Lights of the season

Visions of sugar plums notwithstanding, one of the most anticipated sights of the Christmas season is the many creative displays of colorful lights painstakingly arranged by area residents. In Boyer City, Judy Anthony's yard on Park Street is a wonderland to be sure, with a distinct look both during the daytime and at night, with Christmas music adding even more good cheer to the scene. In East Jordan, the sight of this majestic tree greets visitors driving in off of East Jordan-Advance Road just outside of town, courtesy of the Olstrom family.

No resolution yet in Boyer City clock issue

The saga of Boyer City's Old City Clock continues, as concerns over the suitability of the Tower Center's tower as a location for the old timepiece continue to be voiced.

At last week's regular meeting of the Boyer City City Commission, commissioners voted to refer the issue once again back to staff, this time to get cost estimates for the actual reassembly of the clock.

The Old City Clock is currently being stored with John Talboys, who has been working to restore the clock.

The idea, said Boyer City mayor Eleanor Stackus later, is to "put that clock together to see if it will go into that tower."

The tower in question, built by REAP, Inc. on the corner of Water and Lake streets with the go-ahead from the City of Boyer City and the Downtown Development Authority, was constructed with the intention of housing the 100-year-old clock.

After construction was completed, disputes as to whether the clock would actually fit in the tower began to surface.

While REAP representatives, including Jeff Wellman, Becky Voice, and Gary Deters, maintain that the clock will fit, others have voiced concerns to the commission and city staff, enough that the commission is not prepared to give the go ahead just yet.

The next step, then, is to complete the assembly of the clock to determine whether the clock will fit without alterations.

No timeline has been set at this point, but, Stackus said, the sooner the better. "We all would like to have [the clock in the tower]," she said. "It's been too long."

The Great Debate

By ANGELA SHULTIS

Among the members of the East Jordan High School Debate Club there is a consensus: debating is a whole lot harder than it looks. Despite that singular fact, though, team members were willing to press on, making the school's first debate team a resounding success, by all accounts.

Spearheaded this year by parent volunteers Jill and Dana Compton, the team of 12 debaters spent the season traveling weekly to Traverse City for competitions where they learned plenty about the fine art of debate.

All debates for the season centered on one, pre-chosen topic, universal to debate teams at high schools around the country. This year, "Weapons of Mass Destruction" was the topic, which presented its own set of special challenges to a group already contending with learning the basics.

"In the past, topics [chosen] were not that broad," said Jill, for example, the education system in the U.S., or the electoral college. The breadth of the subject, especially in light of recent international events, made the year all the more challenging. "Personally, I didn't like the topic," said member Zach Forster. "It was hard to debate as a negative [team]. It was so huge, so vast."

Still, said Forster, "You do come away with a lot more information. It was interesting." Other members, too, found the worldliness of the subject a positive in the sense that it enriched them on the whole. "I'm more in tune with world affairs," said member Janelle Doebel. Agreed member Whitney Hershberger, "I actually started to watch the news and was interested."

Besides the challenge of the topic, though, the club has had a lot of catching up to do, being first-year novices in a world where other teams have established histories and are prepared in classes, rather than a club atmosphere.

"We didn't know what to expect," said member Paul Teske, a senior, of going into the first debate. It's something that's tough to prepare for, and trial by fire is perhaps the best way to learn. "You're just thrown into the first one," admitted Jill. But, added Teske, that's when you find out what the other teams are doing and begin the learning process.

And while most thought the atmosphere might be antagonistic, said Forster, it was more comfortable than one might expect. "It was a really friendly atmosphere," he said, noting that other debaters would even give advice on how to handle certain teams.

One area that the entire team discovered quickly was that definitions are key. Rather than being more about logic and ideas, the students found that debate is about evidence, and by extension, definitions. Dictionaries and codes of law became pertinent in the lives of these high-schoolers, who began to converse in terms of "solvency" and "paradigms." But it's not just about $20 words; said Forster, one of the most surprising things was "how extreme" the debate over simple definitions could be, and just how much a single word could mean to an argument. "Even the word 'a' could be debated," he said. Every part of every topic was fair game, added Doebel; "You could play on every single word."

Research, then, became key — not just during appointed club times, but individually as well. "You have the support of the group," said Hershberger, "but you do the work yourself."

Despite plenty of time on the Internet and plugging into whatever up-to-date world news they could find ("It's always on your mind," said team member Josephine Cook), other teams, with more time to prepare and more experience, often showed up with more evidence in their arsenal. "They all had more evidence than we did," said Hershberger. Some, said Teske, arrived for debates with crates of materials. But while they may have been lacking in volume of evidence, the team members consistently received high marks for individual presentation, or "speaker points," something both the team and coaches are proud of.

While team members signed on for a variety of reasons, from seeing it as a good opportunity to develop speech and research skills to "I like to argue," the members all ended the season with some common benefits. All claimed a greater knowledge of world events, a greater level of confidence in their public speaking, and improved research and critical think-

Citizen-Journal: A change in name only

This week, readers will notice something different about our paper. The Citizen and Jordan Journal newspapers, starting now, will collectively be called The Citizen-Journal. While the name is changing, the coverage will not. We will continue to serve Boyne City, East Jordan, and surrounding area as a hometown, community newspaper.

The change is in name only, as the papers have long been identical, save the title. To make things more clear, perhaps a short history is in order.

In 1994, Hugh and Susan Conklin purchased The Charlevoix County Press, Boyne City's community newspaper. After buying the paper, they changed the name to The Citizen, which had been the publication's name for much of its 120-plus year history. In 1997, the Conklins had the opportunity to purchase the East Jordan Journal, and did so. Initially, the papers were kept separate for the most part, but as things progressed it began to make sense to overlap the publications more and more. Eventually, the papers converged entirely, becoming in essence one publication with two different names.

In the summer of 1999, both papers were sold to 21st Century Newspapers, to become part of Up North Publications, which also publishes the Antrim County News and the Penny Stretcher, among others.

Over time, it has become clear that keeping the papers under two separate names is confusing for our readers. Our goal is, and has been, to continue to combine coverage of these neighboring communities in the most comprehensive way possible.

The Citizen-Journal would like to take this time to thank its readers for their support both past and present. We look forward to continuing to serve the Boyne City and East Jordan communities in the years to come.

Auto accident sends six to the hospital

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is investigating a two-car accident in Wilson Township that sent six people to the hospital.

According to the sheriff's department, the accident occurred on Friday, Nov. 30, at 3:36 p.m. on Behling Road in Wilson Township. A 1990 Eagle two-door driven by Damien Conlin, 17, was travelling eastbound on Behling Road when he attempted to pass a vehicle. Conlin's vehicle then struck a westbound 1987 Mercury, driven by Carrie Coe, 56, head-on.

Conlin and his passengers Dave Wilson and Joshua Jenkins, both 17, were transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and Northern Michigan Hospital with injuries.

Coe was also transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital along with two of her passengers, Jordayn Cook, 4, and Colton Cook, 3. Another passenger, Cody Cook, 15, was not injured.

At press time, some occupants remained hospitalized for multiple injuries.

The Sheriff's Department was assisted at the scene by the Boyne City Fire Department, East Jordan EMS, and Boyne City Ambulance.

The crash remains under investigation.

LAST WEEK, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department also responded to a car accident located by a Charlevoix County Road Commission employee on Boyne City-Charlevoix Road in Horton Bay.

According to the sheriff's department, it appeared that a 1987 Chevrolet Suburban had been travelling westbound and left the road sideways, hitting a tree on the driver's side and then spinning 180 degrees to come to a rest leaning against several small trees. It appeared that the driver had fled the scene.

Officers were assisted by Boyne City Ambulance, Charlevoix County Road Commission, and motorist Larry Gardner of East Jordan in searching for any possible victims. The sheriff's department located the owner of the vehicle, who is, said Deputy Sheriff George R. Lasater, believed to be the driver, later in the week. The man, whose name is being withheld, complained of pain in his left side, and had several lacerations on his face and arms.

Alcohol and speed are believed to be factors in the crash, according to the sheriff's department. The accident remains under investigation.

Community needs to keep an eye on gazebo lights

TO THE EDITOR:

The Boyne Valley Garden Club would like to thank the Northland Tobacco Company for its civic pride and spirit. For the past two years it has donated the white holiday lights which make the gazebo in the Old City Park so beautiful.

But without the help of the watchful eyes of our community, they may not remain lit for long.

Unfortunately, the restless underachievers find joy in pulling out the bulbs and tossing them. I continually have found them scattered in the flower beds.

For all practical purposes, the park is not in use now. All benches have been removed, as well as all picnic equipment.

If you pass by and suspect that malicious mischief could be happening please call our police department at 582-6611 before 4 p.m. or 911 at night. This neighborhood watch concept could help assure that these lights will remain complete and spreading beauty all winter.

Loss of dog is heartbreaking to area family

TO THE EDITOR:

We recently lost our dog, Callie. She was a 2-year-old bundle of energy that just couldn't be contained by the "invisible fence" we used.

Over her life, she "bolted the fence" a number of times, and thanks to the kind people of Boyne City, we got her back. Until this time, Callie disappeared the Tuesday before Thanksgiving and hasn't been seen since. I'm writing this letter to ask for help.

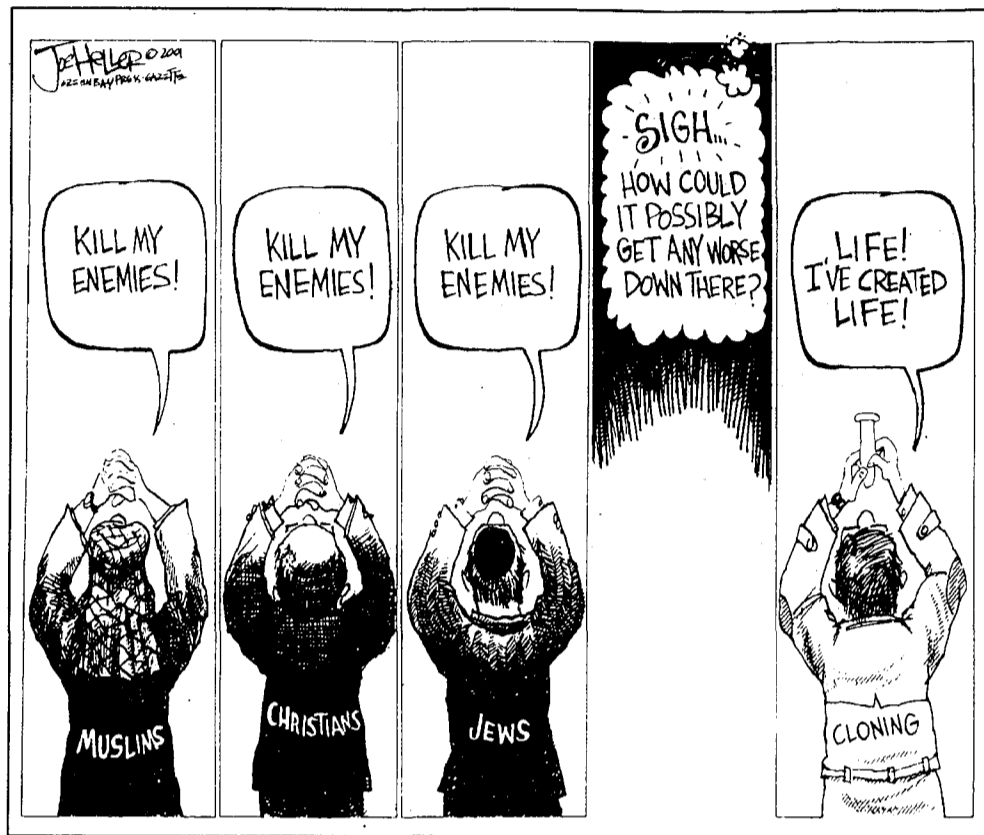

I figure one of three things has happened. Hopefully, Callie has been taken in by a kind stranger who just hasn't seen our signs, called the vet, called the Humane Society, or read the lost animals section in the Boyne or Petoskey papers. If you have found a female black lab with a shaved tummy from surgery, please call.

Possibly, Callie was hit by a car. She was never the brightest of dogs and would happily run out into the street. If you have seen the carcass of a black dog with a green collar, please call.

But what really keeps me awake at night is what I most fear happened to Callie. It's hunting season. I've had several hunters tell me, "Sure, a lot of guys would shoot a stray dog." This blows my mind. This particular stray dog is my companion and friend. She and I run together, ski together, bike together, and spend a lot of "shop time" together. She lays on the floor with my 7-year-old daughter, content to be squeezed and loved. My 14-year-old daughter asks me 20 times a day if I've heard anything about Callie. I do not want to believe that anyone would be callous enough to actually stoop to shooting another man's dog just for the fun of watching it die.

So why am I writing this letter? Maybe I'll get lucky and get my dog back. Maybe I'll find out that my irresponsibility in letting her get away caused her to be killed in traffic. And maybe someone that would think nothing of shooting a dog will think twice next time and realize that he might be breaking a 7-year-old and a 47-year-old heart.

ing skills. Also, maybe most important, they gained a close-knit group of peers that became more than just a debate team. After debates, the group would go out to restaurants or simply chat nonstop in the van, recounting what had happened and scrutinizing the topics. "It was so enjoyable listening to the kids interact," Jill said.

"Overall," Teske concluded, "it was a good experience." Also, he gave the Comptons a nod as coaches, noting that the team "appreciated the time and effort the coaches put in. We couldn't have done it without them."

While the debate season is over for this year, the winter season will bring an opportunity for students to participate in the newly-formed Forensics Club, where kids can participate in more refined, individual aspects of public speaking, including interpretive speech and public address. The team will be coached at East Jordan High School by drama head and elementary art teacher Paula Vollbach. For more information, call the high school at 536-2259.

'Living Room' adult day care reopening in EJ Senior Center

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging invites the community to attend the grand re-opening of the East Jordan Living Room Adult Day Center on Thursday, Dec. 6, from 3-6 p.m.

The center is located at 116 Main St., in downtown East Jordan.

Actually in service since Nov. 5, the re-established Living Room is owned and operated by the Commission on Aging, with the name borrowed from the Northern Michigan Health Care Systems program, along with the expertise of NMHCS's Kate Snow. According to Commission on Aging director Sue Bergmann, the partnership will carry through the first year of operation, after which the center will be looking for a new name.

Open Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m., The Living Room is a group setting, providing social interaction and activities specialized to the individual's level of mental functioning. Said Bergmann, "The staff potentiates their strengths and abilities and helps to improve self-esteem and self-worth again with the use of exercise programs, music therapy, crafts, gardening, field trips, and reminiscence therapy."

The Living Room is staffed by Diane Gorkiewicz, MSRN, known to many from her experience with the Community Programs on Wellness and Stress Management, Pain Management, or workplace programs on the importance of mammograms, exercise, good nutrition, and having fun. These, said Bergmann, are all areas of specialty at the Living Room in East Jordan.

Assisting Diane is Pixie Fortune of Boyne City, a former Home Health

Aide for the Commission on Aging and the Northwest Community Health Agency.

The first week of service found the Living Room with three new clients; "We are having a wonderful and productive time," Bergmann said. "Clients and caregivers already notice the many benefits of the tender loving care for a day or two per week that their loved one spends at the center."

An additional benefit, she pointed out, is the fact that "families who use adult day services can relax while knowing that their loved one is safe in a nurturing atmosphere." However, many caregivers are reluctant to try adult day services, and so it sometimes takes a few visits to the center to develop a comfort level for both caregivers and participants. "We will take visitors anytime and offer tours and demonstrations of some of the activities we provide," Bergmann said. "The staff will work closely with the family to individualize the participant's care and activities."

The Living Room in East Jordan is currently accepting clients; intake and assessments can be conducted in East Jordan during center hours or can be arranged at the Petoskey Living Room by calling 487-5300 or the Commission on Aging office in Charlevoix at 237-0103.

For more information, to make a donation, or to become a volunteer at the center, contact Bergmann at the commission number listed above, or Gorkiewicz at the East Jordan Living Room, 536-5300. Tours can be given at any time for those who would like to know more about the service but who cannot attend the Dec. 6 open house.

Couple's lifelong love leads to new cookbook

Like a good romance novel, the story of Deer Lake Bed and Breakfast, according to Shirley Piepenburg, is first and foremost a love story, one that chronicles the enduring love of Shirley and Glenn Piepenburg. The spark that ignited their relationship first flickered in 1960 when Glenn first noticed Shirley in their sophomore year at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn. It was a more innocent time when people married their high school sweethearts; it took them almost two years after Shirley first pricked Glenn's heart to get to that first date.

By April, 1962 they were dating and Glenn escorted Shirley to their senior prom, and on June 12, 1964, Shirley and Glenn were married.

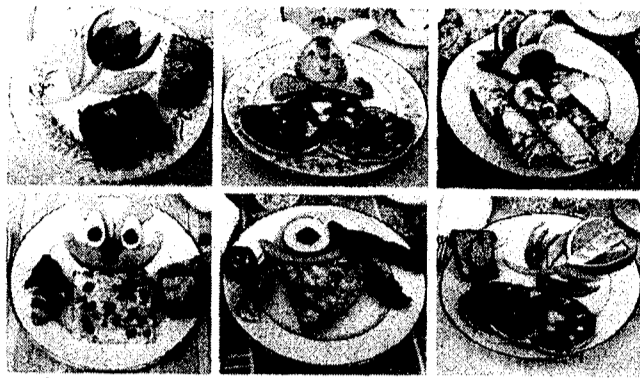

Vietnam loomed on the near horizon and though Glenn did his stint in the Army, he was not sent to Vietnam. Seeking a less hectic lifestyle than the Detroit area offered, in 1969 they located a small parcel of land on Deer Lake, outside Boyne City. From the road it appeared to be a forest-like piece of property, but it came with a bonus in the form of frontage on picturesque Deer Lake. To Shirley and Glenn, this was the promise of the serene lifestyle they were seeking.

On this plot of land, they planned to eventually construct their home; at the time, however, they did not imagine the beautiful Deer Lake Bed and Breakfast establishment that they would one day build at this location. By the spring of 1971, they built the first part of their future home, which was very much like an extremely oversized efficiency apartment. The space, though, would have to make do until they could afford to build the actual house.

Once the house was built, the Piepenburgs intended that this temporary living area would become their garage; at the time, they didn't foresee that it would eventually become the parlor and dining area of Deer Lake Bed and Breakfast.

During this time, Shirley was working as a technician in the Cardiac Diagnostic department at Burns Clinic. Glenn opened a Rock and Gift Shop; his business was slow giving him the opportunity to study rocks and gems. He used this season of his life to learn how to make and design fine jewelry. Becoming an expert artisan in the jewelry field, Glenn found a way for both his creative and business sides to blossom, starting a jewelry business, GAPS, which continues today inside Butler's Drug Store.

Soon their new business venture took the Piepenburgs on the road where they hung their shingle at various jewelry and mall shows around the country. The years of traveling gave them an understanding of what people really craved when they were on the road and have incorporated this knowledge into their bed and breakfast. Their permanent living quarters were, in time, completed and an oversized two car garage was added on.

Shirley and Glenn were both graced with a genuine gift of hospitality and loved to entertain. Like most up north folks, they frequently had family and friends from "down state" come up and visit. This, combined with their unique location and business acumen, ultimately led them to decide to build a B&B. Classes on running a B&B came next, and the Piepenburgs went about building and designing a contemporary building with all the amenities, family heirlooms and touches of the past to give it a homey, country feel.

The B&B opened in 1994, and Glenn soon found yet another outlet for his creativity. While Shirley made breakfast, he would make various faces or characters out of fruit to garnish the plates. This touch of whimsy turned out to be a great conversation starter, giving a cheerful beginning to the day. Many guests would not start the meal until a photo was taken of the beautiful table setting and unique breakfast presentation.

Being an outstanding cook, Shirley had many requests for her recipes. After awhile the demand was so great they decided to put together a cookbook. The book, entitled Garnishes and Breakfasts from Deer Lake Bed and Breakfast, is available at Boyne Country Books in Boyne City, Bridge Street Book Shop in Charlevoix and Horizon Books in Petoskey, or can be picked up online from Amazon.com. For more information about staying at Deer Lake Bed and Breakfast, check out their website at www.deerlakebb.com.

According to Shirley, the story of the Piepenburg's B&B, and new cookbook, is as much about love as anything.

Deer Meadows ready to open

■ Open house scheduled for Dec. 7 and 8 at new senior housing complex

After a year of construction, the Boyne City Housing Commission's new senior citizen apartment complex, Deer Meadows, is getting ready to open for occupancy.

Located on Division Street adjacent to the commission's current complex, Litzenger Place, the 30-unit housing complex is nearly complete, with crews working hard to finish electrical work, painting, and carpeting. "We really hoped to have it open in October," said housing commission director Todd Sorenson, "but it appears that [Deer Meadows] will be finally open in December."

And though there's still plenty of detail work to be completed, the project is quickly moving towards completion. "It's just amazing," said Sorenson. "Every day, there's a change."

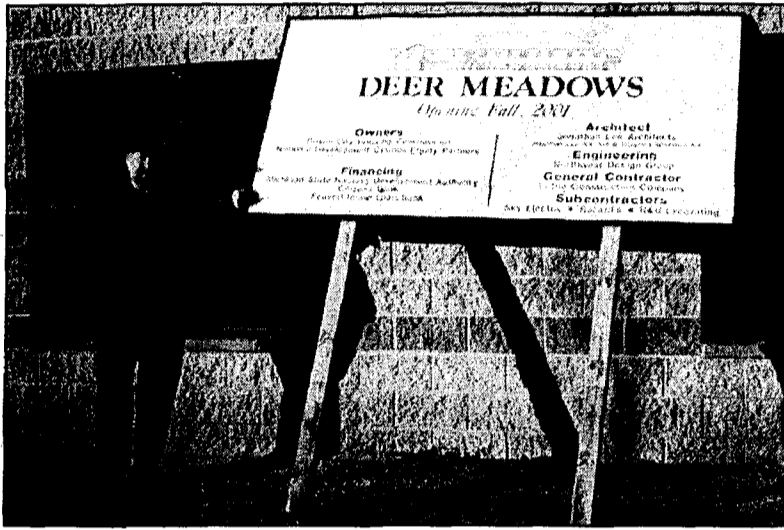

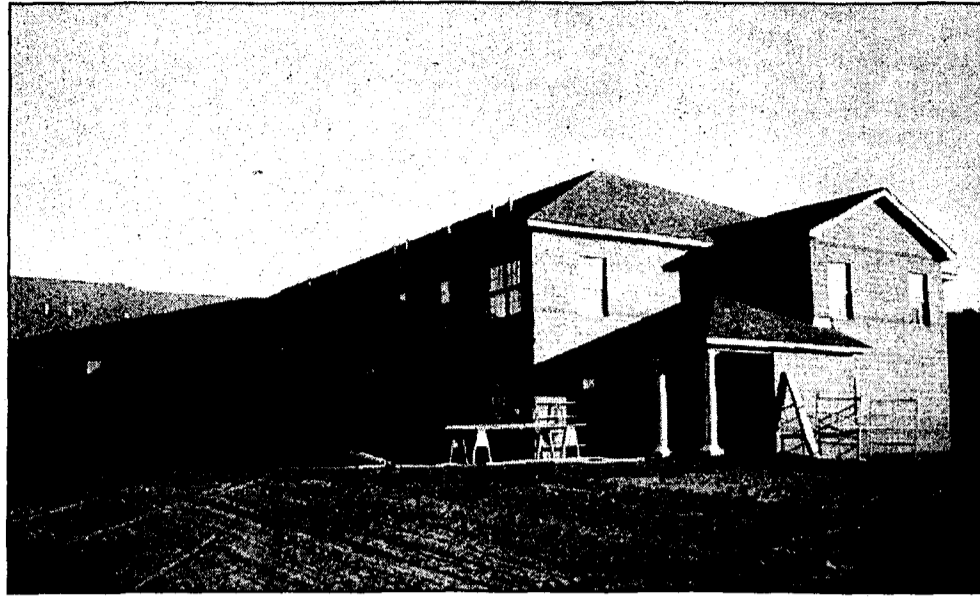

Applications are currently being accepted for the two-bedroom units, with about 10 already rented. An open house is planned for Dec. 7 and 8, and the public is welcome to stop in and take a look at the complex.

The complex contains 30 two-bedroom, one bath units, on two levels. Three of the units are barrier-free, and all have wider-than-normal doorways for easier access. The building features two community rooms, one on each level and an elevator, as well as trash rooms and storage areas on each end. A laundry room is on the premises, and each unit contains a laundry closet that can accommodate a stackable washer/dryer.

Each unit comes with a refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, and built-in microwave, and the building is equipped with an alarm system and central air.

Rent is available at three levels, based upon income, and vouchers are available to assist those in need.

With groundbreaking having taken place in November of 2000, seeing the project coming to fruition is a welcome sight to Sorenson. Though the construction was initially targeted to be completed by October, last year's harsh winter weather created construction delays that crews were unable to make up entirely.

Funded by Michigan tax credits, the complex will initially be managed by American Preferred Management, rather than the Housing Commission. "This is a tax credit project, and because it is, we're working with the IRS," said Sorenson. "It's critical to have a management company who's familiar with [a project of this type]." Though the housing commission has plenty of management experience, a tax credit project "has different rules," said Sorenson. "We're very pleased to have [American Preferred Management] on board. They're experts."

The arrangement, however, is short term; eventually, Sorenson said, the housing commission will take over all management duties.

The creation of Deer Meadows was originally undertaken in light of a marked lack of affordable housing in the area, especially for senior citizens. While Litzenger Place has served area seniors, the one-bedroom units do not accommodate the needs of all seniors.

While funding was initially provided by Michigan tax credits, additional monies came in the form of $210,000 from the Federal Home Loan Bank which, said Sorenson, made the project "a lot more viable."

OUT WITH THE OLD - TIME TO BUY NEW

If you are still using the old-style glass-mercury thermometer, it really is time to replace it. Thousands of exposures to mercury from broken thermometers are reported each year. Inhaling vapor from a broken thermometer can lead to mercury poisoning. This is very dangerous especially to pregnant women and children. The new digital thermometers are inexpensive, accurate, easy to use and to read. Your pharmacist can help you choose the one best suited to your needs.

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

VASCO AND JONI Zucchiatti of Boyne City spent the weekend in Marine City, helping to celebrate the fourth birthday of their granddaughter Remie, daughter of Damon and Kristine Zucchiatti.

HEARTFELT SYMPATHY goes out to the family and friends throughout the community for the loss of Everett Sayles of Boyne City, who passed away at Northern Michigan Hospital on Saturday. Last Sunday night, he fell at home, which required surgery on his left hip. He fought a good fight, but it must have been his time to go. Everett, my good friend and long time neighbor here at Litzenger Place, would have been 91 March 4, and will long be remembered for his skillful and interesting letters to the editor, in "righting" whatever cause he believed in.

DENNY AND KATHY Peck and Bob and Sheila Wilson flew out of Detroit Sunday for a week of fun in Vegas.

DAN AND NORMA Wilson of Stanek Road and Jeff and Tracy Engler of Alanson returned home on Friday after spending a week in Pennsylvania with the Roger Wilsons and spent a few days deer hunting.

THERE WAS a great turnout on Saturday night for the Annual Lexamar of Boyne City Christmas Dinner-Dance. Held at Petoskey's K of C Hall, there was lots of wonderful food, prizes and music, making it a festive time for all.

THELMA BEHLING is going forward with the Community Christmas program. Training

Ruth Witsenski to keep it a continuing project, with others volunteering and teaching them how to be able to see that the less fortunate, young and old, always have a Merry Christmas of dinner or surprises under the tree. Hopefully this will always be a beautiful display of community pride. Her son Mark has cleared the garage as storage space for items donated for this season's event. Thelma also received word from her nephew, Jeffrey Davis and wife, Debbie and family. On their third assignment as Missionaries in Egypt, they and their five children (one here, attending Moody College) were recently advised, for their own safety, to clear out from Egypt. They are now back at home, in Detroit.

A CHRISTMAS tree trimming party for the Litzenger Place Family was well attended on Saturday afternoon. It was a good time for the more than usual, stringing lights, hanging ornaments, and admiring their work of the fully decorated and lit up tree just off the community room. The spirit of the afternoon continued, in sharing a meal of hot chili, crackers, peaches and punch went right on with many staying for an evening of cards.

BILL AND DEB Korhase have returned to their home in Boyne City after having been on a nine-day business trip in Hawaii. While there, they did get a chance to sight see and visit the islands of Oahu and Kauai and enjoy 85 to 87 degree temperatures.

ARVILLA Dixon is staying on for awhile with her son in Howell, but she sure would like to hear from her friends. Her address there is 500 N. Latson, Howell, MI 48843, c/o Jack Dixon.

RUTH STARK is recuperating at her

Lakeview Village home after having spent the past week at Northern Michigan Hospital with pneumonia.

THIS WEEKEND hordes of men, women and children attended the Christmas Bazaars in Boyne, at the Eagles, the United Methodist Church, which included their infamous luncheon, and at the high school. Word of mouth has it that a couple of classrooms had to be open to accommodate this year's displays and that cars were parked clear back and throughout the cemetery!

HOLLY KAY Stanek, daughter of the Chuck Staneks, will celebrate her 13th Birthday on Wednesday, Dec. 5...Happy Birthday, Holly!

A VERY good turnout it was, on Sunday afternoon in the Litzenger Place community room for the December church service given by Ron Knapp. With his wife Cheryl at the piano, residents sang many songs of worship, before Ron's ministered words of the Bible on freedom versus bondage. Randy Cain of Charlevoix, playing a guitar and singing an encouraging song he had written himself, presented special music, his song, relating to Sept. 11, 2001, was entitled, "We Will Remember." Just before closing the service, and preparing for a birthday cake and ice cream party, Eleanor Detcher's way of thanking residents and family for the Nov. 19 card shower of her 75th, son-in-law Randy played again, singing, "My Home Town." A social time followed, with many also congratulating Rose Reinhardt, for being featured in the "Generations" paper, her front-page picture and two pages inside, about the wonderful job she still does, at 91, making cookies for the U.S. Service men and women.

VETERAN OF THE MONTH

Walter Midener

The Veteran of the Month for December is Walter Midener. Born Oct. 11, 1912 in Liegnitz, Germany (now Poland), Midener emigrated to the United States in 1938 and enlisted in the Army Feb. 3, 1941. He was stationed in Hawaii after Pearl Harbor with a medical unit where he received his citizenship papers and was sent to Military Intelligence School at Camp Ritchie in Maryland.

Midener left the states for England January 1944 with the rank of Master Sergeant in Military Intelligence and Interrogation.

On June 8, 1944 he landed on Utah Beach during the D-Day invasion where he interrogated enemy prisoners to collect information regarding enemy strength, weapons, positions, and intentions.

As a Combat Intelligence Officer he went on reconnaissance missions doing general S-2 work and was solely in charge of interrogation, evacuation, separation of and security of 25,000 Prisoners of War.

This duty was performed both as a M/Sgt and 2nd Lt from June 8, 1944 until May 2, 1945 when he was hit by shrapnel while in action in Czechoslovakia receiving head wounds and a fractured hip and was sent to Cushing General Hospital in Framingham, Mass. for nine months until his separation in February 1946.

Midener was awarded The Invasion Arrowhead, Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes, and Central European Battle Participation Stars. He was decorated with The Purple Heart, Bronze Star Medal and received the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action in France from Brig. General James A. VanFleet, 90th Divisional Commander on Oct. 29, 1944.

He met Peggy Leveday McKenzie in 1946 and they were married June 7, 1947 at Peggy's family home in Detroit.

After separation from the Army Midener found work in Detroit in September of 1946 and was able to pursue the work in which he had been professionally trained before the war, that of sculptor and teacher. He became the first president of the art school now known as C.C.S., a fully accredited College of Art and Design.

Midener was a sculptor of world renown and at retirement moved to East Jordan where he continued his lifelong work until his death Oct. 6, 1998. Midener is being honored by his wife Peggy.

Cool tool

Third-grade students at East Jordan Elementary recently had a chance to check out the many tools used by folks in the community for their respective professions. Here, Samantha Morris checks out an uncut eyeglass lense from PearleVision, while Natasha Olson waits her turn. Others who brought their tools for the students to see were Bennett Upholstery, Korthase Insurance, Women's Resource Center, Darlene's Restaurant, First Choice Physical Therapy, Swan's Glassblowing, and the East Jordan Schools Band.

The Citizen-Journal REALLY WORKS!

"Just Ask Mike Cummings at Bayside Gifts in Beautiful Downtown Advance"

Put your advertising dollars where they'll see the best results: in your hometown newspaper.

Mr. Conklin:

Thank you for allowing the likes of Angela Shultis and Christine Knight to represent the paper in this area. Having worked with both, I've found them to be professional, full of ideas and a pleasure to have working on behalf of a new business.

Bayside Gifts is a small, new and growing business that has a definite business plan with limited resources. Ms. Christine Knight presented an advertising plan and design that met our needs and budget. It produced results in its first run that had people coming into the store that had never stopped in beautiful downtown Advance.

Likewise, Ms. Angela Shultis stepped up to the plate and produced a story about our little business and even photographed it. Again, the response was amazing as it caused additional people to stop by and visit.

Having placed ads in other papers that service the area and getting only one person to come through the door making mention of the ad; to the response that your paper produced (70+ persons) indicates we made a big mistake in our advertising plan. That error will not be made again, as the neighborhood paper, with its hometown staff, has proven to be the greatest resource to get the people we want to reach.

We'll be back as money allows, advertising through your staff and paper. The rates and ad placement were excellent. Thank you again for having the staff and coverage available that made the difference.

Mike Cummings

WINTER SPORTS PREVIEW - BASKETBALL

BOYNE CITY: Ramblers are small but very athletic

With new head coach Bill Brown at the helm, the Boyne City High School boys basketball team is working hard to get everyone on the same page.

"One of our focal points will be playing together as a team," Brown said.

Brown brings plenty of hometown experience to the team, having played as a student at Boyne City High School; he's held a position on the basketball coaching staff at BCHS since he graduated in 1993, including a stint as junior varsity head coach.

Having only been practicing for just over a week, due to the length of the football season, the team has had a lot of ground to cover in a short amount of time. So much so that, according to Brown, the team has had to set aside goal-setting and other early-season planning to concentrate on preparing for their first game, played Tuesday night against Rogers City, a "big, strong team."

Size will be a big issue for the Ramblers this season.

"We're really small this year," Brown said. "There's not a lot of size." However, size is not indicative of athleticism, something Brown said the team has in abundance. "[The players] are real athletic," he said. "They come out and play hard... we're small, but we'll [have to] hustle and work."

A busy schedule before Christmas will give the Ramblers plenty of lessons in hustle, to be sure. After the Rogers City opener, the team will travel to Glen Lake for an invitational on Thursday. This week, according to Brown, the team will be focusing on just about "everything," from pre-game warm-ups on.

Though the season may bring plenty of challenges to the Ramblers' doorstep, that doesn't mean they don't have a chance to do well, as long as the players can pull together.

"We've got to play as a team to be successful," Brown said.

Held up by an extended football season, members of the Boyne City Ramblers varsity basketball team have been hard at work to prepare for the winter sports season, which began this week Tuesday night against Rogers City.

Boyne City's AJ Spaay takes a shot during practice last week.

EAST JORDAN:

Building successful program is name of the game for new coach

East Jordan varsity basketball head coach Lance Bailey is excited about the season to come, not only in terms of basketball but also in the bigger picture.

While Bailey has hopes for a successful team, he also hopes to find success in the form of community support for the season.

If last week's big Tip-off Dinner and Scrimmage was any indication, things are indeed looking good. With 240 people attending the event, which serves as a fund-raiser for the team, was a big success.

"The kids are real excited about that," Bailey said, adding that community support and pride are a key part of the game.

Bailey, who is a teacher at the high school and served as the Red Devils junior varsity coach last season, brings "a variety of coaching experiences" to his new position. Having spent previous years in Denver, Colo., Bailey said that "it's been a pleasant surprise to get back into a small town, with the emphasis on each community's team."

Program-building is the name of the game for Bailey, who's found great support within the athletic department. "[Athletic Director] Steve Hines is just terrific at helping me out," Bailey said. "We've talked about building the program this year, and so we're attempting to do that."

Indeed, planning for the season has already been long-term, with players and coaches sitting down at the end of last year's season to talk about goals for the program. "The whole team attended the Gaylord Team Camp,"

Lance Bailey

Bailey said, "and worked with Coach Otis over the summer, spent additional time in the gym. It's a work in progress."

With 11 players on the roster, the team this season will boast good guard play and quickness, according to Bailey.

"I think we'll be one of the quicker teams in the conference," he said. "At the same time, because of that our size is a definite concern." The strategy will be to "focus on our strengths and try to cover our weaknesses."

The goal, first and foremost, is to be competitive this season which means, according to Bailey, "to be in every game. Focus through the defensive pressure and just playing hard and going after it."

For Bailey's team, studying hard is as important as playing hard. With a current team average GPA of 3.47, he said, "these kids are performing in the classroom, performing in the community."

"We want these kids to give back to the community, to be successful in the classroom. That can translate to positiveness on the court, too."

He's also looking to his more seasoned players to take the lead both on and off the court.

"My seniors have been terrific as far as being leaders," Bailey said. "I expect big things from my seniors this year."

The Red Devils opened their season on Tuesday at Boyne Falls.

WINTER SPORTS PREVIEW - VOLLEYBALL

BOYNE CITY: Ramblers hope to battle for conference crown

Led by coach Dorine Britton, this year's Boyne City volleyball squad is looking forward to a strong year, with five returning players and a total of 13 girls on the roster.

"I think we're going to be as strong as last year if not better," Britton said. "We have a lot of returning seniors," including Kriste Gaither, who was All Conference last year. "She's one of our lead blockers," Britton said.

The team tied for third in the league last year; this year, according to coach Britton, they are looking to improve upon that finish. Having begun practices the week after Thanksgiving, the team is still in the early stages of pulling their act together. The next couple of weeks will focus on "blending the team together as a unit."

"We graduated off a couple of really strong leaders out of the seniors last year," Britton said. "I have the girls that will fill those roles, but it's a matter of stepping up and doing it."

The Lady Ramblers' first official game will be played on Dec. 10 at home against Mancelona.

EAST JORDAN: New coach likes positive attitude of Red Devils

Under the direction of a new head coach, the East Jordan High School girls volleyball team is working hard on finding its rhythm for the season.

With 12 players total, the team has four returning varsity members, but many of the additional players are girls who have taken a year or two off from the game or, in the case of two foreign exchange students, are new to it. "We've got very mixed ability right now," coach Paul Nachazel said. "But we have a core group who I think are going to be very strong."

New to the program, Nachazel was hired this year as a teacher at the middle school, and brings with him five years of volleyball coaching experience downstate. Practicing since Nov. 15, the team is concentrating on getting used to a new style.

"We're doing a lot of changes in format," Nachazel said. "That's slowing us down right now. We're spending a lot more time on some basics. I think once we get over that hurdle, we're going to be really strong."

The team's biggest strength at the present time is its attitude. "I've never been around a group of high school girls that have such a positive attitude about what they're doing," Nachazel said. "They're an easily coachable group. They really respond well to anything you have to say to them. And they're very aggressive, for the most part."

In the next couple of weeks, practices will center on serving and receiving. The girls, said Nachazel, "have natural ability once the ball is in play, but we need to work on getting that ball into play."

The team will open the season on Dec. 15 at an Earlybird Invitational at Inland Lakes.

Next week The Citizen-Journal will preview the Boyne Falls basketball and volleyball teams.

Commission on Aging shares activities from past year

By SUE BERGMANN

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging completed its program year on Sept. 30. We would like to take this opportunity to report our annual activities to the public.

1. Home-Delivered Meals - Served 15,393 meals to 128 clients in East Jordan, Boyne City, and Charlevoix and surrounding areas.
2. Congregate Meals - Served 11,014 meals to 997 senior center clients in East Jordan and Boyne City (Charlevoix Senior Center chooses not to participate with the Commission on Aging Congregate Program).
3. Homemaker - Provided 2,146 hours to 77 clients.
4. Respite - 776 hours to 18 clients.
5. Personal Care - Provided 1,513 baths/hours to 57 clients.
6. Dementia Respite - 1,057 hours to 14 clients.
7. Information and Assistance - 2,531 clients and 878 hours providing assistance and information over the phone or at the office.
8. Senior Center Staffing - 249 clients and 1,145 hours.

In addition to the above grant services, we provided the following Medicaid Waiver Services:

1. Home Delivered Meals - 6,346 meals.
2. Homemaker - 2,696.25 hours
3. Respite - 118.5 hours
4. Personal Care and Personal Care Supervision - 3,540 hours.

Care Management and Tobacco Respite Services:

1. Tobacco Voucher Respite - 1,248 hours
2. Care Management Homemaker - 19 hours
3. Care Management Respite - 199.5 hours
4. Care Management Personal Care - 1 hour

We also provided Tax Preparation service to 44 clients. Of these 44 clients, 16 clients received Drug Credit Refunds of $8019; 29 received Property Tax Credit Refunds of $9479; 32 received Home Heating Credit Refunds of $4512; and 10 Income Tax Returns with refunds of $3047, for a total of $25,417 refunds to the seniors of Charlevoix County.

We issued 472 MEPPS (Medication Emergency Prescription Program) Vouchers to 48 clients. Twenty-four clients received one access to MEPPS, and 24 received two access to MEPPS. Five clients applied for MEPPS but did not qualify, as they did not meet the financial requirements for MEPPS. These 472 Vouchers issued represented $18,371.15 worth in saving for prescriptions for seniors. We requested additional vouchers, but none were available.

The EPIC (Elder Prescription Insurance Coverage) is now in operation. The Commission wrote each client who received MEPPS vouchers to watch for the EPIC application, and then apply for membership as they had priority status, and were assured an EPIC card if they met the income requirements.

As it was very confusing to the seniors because of other new discount plans for prescriptions coming out at this time, they were reluctant to apply for the EPIC program. If they were confused, the plan was explained to them in detail, and we offered to assist them in completing the application. To date, of the 48 MEPPS clients,

1. 1 has moved out of state
2. 2 are deceased
3. 7 have become Medicaid eligible
4. 1 is undecided
5. 1 declined to apply
6. 36 have applied and most of them have received their cards

We have talked to all of the clients on the phone regarding the EPIC, and most are very satisfied with the program. Some have a monthly co-pay of as little as $7 per month, with the majority having co-pays each month of between $15 and $35 per month. In addition, the pharmacies seem to like the way the EPIC plan works, by all the early signs, this plan will be a good one for the seniors who qualify.

For each Commission on Aging in-home program an initial RN visit is made for assessment then again every six months for reassessment as long as the senior is still participating in any of our in-home programs. Approximately 30 per month or 360 in-home visits are made by an RN.

The Commission on Aging, also facilitates an Alzheimer Support group on a monthly basis. We receive literature and materials from the Alzheimer's Association.

The Commission on Aging sponsors volunteer organizations such as RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program). We also sponsor the senior Companion Program and senior Employment Program or Green Thumb senior workers.

We provide approximately 250 meals per month to the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa Indians Tribal Center on Ranney Road, on a contractual basis or purchase of service.

We are currently providing lawn care, snow removal, medication management and in-home foot care. These programs are slowly gaining participation, but have not been in service for the first year of senior millage.

As of Nov. 5, renovations of the Adult Day Center by grants were completed in order to re-open the Adult Day Center in East Jordan at the Senior Center in the lower level. This program is designed for out-of-home respite to relieve caregivers of the stress of caregiving for someone with a debilitating illness or memory loss, while also providing a safe, stimulating atmosphere for participants who require supervision or nursing care during the day.

The Commission on Aging acts as a central focal point for referrals for additional services for seniors or for information needed. Older Americans money and millage money are for any senior 60 and over. We do not require financial eligibility to receive our services. All of our services are on a donation basis. Some cost-sharing is recommended for lawn care and snow removal, footcare, medication management and Adult Day services.

Anyone interested in learning more about services available for any senior living in Charlevoix County can inquire at Commission on Aging, 207 Antrim St. or call 237-0103, Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

(Sue Bergmann is the director of the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging.)
