Members of the Boyer City High School Drama Department are letting their enthusiasm shine through as they prepare for their first performance at the school's new Performing Arts Center.

A GRAND opening

Just stepping into the auditorium at the new Boyer City High School during rehearsals for the drama department's upcoming opening show, one can see that a new era has begun.

Rather than a jumble of kids seated on cafeteria tables amid coats and backpacks, as was the scene for many years as the department utilized the stage at the elementary school for performances, the students had settled easily into the theatre seats, listening intently to drama department head Bob Wollenberg as he handed out instructions in his enthusiastic, no-nonsense way. In the darkened theatre, with just the stage lights shining, one had the sense of bigger and better things to come.

It's easy to see that Wollenberg is in his element, and the kids are following suit, oozing excitement in the big-theatre setting the school has provided for them. "It's a lot of fun," Wollenberg said. "It's so comfortable, the acoustics are incredible. It's super exciting." Taking things up a notch from the always-fun fall show, scheduled for Friday, Nov. 22, the department is preparing a program to include a showcase for student talent as well as the talents of some high-achieving alumni, including musician Marty Ward and singer Matthew Chellis. The program will also highlight the high school band, choir, and jazz band.

The evening will also include the official ribbon-cutting for the new auditorium, with the show followed by a coffee and dessert reception, courtesy of the school's new hospitality program.

The event is more than just a show for Wollenberg and the performers; it's the realization of a dream that's been a long time coming. Having provided the community with quality entertainment year after year, student performers now have a venue that will allow for bigger and better things to come. The 600-seat auditorium features state-of-the-art lighting and sound systems, dressing and make-up rooms, ample space for set construction and storage, as well as a professional-grade flown rigging system, courtesy of additional funding from the Boyer City Foundation For Educational Excellence. In recent weeks, performances by talent both local and international, such as the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra and jazz man Marcus Belgrave, have attested to the ability of the facility to accommodate the needs of high-quality acts. According to Wollenberg, the bookings prove the "if you build it, they will come" theory. "It's incredible," he said of the talent lined up, already, to perform at the venue.

The performer lined up for the Saturday, Nov. 23, show further attests to that fact. Matthew Chellis, a world-class opera talent who has performed in such venues as Carnegie Hall and the Lincoln Center, will take the stage at 8 p.m., presenting operatic arias, lieder, and selections from musical theatre. Chellis, who also happens to be a graduate of Boyer City High School, currently is under contract with the New York City Center Opera and teaches at New York University.

Chellis' performance will also be followed by a dessert and coffee reception.

Both performances, Wollenberg said, add up to a weekend of community celebration, one that he hopes

Narrowing the field

BC commission selects four city manager candidates for interviews

After a special meeting last Wednesday to narrow down the field, Boyer City commissioners announced their four final candidates to fill the city manager position, with interviews scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 13.

Five candidates were announced initially, though by press time, one candidate had withdrawn his application.

The four remaining candidates will be interviewed as follows: 1 p.m., Thomas J. Dempsey; 2 p.m., Michael Cain; 3 p.m., Todd J. Campbell; 4 p.m., Maureen M. Barry.

At 6 p.m., an informal reception for candidates and community members will be hosted by the Boyer Area

Chamber of Commerce at City Hall, followed at 7 p.m. by a reconvening of the commission for discussion and possible designation of a lead candidate and alternates.

The public is invited to attend all events including the interviews, and there will be time scheduled for public comment.

According to interim city manager Richard Huebler, the city received 59 applications for the position by last week's deadline. The interest, he said, "says a whole lot about the community."

Interviews will be held in commission chambers at City Hall.

Firearm deer season could set records

By LINDA GALLAGHER
Contributing Writer

Across northern Michigan, cash registers are ringing, motels are filling up and rifle ranges are booming as area hunters ready themselves for what may be, with continued cold weather, another record firearms deer season, according to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

"We're just hoping for a little cooperation from the weather, although with the amount of weather pressure in the woods during the first few days of the season, the deer should keep moving, whether we've got a foot of snow on the ground or it's 70 degrees outside, like it was last year," said Glen Matthews, Northern District Biologist from his office in Gaylord. "But even when the weather is warmer, hunter success is higher, because hunters are willing to spend more time in the woods. Warmer weather isn't likely to be the case this year, but I think we'll still have a good season."

Although the size of the state's white-tail deer herd has been reduced in recent years because of liberalized hunting regulations and extended seasons, hunters can still expect to see plenty of deer, said department officials. Reportedly, herd estimates were at 1.8 million deer prior to the start of the archery season in October — a seven percent drop over last year's numbers.

"We've done some shining routes in some areas of the state that indicated there may be even more deer out there this year than last on private lands in some areas," Matthews said.

Charlevoix County hunters will find the highest densities of deer on the western side of the county, said Matthews.

"Private land on that side of the county keeps hunting pressure to a minimum most of the season, and abundant agricultural food sources keep populations of whitetails high," he said.

Matthews added that hunters will see DEER SEASON on page 2

Leaving a legacy of caring

Last week, Boyer City lost one of its most tireless community volunteers with the passing of Marie Zoberski. From senior citizens to the Boyer River, Marie's devotions were strong and varied, and acted upon until the very end. Close friend and neighbor Tom Sheets, who hosted a memorial service honoring Marie's memory on Monday, called her the "Queen of the Boyer River." She was that, and much more. Following is an article The Citizen-Journal ran in July of this year, when Marie was honored as grand marshal of Boyer's Fourth of July parade.

Though she's nearing her 90th birthday (this September), Boyer City's Marie Zoberski shows no signs of slowing down. Retired in 1977 from her store manager's job in Petoskey, she's spent the better part of the last 25 years filling her days with volunteer work, from the Red Cross, to Hospice, to the Commission on Aging, and co-founding the Friends of the Boyer River with neighbor Tom Sheets.

Being honored this year as the Grand Marshal for the annual Boyer City Fourth of July parade, Zoberski is modest about being chosen. "I'm not really sure what I'm supposed to do," Zoberski said, modeling the red, white, and blue outfit she was considering to wear on the big day.

While she may not be so sure about her role as grand marshal, it's certain that it's a fitting tribute to the lifetime of service and commitment Zoberski's given the community.

Donations, volunteers needed to spread holiday cheer

Each year, the Boyer Area Community Christmas touches the lives of hundreds of area residents, providing holiday food and gifts to families in need.

Operating under the motto, "That no child or family in the Boyer area be without a Christmas," the group is already hard at work, looking to secure the donations needed to make the holiday season a happy one for all area families.

According to committee member Ardith Hawley, the effort is currently accepting donations of money, food, toys, games, books, and mittens. Checks can be mailed to treasurer Eleanor West at 915 Robinson St., #15, Boyer City, MI 49712; food and gifts can be dropped off at schools or churches, or pick-up can be arranged by calling Hawley at 582-7880.

After Dec. 1, toys can be dropped off at the Boyer City Early Childhood Education building (formerly the Boyer City Middle School) from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Those with names of individuals or families who could benefit from the program are also asked to contact

Hawley. Information should include the names, ages, and gender of children, exact address and telephone number.

In addition to donations of funds and goods, volunteers are needed for packing boxes, which will be done on Friday, Dec. 20, at the Knights of Columbus Hall on M-75 South in Boyer City. Food and donations can be dropped off at 9 a.m.; packers are needed at 10 a.m., and delivery assistance is needed at 1 p.m.

In addition to individuals, churches, scouts, clubs, and other organizations are asked to collect toys, canned and non-perishable foods, mittens and books for the effort. For help in planning a collection project, call Ruth Witek at 582-3152 or 357-4197.

Book exhibit runs through Nov. 24

The Jordan River Arts Council celebrated the opening of the International Book Arts Exhibit on Sunday, Oct. 27, with a reception and guest lecture by exhibit curator Chad Pastonik at the Jordan River Art Center in East Jordan. According to Jordan River Arts Council board member Jane Diller, art patrons came from "miles around" to attend the event. "This is a very sophisticated exhibit," she said. "It's great. Patrons cannot believe it."

Curator Chad Pastonik, left, explains the process of bookmaking to interested patrons at the exhibit's opening reception.

Though book artists from Michigan are emphasized in the exhibit, there are also entries from Canada, Scotland, England, France, Australia, and elsewhere in the United States. Only limited-edition books (from five to 200 artist-printed copies) have been accepted. The exhibit runs through Nov. 24, and is open daily from 1-4 p.m. Other times can be arranged. The art center is located at 301 Main St., East Jordan. For more information, call the art center at 536-3385.

Marie Zoberski

Growing up in the Wildwood Harbor area, Zoberski is technically from Walloon Lake, she said, but "this is my town." She graduated from Boyne City High School in 1930, coming from a family in which community service was simply a way of life. "I saw my parents do things for everybody," she said. "It was the thing to do." The example taught her, she added, that "this is the way you live, this is the way you make the world better."

No-one could say that Zoberski hasn't done her share. Most of her days are still occupied with volunteer work, as well as checking in on sick or lonely friends and neighbors. "My main job is volunteering," she said. "Somebody needs to do it."

And she, Zoberski is quick to point out, isn't the only one. "Every single group I'm involved with has got some great people," she said. "Boyne City is very fortunate to have the people we have here. They're generous, dedicated."

In her home on the Boyne River, located in Boyne City's first designated historic district on Pearl Street, Zoberski has a stunning view of the river, one which, not surprisingly, served to move her into action yet again. Three years ago, dismayed by the spread of the invasive and damaging non-native Purple Loosestrife, Zoberski joined with neighbor Sheets, another Boyne River enthusiast, to create the Friends of the Boyne River. The organization generally aims to return the river to its previous incarnation as a blue ribbon trout stream, but Zoberski's personal focus was on the eradication of loosestrife, a pretty but damaging plant that's become sort of her hallmark. In recent years

Zoberski has appeared in the Fourth of July parade with other members of the growing FOBR decked out in a purple gown, riding atop a purple boat, dubbed "The Queen of Purple Loosestrife."

Though she's earned that tongue-in-cheek title (the loosestrife, by the way, is "just about licked"), she's also earned much more, including the admiration of a grateful community. And, according to Marie, in the end she'll keep on giving — when she passes away, she said with a smile, her body will be donated to the medical school in Ann Arbor for research. And even in the hereafter, she figures, she'll have something to do. "I'll probably dust the angels wings," Zoberski said with a laugh.

For the time being, though, she figures that even if she's got plenty of years left, she's still got an awful lot of work to do. "I've just got to work harder, work faster," she said. "I have to stay here until I get it done."

Her hard work, it's obvious, is much appreciated. "She's the queen of the Boyne River," said Sheets admiringly. A queen, indeed.

Thank You

want to keep an eye on cut corn and buckwheat fields as well as alfalfa pastures, especially right after dawn and before dark.

On the eastern side of the county, Matthews also forecasted a good season.

"With the mildness of last winter, we had low winter mortality, even in the traditionally colder areas east of Mancelona," he said.

Even with a late cold spring, fawn production was good, according to Matthews.

"We're asking hunters to take a second look at what they may think is a doe — it may be a young button buck," he said.

Public land hunters should consider areas with good mast production and aspen browse.

With relatively few wild apples available, deer will most likely feed on beechnut and the tops of young aspen trees.

"The buck harvest should be as good, or even slightly better than it has been in the last 10 years. I'm expecting that we'll see more above average antler development," Matthews said. Due to a lower number of antlerless permits issued on both private and public lands, Matthews anticipates fewer antlerless deer filling freezers this winter.

"Last year, we had a high number of antlerless permits available throughout the county and had an early antlerless season. This was done to deliberately reduce the number of antlerless deer, which reduces the risk of infection from bovine TB," he said.

A significant number of hunters were able to fill their tags last year, which lowered the herd numbers. Because the herd has stabilized to a more manageable number of animals, the MDNR limited the quota of available antlerless permits this season, both on public and private land, and did not hold an early antlerless season in Antrim. Although no deer from the county have tested positive for bovine tuberculosis since 1999, there is a continuing need to test samples, Matthews said. Area hunters may drop deer heads off for testing at MDNR check stations in Boyne Falls, Bellaire, Kalkaska, and Traverse City.

Baiting is allowed on all county lands this year, but hunters are reminded only two gallons or less may be placed on the ground at any one time and must be spread out over a 10-by-10 foot area.

The MDNR expects that more than 500,000 white-tailed deer will be harvested during the firearms deer season, which begins Nov. 15.

More than 760,000 hunters will spend more than $500 million dollars on food, lodging, transportation and equipment in the pursuit of venison before the season ends Nov. 30.

Sportsman's Club hosting gun sight-in

The Jordan River Sportsman's Club is continuing its annual gun sighting event on Wednesday, Nov. 13, and Thursday, Nov. 14. On Wednesday, the hours will be 10 a.m.-4 p.m., and Thursday, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the event, at which NRA and DNR instructors will be available to sight rifles at a cost of $5 for one rifle, or $7 for two.

Instructors, targets, and spotters are supplied by the club. Coffee, hot chocolate, donuts, and soup will be available at the event.

The club grounds are located on East Jordan-Advance Road.

The Jordan River Sportsman's Club is a family-oriented, non-profit club which offers members use of a shooting range, participation in various scheduled shoots, family parties, and an annual historic encampment event. Meetings are held the fourth Thursday of each month at 7 p.m., except for the month of November.

Conference shed light on the good works of Michigan libraries

By NANNETTE MILLER

The Michigan Library Association held its annual conference in Grand Rapids last week. I had signed up to attend, applied for and received a scholarship to help with the cost, and was looking forward to networking with my peers and gathering new ideas, not to mention spending a few days in the opulent Amway Grand Plaza Hotel.

Then things changed. Being gone from work and home for a week became more of a troublesome ordeal than an anticipated event. I grumbled about not having time to spare to go to a conference, and how I wished I had never signed up.

I forgot something very important. It is energizing to take time off from the daily routine and spend time around people who share your passion for a profession. I saw librarians, trustees, and volunteers from around the state being honored and recognized for their work; I heard inspiring speeches from writers and politicians who love and support libraries; I learned useful and usable ideas that we can implement here to provide better service.

Michigan libraries do a fantastic job of providing information and service to residents, in spite of being seriously under-funded by the state. What support we do receive from the state is constantly under threat from other groups. And yet libraries all over Michigan are doing great things, from building new buildings to offering creative programs and services for adults and kids. In fact, the Kalamazoo Public Library was chosen as the Library of the Year for the entire country.

None of this would be possible without strong local support for libraries. When the state gives us 43 cents per person per year, we could not even exist if our local communities did not support us with their tax dollars, gifts, and donations.

I left Grand Rapids with a renewed appreciation of the importance of libraries to their communities, and gratitude for what we have here in Boyne City. I thank you all for your support.

(Nannette Miller is the director of the Boyne District Library.)

Challenge Mountain fund-raiser enjoyed large attendance

Saturday, Oct. 26, 2002, marked the beginning of an annual tradition for Challenge Mountain, located in the picturesque hills between Boyne Falls and Walloon Lake.

The first fundraiser for Challenge Mountain proved to be quite successful with large numbers in attendance. Party-goers were treated to hay rides, courtesy of the Sam and Barb Cadwell family with their large working horses. Young and old were delighted as they plodded along well-loved trails on the cool dark night. Games were played with prizes going to all who participated.

Next came the truly spooky haunted house designed by long-time dedicated volunteers Jim and Terry Baker. From the decibel range coming from the house, it is guaranteed that the goblins were definitely spooked.

Following the haunted house came a live auction by Boyne City Chamber Executive Director Scott McKenzie.

A special thanks to Mr. McKenzie for a job extremely well done. Participants were delighted by the fun and innovative approach Mr. McKenzie has to his auctioneering.

The last portion of the evening was dedicated to a teen dance. The dancers moved their way through the fogged dance floor and danced until late in the evening.

Challenge Mountain would like to thank all those who donated to the fundraiser. They are: Scott McKenzie; Jay's Sporting Goods in Gaylord; Stafford's Hospitality; the Cadwells; Summertime Care Home from Mancelona; Boyne Country Books; Victories Casino; Huff's Pharmacy; Char-Em ISD; and Boyne City Public Schools.

If you would like information on next year's fundraiser or to volunteer, call (231) 535-2141.

Sue Moody,
Executive Director

Rambler soccer team sub sale a big success

Once again, Boyne City's Glen's Market, its bakery department and its deli crew have shown their community spirit with their donation of time and food.

Boyne City High School's boys soccer team would like to express gratitude to our Glen's Market, as well as its bakery manager, Regina, for making and donating 525 sub buns, and to Mary, their deli manager, for the 85 pounds of meat and condiments, as well as their supervision and support. The soccer team, 22 male athletes, was able to make the sandwiches at the Glen's Market, making it a much easier task than anticipated.

A special thank you to all that bought the subs from the hard-working athletes. We hope the subs were tasty and worthy of your donations. The $1,500 raised will help pay for the team's equipment, referees, transportation, and uniforms.

As we head into the holiday season, it's especially important to remember to shop locally - for it is our local businesses that support our children!

CORRECTION

In last week's Citizen-Journal, an article about the East Jordan ambulance service entitled "Making Patients the Priority" contained some unclear figures. The annual department payroll was reported as $48,000; according to city administrator David White, the figure in the 2002-03 budget actually totals $124,480, broken down into the following numbers: $34,480 for the full-time salary of ambulance director Jay Peck; $26,000 for the full-time salary of assistant director Chiara Leist; $7,000 for part-time employees; $48,000 total for ambulance attendants; and $9,000 for after hours pay.

Also, though it was reported that the City of East Jordan has contributed no funds to the ambulance service since it became an enterprise (self-supporting) fund in 1998, White said that in fact the City has contributed a total of $155,000 to the service, including $90,000 in the 1998-99 fiscal year; $30,000 in the 1999-00 fiscal year; and $35,000 in the 2000-01 fiscal year. The ambulance service is repaying a portion of those funds with a $30,000 payment annually.

Red Devil mom remembers great moments

TO THE EDITOR:

Oct. 26, 2002 was a night filled with excitement and memories, for it was the EJ Red Devils Parent night. As I stood on the field for the last time with my son Robert and his senior friends Scott, Kevin, Jon and Bryan the tears came to my eyes. All the memories of years past that these guys have played sports together. What great moments there are.

It was a very exciting and emotional night for some of us parents. We watched our sons play their last high school game. It was great to see them encourage each other and have fun. They went through a lot of change. They still played with all their heart and soul for the love of the game.

I would like to say a big thank you to coach Bowden, coach Webb, coach Kitson, coach Peterson and coach Sherman. You all have played a role in Robert's love for the game.

To Robert's other teammates, thank you for a great year and good luck to you next year.

With another tear in my eye, I love you (all) Robert, Scott, Kevin, Jon and Bryan.

May all your dreams come true.

Bonnie Grover

NEIGHBORS

By NANCY NORTHUP

I AM BACK on the job after a really nice vacation, visiting my favorite Floridian family, and doing all the fun things we did. More fun family visits were here at home, as my stepbrother, Kenny May and wife Lena made a surprise visit from Kentucky, Sunday until Friday. Much thanks and appreciation goes out to Louisa, for doing such a nice job filling in on the Neighbors column for me and also to both brother Nels and Louisa for the to-and-from Cherry Capitol Airport trips and dinner on my return. Aren't families great!

AN INTERESTING item came in from Theresa Hecker of Boyne Falls, who wanted to report that the swans that live in the millpond have left the area for the winter season. The parents only had one swaddling this year and she thought they flew off and headed south. Is this a sign of a rough winter? This is an early departure compared to the swans that have inhabited this pond in the past. Any swan experts out there?

HEARTFELT SYMPATHIES go out to the family and friends of Jo (Kelts) Kipapa of Alba, formerly of Boyne City. And the same, for Marie Zoberiski and Zola Hardy. The young and the older, have passed away this past week, all community life links that left their footprints on the hearts of many.

DAWN TILLOTSON from Walloon Lake and daughter, Shiela Blough from Saline, Mich. flew to Seattle, Wash. to visit Ruth Foster who is Dawn's sister. "We had a good time visiting and seeing the fall colors, which were better than ours this year," said Dawn. GUESTS AT the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gary Mellon on the weekend of Nov. 2 were Chris and Erika McCleary with daughter, Riley.

PRAYERS AND encouragement go out for Lee Cloyd, who retired for medical reasons, from the Boyne City Police Department in July. Lee had a heart attack last Saturday, and after the resulting cardiac catheterization she started bleeding internally from the femoral artery. On Monday, she had surgery to repair the leak and is now at home, taking it easy.

THERE WAS a good turnout for the pre-Christmas Avon Sale in the Litzenger Place community room on Saturday. All were pleased to see the smiling Avon Lady, Flo Kuzmick, who was assisted this year by resident Kelly May.

JEANETTE ACCOMPANIED Jean Korhase and mother-in-law, Vera Avery, on Friday to Gaylord where they met former Boyne resident, Hilda Noffze. Hilda, Jean, and Vera have remained close friends for more than 50 years and all enjoyed lunch and a wonderful day.

GEORGE HUTZLER, formerly of Boyne City, was taken by ambulance early Sunday morning, from Grandvue to the Charlevoix Area Hospital, with pneumonia.

SADIE BELFORD, daughter of Pee-wee and Bardel Belford, enjoyed a trip to Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., this past week, with Kay Sweet and daughter and son, all of Boyne City. They visited Kay's brother and wife, USMC Kevin and Sheila Crandall and family. HOWARD AND SHARON STEWART have returned to Kodiak, Alaska after having spent the past two weeks visiting her mother, Flo Kominski, in Boyne City and his parents Laura and Earl Closs of Indian River.

"BETTER LATE than never" news comes from the Boyne City Senior Citizens. They were pleased with the great turnout for the Oct. 27 Dinner/Raffle event held at the East Jordan Senior Center. Winners of the eight items raffled off were: the Thomas Kinkadee throw went to Ronnie Fish of Boyne City; the large painting by Steve McCarry went to Lynn Ann Reed of East Jordan; the painted pail of goodies, painted by Ron Powers, went to Norma Griffin of Boyne Falls; the hand-crocheted afghan, by Mary Dunlop, went to Bill Witte of Litzenger Place; the small painting by Steve McCarry went to Fred Benser of Boyne City; the hand made doily by Naomi Davis went to D. R. Tanski of Ohio; the comfort cushion went to Norm Gardner of Boyne City; and the two Michigan flags, donated by Senator Jason Allen, went to Sandra Lamy of Boyne City. All proceeds of the raffle were earmarked for the Building Fund of the new Boyne City Senior Center. Much thanks to all who helped in this project!

THE RICHARD WRIGHTS of Boyne City visited their son and his family in Dallas, Texas this week. They enjoyed being with their grandchildren, also seeing long-horned cattle and beautiful horses.

'Their best game of the season'

■ Boyne City loses a close one to Harbor Springs

If there was to look at on paper, there was no way the Boyne City Ramblers should have stood a chance against Harbor Springs last Tuesday.

Harbor came into the game undefeated while the Ramblers have been struggling for wins this season.

But that's why you play the game.

And the Ramblers came to play. The first time the two teams met, Harbor Springs won by 38 points. Last Tuesday, the Ramblers led by four at the start of the first quarter before the game slipped away and Harbor escaped with a 47-41 victory.

"The girls played their best game of the season," said Boyne City head coach Maurie Tomkins. "This game shows the character these girls have. The team played a disciplined and controlled game."

One key to the Ramblers' success was their rebounding advantage.

"We did an outstanding job of controlling the boards and giving Harbor only one shot," Tomkins said.

"I couldn't have been more pleased with the team's effort and execution."

The Ramblers shot 36 percent from the field and 79 percent from the free-throw line.

AGAINST ST. FRANCIS on Thursday, it was a different story for the Ramblers, who were overwhelmed 76-42.

"The Glads came out firing and never looked back," Tomkins said. "It was parents' night, seniors' night and Laura Fewins, a four-year varsity starter, scored her 1,000-career point in the first quarter."

Boyne City trailed by six after the first quarter and was down 16 at the half.

Foster led the Ramblers with nine points while Mallory O'Brien and Amber Lehto each had eight. Lehto also had eight rebounds.

"Amber played her second solid game in a row," Tomkins said.

For the game the Ramblers shot 41 percent from the field and 50 percent from the free-throw line.

The Ramblers are 3-14 overall this season and 2-9 in conference play. They closed out the regular season Tuesday against Charlevoix and open district tournament play next Wednesday.

Boyne City's Lyndsay Tomkins looks for a shot under heavy pressure from the Harbor defense.

Kim Foster led the team with 12 points and six rebounds, and Lyndsay Tomkins with 11 points and six rebounds. Amber Lehto scored six

Two slip away from Red Devils on the road

■ East Jordan tuning up for district tourney after close losses to Kalkaska and Ellsworth

The experience of playing so many close games will eventually pay off for the East Jordan Red Devil basketball team, but the learning process certainly has been disappointing.

Last week, East Jordan had its chances but both times the game slipped away and they suffered a 73-70 loss at Kalkaska and a 57-52 loss at Ellsworth.

The Red Devils travelled to Kalkaska Nov. 5 where they matched every move the home team made in the first quarter, save one, allowing the Blazers to hold a 20-18 lead. Again, the second quarter was a tooth and nail festival of skills, with the Red Devils just one score short of balance with their hosts. The 37-33 halftime score promised more tight play in the second half.

The third quarter put a damper on that hope, as the Blazers got hot and built a 63-51 lead, but East Jordan fought back and nearly pulled it out in the final period.

Courtney Hammond paced the offense with 40 points, while Jill Derenzy and Sierra Roberts each scored seven, and Amy Schroeder scored six.

Kalkaska won the JV game 67-35. Tabitha Grover scored a game-high 15 points for East Jordan, and Jalessa Baier scored 14.

THE TRAVELS OF the Red Devils continued Thursday as Ellsworth welcomed them in for a game. That was the last nice thing Ellsworth did as the Lady Lancers were seeking revenge for a loss to East Jordan earlier this season, one of only three losses for the 16-3 Lady Lancers.

The Lady Lancers had the Red Devils on the run last week, making up for their loss to EJ earlier in the season.

10 points once more, but a three pointer, steal and lay in by Hammond got the Devils close again, 53-48.

Then with 35 seconds to go East Jordan was down by only three but that was as close as the Red Devils would Ellsworth started fast, scoring the first seven points of the game, but baskets by Claire Niewendorp and Jessica Skop helped get the East Jordan recovery going, and by the end of the first quarter, the gap was 18-12.

The second period started with a 9-0 run by the Lady Lancers but again East Jordan righted itself and stayed in the game, trailing 36-28 at the half.

It was more of the same to start the third period; with Ellsworth starting hot, scoring the first eight points before East Jordan came back to stay within striking distance.

Jill Derenzy started the fourth quarter off with a trey for the Red Devils to cut Ellsworth's lead to nine. The Lady Lancer lead would reach East Jordan's Courtney Hammond had another stellar week, tallying 40 points against Kalkaska, and 33 against rival Ellsworth.

come. Hammond had another stellar scoring game with 33 points, while Derenzy and Skop each had six.

"It didn't go well," said East Jordan coach Lisa Parrish.

"We didn't play until it was too late."

Ellsworth won the JV game 55-34. Tabitha Grover scored 12 and Jalessa Baier 10 for East Jordan.

East Jordan tunes up for the district tournament with two home games this week. They played Harbor Springs on Tuesday and host Bellaire on Thursday for Parents Night.

Teams gearing up for district tournament

Though it's been an up and down season for both Boyne City and East Jordan girls basketball squads, the slates are clean as the teams head into the district tournament, to be hosted this year by Elk Rapids High School.

Boyne City drew a bye for the first round, meaning that on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m. they'll play the winner of the East Jordan-Harbor Springs match-up, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 18., at 5 p.m.

Also on Monday, Nov. 18, Charlevoix will take on host Elk Rapids at 7 p.m. Mancelona drew a bye for the first round and will face the winner of the Charlevoix-Elk Rapids game on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m. The district championship game will be played on Friday, Nov. 22, at 6 p.m.

Boyne City closed out its regular season against Charlevoix on Tuesday night, and East Jordan is scheduled to finish the regular season against Bellaire on Thursday.

For more information on tickets for the district games, contact Boyne City High School athletic director Kirk Kujawski at 439-8100 or East Jordan High School athletic director Steven Hines at 536-0053, ext. 5326.

Open gym begins Nov. 19

Proceeds from holiday cards to benefit hospice programs

With November being designated as National Hospice Month, Hospice of Northwest Michigan will celebrate by introducing the organization's Christmas cards for 2002.

This year the Hospice has three cards to offer. The first is a sled resting against a white birch (inside, "Wishing you a Christmas brightened with laughter, warmed by good company and glowing with lasting memories") designed by Chris Fall Knight of Boyne City. The second features the lighthouse down by the harbor in Boyne City (inside, "May this loving, caring season give you reason to rejoice") by Kay Gee of Harper Woods, who also offers a decorated sailboat, towing a rowboat with presents and a Christmas tree (inside, "A time to remember, a time to look ahead, a time to share the beauty and joy of the season").

The cards are available at Boyne Country Books, Boyne City; Busy Bridge Gifts and Antiques, East Jordan; The Clothing Company and Trademark Clothiers, Charlevoix; and Sturgeon River Pottery and Wild Bird Supply in Petoskey.

Proceeds from the sale of these cards will help further the work of Hospice of Northwest Michigan.

Local artists created the designs for the three cards offered this year.

Cosmetic contacts can cause big trouble

By STEVEN HUFFORD, OPTOMETRIST

Halloween has come and gone and the costumes have been put away.

I sincerely hope that the cosmetic contacts have also been put away, or rather thrown away. This Halloween the public became more aware of the dangers in purchasing cosmetic contact lenses from drug stores and convenience stores. They were being sold without a prescription or proper fitting. The FDA stopped in and helped to remove them from their shelves.

Poor-fitting contact lenses can be very dangerous to the health of your eyes and permanent loss of sight can occur. Contact lenses, unlike eyeglasses, come into direct contact with the cornea (the outermost clear covering over the iris).

The curve of the cornea must be carefully measured. A contact lens must be selected with a back curve that matches the front curve of the eye. This creates a sandwich effect, first the cornea then the tear film then the contact lens. Fresh tears will clean the eye and oxygen passes through the contact lens to keep the cornea healthy. Poorly fitting contacts keep this from happening. The front surface of the eye can develop diseases such as corneal ulcers, neovascularization and epithelia sloughing. In as few as eight hours, permanent vision damage can occur from contact lenses. They can and do cause pain, loss of sight or the need for a corneal transplant.

If you think of contacts as you would shoes, one size does not fit all. Poorly fit shoes cause pain and blisters. This is not what you want on the cornea of your eye.

So, if you want your eyes to look like a cat's or an alien's would, if you want them all white, or perhaps just a different color, make sure you see an eye care professional for the proper fit and proper lens wearing program to keep your vision clear and your eyes healthy.

Questions and comments can be directed to Hufford Vision and Eye Care, 225 State St., Boyne City, MI 49712.

New investment representative heading up Boyne City Edward Jones office

The financial-services firm Edward Jones has hired Jay Duggan as the investment representative to open Edward Jones' branch office in Boyne City.

"We're very proud to have Jay on board as we become part of the community," said John Bachmann, managing partner of Edward Jones. "He brings a level of commitment and enthusiasm that is certain to benefit his clients."

Duggan said he is excited to be opening an office for a firm that has built a reputation on serving individual investors.

"Edward Jones is the largest financial-services firm in the nation," Duggan said. "I have been impressed with the interest the firm's headquarters in St. Louis has shown in this office. The Boyne Area and the investors who live here, are very important to the firm, and I really like that."

"I'm eager to become acquainted with all the people in these towns. Duggan said. "I'm looking forward to settling down here and I am planning to become an active member in these communities."

Edward Jones, the only major financial-services firm advising individual investors exclusively, traces its roots to 1871 and currently serves nearly 6,000,000 clients. The firm offers its clients a variety of investments, including certificates of deposit, taxable and non-taxable bonds, stocks and mutual funds.

The new office is located at 101 S. Lake St., Boyne City.

Last week, community members attended a ribbon cutting and open house at the Edward Jones office in Boyne City to welcome Jay Duggan.
