The Boyer Area Chamber of Commerce will present internationally renowned harmonica player Peter "Madcat" Ruth in concert on Friday, July 18, at the Boyer City High School Auditorium, at 8 p.m.

Ruth has taken his harmonica across America, to Mexico, Europe, Australia, and New Zealand during his 40-year career, traversing music genres and spending time with jazz music's Dave Brubeck Quartet. "Madcat has got to be one of the greatest jazz soloists in terms of getting an audience," Brubeck said. "He's got that magical quality... He's into music without categories."

Tickets are $15 for adults, and $5 for children ages 12 and under.

Making changes

Amendment to zoning ordinance will allow hotels on BC waterfront

Boyer City City Commissioners recently approved the first reading of a zoning ordinance amendment that will, if it makes it to final approval, allow hotels as a conditional use within the Waterfront Marina District.

The proposed amendment was already approved by the Boyer City Planning Commission in June.

If approved by commissioners, the amendment will allow for possible hotel development on three key downtown waterfront properties, including the Big C property, Honeywell, and the property at the end of Water Street currently occupied by the Garrett's of Water Street restaurant.

Though a hotel plan is currently being proposed by the Devlon Corporation as part of their marina development plans for the Big C property on North Lake Street, commissioners were clear that the move was not being made as a concession to any one property. "We're not proposing to amend this ordinance for any one particular property or any one particular developer," said commissioner

East Main streetscape project a go in Boyer City

In a final step prior to the beginning of work on Boyer City's East Main Street Streetscape Project, city commissioners approved a recommendation to award the bid for streetscape improvements to low bidder H&D Inc.

Coming in at a total of $339,031, H&D's bid includes the equipment and installation for street lights, tree receptacles, and electrical service for the project. Also bidding were MDC Contracting, at $355,429.50 and Tri County Excavating at $407,751.00. Bids were received in May.

The bid award means the final piece is in place to start work on the East Main Street Streetscape, a project being completed in conjunction with the Downtown Development Authority.

The street improvements scheduled include intersection bumpouts, all new curbs and paving, a widening of the street by approximately four feet to better accommodate traffic and parking, brick pavers, trees and decorative streetlights, along the portion of Main Street between East and Lake streets. Elements of the project, said city manager Michael Cain, such as pavers and streetlights, will match those used on the Riverwalk project adjacent to the Boyer River behind Water Street.

While the decision has been made to award the final bid, the city has in recent weeks had to work out a few snags in the project, including bid results that came in higher than anticipated and budgeted for.

Through a combination of "funding shifts," said Cain at the recent commission meeting, involving the DDA, street, and water/sewer budgets, City officials were able to manipulate funds to make the project work. In the process, components of the project were eliminated, such as pavers in the bumpouts on the north side of Main between Park and East streets. All elements cut, Cain noted, were items that "we feel don't fundamentally change the nature of the project."

While no commissioners took issue with changes in the project itself, it was the issue of the roadway's final paving that created some concern among the board at last week's meeting, after learning that the new pavement might need to be torn up at a later time due to the potential need for a new force main in the process

Many will benefit from early Christmas

For those who don't wish to wait until December for one of Al Lawson's traditional Christmas dinners, now is your chance to get an early holiday feast.

Lawson and other volunteers are hosting a Christmas Dinner in July event, featuring a traditional holiday dinner with all the trimmings, on Saturday, July 19, from 4-7 p.m. To be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Boyer City, the event will benefit both the Senior Citizens Building Fund and the Presbyterian church's stained glass restoration fund.

The cost to attend the dinner is by donation. All are welcome; those who will attend are asked to call 582-7841 with the number in their party, in order to help with meal planning. The First Presbyterian Church is located at 401 S. Park St., Boyer City.

Volunteers are currently accepting donations of unprepared food, and will need additional helping hands to put on the event. To help with a donation of time, food, or money, call Lawson at 582-7841.

Fund-raiser will help family in crisis

Spaghetti dinner will benefit family of local resident diagnosed with pituitary tumor

For most area high school graduates, early June was a time for celebrating, enjoying being the center of attention at their own open houses or dropping in at those of their friends.

For 2003 Boyer City High School grad Josh Hampton, though, this past spring was a time of crisis. A week after graduation, Hampton missed his own open house, hospitalized once more in his battle against cancer.

Diagnosed in the fall of 2002, Hampton began his senior year of high school with an emergency surgery to remove a tumor in his skull. Unfortunately, the surgery wasn't a total success — a residual inoperable piece of tumor has regrown and compressed important brain structures, resulting in severe chronic migraine and the loss of vision in his left eye.

Hampton has had to undergo Gamma Knife Radiotherapy, a procedure only performed at Detroit's Wayne State University Harper Hospital.

Josh's spirits through the ordeal have remained strong — strong enough to keep up his studies and graduate with his class in June.

For any family going through such a crisis, maintaining the level of funds to pay for mounting medical bills and necessary care can be a daunting, and frustrating, task. In this case, Hampton's aunt Dawn Johnson is hoping that the community can do what it does best, pull together to help. To that end, Johnson and other friends and relatives have organized a Spaghetti Dinner Fund-raiser, to be held on Friday, Aug. 8, from 5-8 p.m. at the Boyer City High School.

"I just tried to do something positive," Johnson said of organizing the event. "He's a really sweet boy. We wanted to let him know that everybody's out there pulling for him."

The event will feature enter-to-win prizes and a 50/50 raffle. A Karaoke Hour will be held from 5-6 p.m. with Kerry Carson, and live country music will be provided by local band Sagebrush

Walloon celebrates release of new book

By JIM SHEPHERD

Like young children waiting for Christmas morning, the Friends of the Crooked Tree District Library could hardly contain their excitement as the day for the unveiling of their newest project dawned. After years of collecting old photographs and long hours organizing them and compiling stories, their new book "Walloon Yesterdays" arrived from the printer just hours before the much-anticipated book signing at the library in Walloon Lake.

Co-author Cynny Hermann described the book as "a pictorial history of Walloon Lake and its people from 1870 to recent history." She was joined at the signing by co-authors Mary Erb and Charles Schloff. Hermann said the idea for the book came about as people in the area expressed an interest in the history of the lake, its people and area businesses. The Friends of the Crooked Tree District Library began exploring the idea and in November of 1999 the project got underway.

The first task was to collect as much information about the history of Walloon Lake as possible. To do this, the Friends asked people of the Walloon Lake area to lend pictures, diaries and journals relating to the lake, along with stories and anecdotes. Notices in the Walloon Lake Association newsletter helped get the word out, and the response was impressive. Hermann credits the people of Walloon Lake for active participation.

"More than 60 people contributed by lending pieces of personal history to the project." People contributed information about everything from local businesses and tourist attractions to stories about the lake itself.

During the three years, the Friends group was also active in fundraising for the project, creating Walloon Lake coloring books, tiles, and other items to sell.

The book became a labor of love to Friends members Hermann and Erb, who is also the treasurer for the Crooked Tree District Library board of trustees. Charles Schloff, author of "A Pictorial History of Bayshore," offered his expertise and the threesome began the long process of creating a book from all their collected treasures.

"The organization of the material was an important step," said Hermann, "we had to scan and format the material into the computer and organize the timeline."

Co-authors Cynny Hermann, left, Mary Erb and Charles Schloff were kept busy signing their book "Walloon Yesterdays" recently at the Crooked Tree District Library. Last week's official release of the book was the culmination of a project that began in November of 1999. The book is now available at select locations across northern Michigan.

Completing the process, captions and stories were inserted as historical explanations to the pictures. Hermann credits Schloff for doing most of the writing and computer scanning.

The book is very comprehensive and remarkably complete, as it contains individual sections devoted to resorts, cottages, boating, people, business, and finally the village itself. According to Hermann, one very interesting point the book makes is the interest in fishing on Walloon Lake. She claims that work on the project really taught her how important fishing has been to the region, as it has brought people and money to Walloon Lake.

The Friends chose Mitchell Graphics in Petoskey to do the printing of the book, and 1750 copies were printed. The book is available for $45 at the library in Walloon Lake, the Walloon Village General Store, and Triton Marine; Boyne Country Books in Boyne City; and McLean and Eakin Booksellers and the Little Traverse Historical Museum in Petoskey.

Boyer City Commission clears riparian issue on 'Big C' property

Acting on a recommendation from city manager Michael Cain, the Boyne City Commission last week agreed to allow the use of a riparian line between 475 and 525 North Lake Street as presented on marina plans recently put before the City by the Devlon Corporation. The action came after commissioners requested, at their June 10 regular meeting, an opinion on the proposed line from Benchmark Engineering. The firm had previously been engaged to review a comprehensive Riparian Study conducted by surveyor Sherm Chamberlain earlier this year at the behest of the City.

While the entire riparian study is still under consideration, the riparian line between the Lake Street properties has come under more immediate scrutiny due to the status of marina plans currently being proposed for the site.

According to Cain, Benchmark's report concluded that while the proposed riparian line might not necessarily be the line they would propose, any difference between the line proposed by Devlon and a

The best riparian line is one that's agreed upon by the abutting property owners.”
--Boyer City manager Michael Cain, quoting a report from Benchmark Engineering line they might suggest would be "minor."

In addition, Cain noted, Benchmark's report also reiterated a fact heard in previous discussions regarding riparian issues, that "the best riparian line is one that's agreed upon by the abutting property owners."

According to Devlon representative Jim Hevey, the line utilized in preparing the marina plans was one that was suggested by the City initially, following the completion of Chamberlain's initial survey.

Commissioners voted 5-

0 to approve the riparian line.

While the City was only able to take action on the north riparian line in the proposed Devlon project, being the only line that lay between the project and city property, a representative of the owners of the property abutting the south line, the Honeywell Corporation, was on hand to voice concerns over their own riparian issues.

"Honeywell has a number of concerns with this project," said Honeywell representative David Grande-Cassell. "We have a problem with that [south] riparian line, [which] clearly cuts out in front of the Honeywell property very acutely."

"Honeywell is not opposed to this [project] necessarily, but we're very concerned with how this will impact Honeywell property," Grande-Cassell went on to enumerate issues such as the effects of increased boating traffic and dredging on surrounding properties as areas of concern for Honeywell.

The issues, he conceded, were in part up to the review of the Department of Environmental Quality and the Army Corps of Engineers, both of whom must ultimately issue permits for a marina project to go forward; however, Grande-Cassell noted, "it's up to the property owners in the area to make sure those questions are asked."

According to Grande-Cassell and Devlon representative Hevey, the two parties would be meeting at a future date to discuss the issues.

In other areas of city interest regarding the Devlon marina proposal, commissioners followed the recommendation of city manager Cain to take no action on a request to concede ownership of a triangle-shaped piece of property located at 525 N. Lake Street, adjacent to the City boat launch and the Big C property being developed by Devlon. While Devlon has, through their attorney, requested that the property be conceded, City attorney Jim Murray has advised the commission that there is no reason to believe that Devlon has "a Valid adverse possession claim." As such, Cain recommended that the commission take no action, pending further information.

Zoning ordinance amendment

and planning commission member Vicki Standen. While the passing of the amendment would mean that the City will allow hotels in the district, it does not mean that all hotels proposed will be approved. As a conditional use, Standen noted, the amendment creates the possibility of building a hotel for developers when formulating plans to present to the planning board. "All this ordinance will do is to allow that possibility to go forward," she said. Even so, Devlon Corporation representative

James Hevey, present at the meeting, voiced his support for the change. "I really think this is something that moves your municipality forward from where it is to where it could be," Hevey said.

Likewise, several of those present at the meeting voiced support for the amendment. "The concept of having a hotel in or around the water is critical to the downtown," said Stephen Kircher of Boyne USA.

Boyer Area Chamber director Scott MacKenzie voiced similar support. "I have no question in my mind that a hotel with public access is the best use for the waterfront. I'm all in favor of the change."

Some pointed to the fact that in the original draft of the zoning ordinance, which was revised in 2001, hotels were included as a conditional usage up until the final steps in the ordinance approval process. "[The hotel as a permitted usage] was in the ordinance all along and was taken out at the last minute," said Boyne City's Gretchen Crum. "All indications are there that this would support the plan for Boyne City."

"When it was first taken off [of the zoning ordinance language] I was disappointed," Kircher noted. "You need those transient visitors interfacing with that waterfront."

According to city manager Michael Cain, the language of the currently proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance "does not change the size of the structure that could be put there, [but] only addresses what uses can go into that building."

A second reading of the amendment is scheduled for the regular Aug. 5 meeting of the city commission.

On behalf of Charlevoix Country Senior Citizens and the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, I would like to thank you for your generous contributions of support toward our annual celebration at our Senior Picnic July 9, 2003.

We also thank the numerous volunteers that helped that day cooking chicken, serving meals, setting up and cleaning up at Whittings Park. This was a tremendous community effort to put on such an event for our respected senior citizens.

The Picnic was a huge success and it was a beautiful day. Over 350 barbecued chickens and meals were served that day. All the seniors had a delicious lunch and a great time socializing and listening to the music. Over 250 door prizes were collected from individuals and local Charlevoix County businesses. Your contribution helped in making them feel special and appreciated.

Flywheelers hosting 16th annual tractor show

Summer's peak will be marked once again by the Walloon Lake Antique Tractor, Engine, and Craft Show, now in its 16th year.

The annual event will be held, as always, at the Flywheelers Show Grounds, located on US 131 between Boyne Falls and Walloon Lake.

This year's show will feature steel wheel tractors and John Deere engines; visitors will have the chance to watch old steam, oil, or gas tractors laboring at the sawmill, catch a view of cedar shingles being made and branded into souvenirs, watch horse plowing and tilling, and see a six-bottom Prairie Plow turn up soil just the way it was done at the turn of the century.

The original Ironton Ferry Diesel Engine will also be in operation on site.

Opening ceremonies will be held each day of the event at 9 a.m., followed by the popular Parade of

Stellar season ends for Boyne City 11&12 All Star Little Leaguers

While the season had been long over for most area Little Leaguers, Boyne City Little League 11 & 12 All Stars were still on the move until a district final loss to West Branch on Monday night ended their tournament run.

Despite the loss, the season, according to coach Kevin Klevorn, is one to remember.

Before their Monday night loss, the team topped Alpena in a semi-final match-up in Lewiston on Saturday, taking the win.

That win capped off a stellar week for the All Star team, which included a 12-7 victory over East Jordan last Wednesday, highlighted by a Grand Slam home run hit by the day's winning pitcher, BJ Billings. "He just absolutely crushed the ball," said the team's head coach Kevin Klevorn after the game. "It wasn't just a little bit out," concurred assistant coach Barry Cole. "[The team] was whooping it up."

The All Star run began for the 12-member team with a 10-5 win over Roscommon's All Stars on July 1, followed by a 7-2 victory over Gaylord, during which Billings put away his first homer of the series, bringing in three runs for the team.

Though the late last week the possibility of a district championship was in the offing, Klevorn, for his part, wasn't thinking quite that far ahead.

"We haven't done this before," he said of the experience. The goal, he noted, was to take the post-season play as they had the regular season match-ups -- one game at a time.

In addition to Cole, Klevorn is being supported in coaching duties by assistant coach Tim Smith, as well as volunteer Randy Kruzel.

Is unlimited netting of fish plundering the fish population?

TO THE EDITOR:

Who Has The Right To Plunder All The Fish? Does anyone, regardless of nationality, have the right to plunder the fish population into extinction? Why are we all so passive about allowing the Indians to continue to net all the fish? Sure they have a right to fish within some reasonable limits but even that should be a measured privilege that does not keep all the sportsmen from catching fish. There are virtually no Salmon and Lake Trout fish to catch this year around Charlevoix, Boyne and out into Lake Michigan.

At some point that will be everyone's problem. People are selling boats, cancelling charters and not bothering to buy fishing licenses. Selling cottages or spending vacation dollars elsewhere is the next step.

We cannot make up for taking Indian lands or broken treaties by giving away something stupid like the current open netting of fish.

At the same time the Indians got a few benefits from us moving here...like modern medicine, penicillin and what ever other advances to living we've brought and developed in two hundred years. And if we hadn't come here, do you think the other non-American conquerors would be as accommodating as we've been to Indian interests? So what can we do?

Stop buying fish caught and sold by Indians should be one first step. Protesting the problem by a collective boating effort is another. Not buying fishing licenses until the government gives us back our fish seems appropriate.

Why pay for a license, when our license fees get used to plant fish the Indians wipe out in just a few net sets.

Seems like the government wants to sell the fish twice as well. Once to the Indians and again later to the rest of us...except the fish are already gone.

Lastly don't go to an Indian Casino and give them your money, until they give us a fair chance to have our fish back.

We need to get the unfair federal rights given to Indians repealed and better managed. Let's talk about limiting fishing days to preserve and maximize the species for all of us to enjoy.

It seems a shame that the only local Salmon are decorated art statues on a metal pedestal.

What an icon of ignorance of gill net fishing the way it is being done now.

'No smoking' areas at Blissfest applauded by local coalition

TO THE EDITOR:

The members of the Tobacco Reduction Coalition are delighted that Blissfest will have designated "no smoking" areas this year. Congratulations to the Board of Directors for supporting clean air! Its decision will not only help reduce the number one cause of disease and death in Michigan, but it serves as a model for the community and other outdoor events to follow.

WWII demolition team to hold reunion in Boyne City

TO THE EDITOR:

In September we will have a reunion of Underwater Demolition Team 19 in Boyne City and would like to inform the public. We will be staying at the Water Street Inn Sept. 8, 9, and 10. Eleven of us have reservations now and this is only about 10 percent of our WWII roster. We wish there were more. Our wives and some of our families will be with us as we enjoy coming together again. Some of us will be going to Mackinaw Island on the ninth of September and may tour this area, but we still have time to enjoy a visit with anyone interested in meeting some guys who volunteered to serve their country doing extra hazardous duty. Warfare is hazardous; our units were designed to make amphibious landings less hazardous for the Marines and Army to get ashore.

As warfare changed so did the UDTs and as they evolved they became known as SEAL Teams during the Viet-Nam War. I believe the Seals have an advantage we lacked; they have six weeks of conditioning before beginning "Hell Week." Hell Week was the beginning for us soon after we got some 'shots' and new gear.

Peninsula Beach needs attention

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing in the hope that someone will take action in regard to the Peninsula Beach. Apparently, Thelma Behling's efforts to provide a beach was important to the city.

I am a summer resident and work here. My four year old daughter and myself enjoy going to this little beach almost on a daily basis, however we are having trouble with the lack of care given to this property. It is obvious that the condominiums rake and pick up debris at their end of the beach and zero is done to the city end. If you spent any time here you would find the following: numerous pieces of glass (not yet beach glass), paper, cigarette butts, wood pieces, washed up algae and now geese and duck droppings (as my daughter points out while playing.)

The swimming area also needs some care. Small and large pieces of wood in the water as I watched a father and son play and trip over them; when they left watched another young boy fall over perhaps the same piece or maybe another. Today I witnessed a woman bring her own rake to clean the area her family intended to play in. Eventually some one is going to get sick or hurt.

The only maintenance I have seen in the last three summers is the cutting of grass, garbage removal and I'm sure the restrooms. The point here is for the two months residents and visitors use this beach someone from the city needs to clean this area daily.

Unfortunately, we no longer spend the day. We will continue to check Peninsula Beach in the hope we can enjoy it again. We love Boyne City and the improvements it continues to make. Please do not ignore this asset to the community.

MANY THANKS

Hospice auction success means many community thank-yous

On June 6, Hospice of Northwest Michigan (formerly Charlevoix County Hospice, Inc.) sponsored another successful Benefit Auction, this year's theme being "It's A Beautiful Day In This Neighborhood." A very deep appreciation to all the artists, crafters and businesses in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties who donated to the auction. A deep appreciation to Boyne Mountain for again donating the Convention Center for the auction. A Thank You to Jim White who handled the verbal auction and kept the bids moving along. The music was provided by Margaret Thomson - who gave much joy to the evening. Thank you to Carol and Hank Ross - Carol for all the art work and Hank for the wonderful publicity. I want to thank all the volunteers who helped collect the items and also those who helped set up and worked the night of the auction. A Special Thank You to our cashiers - Tracy Conti, Suzanne and Jeff Rogers, Sharon White and Sherri Vigneau. A personal thank you to Margaret Lasater for taking the "Mistress of Ceremonies" role. Due to the generosity of those who attended and made generous bids, Hospice can continue to provide the high level of services that are needed for those making their final health care decisions. We also can continue to provide grief and bereavement services for all in need. We are very grateful to all of the people who supported us on that evening.

Sign-ups set for Boyne 4-H soccer program

Rotary Park will be filled once again with soccer balls and fast-moving youngsters in a few short weeks when Boyne Area 4-H youth soccer gets into gear. Final registration will be held Saturday, July 26 from 10 a.m. - noon at the Boyne City Senior Center. Registration is also ongoing at the 4-H office in Boyne City, located in city hall, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

The recreation league is available for players entering grades K-6. The season runs five weeks beginning Sept. 3, with two games per week. Practices are held at the coach's discretion before the season begins.

The cost is $30 per player; $45 for two siblings; and $60 maximum per family. If a player has a usable Boyne 4-H reversible jersey, $5 can be deducted from the cost. Carter's slips are accepted and need to be totaled and stapled together with adding machine tape attached. Scholarships are available. The soccer program is in need of volunteers. Coaches are needed, as well as those willing to serve on the volunteer board.

"This program only exists because of volunteers willing to spend a few hours of their time to provide a healthy activity for kids," said board president Colleen Calo. "It's worth it when you see how much the kids enjoy it."

A "soccer swap" will be available at registration for those wishing to donate soccer gear, as well as for those looking to purchase low-cost cleats, shin guards, balls, etc. Proceeds will benefit the soccer program. For more information, call the 4-H office at 582-6232.

Local blood drives set to help replenish dwindling supplies

According to the American Red Cross, since early May blood collections across the state of Michigan have been down an average of 15-20 percent. That decline translates into a two-day supply for all blood types, and a half day for all negative types -- the Red Cross considers a three-day supply a safe level.

While supply drops in the summer are typical, demand can increase since more people are involved in critical car crashes related to vacation and summer holiday travel. Statistics show that the demand for blood can increase from 10-12 percent at peak travel times.

Area residents can help by donating blood at one of the following local blood drives to be held this summer: July 29, Boyne City City Hall, 10 a.m.-3:45 p.m.; Aug. 5, East Jordan United Methodist Church, 1-6:45 p.m.; and Aug. 18, Boyne City Christ Lutheran Church, 1-6:45 p.m.

A SURPRISE 90th birthday party cook-out at Fall Park on Sunday honored Leone (Bricker) Dewing, here from Albuquerque. The birthday celebration was for her husband, Roy (Buddy), too, as both their birthdays are so close in March. This was the Dewings' first trip "home" in nine years, and she thought the picnic was to be with her family in the area. Most surprised and happy she was seeing all attending! Here especially for this special event was her son, John and Carlene Bricker and their children, Steven, Scott and Marcy and their families, all of Denver, Colo., Dale and Christy Reinhardt, Dixie and Bill Lahti of Haslett, Dave and Robin Bricker, Bob and Betty Brewer, Frank and Connie Shaler, Sara Hildebrand, Kenny and Sally Shann of Petoskey, Curt and Connie Bricker, Minnesota, Nels and Louisa Northup and daughters, Lynnell Wakley and sons of Marshall, Lori and Bill Bailey of Grand Rapids, and Jenny and Tony Witer and five daughters of Ohio.

CHRISTOPHER GRICE has received a letter of intent from Muskegon Community College who has recruited him to play baseball. Christopher will be starting there in late August. "Good Luck and we will miss you," said Mom, Kris.

THERE WAS a good turnout at Whiting's Park on last Wednesday's beautiful day! All had a great time of visiting and lots of scrumptious barbecued chicken with all the fixins and wonderful door prizes, compliments of area merchants, for the Annual Charlevoix County Senior Citizens Picnic, an event given by the Commission On Aging.

RON HOBBS and family arrived in Boyne to spend the week with his brother Morrie and Sue Hobbs.

KATHY RICE of Tecumseh has been here visiting her mother, Arlene (Betty) Inman and family on Anderson Road, and other relatives. Her husband Jim joined them all over the weekend.

KATIE (BERNTHAL) GAISER, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Bernthal, was honored at the Christ Lutheran Church on Sunday afternoon with a baby shower. Many friends, relatives and members of the congregation shared in this special time. In spite of the hot day, all enjoyed traditional baby shower fun, games, refreshments and the gift giving time for mother and baby to be. Katie and husband Tom Gaiser, visiting from Saginaw, are expecting their first child in August. The lovely afternoon was co-hosted by her sister, Jenny, sister-in-law, Amy, and her mother, Jan Bernthal.

Final touches

Volunteers wrap up last details of work on Boyne City Sports Complex

The Boyne City Foundation For Educational Excellence is nearing the completion of the final stage of the third phase of the Boyne City High School Sports Complex.

The project, spearheaded by citizens in 1994, had volunteers turning over the first spade of dirt in the fall of 1995. By the fall of 1996, the new field was used by the Boyne City Ramblers football team to host home games.

A number of major projects followed, spurred on by the support of community members, area businesses, and alumni. Projects completed to date include a new football field; state of the art rubberized track; new bleachers seating up to 1,400 fans; new flag poles; a new lighting system; a new announcer's booth with storage; new ticket booths; an underground sprinkler system throughout the complex; restroom additions to the Rotary building on-site; scoreboards; the laying of cement for sidewalks, bleacher pads, etc. Volunteers and supporters also came through, in the course of the project, with financial assistance in the construction of the new baseball field, completed in the spring of 2002.

While current volunteers are hard at work putting on the final touches, more hands are always needed to make the work go more quickly. Anyone interested in donating an hour or two to lend a hand can call Frank Shaler at 582-7512.

Volunteers from throughout the community have been hard at work over the years developing the Boyne City High School Sports Complex. Above, Mark Juday, Frank A. Shaler, and Roy Kindy were on hand to lay the final brick at the new ticket booths. At left, workers Earl Bennett, Ed Reeves, Roy Kindy, and Steve Baker complete the final wiring on the underground electric system for the new lights, recently installed to illuminate the walkway between the school and the complex.

Senior picnic is a summer tradition

By JIM SHEPHERD

For the past 24 years, the second Wednesday of July has been considered a major holiday for senior citizens around Northern Michigan. On this day, the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging hosts a senior picnic at Whiting Park. The previous director of the Commission, Art Saworski, started the event in 1979, and over the years it has grown into a summer tradition.

According to current director Sue Bergmann, the commission has been able to keep the event going by sticking to a simple formula. "The picnic always has good chicken, a cheap price, hard-working volunteers, and a lot of contributions from local businesses," she said.

No one can deny that the mass quantities of chicken and the $3 plate charge make the picnic popular, but it is the local businesses that truly keep the event going. Bergmann claims that a major part of the preparation goes into collecting money and door prizes donated by a wide variety of businesses from flower shops to dentist offices. This possibility of winning a nice prize adds an element of excitement for the seniors that come to the picnic, and it allows for free advertising for the businesses that donate.

This year's picnic followed the traditional formula and was more successful than ever before. According to Bergmann, the commission was reluctantly forced to stop selling tickets after 350 were sold, making for the biggest picnic ever. And fortunately, local businesses matched the large crowd by exceeding expectations in their donations. "We had 250 door prizes and flowers for everyone," says Bergmann. "Almost everyone left with something. We are so thankful that businesses have been so generous."

Bergmann also credits volunteers across Charlevoix County for support. This year the Lions Club and the Rotary Club from both East Jordan and Boyne City sent workers. "We had enough help this year to actually serve the picnickers instead of having a crowded buffet," says Bergmann. "It really made them feel valued. We were fortunate to have a huge community effort to appreciate our seniors."

With all the work and preparation that goes into such a big event, it would be easy to overlook its value to the community and the joy it brings to senior citizens. Bergmann says that the seniors leave the picnic feeling very good. "They feel valued," she says, "they are happy to still be contributing to society."

Seniors attending last week's picnic, like the trio pictured above were treated to a multitude of door prizes, thanks to the generosity of area businesses and organizations. At left, picnic organizers call off names to award the prizes after lunch.

Those attending the picnic were treated to a chicken barbecue with all the fixings. The picnic, an annual event sponsored by the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, is now in its 24th year.

Diamonds, Platinum... Black Gold!

You can make your own riches by composting your yard waste. Leaves, grass, and other yard debris make excellent compost. Compost saves you money, is great for your lawn and garden, and helps protect water quality.

Rake yard waste into a compost pile, it can help keep organic material from washing into the storm drains and nearby lakes and rivers.

But, hey - why rake when you can mulch? Leave your leaves on top of the grass and run over them with the lawn mower. It makes a great fertilizer.

HEALTH TIPS FROM MEDICAP PHARMACY

VITAMIN B12 AND MEMORY

Over 20% of people over 60 years of age cannot readily metabolize Vitamin B12 from foods. This vitamin is essential for memory functions. Supplements may be easier to digest and can provide the necessary B12. Ask your pharmacist or doctor about B12 supplements and the dosage that is right for you. In addition, keep your mind busy by engaging in new hobbies, learning a musical instrument, reading and socializing as these activities may help reduce the risk of Alzheimer's. Participants sought for Charlevoix County's first-ever Relay For Life

The American Cancer Society is currently seeking teams to participate in Charlevoix County's first Relay For Life event to be held at Charlevoix Middle School on Saturday, Aug. 9, through Sunday, Aug. 10.

This is the first year the team-based fund-raising event will be held in the county; businesses, families, friends, and survivors are invited and encouraged by the American Cancer Society to form teams and hit the track for 24 hours of entertainment, celebration and reflection.

Teams should have 10-15 walkers, and all ages are welcome. Relay for Life is a community event in which participants spend a full 24 hours taking turns walking laps on the track, socializing, picnicking, playing games and participating in planned activities, all while raising money and awareness to fight cancer.

"Cancer survivors are a large, diverse, important community, and Relay For Life is one way the American Cancer Society reaches out to them," said Theresa Haske of the American Cancer Society. "Survivors find comfort by spending time together at Relay and empowerment by making a difference in the lives of others battling the disease. We invite all cancer survivors to join in whatever capacity they choose."

The event features a Victory Lap, in which cancer survivors from throughout the community walk a celebratory lap around the track together.

At sundown, luminaria are lit to honor and remember those who have battled cancer and to help guide walkers through the night.

For more information on Relay For Life, call the American Cancer Society at 1-877-240-0001 or visit www.cancer.org.

of the City's Wastewater Improvement Project.

At this time, according to Water Department head Dan Meads and Department of Public Works head Denny Jason, whether or not the force main will have to be installed in the course of the Wastewater project is unknown. The issue's outcome, Meads said, will depend on whether the City decides to use a Boyne River outfall for the wastewater system or utilize a deep water outfall in Lake Charlevoix.

Though the City recently approved plans for the Wastewater Improvement Project, the issue of the outfall placement was one that had been left for future determination.

The possibility of tearing up newly-paved roadway was one that had some commissioners concerned. "I think we ought to do it once and do it right, even if it costs a little more down the road," said commissioner Ron Grunch. "I think we should table this project until we have all the answers."

Options such as moving the location of the force main over one street or postponing the entire project were discussed, but both options, according to city officials, would likely add dollars in the future, meaning that a postponement or alternate plan wouldn't end up saving the City any money in the long run. Responding to a request for further study by City staff, city manager Cain noted that "the staff will be glad to document [the information], but at the end of the day you'll be faced with an option you're not going to like. Either we bandage the existing road [after streetscape infrastructure improvements for which the bids have already been awarded] or tear up a new road, [and] either might be torn up with a new force main."

The logic was not lost on commissioner Dan Adkison, who added that "If we postpone the project for a year, and [the cost] goes up 10 percent, it's going to cost us $30,000 anyway [to pave the road]. And we might not even have a force main there."

"This is a project we've been looking at for a number of years," said mayor Eleanor Stackus on the issue. "I would like to see the project go forward... Citizens have come to us, businesses have come to us [wanting the project done]. I think it's a project that's needed 100 percent. Anytime we postpone a project like this, it's going to cost us more down the road."

Ultimately, the commission passed a motion to award the bid to H&D and thus, move forward on the project. The motion was passed by a vote of 3-2, with commissioners Vicki Stander and Ron Grunch casting the dissenting votes.

According to city manager Cain, work on the project will take place throughout the summer, and is expected to be completed by Oct. 15.

State DEQ and others kick off Michigan Clean Marina program

The Michigan Clean Marinas program has officially begun with the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding between the Michigan Boating Industries Association (MBIA), Michigan Sea Grant College, and the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

In support of the program, the DEQ's Environmental Science and Services Division received a grant from the Michigan Coastal Management Program and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to develop a guidebook on marinas' best management practices and buffer zone development. This voluntary program was initiated to preserve and protect Michigan's Great Lakes and its connecting waterways.

According to the DEQ, Michigan has more than 1,406 public access sites, 750 marinas, 680 marine dealers, 41 boat manufacturers, 85 Great Lakes recreational harbors, and 1 million registered boaters, all of whom can potentially benefit from the program.

The program, which relies on voluntary commitment, is open to the entire Great Lakes community; the targeted membership includes marinas, marine dealers/suppliers, and other marine related industry.

"The program promotes best management practices along with pollution prevention through the application of cost effective and practical solutions," said Jeff Spencer, who will be coordinating the program for the DEQ. "This leads to overall reductions in waste generation, increased reuse and recycling, and other increased beneficial uses."

The aim of the Clean Marina Program is designed to protect the environment and save the state and marinas money. "It is prudent for the state to look for opportunities to create cost effective solutions to help area businesses and to protect our environment," said Chuck Pistic, Michigan Sea Grant Agent.

Water quality is vital to Michigan's marine industry, so the DEQ expects that marinas and boatyards will embrace the program once rolled out. "Because of our location within the Great Lakes, boat yards and marinas have an important role to play as environmental stewards to Michigan's waters," said MBIA Director Steve Remias. "This is a voluntary program with environmental and economic benefits."

The committee will have the program ready for kick-off by December 2003. "We hope to introduce it to the MBIA membership at the 2003 Recreational Boating Conference in December," said MBIA President Van Snider. "At that point, those interested will be asked to sign pledge cards and workshops will be scheduled to review the workbook and procedures to obtain "Clean Marina Certification."

Something Fishy

Though summer in northern Michigan is always colorful, this year the season has been made a bit brighter by the addition of larger-than-life fish, decked out in glorious hues and fanciful patterns by area artists. Though fun alone would be reason enough for the existence of the fish, the sculptures are actually part of the Great Northern Fish-In, a fund-raising effort for the American Red Cross of Northern Lower Michigan. Each individual fish has been sponsored by one or more business, organization, and/or individual, and adorned with original designs by Michigan artists. On display throughout northern Michigan for the summer, the fish will be "released" on Aug. 23 at the Village at Bay Harbor, to be auctioned off that evening. Proceeds will benefit Red Cross efforts in the local area. Featured here are a few of the fish that can be seen in Boyne City and East Jordan.

At right, this eye-catcher in East Jordan is titled "Cherry Cuda." Artist: Connie Korach. Sponsor: Burnette Foods.

"Hooked on Books" recently got out and about, taking a trip down Water Street in Boyne City's Fourth of July parade. Artist: Boyne City High School art students. Sponsor: Boyne Valley Lions Club, Boyne City Kiwanis, and Boyne City Rotary.

Even on rainy days, visitors to the Boyne City waterfront can find cheer in this "Sun Fish." Artist: Martha Landis. Sponsors: Floyd and Nancy Wright, and Frank Lamesfield.

This fish, called "Liberty," was a big hit in Boyne City on the Fourth of July. Artist: Glen McCune. Sponsor: LexaMar Corporation.

Mmm, it looks good enough to eat -- almost! These youngsters just had to check and see if that chocolate sauce on "Fish a-la-Mode" was the real thing in downtown East Jordan last week. Artist: East Jordan High School art students. Sponsor: Charlevoix State Bank. Materials donated by: East Jordan Iron Works and Charlevoix Area Hospital. This, and other fish, will be auctioned off in August to benefit the American Red Cross of Northern Lower Michigan.

Art lovers get a kick out of the "Crazy Quilt Fish" at the Jordan River Art Center in East Jordan. Artist: Jane Diller. Sponsor: Anonymous
