose in the area.

According to the latest estimate, there are now some 148 unmarried men locally for every 100 unmarried women, considerably more than in most communities.

Elsewhere in the United States, the ratio is 124 per 100 and, in the State of Michigan, 125.

Such are the figures, according to data released by the Department of Commerce in connection with its annual report on marital and family status in the United States.

The findings are that the proportion of single men to single women is quite different in some sections of the country than in others. In many localities, in fact, the surplus is in the other direction.

The adjusted figures show that about 24.7 percent of Charlevoix County's male population above age 14 is unmarried, as against 16.5 percent of the female population over 14.

Nationally, according to the report, 26.7 percent of the men over 14 and 20.9 percent of the women are single.

The figures do not include persons who have been widowed or divorced. They refer only to those who have never been married.

The marriage rate steps up sharply as the young folk graduate from their teens into their 20's.

Eventually, nearly everyone gets married. An estimate by a Census Bureau statistician shows that as few as 4 percent of the men and 3 percent of the women in their late 20's are likely to enter middle age without having been married.

However, in most parts of the country today, there is a temporary marriage squeeze because of the shortage of males at the normal marrying ages.

It all dates back to the 1940's, with the low birth rate during the war and the baby boom that followed. As a result, for many young women born just after the war and now ready for marriage, there are not enough men slightly older than themselves available.

In Charlevoix County this year, there will be approximately 560 women in the prime marrying ages, 18 to 21. As for the men, who marry between 20 and 23 for the most part, there will be 590 in the local area.

Protect your car from rust like this with Leonard's new Total Rustproofing

Take a look at the work of corrosive road salts, ice and snow. They can literally eat away your car's body. Spoil its appearance and ruin its trade-in value. Why risk it when you can prevent rust so quickly and inexpensively? Leonard's new Total Rustproofing protects against rust before it starts. Stops spreading if it's started. Sprayed under pressure, Total Rustproofing gets inside rocker panels, headlight housings, fender wells and other places ordinary undercoatings can't protect. East Jordan - Suspended from the clouds, high on a hilltop, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Walton on M-66 outside of East Jordan looks across to the opposite hilly shores of Lake Charlevoix. The full length front shows all its good design with brick extending beyond the actual depth of the home to add length. Gold carpeting and soft salem maple walls and furnishings seem to unify the cozy living room and dining room. 12' wide windows include the shores of Lake Charlevoix as almost a part of the living room. A corner brick fireplace, opening on two sides, is complimented by an early American brown and gold brocade couch and matching chair, as well as a brown patchwork pattern chair. Ornately carved gold picture frames add a distinctive warmth and personality. Delicate antique china plates and cups in a tall maple hutch, combine with white hobnail lighting fixtures to show off to perfection the round maple colonial dining set. African violets, begonias and cactus soak up the west sunshine through other large windows looking out to a perfectly groomed vegetable and berry garden.

Eating in the kitchen is a pleasure at a large round white snowflake snack bar, big enough to seat six in the white birch kitchen. Avocado green appliances blend with the pale yellow walls, and even the sink is green! Three bedrooms and two baths are perfectly color coordinated in shades ranging from royal blue carpeting with soft raspberry accents, to bright cherry red with quiet white accessories. Handsome and homey, the Walton home from its steep black drive and magic garage door says welcome. Daffodils, tulips and crocus in the front flower garden give their home individual character in a cloud formation setting in the sky.

Be careful on far away mail orders

President Nixon issued a warning to mail order companies this week, but mail orders can be pretty handy - especially when you live in Boyne Country, 183 miles from a metropolitan city! How can you be sure that the item you ordered from a magazine or mailed advertisement will be shipped to you? How do you know that a "money-back-guarantee" in a mail order ad will be honored? You can't be sure of either. But you can take some steps to minimize the chance of being gypped by some swindler who has no intention of shipping the things he advertises. The best way to avoid getting hooked by a bad offer is to know the company you are thinking of dealing with. When this is not possible, consider the publication in which its ads appear. Reputable publications try not to accept advertising from questionable sources. Most people get hooked when they expect to get something for nothing. Be suspicious of advertisements at a price that common sense tells you is ridiculously low. It's a good idea to look for a street address in an ad. The address is an indication that the company has an established place of business. Post office box numbers are harder to trace. If you have been taken, first write the company a complaint by certified mail, return receipt requested, so you know for sure it was received. If you get no answer, report it to the magazine you saw the ad, to the Better Business Bureau in New York City and to the Post Office Department in Washington. You can't always expect to get your money back, but maybe you will if you stir them up enough.

THE ALLEN WALTON home sits high on a hilltop, just north of East Jordan along M-66. Photos by Barb Christensen.

A LARGE snack bar in the white birch kitchen seats six.

A CORNER brick fireplace, opening on two sides, is complimented by an early American brown and gold brocade couch and matching chair.

SITTING at the counter, surrounded by a completely modern equipped kitchen, is Mrs. Allen Walton.

Your Better Health Phony illness may be real

Walter Alvarez, M.D.

There are many persons who, perhaps in childhood, learned that illness could be useful. It enabled them to slide out of unpleasant situations, to avoid punishment, to gain an excuse for failure in some task, of for incompetence, or for flunking out of college. It enabled a weakling to avoid making decisions, or it helped him to escape from facing poor self-respect, or it enabled him to get his own way, and to tyrannize first over his mother and later over his wife. I have seen children 2 years old who had already mastered the technique so well that when naughty they never were even scolded by their parents. All they had to do was to stiffen their muscles, or hold their breath, or imitate a stammer, and the parents gave in.

I have had migrainous women admit to me that they sometimes used their illness to get out of things they did not care to do. It was so easy. Sometimes, with the help of a headache, they could keep a husband in subjection or out of their bed. In other cases a painful pelvis was used to save a woman from the advances of an unloved husband, and in still other cases, illness of one kind or another enabled a woman to spend much of her time in hospitals or nursing-homes, where the husband could not bother her sexually. In other cases, illness got a woman out of a boring small town and into a more interesting large city. Several women confessed that their yearly trip to a clinic was their way of getting a vacation from a boring husband.

Often I have suspected strongly that the patient before me had taken refuge in illness, but I hated to make the accusation or even hint at it. I have heard physicians tell of having worked a cure by bawling out a woman and making her so angry that she pulled herself together and got well, but I cannot use this technique. I would so hate to use it, and later find that the patient had really had a multiple sclerosis or a brain tumor. Mistakes can be made; human beings are fallible, and I have seen many a man with an extremely painful, previously undiagnosed, posterior perforating ulcer who had been treated roughly by physicians and even locked up for months in a psychiatric ward. I prefer to work carefully and to feel my way.

At times I have seen that an illness was an asset to a person, but I wondered if he knew this, or if he could face the fact if it were to be pointed out to him. So often the person who takes refuge in illness has a poor nervous heredity. If he had been stronger he could have faced life more bravely and worked out and solved his problems.

Even a strong person can be knocked down into illness by disappointment or disaster. Then, if the man is not strong, or if his illness should turn out to be in some way an asset, he may remain in bed. After flunking out, a college student may take to his bed or develop an illness which saves him from disgrace or blame, or the wrath of an indignant and hard-driving father.

Many a woman past middle age develops a supposed heart disease which serves to hold a husband or children in subjection so that they will remain in the home and will keep supporting her. Or a woman will fall ill to keep a son from marrying a girl not acceptable to her.

My impression is that most of the persons who flee into illness do not realize what they have done, because again and again they will allow themselves to be operated on.

A remarkable story of flight into illness was told by William Seabrook in his book, "No Hiding Place." When he was a boy, suddenly and with no reason that he knew of, he told his mother he was ill; he remained in bed for months. As he wrote later, he gained no advantage from his illness. His feeling was that some force from outside had assumed control of him. In his later years he became an alcoholic, and on several occasions he fled from life much as he had done when he was a boy. Eventually he fled from life by committing suicide.

Sometimes one can tactfully get a person to see that he or she is using illness to get out of unpleasant situations, and then, perhaps, one can work a cure. Occasionally, I help a woman by getting her to see that it would be more fun to be well than ill.

I remember well a good-looking girl of 16 or so whom I saw in 1920. For months she had remained in bed, making a slave out of her mother. When I became satisfied that she had no bodily disease, I drew a mental picture for her of the happy life which she was missing -- a life with beaux, parties, dances, theatre, and happy vacations. With this she got up out of her bed and went back to school. A year later, she wrote me a wonderful letter of thanks.

Fools are often merely wise men who guessed wrong.

YOUR EAST JORDAN COLWELL MAN 19-29-11

FIRST meeting of the East Jordan Waterfront Improvement Commission was held last Wednesday night at city hall, with state harbors administrator, Charles Latimer. Members of the group include (clockwise) Dr. David Pray, Bruce Malpass, Bill Porter, chairman Robert Burkey, Latimer, Mayor Jerry Olson, city superintendent, Ralph Kitson, city clerk, Ben Bustard and O. D. Walker (back to camera).

'ROWBOATS' like these were photographed last summer by Bill Huckle, berthed at the city's docking facilities.

Start summer hours at Big Rock Point

Consumers Power Company announced today the start of extended summer hours at its Big Rock Point Nuclear Information Center, five miles north of Charlevoix. Effective immediately, the center will be open to visitors from 8 AM to 5 PM daily, seven days a week. The extended hours will continue during the summer and fall, through the end of October.

The Center is a tourist attraction all year round, but receives the largest number of visitors in the summer months. Since its opening in 1963, it has been seen by nearly 600,000 persons - more than have visited any other nuclear information center in the nation. In the 12 months ended April 30, 1969, a total of 72,480 visitors were received at Big Rock Point.

Waterfront improvement group hopes not dimmed says Burkey

East Jordan - Hopes for state aid on a city marina project here haven't been dimmed at all according to members of the East Jordan Waterfront Improvement Commission and their chairman, councilman, Robert Burkey.

At the group's first meeting last Wednesday night, State Harbors Administrator, Charles Latimer, told members that prospects for state aid to finance a city marina located in the city park, were dim, because. . .

--An expensive breakwater would have to be constructed at the mouth of the Jordan River because of silt accumulation.

--The city has allowed its present marina to fall into disrepair and there is no evidence for such a facility.

Latimer added that the commission should look for a new marina site, possibly on the west side of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, if they were really interested in the construction of a new marina.

He said that silt accumulation near the present city dock, has made it practically inaccessible for any type of vessel much larger than a rowboat.

After last Wednesday night's meeting, chairman of the waterfront group, Robert Burkey, explained that the meeting with Latimer was a "hurry-up" affair. "We were caught off balance," said Burkey. "We had a chance to meet with Mr. Latimer, and jumped at the chance, before even getting together some type of program."

"We went into that meeting unprepared," explained Burkey, "but we haven't given up. . . not by a long shot. . ."

The Waterfront Improvement Commission, which didn't officially exist until last Tuesday night's council meeting (the night before the group's meeting with Latimer), was hand picked by chairman Burkey. Burkey was appointed chairman of the group two weeks ago by Mayor Jerry Olson.

Following last Wednesday night's meeting, several East Jordan citizens expressed concern over the comments made by Latimer.

Bill Huckle, whose camera shop partially overlooks the harbor, provided the Northland Press with pictures, taken last summer, of just a few of some pretty fair sized "rowboats" visiting the East Jordan harbor.

Huckle, since the early 1950's and especially since the new city bridge was constructed and some 25,000 yards of sand was inadvertently "lost" by the contractor, has been serving as an unofficial harbor master. A boat owner himself, Huckle, whenever possible, greets incoming yachts, waving them away from the sandbar extending from the bridge.

"There's plenty of water by the docks," says Huckle. "All the boaters who visit here say they'll be back. We need to get the sandbar out, sure, but this rowboat statement of Latimer's is crazy. . ."

Meanwhile, the Waterfront Improvement Commission isn't giving up. Chairman Robert Burkey announced this week that the group will meet again Wednesday, May 20, at city hall.

From Mushroom Country - U. S. A.

CARL CARSON, Boyne Falls, showed up at the National Mushroom Hunt, Sunday, with these two monsters. According to contest chairman, Bud Bates, the mushrooms will be preserved and placed on display in the chamber's offices--something for next year's mushroom hunters to shoot for.

MUSHROOM hunters are reminded that beef steak mushrooms like the one Terry Arnold, 5, is holding, are also popping up and if prepared right, make mighty good eating. Terry picked this monster last week. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Arnold, Boyne City.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Men In Service

Michael Lewis
Pleiku, Vietnam - Michael P. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl K. Lewis, Route 2, East Jordan, Mich., recently was promoted to Army specialist five in Vietnam, where he is serving with the 4th Infantry Division.
Spec. Lewis, a cook in Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the division's 22nd Infantry near Pleiku, entered the Army in November 1967 and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He was stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., before arriving overseas in June 1968.
The 22-year-old soldier is a graduate of Petoskey High School.

William Dougherty
Vietnam - April 16 - Boat-swain's Mate Third Class William H. Dougherty, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dougherty of Route 3, East Jordan, Mich., is serving with Commander Coastal Squadron One in Vietnam.
The squadron provides personnel and Patrol Craft Fast (Swift) boats for deployment with the Navy's "Market Time" operation. Operation "Market Time" is the U.S. Navy's combined air and sea effort to prevent the import of men and war materials by sea to enemy forces in South Vietnam.

Included in "Market Time's" coastal surveillance force are more than 80 Patrol Craft Swift boats, 26 U.S. Coast Guard Cutters, U.S. Navy Destroyer Radar Picket Ships and Ocean and Coastal Minesweepers.

To avoid a back injury while carrying a heavy object, do not attempt to change your grip or the position of the load while moving; rest it on a firm object, then adjust your grip, advises the Michigan Bureau of Safety and Regulation.

Plymouth Scores Most Points in Three Tests

A Plymouth Fury I scored the highest number of points of all 60 cars that competed in fuel economy, acceleration and braking tests of the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials at Daytona Beach, Fla.

The Plymouth Fury, competing in Class V for cars equipped with standard V-8 engines, scored a total of 98 performance points out of a possible 100.

Two other Plymouth entries finished first in their respective classes, giving the Plymouth line of cars winners in three out of the nine classes of competition.

Other Plymouth winners were a Valiant Signet in Class VII for six-cylinder compact economy cars, and a Barracuda in Class IX for sports compacts.

The Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials, held under the supervision of the National Association for Stock Car Racing, compared the basic performance characteristics of American-made 1969 models which are in the popular price ranges.

The fuel economy tests measured a car's fuel consumption at an average speed of 40 miles per hour over a distance of 18.567 miles.

The acceleration tests measured the time it took a car to accelerate from 25 to 70 miles per hour.

The braking tests demonstrated the car's high-speed stopping capability immediately after severe brake usage.

The 60 stock cars competing in the tests were taken directly from dealers' showrooms throughout the country to provide a realistic comparison of various makes and models.

Wagon Air Deflector

The 1969 Plymouth Fury station wagon models have a new and efficient air deflector, mounted at the rear of the roof to divert air around and across the big rear window, significantly reducing vision obstruction. By blowing clean air over the window, the deflector prevents rain, dust and grit from accumulating.

Robinson, Rex Judkins, Melvin Howard, Al Kassin, Robert Korn and Floyd Spears.
Mrs. Roger Gerard spent Sunday in Detroit.
Mr. and Mrs. Don Haig arrived home Sunday from Bradenton, Fla., where they spent the winter months.
Mrs. Beatrice Watkins of North Hollywood, Calif., has been visiting her son and daughter in law, the Royal Watkins and grandson Herbie. Mrs. Watkins had never seen a mushroom so her son Royal and family took her out in the woods and showed her what they were and she picked a whole peck by herself.

NAPA Finalist

Once in a great while engineers develop a really superior tire—a tire that stands up against all comers on the road, in brutal lab testing and emerges rated "the best of all tires tested."

The NAPA Finalist is such a tire. It has been tested and proved superior—superior to most other top-of-the-line tires. Superior to all other NAPA tires. It delivers extended mileage, gives more road grip, to make your driving safer. It is the finest tire we have ever produced.

It is designed specifically to hold up longer under heavier cars, higher speeds, longer distances, more punishment. These are the qualities demanded of a tire by today's driving conditions.

The NAPA Finalist has proved it can meet these demands. You'll discover that it will deliver everything you expect from a tire—and probably a little more.

Here are some of the reasons why the Finalist gives you much more than the tires that come on new cars—

EXTENDED MILEAGE • MORE ROAD GRIP

- * POWERFUL, EFFICIENT TREAD WITH 18,144 GRIPPING EDGES (size 8.25-14)
- * DEEPER TREAD DELIVERS MORE TRACTION, GREATER MILEAGE
- * EXTRA WIDE CONTINENTAL WRAP-AROUND TREAD FOR GREATER TRACTION ON CURVES, BETTER ROAD CONTROL
- * TOUGH POLYESTER CORD GIVES ADDED STRENGTH, GREATER PROTECTION

Special car Special roof Special paint

Special price

Everyone says special, but we really mean it, and we can prove it. Snapper's special car, limited edition model from Plymouth. Once the model is discontinued, it will be pretty tough (or impossible) to get one. Among the features that make it unique is a special roof, a kicky new turtle-shell vinyl top with "camp" Snapper emblems scampers across the roof pillars. Snapper's special paint is an exclusive metallic muted-gold; cool. And Snapper comes equipped with a lot of other neat features, too: deluxe vinyl interior, white sidewalls, deluxe wheel covers, bumper guards, and a helpful little time-delay ignition switch light. The whole package goes at a special price (and we really mean special) for a limited time. Equip one to your personal needs, with anything from a Super Commando 440 V-8 to 8-track stereo, and it becomes a truly individual vehicle. At your Plymouth Dealer.

The winning two-man team at each of the 100 regional and state contests being held this spring will compete for $125,000 worth of scholarships, prizes, trophies and automotive equipment for their schools at the National Finals at the Indianapolis 500 Speedway in mid-June.

Winners at local and national contests are chosen by the speed and skill with which they find and fix malfunctions under the hood of a new Plymouth and restore the car to normal operating condition. All teams work on identical cars that have been deliberately tampered with in the same way.

Plymouth Dealers sponsor a two-man team from their local school and make a Plymouth car available to practice on. The teams from the 2,000 participating schools, which have a combined enrollment of 150,000 students taking automotive shop courses, are selected by school instructors.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest originated in Los Angeles in 1949. It was sponsored by Plymouth Dealers there who sought to recruit young men as mechanic trainees. The annual contest grew in size as educators gave it their support.

Since the contest became national in scope in 1962, scholarships have been awarded to 116 students and full or part-time jobs have been found for more than 15,000 young men.

Boyerne forms National Golf Academy

Boyerne Falls - This summer will see the realization of the unique Boyerne National Golf Academy at Boyerne Highlands Resort near Harbor Springs, in the heartland of northwestern Michigan's finest recreational real estate. The golf academy will feature a complete golf program of instruction in one- and two-week sessions from August 3 to 17, 1969 for boys and girls between the ages of 11 and 16.

It will operate under the directorship of a recognized professional golf champion and a staff of assisting pros and counselors. The youngsters will be assigned in groups of 10 to each golf instructor for a graduated program of intense training. The young people will progress from the Boyerne driving range and the nine-hole practice golf course to the new Boyerne Mountain and Highlands courses. This is the same philosophy Everett Kircher, Boyerne Country president and developer of what is fast becoming Mid-America's golf and ski mecca, has applied to skiing. The difference is that youngsters learn to hold a ski pole instead of a sand wedge. The program will put great emphasis on golf rules and etiquette and, when a youngster has finished his session, it is expected they will have a strong indoctrination, solid foundation and respect for golf courses and the tradition of the game itself.

Extensive practice areas are designed to help the novice get the maximum benefit from this instruction. Broad trap areas with every conceivable situation of play will accommodate 30 students and instructors at the same time; driving and chipping ranges will likewise handle 30 students, and two and a half acres are allotted for putting greens. Students at the academy will be housed in regular lodge rooms with private bath, have free use of saunas for unkninking overactive muscles, recreation rooms and the heated lodge pool. The youngsters at the academy will also enjoy carefully planned programs of recreation that include ice-skating, boating, swimming, water skiing, tennis, baseball, horseback riding, fishing and hiking, in addition to the golf program. Highlighting each training session will be an academy golf tourney and trophy award banquet.

NOTICE

Alcoholics Anonymous will meet Sunday at 8:00 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church Boyerne City. Everyone with a drinking problem is invited.
