For more information or to request an application, call Raven Hill at 536-3369.

Frog patrol

Though staff and volunteers had plenty of fun activities for Boyer City Elementary first-graders to enjoy at their annual class picnic at Whiting Park last week, some of the students found their interest piqued by something decidedly more simple -- a lone frog swimming around in a nearby rain puddle. Here, Katie Meads, Ashlee Deneau, and Preslye Fortune get a closer look at their web-footed friend.

SPECIAL BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING SCHEDULED FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, AT 6:30 P.M.

EJ school board to hear building recommendations

After more than a year's worth of meetings and research, the East Jordan Public School's Facility Review Committee is ready to make its recommendations to the East Jordan Board of Education.

A special meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 5, for the committee to present their findings to the board.

The meeting will be held at the East Jordan High School Auditorium at 6:30 p.m. The committee, comprised of a group of citizens, has met regularly to review enrollment and program growth in the district in recent months.

Enrollment numbers in recent years have exceeded expectations, increasing class sections especially at the elementary school, and creating a space crunch at all three school buildings.

Among the recommendations expected at Wednesday's meeting are: the construction of additional classrooms at the elementary school, middle school, and high school; the complete replacement of the elementary school heating, air exchange, and temperature control systems; site improvements, including additional parking and site lighting at the elementary and high schools; the construction of an auditorium at the high school; additional computer labs and technology infrastructure improvements, including distance learning capabilities, at the elementary, middle and high schools; miscellaneous capital improvements, including classroom lighting, classroom cabinetry, and sinks, at the elementary school; and miscellaneous capital improvements, including carpeting and cabinetry, at the high school.

According to schools superintendent

Chip Hansen, if the recommendations are approved by the board as expected, a bond election is expected to be scheduled, following approval of the district's application with the Michigan Department of Treasury, for September of this year.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend Wednesday's special meeting.

There will be a time allotted for public commentary.

The Grand Old Flag

East Jordan fifth-graders make the flag into art for their final project

Each year the fifth grade students at East Jordan Elementary create a legacy to leave behind for students who will follow. That legacy has traditionally taken the form of a permanent piece of art, the content of which ideally expresses something special about that class, and that fifth grade year.

This year, students, under the direction of art instructor Paula Vollbach, have continued the tradition. Students chose pop artist Jasper Johns as their model, and, following Johns' interest in flags, decided to interpret the various forms of the American flag over our nation's history. The project, said Vollbach, was imbued with special meaning this year, in light of Sept. 11 and its aftermath.

The students selected the eight most well-known American flags, interpreting each as a piece of art, utilizing eight different "pop art" techniques.

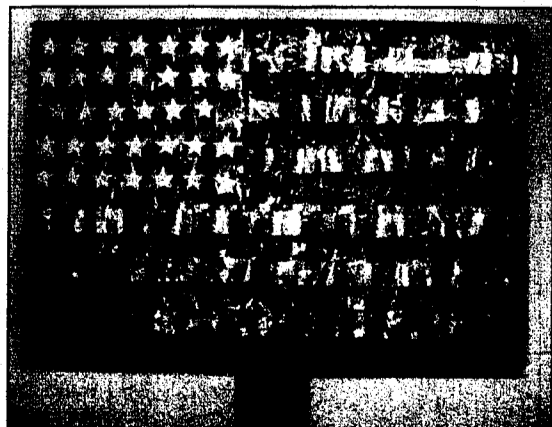

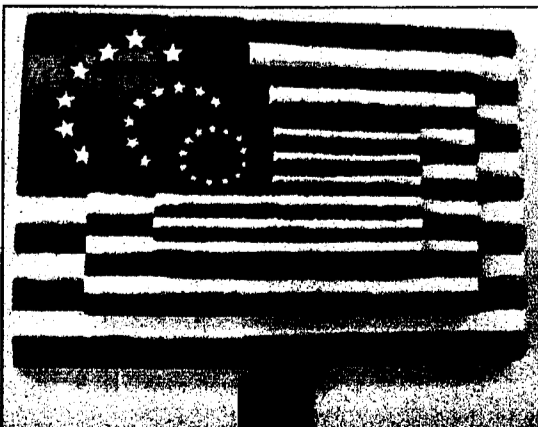

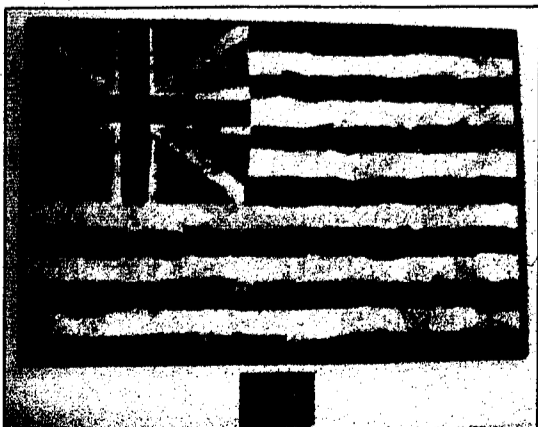

Flags interpreted range from 1775's "Continental Colors," with the British Union Jack in place of the now-traditional stars, to the modern 50-star flag laid over the haunting images of 9/11. Artistic methods utilized range from carved and painted styrofoam to wallpaper mosaic to a recycled pop can relief.

More than 100 students from four classes participated in the creation of each individual flag. Each flag measures 48 by 32 inches, and has been custom-framed and permanently hung in the school media center.

The long-term effects the project will have on the students will likely be permanent as well. The creation, said one fifth-grader, "makes me proud."

Mrs. Allen's class gathered in the media center last week to show off the flags they, and three other fifth grade classes, created as the final art project of their elementary school career.

These are just three of the eight historic flags interpreted by EJES fifth-graders, in the pop art style of artist Jasper Johns. The flags above, from left, are the "The Continental Colors (1775-76)" using the "encaustic" method (material dipped in wax); "Thirteen Stars (1777)" in carved and painted styrofoam; and the "Northern Civil War Flag" in pop can relief. Each flag is marked with a plaque detailing origin and method.

Williams was one of nearly 400 young writers grades K-12 to enter the contest.

A Mom's Life

The ironies of parenting are never-ending

By CINDI PLACE

A parent's life is full of ironies. Like when our college age children return home and insist on doing their own laundry, because we don't sort it properly. This from a child who once wore blue jeans so dirty the pants stood up on their own.

We spend a great deal of time child-proofing our home so that our toddler is safe. But no matter how many locks and safety gadgets we install, the kid will still find a way to climb up on the kitchen cabinet and empty the cookie jar.

I can remember hours spent shopping for the perfect Christmas gift for one of our young children, only to find that same child, after ripping the wrapping paper off the gift, playing gleefully in the large, cheap box from that same gift.

A persistent child will ask time and again for help with some project, or just for us to listen to what they have to say. And nine times out of ten, we do as they ask. But it's the one time, when our patience has eluded us, that we speak sharply asking our child to leave us in peace ... only to have the youngster tell us that all they wanted to say was "I love you."

When our children are little, all we want is for them to grow up and when they finally grow up, we yearn for the time when they were little. Messy rooms, loud music, and talking back find a place in the lives of parents of teenagers. But when they prepare to leave home for college or the grown-up world, what would we give for the messy room or loud music, just to remind us that they are still hanging around.

Amazing just how quiet a home becomes when children are no longer around, reminding us that 20 years ago, peace and quiet was one of our greatest wishes.

How ironic.

Guest Column

Room at BCES Peace Garden and Habitat Site for many hands

By VIRGINIA HEICK

Two years ago, a loud "WAKE UP" cry exploded across the United States: children started shooting children, and teachers. An unimaginable tragedy.

A few years before that, a friend of mine was substitute teaching in Charlevoix. She asked 60 local high-school students to write a short description of what they thought the world would be like in the year 2020.

Of those 60 students, only three had any hope for the future and two of those students thought we would all leave Earth and find another planet.

The other 57 students thought the Earth would be destroyed from pollution, poisoning and war. So, they saw no future, had no hope.

Is it any wonder that teenage suicide is now the number one killer of our youth? And why shouldn't they be worried?

The "web-of-life" is unraveling. Children are shooting children. Children are killing themselves. To ignore these "wake up" calls, is to bury our heads in the sand and send a strong message to our youth that we do not care about their future.

In response to escalating violence, The International School Peace Gardens (ISPG) issued a "millennium challenge" to every school in the world to have dedicated a "Peace Tree, Peace Grove, or Peace Garden as a strategy for safer schools and to promote the ideals of peace between people and the environment."

So, two years ago, in a proactive response, the Boyne City School Board, Administration, and Elementary PTO endorsed the creation of our Peace Garden & Habitat Site on a barren, lifeless spot of the elementary school playground.

Each spring, pushing wheelbarrows, we deliver flats of soil-starting mix and seeds to each classroom. The students plant the seeds, care for them, watch the seedlings grow, and harden them off outside.

Next, they participate in this re-greening project by planting their seedlings out in the garden. Over the last two years, the students have planted many shrubs, trees and flowers into the Peace Garden & Habitat Site.

And, what was once a desolate, barren "playground," is now becoming a beautiful, inspiring place—LIFE is returning.

Research shows that people who actively care about the environment have two things in common: they spent a great deal of time outside as children playing, exploring and having fun; and they had some caring adult in their life who inspired them to "respect and care" for the natural world.

Students, faculty and volunteers at Boyne City Elementary spent time recently getting their hands in the soil to plant this year's new additions to the school's Peace Garden and Habitat Site.

Children need happy experiences enjoying the natural world if they are to grow up and care for it. We must cultivate that wonder and respect for the "foundation of life" (the soil, water, and air) and the "web of life" (all living things) with them when they are young.

And, the environment provides a rich "meaningful real life context" for hands-on learning across the curriculum.

Teaching respect for nature and respect for people go hand in hand. Giving youth tools to help heal the planet, and "conflict resolution tools" that promote peace and harmony, is to be proactive in creating real hope for the future.

We are seeking "Nature Mentors" of any age, to help in maintaining the gardens throughout the summer!

Helping a child learn to love and respect the Earth is a good thing to do. Promoting peace is a good thing to do. And, it's fun. Come, join us!

Charlevoix County Humane Society joins Petfinder.com

Homeless pets at Charlevoix County Humane Society in Boyne City now have more bite. The animal welfare organization has joined others in the state as a member of Petfinder.com, the largest and oldest virtual animal shelter. The Web site represents about 65,000 homeless animals at any one time in more than 3,500 shelters and rescue groups nationwide and in Canada.

Potential adoptees can extend their search beyond the local area by entering search criteria on the Petfinder home page. The computer generates a list of potential pets, ranked by proximity to the visitor's zip code. All that's left to do is click on the animal's name for more information. Each shelter or rescue group handles its own adoption.

Petfinder.com facilitated over half a million adoptions last year alone. Every dog or cat adopted from a Petfinder.com member shelter or rescue group in this state is also eligible for a gift of the first two months of ShelterCare pet health insurance, paid for by Petfinder.com.

Petfinder.com has partnered with the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) for shelter outreach. The ASPCA also provides a library of resources on the site, giving pet owners a one-stop resource for pet-related issues.

Thanks to its sponsor, Petfinder.com is free to potential adopters and to shelter and rescue groups.

THE CLASS OF 2002

BOYNE CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Boyne City seniors enjoyed their big day, June 2, outdoors at the sports complex. A formal ceremony was followed by a slide show and presentations inside the school gym for family and friends.

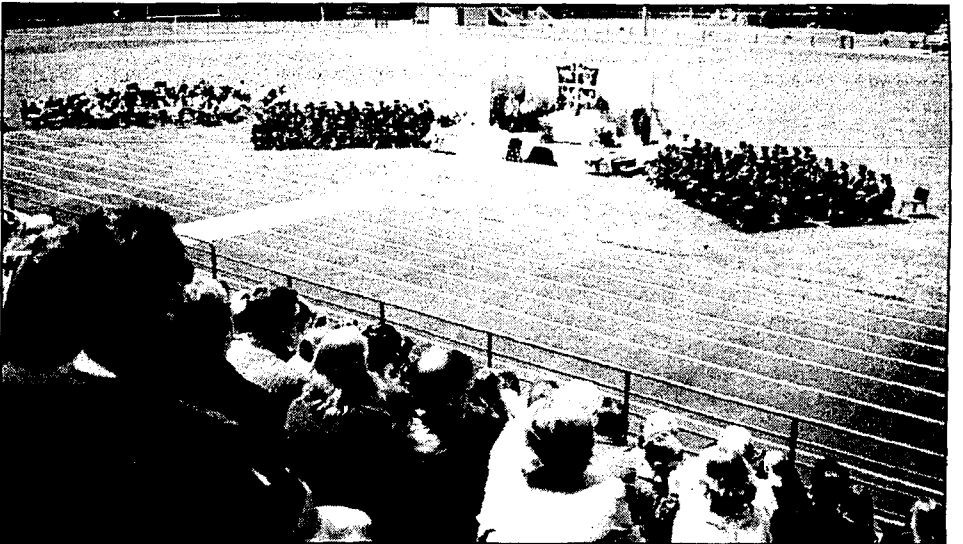

EAST JORDAN HIGH SCHOOL

It was a day for hugs and smiles as the East Jordan High School class of 2002 celebrated their graduation on Sunday, June 2. Students posed for plenty of pictures throughout the day, like this group of grinning grads, above. At left, Steve Kempton steps in for a congratulatory hug. Below, family and friends filled the stands under sunny skies at Boswell Field to witness their graduates' last moments as high school students.

A $20 donation provides entry to the auctions, hors d'oeuvres, a chance to win grand prizes of $300 and $200, all accompanied by the music of Margaret Thomson.

Jeff MacFarlane and Jim White will provide a lively and humorous live auction event.

Highlights for the auction will include a nine-foot fiberglass boat donated by Sunburst Marine in Boyne City; a winter trip down the Jordan, courtesy of Jordan Valley Outfitters; and a week's stay at a Sanibel Island condominium.

Other items include benches from Chuck Leazier and Hunt's Sawmill; a carved trout by Lee Ekstrom; an autographed Kid Rock CD; a birch bark basket from American Spoon Foods; and a "Daily Cup of Coffee" for a year from Boyne Country Books.

Also featured at the auction/benefit will be the drawing for a 1973 VW Beetle, donated by Mark and Susan Grimme to benefit the hospice. Some of the $100 raffle tickets are still available at Great Lakes Motor Works in Boyne City, which provided the restoration of the car and where it is currently on display. Raffle tickets can also be purchased at Ace Hardware in Boyne City; PrimeTime in Bellaire; Don's IGA in Charlevoix; and Don's Market in Harbor Springs.

Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, with the agency providing the skilled component of the program, including nursing, social work, home health aides, chaplain and therapists.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan provides volunteer, bereavement and fund-raising components of the program.

'Tabs for Tots' a big success, again

Collections for the Tabs for Tots program of the American Legion Post #228 was held in area schools on May 23. Boyne Falls students exceeded last year's collections by 100 pounds, for a total of 104 pounds. Although the program is typically a fourth-grade project, Boyne Falls made it a project for all grades.

To help celebrate the achievement, Charlevoix County Deputy Sheriff Rex Behling and his dog, Jake, visited the school. Behling and Jake also visited the Orion School, where 23 pounds of tabs were collected. Other schools participating in the program were Concord Academy Boyne with two pounds, and Boyne City Elementary, with 45 pounds.

-tabs for Tots is a statewide American Legion Program that promotes removing aluminum pull tabs from beverage cans to recycle a natural resource while benefitting children. When the tabs are sold for scrap metal, the money is placed in a special fund until enough is accumulated to purchase permanent emergency pediatric equipment for volunteer ambulance services.

NORTHERN INSIGHTS

Here comes the sun

By DR. STEVEN HUFFORD, OPTOMETRIST

Summer has finally arrived here in the north and with it the bright sun. The sun has many different wave lengths of light with some being harmful to the eye. The most dangerous component is the ultra violet radiation.

Exposure of the eye to UV light is cumulative over our lifetime and can cause photochemical damage to the lens and retina.

Water activities cause double exposure, with light coming directly from the sun and also reflected back up off the surface of the water.

It is easy to protect your eyes from these harmful segments of light with sunglasses. However, not all sunglasses are created equal. They vary greatly in radiation protection, optical quality, light transmission and anti-reflection quality.

Here is what to look for when picking a pair to fit your needs:

UV protection - good sunglasses should stop 99 percent of UVA and 100 percent of UVB.

Polarized lenses - These are designed to eliminate glare at certain angles of reflected light. Polarized lenses are undoubtedly the finest lenses for glare reduction. They are produced by sandwiching polarizing film between two tinted lenses. Since this process is very complex these lenses are more expensive than other sunglasses but certainly worth it.

Transitions - These lenses change with the amount of light to which they are exposed. Many people with the goal of one pair of glasses prefer transitions. They darken when exposed to the sun and lighten indoors. Now they are available in plastic which reduces the weight of the photo chromic lenses.

The most important thing to remember is that the sunlight is bad for your unprotected eyes and that the damage is cumulative over your lifetime.

Good sunglasses will accomplish this protection and bad sunglasses are worse than no sunglasses at all.

Boyne City schools receive NCA renewal

NCA Chairperson and Elementary School Principal, Fred Sitkins of Boyne City Schools, announced today that the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools (NCA) accreditation has been extended through the 2001-2002 school year for all three schools within the Boyne City District. This action was taken at the NCA's Annual Meeting in Chicago, Ill., in April.

"Along with hosting periodic on-site evaluations by a visiting team of educators, each NCA school is accredited on the basis of an annual report on conditions in the school and on such supplementary information as the Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement requests," Sitkins explained. "Continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school. NCA membership assures the public at large that the school has met standards which high quality schools in the NCA region consider to be imperative for effective education and that it is working to improve performance for all students."

The North Central Association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies. Tootie Bartlett is EJ's Mother of the Year

Last month, at its annual Mother Daughter banquet, the East Jordan Lions Club presented northern Michigan native Tootie Bartlett with the prestigious honor of "Mother of the Year."

Born in Mancelona, Bartlett was the oldest of six children growing up on a farm. As the oldest, she took on lots of responsibility at a young age, doing chores and helping get her younger siblings fed and off to school.

As a teenager, she enjoyed sports, worked as a waitress, and, in her senior year, won the title of Cherry Pie Queen, for baking the best cherry pie in a baking contest.

She married in 1966, and with her husband, made her home in East Jordan. According to the introduction given Bartlett at the banquet, "she never sits still, is always busy, working, sewing, cooking, cleaning, for herself and others.

"She was involved in everything her children were involved in, making costumes, floats, for every Fourth of July. She coached Little League, was a Girl Scout leader, she worked at school."

And now, with six grandchildren, it is said that Bartlett is just as busy in their activities.

A Lioness for over 25 years, Bartlett is also a member of St. Joseph Church, and works with the annual Care and Share program. She was also instrumental in caring for the needs of her father-in-law, Norm Bartlett, who recently passed away. According to comments in Bartlett's nomination, "Norm often said he had four boys and Tootie."

Bartlett is the 33rd East Jordan mom to earn the Lion's Club honor, given every year since 1969.

Last month, Tootie Bartlett joined an illustrious group as the 2002 East Jordan Mother of the Year. The honor has been bestowed annually by the Lions Club since 1969.

DISTRICT CHAMPS

Ramblers put it all together to win title

Strong pitching, timely hitting, and an air-tight defense combine for success in baseball.

The Boyne City Ramblers had all three last Friday when they defeated East Jordan 13-0 and Charlevoix 6-1 to win the district championship.

It was an impressive performance by the Rambler pitching staff which gave up just five hits and didn't allow a run until the seventh inning of the championship game.

The defense was also flawless, not committing an error during the two games.

With the district championship in hand, the Ramblers will take their 22-8 record into the regionals.

They will face Rogers City, a team they defeated 7-2 in the final tournament of the regular season at 1 p.m. on Saturday. Elk Rapids is hosting the tournament.

The winner of that game will play the winner of the Suttons Bay-Pine River game.

The regional championship will be played 30 minutes after the conclusion of the Boyne City-Rogers City game. The winner of the regional will move on to the quarterfinals on Tuesday at Gladwin.

AGAINST EAST JORDAN, the Ramblers broke the game open early, scoring two runs in the first inning and eight more in the second.

Beau Detcher started for the Ramblers and he pitched four solid innings, giving up just two hits. Byron Kroondyk came on in relief in the fifth inning.

The Ramblers out hit East Jordan 11-3. Kroondyk and Ryan Amesbury led Boyne City with two singles each. Detcher and Jeff Prested each had a double.

Dustin Moore, Cole Andrews, Chris Grice, Scott McDowell and Nick Follette each singled.

In game two, David Vasquez was on the mound for Boyne City and the senior pitcher was in full command.

"David threw an outstanding game in the finals," said coach Beano Archey, "holding a good hitting team like Charlevoix to just two hits.

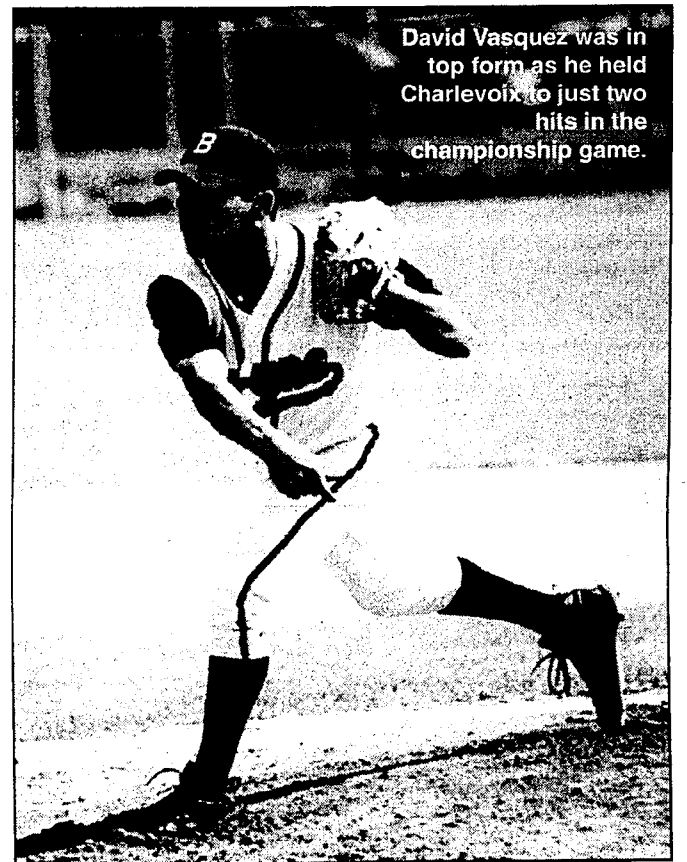

It was a moment of celebration on the diamond as the Ramblers realized the game was theirs. The team will move onto regional play on Saturday against Rogers City.

"He was in control the entire game keeping Charlevoix hitters off balance."

The game was scoreless until the third inning when Chris Grice got the Ramblers on the board with a three-run home run.

The Ramblers scored one more run

David Vasquez was in top form as he held Charlevoix to just two hits in the championship game.

in the third, added two in the fifth and scored one in the seventh. In addition to his homerun, Grice also singled. Moore had a strong game at the plate, with two singles and a double. Brian Metzger also had two singles. Detcher and Kroondyk each singled.

On a roll

The Boyne Falls softball team has snagged both conference and district titles this season. Over the weekend, the Lady Loggers topped Alanson and Onaway to earn the District IV championship title. The 17-3-1 Lady Loggers advance to regional play at Gaylord St. Mary on June 8, facing Posen. Here, the team is shown after their "three-peat" conference win.

Softball season ends for EJ, BC

In softball district action, East Jordan advanced with an extra-inning win in the semi-finals only to find defeat against Elk Rapids in the Division III final game, 7-2.

Pitching for East Jordan was Amanda Brodin, who gave up five hits and struck out eight in the championship game.

Top hitters were Rachael Bennett,

Erica Carey, Lacey Taylor, and Kandra Carson with a single each.

Earlier in the day, the Red Devils topped Boyne City in a semi-final matchup, 1-0 in nine innings. Leading at bat for East Jordan were Bennett, Laurie Graham, Brodin and Lisa Talboys each with a single, Stefanie Skop and Nichole Murray with two singles apiece.

Top hitters for Boyne City were Lindsay Helsley with a double and a single, and Jessica Raber with a single.

Raber was also on the mound for the Ramblers, walking three and striking out nine.

The Red Devils finished the season 6-16, and the Lady Ramblers ended theirs with a 10-15 record.

Boyne City track wraps up season at state competition

The Boyne City Rambler track teams closed out their seasons on Saturday at the MHSAA State Track and Field Finals held at Comstock Park. The girls competed in the 3200M Relay (Jane Stieber, Mindy McCutcheon, Hannah Decker, and Emma Dunne), the Pole Vault (Katie Martin), and the Long Jump (Kriste Gaither). For the boys, Aaron Sulak and Kyle Gibbons competed in the 100M Dash.

The 3200M relay team ran their fastest time of the year and the second fastest in school history in 10:02.7. The time was also 20 seconds faster than their qualifying race at the Regional. The relay team finished 11th overall at the State Finals.

Katie Martin vaulted 9' 0" for her best height of the season and finished 11th in the State. Kriste Gaither jumped 15' 4" in the long jump, but did not make the finals. Leighann Dowell of Millington won the long jump in a new State meet record of 17' 11".

Aaron Sulak and Kyle Gibbons both had tight races in their preliminary rounds of the 100M Dash. Sulak qualified for the semi-final round for the second straight year.

Finishing places for each race had to be determined using video tape, because the competitors were so close to each other at the finish. "This is a time when more than one camera angle would have helped," said boy's coach Tom Nagurka. Only the top four from each semi-final heat qualified for the final race.

Gibbons and Sulak had finished 1-2 at the Regional and had been seeded fifth and sixth at the beginning of the State meet.

Five of the eight athletes competing were seniors running their last high school meet, including Gibbons and Sulak. Gibbons and Sulak will be remembered as the fastest tandem in Boyne City track. Both of them broke the school record in the 100M earlier this year with Gibbons' 10.76 the new record.

Gibbons also set a school record 22.88 in the 200M dash earlier in the year. Sulak had qualified for the State finals in the 100M for three years, and this was Gibbons' first year in the open event. Gibbons and Sulak were part of last year's State qualifying 400M and 800M relay teams.

Sulak is headed to Grand Valley State University to run track. Gibbons is headed to Vermillion College for football and track.

Senior girls Jane Stieber, Mindy McCutcheon, and Kriste Gaither also ended their high school careers Saturday.

This was the fourth year that Boyne City has sent a girls 3200M Relay to the State Finals.

Stieber and McCutcheon have been on all four of the relay teams. "It's hard to believe they won't be back next year," said girl's coach Andy Place, who has coached the girls for the last three years. "Jane is probably the best female runner that Boyne City has ever had. Jane and Mindy have provided great leadership for our distance runners."

Stieber and McCutcheon are headed to Northern Michigan University, where Stieber will run cross country. Gaither is headed to University of Detroit-Mercy to play NCAA Division I basketball.

Earlier in the week, coaches Nagurka and Place, along with assistant coach Tim Hardy, handed out track team awards.

Gibbons and Sulak earned "Most Valuable Athlete" awards, Randall Sutton earned the "Most Improved" award, Geoff Martin earned the "Most Dedicated" award, and Matt Mercier earned the "Rookie-of-the-Year" award.

For the girls, Stieber and Kelsi Brewer earned the "Most Valuable Athlete" awards, Malorie Lehto earned the "Most Improved" award, foreign exchange student Leda Zaharieva earned the "Most Dedicated" award, and Kim Foster earned the "Rookie-of-the-Year" award.
