■ Board of Education sets date for Boyne Falls Public School bond issue

After receiving the go-ahead from the State Treasury Department, the Boyne Falls Board of Education unanimously approved a resolution to hold a bond election on Tuesday, April 20, to support an addition to the four-year-old school building.

"We went down in the morning [of Feb. 2] to the Treasury in Lansing," said school board president Marv Schwem. "They approved our request for a millage, and then that evening, we passed a resolution, unanimously."

The plans to pursue such a move in earnest were announced last month, as the school board sought input from community members at a town meeting. "We have outgrown this school," Schwem said at the meeting. "It is a problem, but it is a wonderful problem to have."

Proposed additions include two new classrooms on the elementary wing, two new classrooms on the middle school wing, and two new labs on the high school wing, as well as additional storage space, additional restrooms, and an expansion of the

According to school superintendent Mark Parsons, the additions included in the $2,650,000 bond proposal were part of the original plan for the building; they were reluctantly cut from the plans at that time due to state regulations regarding the square footage permitted in the project based on bonding issues.

East Jordan Area Chamber board begins search for new president

Chamber of Commerce president puter/Internet skills. (formerly director) Mary Faculak stepping down from the position this week, the search is on for someone to take her place.

According to chamber board chairperson Bill Himmelspach, the post is already being advertised in local media and on the chamber Web site. The local focus, he notes, is by design. "At this point in time we want to see if we can draw from the local community, for that insight and involvement already," Himmelspach said. "We need somebody who has a good vision of what the East Jordan chamber's direction is going to be in that area."

Other criteria established by the chamber board include experience working with business owners, governmental agencies and tourism industry as well as networking, oral and

Fiddlers to fill former Express with old time fun

Though the ownership of the venue has changed, the Jordan Valley Fiddler's Jamboree will carry on as always, filling the former Jordan Valley Express with old-time music, dancing, and fun.

Though the JVX was purchased by the Harvest Barn Church last month, the building is expected to remain essentially the same in structure in order to accommodate community events such as the Jamboree. According to Jamboree organizers, the church has committed to making the venue available for the event for at least a couple of years.

Set for Saturday, March 6, at 12 noon, the Jamboree will mark its ninth year with much of the same wholesome family entertainment it's known for, giving musicians from all over the opportunity to play, and fiddle fans of all ages a chance to enjoy a throwback to yesteryear.

Fiddlers will register as they arrive. and will be assigned time slots in the order they register. Each fiddler plays three songs of his or her choice. While the selection of music is open, those chosen are generally "old time" in keeping with the atmosphere of the jamboree. Other types of musicians are also welcome to take part; the only requirement is that instruments are not electified.

Performances will run through the afternoon, with an open mike time set for 5-7 p.m., in which participants and attendees may sing or play any instrument they choose. From 7-10 p.m., everyone's invited to kick up their heels with a good old-fashioned square dance; square dance callers can ask a fiddler from the day to perform, or, if there's no preference, anyone can get up and do the fid-

Beyond a good time, the event also generates funding for scholarships granted to area music students, through ads sold in the newsletter produced by the jamboree board of directors, and free-will donations at the door.

Scholarships are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis, and at the discretion of the board. Anyone interested in being considered for a scholarship need only write a letter to the board by the deadline, March 15, or by making contact with a board member during the event.

The board tallies up the funds after the event, and then meets later to decide where they'll go. According to organizers, last year's event raised about $4,000 for area music students.

For more information, call Bill Stevens at 547-9153 or Rod Stevens at 547-5757.

Wertz spokesman, former Detroit Tiger Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, Marcia McNitt and Kim Rotermund announce the amount of this year's donation, just shy of $12,000, to benefit Michigan Special Olympics.

WINTERFEST

With ample snow on the ground, skiers, sledders, snowshoers -- and golfers -- made the most of winter in Royne City at last weekend's WinterFest 2004.

Under sunny skies, participants in the first-ever "Ice Bowl" Disc Golf Tournament at Avalanche took the event's motto, "No wimps, no whiners" to heart, venturing into waist-deep snow (above) to complete the course. Proceeds from the event, which is part of a national "Ice Bowl" program, will benefit the Boyne City Food Pantry.

On Friday night, young snowshoers took over Water Street for high-spirited races on snow trucked in just for the event.

Knowing, however, that the space would likely need board and administrators assured that the building, as constructed, would be set up in order to facilitate such an addition.

Rapidly rising student numbers are the major factor in the timing of the project. The current count for the entire student body sits at 335, up from just months between now and 287 students in 1999, a gain of 48 students. Seventy-three students come to the school through School of Choice.

If approved by voters, the proposed additions would carry a projected pricetag of $2,650,000; the district, through a little financial wrangling, however, would keep its millage rate at a total of 6 mills. Students from the Boyne City High School drama department took a break from the northern Michigan winter to visit the bright lights of the Big Apple from Jan. 28-Feb. 1. ## BCHS students take a bite out of THE BIG APPLE

Boyne City High School drama student.)

Many students from the Boyne City High School Drama Department went on a fun and exciting trip to New York Jan. 28-Feb. 1. On a snow day last Wednesday, they got an early start down to Detroit, arriving early enough LaGuardia airport in New York.

Once in New York, the group bussed to their

(The following story was submitted by a hotel in Manhattan, the famous Helmsley Park Lane, located next to Central Park. After unpacking and settling in, the group took a walk through New York, passing many familiar places such as the David Letterman studio and the soup kitchen made famous by Seinfeld. The group headed towards Times Square and lunch.

Lunch was at a famous Roxy deli. The portions for dinner and shopping at the Twelve Oaks there were huge, with a sandwich standing at least Mall. Students stayed the night in Detroit at five inches high and a salad big enough to feed the Clarion Hotel and got an early start in the five people. Later, in Times Square, the group morning to the airport to catch a flight to went to the studio where TRL, a live show on MTV, is filmed.

After the fun and excitement of Times Square the group returned to the Helmsley to get ready for their first Broadway musical of the trip, "Wicked," a story about the witches of Oz before Dorothy gets there.

After the magical show some of the students went to the Marriot Hotel to eat on the eighth floor restaurant. The rest returned to the Helmsley for pizza.

The next morning started early when the group went sightseeing, visiting the Statue of Liberty. Ground Zero, and wandering into the beautiful St. Patrick's Cathedral. Students also went into the Tiffany jewelry store, where they saw the priceless Tiffany Diamond and necklaces worth millions. They also toured the Plaza Hotel where many movies, such as Home Alone 2, were filmed. The subway was another experience for the students on this day, and also a relief from the bitter cold.

Later, the group went to Little Italy, where most of the students are at a small Italian restaurant right in the middle of it all.

Next, the group went for dessert at the renowned Tavern on the Green, a restaurant located in the middle of Central Park. Then, it was time to head back to the hotel to get ready for the next show, "Little Shop of Horrors," a very humorous show taken from the movie starring Rick Moranis, where a killer plant from outer space comes to a nerdy flower boy. After the laughter the group went out for pizza; on the way there they made a celebrity sighting, spotting actor Matthew Broderick, who has starred in the movies Ferris Bueller's Day Off and Inspector Gadget, and is now in the Broadway production of The Producers.

On Saturday, three students, Randi Davis, Brenton Fitzpatrick, and Kristin Moody, rose extra early to get on the Today Show — the rest of the students slept in until they had to meet at 10 a.m. The group then took another walk through New York, heading into the "NBC Experience" store. Students had fun pretending to be on the sets of many shows, such as Conan O'Brien, Jay Leno, and the Today Show. They then went shopping on Broadway before lunch at Planet Hollywood. After an extremely filling lunch they went to the third and final show, the classic "Fiddler on the Roof."

Sunday was time to go home. The group arrived to the airport with plenty of time to catch their flight, waiting a long time because their flight was delayed and eventually canceled. They had to bus to New Jersey to catch a later flight, arriving in Detroit around 9 p.m. Dinner was at a McDonald's and the students didn't get home until 2:30 a.m., but it was all worth it.

third annual Walk for Warmth Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency

NMHSA to host

(NMHSA), a non-profit community action agency serving customers from Antrim, Charlevoix, and Emmet counties, is sponsoring its third annual Walk for Warmth at the Charlevoix High School track on Feb. 21.

The Walk for Warmth program is an opportunity to raise funds to help low income people in local communities with home heating emergencies.

A heat-related emergency can be anything from a shutoff notice from a utility company, to running out of propane in your tank. NMHSA has reported receiving many requests for assistance, specifically with heating

The agency is struggling to meet the needs of our communities with utility assistance because costs for natural gas and propane have risen significantly.

"The typical recipient of Walk for Warmth funds is a three-person household with an annual income of less than $22,000," said Becky McGeorge of NMHSA.

"A large percentage of people seeking emergency help are either elderly, disabled, or have small children in the home. For these folks this winter, it could come down to making hard choices. Some people are cutting back on food or medicine to pay for heat. Still others are endangering their lives by trying to get by with using kerosene heaters or charcoal grills in their homes. Some have to choose between paying their gas bill or their electricity bill - and end up using electric heaters and hot plates to make it through the cold season. We're hoping to assist as many of these folks as possible to heat their homes so they don't have to resort to these extreme measures, but we need your help."

Support can be given in several different ways. Sponsors and donors contribute money that directly assists those with heat-related emergencies, while event supporters donate goods, services, or funds to help put on the actual Walk for Warmth event.

For more information call, McGeorge at 1-800-443-5518.

Grant program to support water protection work

Those involved in an effort to stop the spread of purple loosestrife, lamprey eels, zebra mussels, and other dreaded exotic species, and who need financial support for this work, may find it through the Tip of the Mitt Watershed

For the second year, Tip of the Mitt has received funding from the Office of the Great Lakes, through a grant from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to administer the Aquatic Nuisance Species Information and Education Small Grants Program in Michigan.

The program will be administered through the Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Network and Fund, a project of the Watershed Council.

The $24,000 in funding will be used to administer a Michigan grant program for groups working to provide information and education programs for local initiatives to prevent and control aquatic nuisance species in Michi-

The application deadline is March 12, with grant periods beginning in May 2004.

According to Jill Ryan, Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Network and Fund Director at Tip of the Mitt, Michigan's waters continue to come under assault -- zebra mussels, purple loosestrife, alewives, lamprey eels and other exotics are threatening the plants and animals that belong here. "This has far reaching consequences for tourism, agriculture, recreation, and fishing," Ryan said. "Much remains to be done to shut off the paths that these nuisance species use to enter the Great Lakes and to spread within Michigan. Species can still enter the lakes in ship ballast water, aquatic weeds hitchhike on boats traveling from lake to lake, sea lamprey spawn in tributaries, and other species are poised to enter the Great Lakes through holes in our net of protection."

Any 501(c)(3) non-governmental organization, school, indigenous tribal entity, or local unit of government working to protect Michigan's waters may be eligible for funds. Types of activities that will be funded include boater education activities, training programs, and inventory and detection system pilot projects.

"By working locally, organizations can provide local knowledge and cooperation to reduce the impacts of these non-native plants and animals on our waters," Ryan said. For more information, contact Ryan at Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, 426 Bay Street, Petoskey, MI 49770, (231) 347-1181, ext. 106. For the full request for proposals and application information, visit www.glhabitat.org.

BACKWARD GLANCE

But wait, there's more . . .

Though responses have already been published once, this photo of a 1923 Boyne City basketball squad has continued to generate interest, and responses, warranting one final look in The Citizen-Journal.

Recent respondents included Jane Welsh of Toledo, Ohio, who wrote: I sure was surprised to see my Uncles Art and Leo Speltz in the picture of the basketball team of 1923. Leo is holding the ball and Art is the coach.

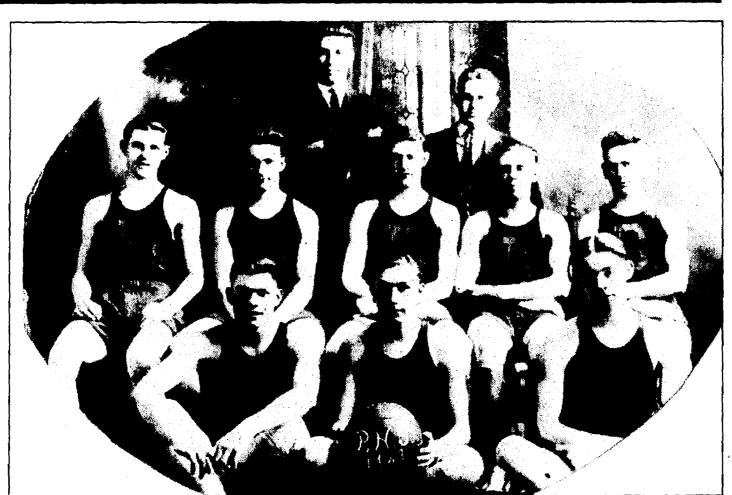

My mother, Regina Merchant, was their sister. She had worked for the White Lumber Co.

There were nine siblings — I'm sending the picture on to the youngest sister, Mary McBride, who lives in Birmingham, Ala. She'll be glad to know that someone still remembers the Speltzes."

Arlene Tooley stopped by The Citizen-Journal office with her response, identifying Arthur Speltz as well as her uncle, Theophile "Remi" D'Anjou as the young man in the middle of the middle row. She also confirmed a previous identification, of Louis Manglos, seated in the middle row, second from the right.

The most detailed response came from Leath Ann Sorasin, who wrote: "The picture of the Hoop Stars is in the 1923 class book "The Assineboyne," given to me by Genieve Aldred Garlinghouse, because I have relatives in every class and even with the full team listed, I can only guess at a few.

First one on the left in the second row is Ted Beugnot, next to him Clarence Sorasin. I think - second from right in same row is Louis Manglos [correct, according to the above respondent]?? Coach Arthur Speltz, and I think assistant coach is Floyd Aldred, who graduated in 1917 or 1918. He was a rookie on the championship football team my father, Alfred Sorasin and Uncle J. Melvin Sorasin played on in 1915-16. My dad's group graduated and Floyd and my uncle worked hard to keep the championship in Boyne City, and did so!

I don't know as much about this team or basketball, in fact, it was a shock to see Clarence's picture in the paper. He has six children and I must now pass on to them that he isn't forgotten, and not for football!"

Sorasin also included the team record for the season, 7-4, with wins over Boyne Falls, Gaylord, Mancelona, Vanderbilt, and Harbor Springs. Losses were to Petoskey (twice), Cadillac and Cheboygan. Boyne City, Sorasin further writes, "surprised even her most ardent supporters and won fourth place in the district among 20 schools."

Thanks to all who responded -- look for a new "Backward Glance" challenge in an upcoming issue.

A BEAUTIFUL and sunny day presented itself in honor of the annual Deer Lake Fishing Tournament. "Although the participation was down from the original 'Fishing Tournament,' I didn't hear of anyone catching a whale, catfish, dolphin or even a minnow," said my caller. Noting that few ventured out on the frozen waters, she suggested that perhaps next year, it needs more advertising/ word of mouth and " just plain get your rear out there with your kid or grandkid and FISH!"

A BELATED Feb. 9 "Happy Birthday" goes out to Harry "Ed" Hartwick, with hopes that he blew out all his candles!

THE 20TH ANNIVERSARY celebration of the Boyne Valley Slim & Trim Club of Feb. 4, at Litzenburger Place, was a smashing success. Beginning with the arrival of an exquisite plant and floral arrangement, as congratulations to the club, from 1992's "Queen of the Day" Irene Rickard, and that there were actually 20 attending added to the significance of a special time! Good it was that Irene, her daughter Janet Vuillemot, and former members Joanne Britton and Donna Kirby were there for the celebrating, with clever and colorful table favors, Valentine sentiments, a scrumptious potluck, memory lane photo albums and long time friendship amongst club members. Really topping it off was a recorded group weight loss, a first time weigh-ins over the last 20 years.

SHIRLEY CROZIER of Deer Lake is heading for the cool, clear waters of the White River and Bull Shoals Dam area of Arkansas and on down to Sam Rayburn Lake in Texas. "Hmmm," she wonders, "Anybody for catfish or trout?" She also wondered if any Boyne City residents remembered Gloria Behrens, who now lives near the beautiful Bull Shoals Dam area. Shirley will be telling all the wintertime relocated Boyne City and East Jordan neighbors that it is cold here and we have a lot of non-participants who like to stick by the fire up here in Michigan. Ramblers Reed Ameel and Caleb Helsely double up on defense against the Red Rayders last week. Boyne City's defense couldn't stop Charlevoix, though, with three Rayders hitting double-digits for the night.

Ramblers stumble against league leaders

By PHIL TROMBLEY Sports writer

The Boyne City varsity basketball team went up against two of the top Lake Michigan Conference teams last week when once-beaten Traverse City St. Francis visited on Tuesday and then Charlevoix came to town on Friday.

Anthony Coscarelli scored 16 points and Josh Jorkasky added 15 points to lead the Gladiators (8-1 LMC) to a 65-43 victory over Boyne City.

"I thought we played one of our better first halves, but we were sluggish in the third quarter," said Rambler head coach Tim Smith. "It put us in the position of pressing a good team and unfortunately they made some easy shots off of our press."

"The boys had a great attitude. We had a rough week two weeks ago, with two conference losses (Ellsworth and Harbor Light), but we bounced right back with great efforts. I was very pleased.

"The key points of the game were that we had great ball movement, we communicated defensively, and we established an inside game. It was a great team win."

EARLIER IN THE WEEK the Boyne Falls Varsity team traveled to Alba to bring home another conference win, stomping all over the Wildcats with a final score of 79-37.

Equalization Ratios, as shown, are the percentages of assessed valuations to true cash value as determined by a survey of individual assessments. The Multipliers are those necessary to bring the Ratios to the required 50% of estimated true cash value.

The Multipliers, as shown, are tentative and subject to change as the result of possible adjustments by individual assessing officers. Assuming that no ita mada, tria winibilar may be applied to each individual valuation.

Note: THESE MULTIPLIERS REPLACE THOSE OF 2003 AND ARE NOT AN ADDITION TO OR SUBTRACTION FROM THEM.

Making the most of a good book

Students at Boyne City Middle School are making books a priority, participating in the first-ever Boyne City Middle School Book Club. Meeting twice a month after school, kids are taking their reading skills to the next level, taking part in book discussions with other students, led by teacher Gwen Smith.

Books are selected based on both the interests of the students as well as the known quality of the selection. "We've used Newbery Medal or Newbery Award winners," Smith said, adding that Boyne Country Books has played an instrumental part in making book selections. Most of the books are provided through the financial support of the Boyne City Middle School PTO.

Though the number of students involved varies, the response has been substantial enough that Smith is already planning to continue the club next year. "There's a lot to compete with," she said, noting that kids are involved in many other after-school activities. "But they still manage to come sometimes, even if it's not all of the time."

As the year progresses, she said, the club keeps growing, "We keep picking up a few more each meeting," Smith said
