At a glance

Can you handle the mighty Boyne?

"The Event" of the Fourth of July is the Boyne River Raft Race. Starting time is 2 p.m. sharp, at the infamous Mill Pond. Don't miss this opportunity to race your fellow man (woman) through the torrid current of the mighty Boyne. Be the first to make the journey on a homemade raft from the Mill Pond to the mouth of Lake Charlevoix. But, remember to come prepared, for the pitfalls are many as the crowds douse you with water balloons, buckets of water and large water guns. Don't worry though, because you can fight water with water.

There will be a prize for the winner of the race, and for the most original. Sponsors are The Boyne River Inn and Lynda's Real Estate Service. Call Marty Moody at 231-582-2606, or stop by the Boyne City Chamber or Lynda's Real Estate Service to sign up.

Music in the Park

East Jordan's "Music in the Park" will present Brett Mitchell on Friday, July 4, and Stonecross on Saturday, July 5. Both shows will run from 7 to 9 p.m. and be held at the bandshell in Memorial Park.

July 5 is also the date for the 2008 South Arm Classic Boat Show, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at Memorial Park; the Jordan Valley Car Show, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., in downtown East Jordan; and the Open Door Christian Coffee House will present "Living Truth 2" at 7:30 p.m. in the East Jordan Senior Center on Main Street.

Playing with fire

On Tuesday, July 1, the Michigan Propane Gas Association conducted a free Propane Emergency Response Training and Demonstration class for fire service personnel from Charlevoix and the surrounding communities. The event featured a live burn open to the public with flames reaching as high as 50 feet. During last year's exercise, firefighters work to douse the blaze at the training exercise pictured above.

Zoning change adds time to permits

By B. J. HETLER

BOYNE CITY — City commissioners approved a zoning amendment that changes the time limit for a zoning permit from one year to two years.

The amendment relates to section 28.35 of the city's zoning ordinance. The amendment becomes effective 15 days from June 24.

City planning commissioners recommended the change because they concluded that one year was usually not enough time for a project's completion.

"Technically, a new permit should be obtained to complete the project if it is not done within the year," planning director Scott McPherson wrote in a memo to commissioners.

"The adverse and unpredictable nature of the northern Michigan construction season does impact many construction projects and it was viewed by the planning commission that extending the zoning permit for a second construction season would be reasonable and allow projects sufficient time for completion," McPherson said.

In other city matters, the state of Michigan has opened up part of the city's

New owners take over Boyne Country Provisions

BOYNE CITY — Kristine and Ed Brehm moved to Boyne City from Ft. Wayne, Ind., over three years ago after falling in love with the area. After frequenting Boyne Country Provisions as customers, the couple found out the business was available and decided to throw their hat in the ring to purchase the store.

"We wanted to put down roots and began shopping for a business to purchase shortly after moving here," Ed Brehm said. "Prior to purchasing the store, I would frequent it as a customer. Everyday, I would drive by and think about what other opportunities there were for it. We both have a very strong entrepreneurial spirit."

Brehm said both he and his wife love good food, wine and beer and enjoy entertaining. Ed is particularly enamored with micro-brewed beers referring to himself as a beer enthusiast.

"We felt this would be a great fit for our interests and plans for the future. After quite some time, things worked out and we re-opened the store on June 1," Kristine Brehm explained. "We plan to increase the products we offer and also feature local specialty foods, wines, etc. made in the area or Michigan. We will strive to offer our customer's a more "full service" experience when they visit the store."

The store will take on a different look with the building being repainted and new signs out front. In the future, the couple plans on renovating the interior and they will now offer delivery to special events and parties.

One of the Horton Bay parade organizers, Lynn Maxwell, rounded up this group on the Horton Bay General Store porch recently to promote the Fourth of July parade that begins at 1 p.m., Friday, July 4, in Horton Bay. The event typically draws large crowds who are entertained by the antics of parade participants. The group includes (front row from left) Lynn Maxwell, Mike Davis (as "John McCain"), Steve Bickley, Tony Matthews (as "Barack Obama"), and (back row from left) Sheriff George Thomas Lasater and G.T. HORTON BAY — A presentation to Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater is part of the Fourth of July festivities in Horton

Sheriff Lasater retires at the end of this year after 32 years of service to the people of Charlevoix County. Each year he leads off the Horton Bay parade and has done so since the late 1970s when the parades began.

Red Wing player donates to Camp Quality

By JEFF BERGREN
EDITOR

BOYNE CITY — Fresh off a Stanley Cup Championship and Conn Smythe Trophy award for the most valuable player to his team during the playoffs, Detroit Red Wing forward Henrik Zetterberg has added another honor to his collection.

The left-winger has been named the first TSN (The Sports Network) NHL Player of the Year for the most outstanding player of the full season (regular and playoffs). More importantly, TSN donated $5,000 to Zetterberg's charity of choice in recognition of the honor. The Stanley Cup Champion chose Camp Quality Michigan in Boyne City to receive the money.

Eleanor West, the Michigan Director for Camp Quality in Boyne City was very excited to receive the donation for the kids living with cancer.

"We are so pleased that we were chosen for this award money through Red Wing MVP Henrik Zetterberg. The award will help us continue to give children who have had the experiences associated with childhood cancer a real support program," West said. "The wonder of such a miracle of being chosen is beyond words and it says a lot about the programs Camp Quality Michigan is able to provide to the children of Michigan. All of our programs are free to the children and it takes a lot of funding. God Bless all of our supporters and volunteers."

According to West, after winning the award, Zetterberg asked the Community Relations Manager for the Detroit Red Wings, Anne Marie Krappmann, to give him a name of a charity that helps children with cancer. Krappmann recommended Camp Quality Michigan.

West heard the news about the donation while she was on her way to a staff training session at CMU a couple of weeks ago. According to West, Krappmann and the Red Wings have a history with Camp Quality.

"Anne Marie has worked with the Brendan Filzek Childhood Cancer Foundation for several years; they have a golf tournament every year for Camp Quality. Brendan wanted his family to support Camp Quality because he thought it was a wonderful program for children with cancer," West explained. "This year it is July 26 at the Romeo Country Club. Anne Marie had met Brendan at a Red Wings game and introduced Brendan Shanahan (former Red Wing) to him and they became great friends. When Brendan Filzek passed away Brendan Shanahan was a pall-bearer."

The inaugural TSN NHL Player of the Year featured a showdown between playoff co-scoring leader and MVP, Zetterberg, and regular season scoring leader and MVP, Alexander Ovechkin of the Washington Capitals. Zetterberg prevailed with 97 points including 13 first-place votes, while Ovechkin was runner up with 81 points and 12 first-place nods. Red Wings captain Nicklas Lidstrom finished third with 38 points including three first-place votes.

One of the City's Most Disastrous Fires Occurred Friday Night

The Large Mill of W.H. White Company Totally Destroyed, Other Buildings Damaged, Loss Estimated at $200,000

Fire of unknown origin was discovered about nine fifteen, Friday night, in the south-west end of Mill No. 1, better known as the W. H. White Company's "Big Mill." In a very few minutes the large building was a mass of flames against which the city fire-fighters could make but little headway, although they had eight lines of hose laid.

The estimated loss is between $150,000 and $200,000. It is only partially covered by insurance.

Not only was the mill proper totally destroyed, but the planning-mill annex also burned.

The destruction of these buildings, at least temporarily, throws over one hundred men out of work, and unless arrangements can be made at once for carrying on operations at Mill 3, which has been unused for several years, the labor depression will spread to the employees of the Camps.

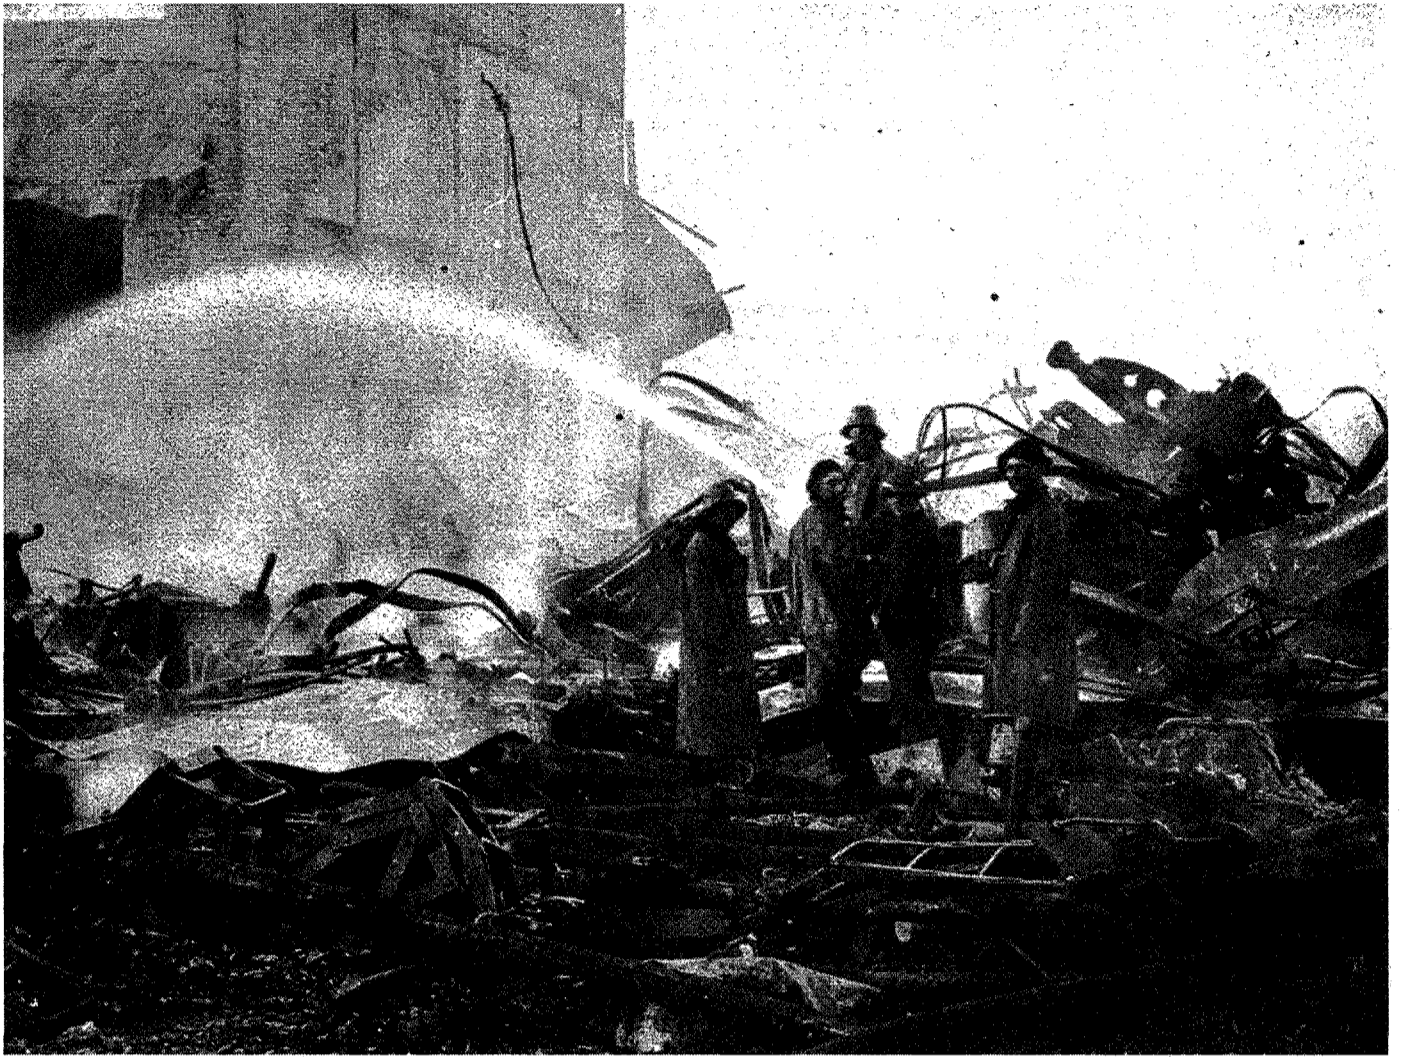

"Mill One" was built eight years ago and was first class in every particular, being equipped with two band saws and a rotation resaw, most of the equipment was of extra heavy duty type and much of it was designed for this mill which was one of the largest hardwood mills in the north country.

The new office building occupied by the White company and the general offices of the B. C. G. & A. R. R., which is located directly across the street from the scene of the big conflagration, suffered the loss of its roof and the contents of the building were badly damaged by smoke and water. The railroad offices will at once be moved to a suite of rooms over the First National Bank.

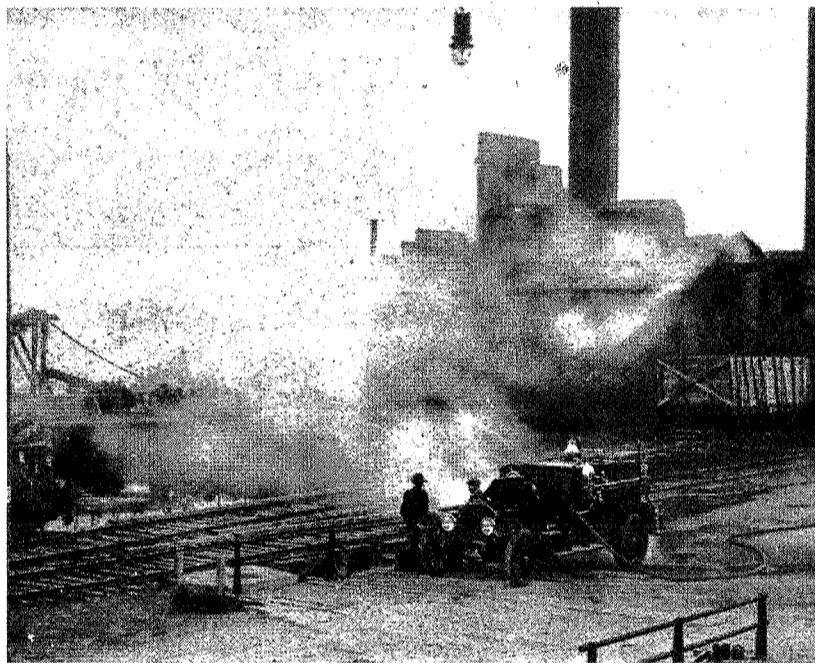

At least a dozen roofs of buildings within a radius comprised of three square blocks were set afire by flying sparks and garden hose and bucket brigades were very active and did efficient work.

The new fire truck was constantly in operation and its services were indispensable. The occasion fully demonstrated its worth to the city. The City Water Commissioner is also to be congratulated on being prepared by having both of the large city reservoirs filled and the pumping station in perfect order, this system was thus enabled to supply six lines of hose from the start of the fire until eight o'clock Saturday morning, when Fire Chief Thompson sent the fire machines to the hall and the firemen to bed. The only water used from the Lake or the River was supplied by two lines of hose fed directly by the fire engine, which was stationed on the bridge on Lake Street. The fire was a very spectacular one, the flames shooting for a great distance into the air and the heavens were lighted up as brightly as by day. It was reported that you might have read by its light in Petoskey. The shooting of sparks reminded one of the old time Fourth of July celebrations and was witnessed by fully as many people. Nearly our entire population was in evidence and the throng of spectators was thickly sprinkled with persons identified as having come from Petoskey, East Jordan, Charlevoix, Boyne Falls, and other adjacent territory.

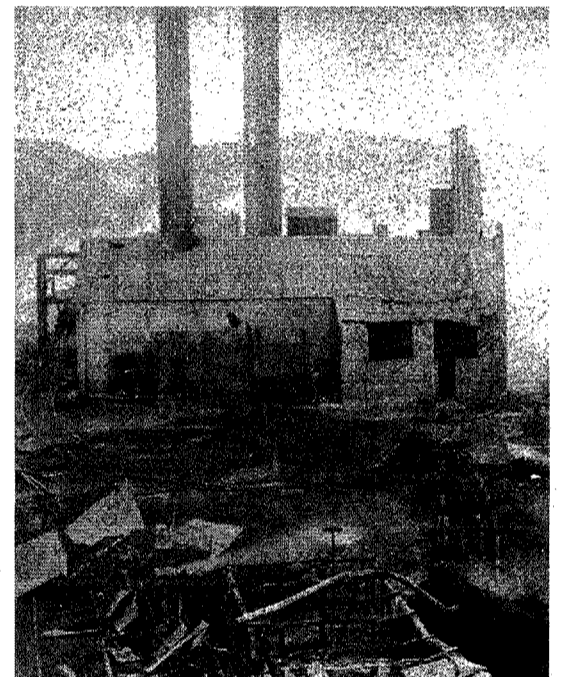

A sob-sister might well be employed to write the human-interest stories of the evening. How small children became separated from their parents and the frantic search of mothers for their offspring; The plaintive whinny of the horses in the White Company's barn until they were liberated and tied to trees along State Street; The wrecking of furniture which was rushed from houses in the threatened district; The bravery and endurance of the firemen who faced the blaze and suffered the suffocating heat and smoke; The prompt appearance of the electricians who protected the spectators and firefighters from live wires by removing same before they became dangerous. A lack of space will not permit us to do these subjects justice, but many of the details are already known by our readers, a majority of whom witnessed them on this night of disaster.

White's Mill No. 1

The mill on fire, June 28, 1918

The burning of White's Mill No. 1

By BOB MORGRIDGE

It was 90 years ago last Saturday night, June 28, 1918, about 9 p.m. The band had just stopped playing in Old City Park when the whistles at Mill No. 1 (located about where the marina is today) began pushing fierce vibrating sounds through the evening air, signaling a call to arms.

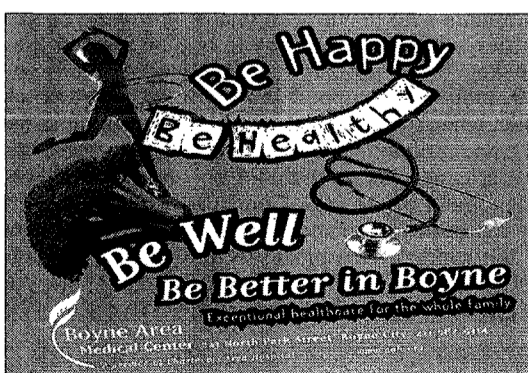

It was a pleading call for a crack fire department to combat a fire that was about to hungrily consume the wood of a Boyne City structure. The newly acquired 1917 LaFrance fire truck raced to the scene and did its best, but it was to no avail. Mill No. 1 succumbed to the dictates of insatiable flames and was eventually reduced to a heap of scorched bricks and twisted steel and ashes.

The wind was coming out of the west blowing sparks all over that part of town. People were up all night watering down their roofs to prevent a spark from setting their home on fire. The fire lit up the sky and could be seen from Gaylord to Charlevoix.

The burning of the mill signaled for Boyne the beginning of the end of its greatest period - the lumbering era. By 1923 all the trees were gone. But one artifact remains from those by-gone days. It is the old fire truck, which still serves as a reminder of the past. During the winter it is stored in what people called the old Zamboni building in Avalanche Park.

Let Freedom ring

Generally, people look at the Fourth of July as an opportunity to barbeque with friends and relatives all while enjoying a nice long weekend. The day always ends with booming and brilliant fireworks lighting up the sky that puts the perfect end to the celebration.

Americans usually acknowledge what the meaning of the Fourth of July is all about, but this year especially we should cherish what a beautiful country we live in. We should cherish who we are and celebrate our nation's independence by understanding what a privilege it is to be an American citizen.

So much is happening all around us both at home and abroad. The turmoil in the Middle East has engulfed the American conscience while our troops fight for freedom. No matter what the issues are, we need to support the brave men and women who risk the ultimate price for our rights.

So this Fourth of July, celebrate the privilege we have as Americans, appreciate the cost we make to help the world more secure along with our own borders. When you sit down this holiday to enjoy a wonderful cookout, let's all give thanks to the American troops fighting in a far-away country to provide the people of Iraq their freedom.

Freedom comes at a high cost. Our forefathers of our country had dreams and they fought and died for that vision. Thankfully, that vision lives on today and even in these difficult times Americans pull together in times of crisis.

So let's remember what the Fourth of July means to our country and take a moment to thank all the brave service men and women.

Let Freedom ring.

The boiling point

"Oh, no honey. We don't go outside in the summertime." I furrowed my brow, letting the statement spiral through my mind in the hope that it would congeal into something rational. Sitting beneath the whirling fan of my neighbor's lanai in Florida, I gripped a sweating glass of sweet tea and tried to rearrange my expression into something that wouldn't alarm my hostess.

I had broached the subject in an anthropological effort to grasp the concept of life in an unforgiving climate. It's hot down here and getting hotter. I was curious to know if I should expect the summer to climax in a fiery crescendo that would melt my fillings and singe the hair from my arms.

"Well... What do you do then?" I asked suspiciously. "You can't just stay inside with the air conditioning on for three months."

"Of course not," my neighbor laughed. "We get up early to do yard work. And it does cool down some at night. That's when we water the plants."

Frankly, this conversation was freaking me out. Within the past few weeks I've become aware

MORE OR LESS

By Christine Gwidt

that my comfort level here is diminishing at an alarming rate. If I venture outside after 6 a.m., my skin develops a sticky sheen that mires gnats and causes my eyelids to hitch when I blink. I've taken to walking the dogs at dawn to avoid sunstroke. And every day it gets a little bit warmer.

"But don't you get used to it eventually?" I was determined to find the upside. "Don't you reach a point where it feels sort of normal?"

"It is normal for this time of year," my neighbor explained to me with the patience of one addressing a backward child. "And this is nothing. Wait until August."

This is nothing? This terrible, debilitating brain-searing heat is merely an opening act? For what? Lava?

I love summertime as much as anyone, but, as a native northerner, my definition of the season is benign. In northern Michigan, a summer day that is heavy with rain also promises that once the deluge has passed, the heat will break and the air will be light and fresh. A summer shower in this neck of the woods produces air so sultry that to take a deep breath is like inhaling bathwater.

And yet, the denizens of this community seem not only to tolerate, but to actually thrive in the inferno. I witness people going about their daily lives as if nothing could be finer. Why do I feel like an ant under a magnifying glass?

Whenever I venture out, I have my car's air conditioning blasting. Most shops and businesses are chilled to the temperature of a skating rink. The brief journey from the parking lot to my destination still requires an SPF 30 sunscreen or a parasol. They don't call this the Sunshine State for nothing.

"Well, thanks for the tea," I said, rising from my perch. "I guess I'll go start dinner."

We said our goodbyes and I tromped over the scorched lawn and into the artificial atmosphere of my air-conditioned house. My eyes adjusted to the gloom of window shades drawn against the glare of the late afternoon sun. My dogs were playing dead on the tile floor. The thought of pre-heating the oven was unbearable.

Then I remembered when a friend from southern California friend visited me one winter in Boyne City. I took her cross-country skiing and she inched along like a miserable toddler trying to take her first steps in her daddy's shoes. She gazed balefully out at the blanket of fresh snow as though she had been consigned to the bowels of hell. She drank copious amounts of wine and questioned the sanity of anyone who would choose to put down roots in an area that was, for half of the year, a frigid wasteland.

"Really," I told her. "It's great. You just have to get used to it and dress in layers. It's fun! Want to go ice skating?"

When I dropped her off at the airport, she swore that she would never return.

I had gone to my Floridian neighbor in search of wisdom. I believed that there must be a cure for this reverse cabin fever that has become a creeping malaise. And she did have an answer. It just wasn't one that I wanted to hear.

"Pack your collars, girls," I told my listless pets. "We're going home."

YOUR VOICE

Names

To the editor:
As a fairly recent Charlevoix resident, I have had the pleasure of meeting and getting to know Donald Schneider and am proud to claim this honest, upstanding community man as a friend.

However, if he were to stop me for a traffic stop and/or another legal reason, I'd fully expect him to write me a ticket or arrest me given the circumstances of the act. Friendship aside, he is not "soft" as it has been suggested. He is fair, honest and will fully enforce the rules he took an oath to uphold.

That said, why is it that some out there are SO proud to make slanderous statements, libelous remarks and out-and-out lies about Donald Schneider, yet are too ashamed to publish their names.

And as for the person who made a complaint about the Hatch Act, after he was "OK'd", I sure hope you signed your name to this letter or email. You know your accusations are public information and when they have been found to be untrue, and they will... you can be prosecuted for "filing a false statement" and/or sued for defamation of character, libel and slander. Are you just extremely stupid or so computer illiterate to write an email thinking that can't be traced back to you? If you had this so-called evidence, why did you wait until now to come forward... he was notified by the U.S. Office of Special Counsel June 6 that his candidacy for the sheriff's office was not in violation of the Hatch Act. Did it take you two weeks to think of something to accuse him of? Or were you just unhappy with their decision?

I am not ashamed to state the truth and sign my name.

Freedom Festival

To the editor:
Thank you to the East Jordan Freedom Festival 2008 Committee for your yearlong work and dedication to East Jordan. Your personal values - to give your time to your community - are a rarity these days. It is difficult in these times to do more than take care of one's own responsibilities, but the contribution of you and others made it possible to put personal problems aside, walk safe and open streets, and link up with family, friends, business owners, neighbors, loyal tourists, and entertainers, in a joyful atmosphere.

"You People" promoted East Jordan's economy and gave others the chance to provide old-fashioned fun, foods, games and toys in the carnival for young and the not so young. You helped brighten many a child's eyes and brought emotional lumps and tears as our flags went by carried proudly by defenders of our American way of life. The Freedom Festival gave a few days to remember celebrations of the past and older generations who gave time and hard work to help make East Jordan a good place to live and call home. This area is so unique with the Jordan River, the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, and the town so perfectly located to enjoy fireworks from various locations, as well as a wonderful area for our tourists.

Thank you all who worked on the Freedom Festival which includes with the committee, the area clubs, businesses, individual donations and personal time. The local fireworks professionals provided the most spectacular display ever - thank you to all who provided a wonderful Freedom Festival 2008.

Power of the ballot

To the editor:
When in the course of human events our legislators ignore existing laws, in violation of their oaths of office, while attempting to change those very same laws (much as a criminal continues his illegal conduct hoping that the laws will change making his acts legal) contrary to the U.S. Constitution, it becomes the duty of "We The People" to prosecute those guilty of those criminal acts. We should start at the top in our government with those criminals who unconstitutionally declared war and invaded other countries sending our military to be killed and maimed only to line the pockets of the military industrial complex in order to garner their favor, money and support in future elections. These traitors of our Republic, when tried and found guilty, should face a firing squad for their treasonous conduct and acts. It becomes incumbent upon all patriotic Americans to exercise their Constitutional rights, under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, to petition the Government for redress of grievances. As we listen to the political debates of all the candidates aspiring to the highest office in our land, President of the United States of America, and when we look past all the "what's in it for me" or the "what I'll do for you" rhetoric, there appears to be only one candidate, Representative Ron Paul from Texas, who would truly be endorsed by the "Founding Fathers" because he espouses governing our nation by following the U.S. Constitution, saving our Republic from the threat of a "One World Government" with the inevitable outcome of socialism, communism, loss of all our liberties and freedoms and ultimately slavery. Because the media in our country is biased and controlled, you may never have heard of Ron Paul. Should such a patriot be elected President of the United States, those who seek money, power and control of our lives, through a "One World Government," would be exposed for the treasonous traitors that they are and be held accountable for their actions. We have the power of the ballot and must cast it wisely in November or be prepared to suffer the consequences. We must ask ourselves, "What do I want to pass on to my children and grandchildren?" I know my answer. And God help us all if you don't know yours.

A luncheon buffet was served to approximately 100 guests at the First Presbyterian Church on Saturday, June 21, to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Bill and Mary Dunlop of Boyne City. Rev. John Chirrona had married the celebrating couple in the same church on March 29, 1958.

Their children, Gary Dunlop, Julie and Dan Schmittiel, Andy Dunlop, and Dan and Raean Dunlop, as well as their children, made this a most wonderful day for them as well as all those who attended.

Original wedding party attendants able to attend were: Kaye Melin Lorton, sister of the bride; Carol Kerby of West Branch; Mary Lou Dawson of Harbor Springs; Ken Anderson, nephew of the groom; Robert Grunow of Boyne City; Devere Middleton, soloist, of Boyne City. A unique personal touch to this memorable occasion was a mannequin adorned in Mary's bridal gown, beside the original guest book, with the first half signed by those attending then and the second half signed by those attending 50 years later. And personal it was, also, to have wrapped chocolates sprinkled on the tables with messages tucked inside from Bill and Mary. The party was catered by Pat Schroeder and crew and presented all with a wonderful meal.

By Nancy Northup

A cousin, Dale Melin, and wife Cheryl of Glen Arbor, whom they had not seen for about 23 years, were greeted with open arms. What a pleasant surprise that was. Thanks to all that attended for blessing us with their presence and their best wishes goes out from the Dunlops.

The Class of 1958 is planning a bang-up 50th class reunion celebration. They will be starting off with a golf scramble on Friday, July 11, followed by dinner at the Sportsman's Bar and then Strolling the Streets of Boyne. On Saturday, July 12, they will be having a reunion dinner in the Vienna Room A at Boyne Mountain. Sunday, July 13, will round out the weekend celebration with a picnic in Veterans Memorial Park. If you see a few slightly familiar faces about town, say hello, as there are several classmates coming in from out of town for the occasion. Or stop in and say hello to one of our events.

LaVetta Howard of Boyne City is a resident at Grandvue. She's been receiving rehab care after suffering several falls at home. She would love to have visitors. She is in room 309. Her phone is 231-536-9114.

A belated healthy and happy birthday wish goes out to Boyne's Lucy Price who celebrated her 84th on June 30.

Got a call for the address of Paul and Dorothy Pfahler, so I thought others might like to send cards wishing happy 60th wedding anniversary too. Send to Paul and Dorothy Pfahler, 9926 Cypress Lakes Dr., Lakeland, FL 33810-4300.

Melissa Vasconcellos, who lives in Kailua-Kona, Hawaii, has been visiting with her parents, Mike and Martha McKenzie of East Jordan, for the past week. On Saturday her mother and sister Mandy hosted a baby shower for her. It was a noon luncheon with about 45 people attending. Lots of friends, neighbors, and family from the East Jordan area...also, some college friends from southern Michigan, and her Aunt Donna Fisher came from Pooler, Ga., to share in the good time. It was a beautiful day, and we were able to enjoy eating outdoors. She received many really nice gifts for the new baby. Melissa and her husband are expecting their first child in October.

Josh and Angela (Matelski) Sheffield gave birth to their daughter, Abigail Joy, on June 20. She has a big brother Jordan and is Louie and Debbie Matelski's fourth grandbaby.

Seniors in Charlevoix County enjoyed a tour of the new Hiland Cottage, the Hospice House in Petoskey on Wednesday. The event was arranged by Susan Bergmann of the Commission On Aging. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, at the Boyne Area Senior Center, those who hadn't signed up enjoyed air-conditioning on that hot day - not complaining about the warmer weather finally getting here. It was nice sitting and watching line dancing and listening to the excellent piano entertainment of Midge Daniels of the Jordan Valley Duo.

Merle and Mary Carson of Boyne City were in Davison last week to attend the graduation party for grandson, Corey Lang in Marysville. Shortly after arriving, it got very black outside. They were pelted with an inch of quarter-size hail and heavy rain, but then it was over and they had a great time. Corey will attend U OF M Flint for a 7 year physical therapy course. His brother, Chris, flew in from Charleston, S.C., to join in the fun.

A warm welcome neighbor goes out to Sarah (Sally) Seelye who moved onto Deer Meadows last week.

Justin and Lacey Bailey of Clare welcomed the arrival of their first child on June 19. Beautiful little AnnaRae Bailey weighed in at 4 pounds and 14 ounces and measured 19 inches in length at her birth. Proud grandparents are Bill and Lorie Bailey of Alto, great-grandparents are Nels and Louisa Northup of Boyne Falls and great-great grandmother is Edna May of Boyne City.

Kurt and Leah Kleinschrodt, hosted a graduation party for Kayla Klienschrodt at the Free Methodist Church on Saturday, June 21. Family and friends enjoyed fun, food and fellowship. Especially enjoyed by all was a chocolate fountain surrounded with fruit and marshmallows for dipping. Congratulations to Kayla.

It is wonderful the way the community has come together, in keeping the Lakeshore Community Free Clinic up and running. Greatly appreciated it is, a large gourmet food and gadget basket will be raffled off July 6. Tickets are available now at the free clinic and can be purchased in the entryway of Glen's, beginning July 2. They are $1 per ticket or 6 tickets for $5. All proceeds will go directly to the Lakeshore Community Free Clinic.

On Thursday, June 26, Jeff Anthony and Ashley Adkison welcomed their son, Deegan Thomas Anthony, into the world. Deegan weighed 7 pounds, 13.1 ounces and was 19 inches long. Along with his parents, Deegan has a long list of grandparents to welcome him into the family - Dan and Chris Adkison, Kim Eldred and John Anthony of Boyne City; great-grandparents, Al and Nancy Zeiss of Cheboygan, David and Lynn Jensen of Saginaw, Minn., Donna Adkison of Clearwater, Fla., Loren and Jane Eldred of Mt. Pleasant and Judy Anthony of Boyne City; and great-great-grandparents, Woody and Marie Everest and Lila Anthony of Boyne City and Dorothy Jensen of Walloon Lake.

Brandon Conlin and his championship lacrosse teammates of Syracuse, N.Y., arrived in Washington, D.C., on Monday, June 23, and toured the Smithsonian Institute during the day and went to a baseball game in the evening. They met with President Bush on Tuesday, June 24, for a tour of the White House, and also had their picture taken with him.

Cal and Sharon Gillespie of Boyne City spent last week in Saginaw camping, enjoying friends and joining the 4,600 others who were there to attend the annual "Guided by God's Spirit" Assembly at the Dow Convention Center. Relieved, they were, to have just missed the tornado.

On June 26 the BCHS girls of 1960 met for lunch at the Boyne City, BC Pizza. In attendance were Karen (Gould) Zyniewicz, Nancy (Dorgan) Beebe, Donna (Kent) Diener, Charlotte (Belford) Looze, Charlotte's granddaughter and Pat (Nessen) Sumner. The girls will meet next month on July 24 at the home of Charlotte Looze.

An update on the Heaton family is that Dr. Hylon Heaton Sr. has returned as a Florida snowbird to his home in Ironton. This year he will spend much more time living with his various children but looks forward to fishing on Lake Charlevoix and golfing at Ye Nynne Olde Holles. He will celebrate his 95th birthday in July. Son Hylon III, President of the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association, delivered the commencement address to the 2008 veterinary graduating class of Michigan State University. Daughter, Wanda hosted a grandbaby birthday party for Kate and William Warezak of the California Warezaks. Kate and William were born on the same day a year apart.

An "awareness plug-in" came in from Ann Withem of Boyne City. Did you know Locks of Love is now accepting color treated hair donations? Ann, who, at 67 had, felt kind of discouraged, down, out of the main stream, like there was no way she could contribute or make a difference. But all that changed, when she realized there was something she could do that would make a big difference to someone, by simply letting her hair grow. She would be helping some needy child who had lost their hair for whatever medical reason. It took her 2 years to grow the required 10 inches of hair to donate. What a rewarding experience for the recipient and the donor.

Items of interest for the Neighbors Column, including TDTH corner may be called into Nancy's home phone, 231-582-9174, or send e-mail to neighbors@gtlakes.com before the Friday noon deadline.

Jill Jack returns to Aten Place

Jill Jack played for the first time at Aten Place in July 2006, and with that performance established herself as a barn-patron favorite. Jill was joined on stage by guitarist, Billy Brandt, who is an outstanding performer in his own right, and will join forces with her again this year. Building on each other's strengths, their combined performance is powerful and thoroughly entertaining.

Jill Jack grew up in Michigan, and her interest in playing guitar and musical tastes were hand-me-downs from her older sisters who cultured her in the music of the times. Jill has worked relentlessly for years playing everything from hole-in-the-wall clubs to singing commercial jingles. Jill has risen to the elite of Detroit's music scene while building a large and loyal fan base that literally stretches from coast to coast.

Jill's genre-jumping sound doesn't slide easily into any one format and keeps her free to write and sing what she wants, the way she wants, to create her own sound. Jill is quoted in a

September 2006 Northwest Airline's flight magazine "World Traveler" article, "Uphill Jill," that "It's a cliché to say Detroit's a melting pot, but all the different influences really had an impact on my work. My songs take it all in. My songs are country but they're based on gospel, rock, soul, jazz and folk."

Jill has produced and released six critically acclaimed albums. Her newest CD, "Moon and the Morning After," is a collection of Jill's most honest, raw, and comfortable songs to date.

Each song is lyrically poignant and draws musically from folk, country, rock, and gospel roots. "This is my most personally focused record ever - the truest material I have ever written - it's all from my heart."

Aten Place is located 1/2 mile south of Cherry Hill Road on Old Mackinaw Trail in Boyne Falls. The venue is a ninety-year old oak frame barn with seating for 180, overlooking the Boyne River valley, in the shadow of Boyne Mountain. All tickets are $10 at the door.

Tickets go on sale at 5 p.m. the day of the concert, with performances beginning at 7:30 p.m. Aten Place is a non-profit endeavor, and no food or beverage is sold on the premises. Many patrons bring snacks and desserts to share at intermission. There is also a new covered picnic pavilion for those who wish to come early and enjoy the grounds and peaceful setting.

For more information on this summer's schedule go to www.atenplace.com or call Bill or Maxine Aten at 231-549-2076.

Sunday ride

The Top of Michigan Trails Council announces a group bicycle ride from Wolverine to Gaylord and return on the newly dedicated Gaylord to Mackinaw City Trail Sunday, July 6. This ride is the Council's first ever Sunday ride and is one of two rides in July sponsored by the group.

Riders should meet at the old depot near the Sturgeon River in Wolverine before 2 p.m. The route is a segment of the Gaylord to Mackinaw City Trail and tracks through forests, pasture lands, and scenic wetlands of the Sturgeon River and its tributaries. Riders can complete the entire round trip or turn around anywhere on the trail and bike back to Wolverine. Another option is to finish riding at Gaylord and take a shuttle back to Wolverine to retrieve their cars. The shuttle is provided for pre-registrants only. Riders may also choose to spot a car where they intend to turn around. TOMTC will provide a SAG vehicle to support the riders.

This route is nearly 20 miles one way and is expected to take most riders about two hours (double for round trip). Because the trail has been recently resurfaced with high quality crushed limestone, it should accommodate all bicycles although some riders might be more comfortable with a mountain or hybrid bike. Discount dinner coupons from the Whistle Stop Restaurant near the trail in Wolverine will be available. Also available while they last are orange vests inscribed with "One Less Car."

To register in advance call 231-348-8280 or send e-mail to friend@trails council.org. TOMTC events are low-key, non-competitive bike rides over non-motorized trails and lightly traveled local roads. Most are 15 to 25 miles long and take 1 1/2 to three hours to complete except where noted. All events will be held rain or shine. TOMTC will be at the staging area for all who care to ride. Use of helmets is required. Discount lunch coupons from partnering restaurants will be available on most rides

Outdated Sunscreens

Sunscreens deteriorate and lose effectiveness over time. Some manufacturers mark sunscreens with an expiration date. Discard any sunscreen that is over three years old or appears discolored. Sunscreens may deteriorate quicker if not stored in a cool place. Sunscreens should only be used by adults and children over six months old. Infants should be kept in the shade. Be sure to protect your skin by using sunscreens that block both UVA and UVB rays and have an SPF of at least 15. If you have sensitive skin, ask your pharmacist to help you choose the sunscreen that is best for you.

VOTE DENNY WAY

FOR GREAT LAKES ENERGY BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

My name is Denny Way. Along with my wife Jeanne, we live in Norwood Township in Charlevoix County. I am seeking a position on the Great Lakes Energy Board of Directors. Tradition and vision are driving factors in Great Lakes Energy. I'm sure many of you can still remember the days when electricity came to rural Michigan. Service was a top priority to many homes and continues to be the standard GLE has established. At the same time, energy needs are changing and Directors need to be focused on future electric sources. You are the owners of this company and deserve Northwest Michigan representation on this board. I will be available to you with any questions or concerns you may have. Please check your July issue of Country Lines magazine and vote for Denny Way. I look forward to serving you.

Grand Marshals.

In keeping with tradition, no professional politicians are allowed a spot in the parade, but political barbs, innuendos and outright lies will be the order of the day.

The parade begins at 1 p.m. Organizers ask that people who attend the parade do not bring the large squirt guns, because the horses and other animals are frightened by them.

This year's Fourth of July festivities kicked off on June 24 at the Horton Bay General Store where Sen. John McCain (actually, local resident Mike Davis) and Sen. Barack Obama (actually, local resident Tony Matthews) were on hand to answer (avoid answering) questions from the press. Both "McCain" and "Obama" picked Sheriff Lasater for a running mate. When the sheriff was asked which candidate he would support he said: "Whoever wins."

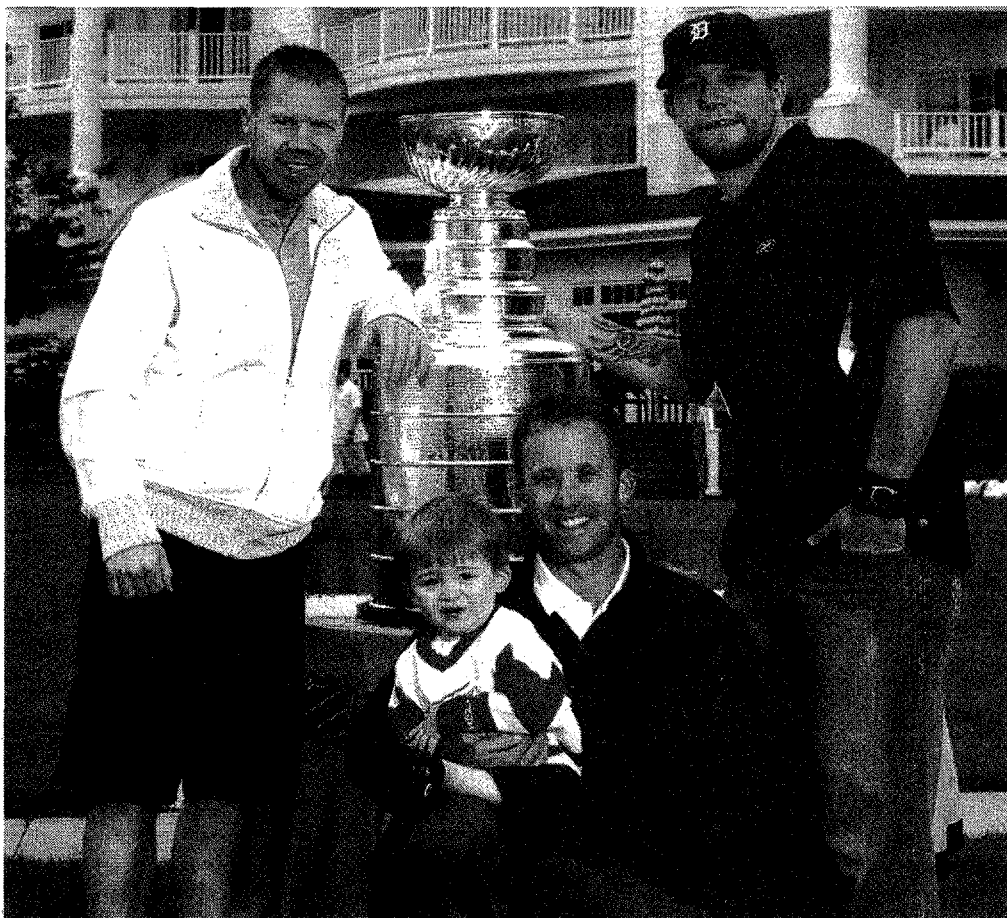

The ever-looming subject of bad roads came up and the election hopefuls were reminded of the many bumps on the Boyne City-Charlevoix Road that runs through Horton Bay. Although the candidates didn't have much to say about a remedy, organizer Lynn Maxwell made a point.

"The faster you go the less bumpy it is," she joked.

Prizes will be given to the best float entry in both the adult and children's categories. The Sousa Band from Charlevoix will entertain and there will be other activities.

A 2008-meter Fun-Run starts at 11:30 a.m. on July 4, at Old Horton Bay Road and McCraney Road, about a mile from the general store. Participants may walk, jog or run the distance that ends at the parade site.

For more information call 231-582-7567.

grant awarded to it under the state's Vibrant Small Cities Initiative. The city will submit a request to use $130,923 of the total grant of $667,000 for up to three improvement projects.

The primary project is improvements to Old City Park. Other projects are the downtown sound system and the downtown street and walkway lighting projects.

All of the projects require matching local funds and must be completed by December 31, 2009. The city commission gave approval for staff to apply for the allocation of the $130,923.

"Many years ago, Kristine's brother and only sibling moved to Petoskey. We would visit whenever we could and be in awe of the beauty of the area," Ed Brehm commented. "When given the opportunity to relocate, we made the difficult decision to move. We were encouraged to look in Charlevoix and Petoskey for a home, but chose Boyne City instead. We really love the area and hope to raise our children here."

The Brehm's said the Boyne community has been very supportive and encouraging since they took over the store and they have received many compliments from their

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Live to 100 ... And Feel Great

(MS) - Today, "actual age" and "physical age" are two different things. For those who care for their bodies, by following the easy dietary and exercise recommendations for anti-aging, it is possible to feel and look younger without drastic measures.

Dr. Mehmet Oz, a cardiothoracic surgeon, author, and frequent guest on Oprah Winfrey's program has shared his tips for turning back the clock and boosting health in the process with Oprah's viewers. His approach is not new and can easily be adapted by anyone. Here are some top points to consider:

- Choose healthy foods: Antioxidants are found in most dark fruits and vegetables, among other things help slow down or reverse the process of oxidation. The result can be reclaimed vitality and noticeable health improvements, such as the ability to fight against disease and certain cancers. A balanced diet will offer antioxidant-rich foods. Supplementing with a good multivitamin will offer consistent nutrient and vitamin intake, complementing the foods you eat.

- Seeing red: Resveratrol, a component of red wine, is a powerful antioxidant contained in the skin of the grapes. Resveratrol is also found in red/purple grape juice products. It is show to slow down aging and increase endurance. It may also promote heart health.

- Calcium is a must: Calcium is necessary for maintaining strong bones, which tend to become more brittle as one ages. However, taking calcium alone can contribute to constipation, which is why Dr. Oz recommends taking calcium with magnesium for optimal health.

- Maintain internal plumbing: Staying young also involves making sure your intestines and bowels are working properly. You'll need 25 grams of fiber a day to get the job done.

- Don't forget the exercise: Moderate daily exercise that takes inches off is also an essential component to anti-aging.

He was the dearest father of Christopher (Libby) Bearss, Julia (Larry) Taylor, Mary (Paul) Checkowsky and Matthew Bearss. Cherished grandfather to Bridgette, Ryan, Natalie, Chad and Jennifer. He was a loving brother to Norman Bearss, Robert Bearss, Marilyn Jarema and Carol Bearss. He was preceded in death by his brother, Ralph Bearss, and sister, Bernice Bearss. A memorial service will be held at St. Matthew Church in Boyne City on Thursday, July 3, at 7 p.m. Lyle's nephew, Father James Bearss, will officiate the service.

Grief support program set

Losing a spouse, parent or child due to death is sometimes more than we can bear. Also emotionally taxing is getting divorced, losing your job, moving, dealing with a chronic illness, or even losing a pet. Loss of any kind is the focus of a series designed to help people cope.

A series of five weekly sessions for those coping with a loss will be held from 6 to 7 p.m., on consecutive Tuesdays from July 8 through Aug. 12, at Charlevoix Area Hospital, 14700 Lake Shore Drive, Charlevoix. The Grief Support program is sponsored by Hospice of Northwest Michigan, the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, Charlevoix Area Hospital and North Country Community Mental Health. The program is designed to help those grow through grief, and learn the five tasks of grief work.

The facilitator for this program is Dr. Andrew Sahara of North Country Community Mental Health. Anyone is invited who has suffered a loss or who is helping a loved one deal with a loss and who would benefit from the support of others.

We would appreciate anyone interested in attending these classes to pre-register by calling the hospice office at 231-582-8800. After the first session the classes will be closed. There is no charge for this program.

Legislation designed to help energy technologies

LANSING — The Senate Commerce and Tourism Committee recently approved legislation designed to nurture cutting edge energy technologies in Michigan, said Sen. Jason Allen, who sponsored the measure.

Senate Bill 1380 creates the Centers for Energy Excellence program within the 21st Century Jobs Program.

"No new money will be needed for this plan," said Allen, R-Traverse City. "And we have insisted on accountability. This legislation should help bring alternative energy companies and universities together. It's a plan that helps us further diversify our economy."

The concept is based on research analyzing where Michigan has a natural competitive advantage and where there are technical or supply chain hurdles preventing commercialization of products. It is a cluster approach that uses a significant state grant to serve as a catalyst for energy technology development.

Last winter, the Michigan Strategic Fund board set aside $18.7 million from the current 21st Century Jobs appropriation for this program.

"The goal is to position Michigan so it attracts others in the technology sector," Allen said. "Every project must have a university partner so that Michigan also is training the next generation of scientists."

The bill now goes to the Senate floor for further consideration.

James Matthew Houser

James Matthew Houser, age 59, died at his home in San Antonio, Texas, on May 17, 2008, following a courageous battle with cancer. Jim was preceded in death by his parents, Dan and Betty Houser of Boyne City, and his younger brother, Johnny. He is survived by his beloved son, Raphael (Rubi) and two grandsons, Brian Yair and Kevon Arturo of Xalapa, Santa Cruz, Mexico. He is also survived by five sisters and two brothers: Kaye (Larry) Kessler of Conway; Winnie (Tom) Kerwin of Lakes of the North; Dan (Marge) Houser of Farmington Hills; Bob (Laura) Houser and Mary (Chuck Barsy) Houser of Boyne City; Michele (Charles) Rochon of Goulais River, Ontario, Canada; and Karen (Chris) Hilty of Troy. He was also the proud uncle of numerous nieces and nephews, and great-uncle (gruncle) to nine.

Jim was born in Detroit, Mich., and served in the U.S.

Army from 1967 to 1970. He was a veteran of Vietnam. His memory will live forever in the hearts of his family and many dear friends. His quiet, gentle, loving approach to life was as inspiring as his devotion to helping others, especially his family, friends, and fellow veterans. His beautiful smile and sense of humor will long be remembered.

A memorial and burial service will be held on Saturday, July 5, at the Evangeline Township Cemetery at 12:30 p.m., followed by a luncheon at the home of Bob and Laura Houser on Wildwood Harbor Road.

BOYNE CITY AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

At the regular meeting of Ernest Peterson Post 228, held on June 5, the following reports, discussions and actions were presented or acted upon:

Guest Charlie Conn, chairman of the Viet Nam Moving Wall display, thanked the post for participating in the opening ceremonies and estimated that 1,000 children visited the display with the total attendance between four and five thousand. Comrade Conn is planning an area veterans picnic later this year.

Letters were read from Gaylord Middle School Student Council and Boyne City High School thanking the post for inviting them to the Veterans Appreciation Day in May.

Membership stands at 142.

A notice was read from veterans advocate Gary Lock offering to help veterans who have Mesothelioma (asbestos related lung cancer) at no cost to the veteran (phone 866-932-2643 or www.veteransoptions.org).

Bingo has increased attendance and is doing well. Workers are needed and non-member volunteers from the community would be welcomed to help. The Legion Auxiliary discontinued the kitchen during bingo and donated the candy, chips and pop to the Legion who will continue the kitchen.

The historian reported pictures were donated of "The Wall" and Memorial Day and were added to the post scrapbooks.

Troop support officer reported packages were sent around Easter to our military. "Tabs For Tots" were collected with the following results: Boyne City Elementary School - 71 pounds, Boyne Falls Elementary School - 54 pounds and Orion School - 41 pounds.

The chaplain reported on area veterans who are sick, disabled, shut-in or have answered the final call. The honor guard conducted a chapel service for Arthur Oliver Laurie, a graveside service for Lawrence Jay Kowalski, Veteran of the Month ceremonies for Archie William Nemecek and Adelbert Ralph Taylor, hosted Veterans Appreciation Day, Memorial Day services at 9 locations, demonstrated flag folding, presented the POW/MIA Table. The color guard advanced and raised the American flag at opening ceremonies for the Viet Nam Moving Wall display.

The Veterans Park Memorial Fund continues to grow as the community comes on board with donations and the total stands at $13,606.

We are accepting items from the public to be sent to our troops overseas, at the post on Saturdays between 3 and 9 p.m., and Blue Star Banners and troop support ribbons are available to the public.

The next regular meeting will be held July 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the post home and will be preceded by the Veteran of the Month ceremonies at 6:15 p.m. and followed by a potluck supper in their honor. Area veterans are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Otis Pottery celebrates 20th anniversary

EAST JORDAN — Otis Pottery celebrates its 20th anniversary this year and welcomes visitors to attend its 11th Annual Open House on July 4 weekend. The Open House showcases two-dimensional artwork, wood-fired functional and decorative pottery, and chamber music. Chamber music concerts start at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 4, and Saturday, July 5, and at 4 p.m. on Sunday, July 6.

This year the visiting two-dimensional artist is Delbert Michel of Traverse City. Michel is professor emeritus from Hope College in Holland, Mich. His work includes small and large-scale assemblages as well as abstract acrylics on canvas. He describes his work as "lyrical and colorful abstractions." A selection of his pieces will be displayed, and Michel will give a brief introduction to his work during the evening programs.

Each evening will include chamber concerts featuring Fran Shelly, principal flutist with the Wichita Symphony Orchestra and professor of flute at Wichita State University. Joining her is Dorothy Vogel, of Traverse City, on piano. Bassoonist Jill Marderness and oboist Nancy Clauter, will also join them. Both are on the music faculty at the Bay View Music Festival summer conservatory. The performances will include pieces by Teleman, Scarlatti, Poulenc, Debussy, Rousset, and Dring, among others.

Otis Pottery is located one mile south of the Ironton Ferry on M-66 North. For more information, call 231-536-7856, or visit www.otispottery.net for a map and directions.

Give kids a boost, it's the new law

Booster seats are nothing new, and experts have long recommended their use up to age eight, but beginning July 1 a new Michigan law mandates that all children be in a booster seat until they are 8 years old or 4'9" tall. Children must be in a seat until they reach the age requirement or the height requirement, whichever comes first.

"This is a real win for Michigan's children," said Michigan Department of Community Health Director Janet Olszewski. "The combined use of booster seats and seat belts will save lives and decrease injuries."

Traffic crashes are the leading cause of death of children. In many cases these deaths could have been prevented by using a child passenger safety seat.

When used correctly, child safety seats are 71 percent effective in reducing fatalities and 50 percent effective in preventing minor injuries.

"Research has shown that child safety seats do save lives," Office of Highway Safety Planning Director Michael L. Prince said. "These seats are designed to lift children up and make safety belts fit their smaller bodies better. We want all parents to recognize the importance of child safety seats and use them correctly and consistently."

To raise awareness about the new law, television and radio public service announcements are airing across the state. Statewide partners, including Meijer Stores, Celebration Cinemas and Goodrich Quality Cinemas, have agreed to air the spot in their businesses and the ad will run in all Michigan Welcome Centers and Secretary of State offices.

Eye-catching billboards will dot Michigan's highways this summer thanks to donated space from the Outdoor Advertising Association.

An informational flyer is being distributed to licensed day care centers, hospitals, WIC offices and many other organizations who are involved with families and children.

"It is vital to reach as many people as possible with this message and we thank our many partners for their support and work to help keep kids safe," Prince said.

This is a primary enforcement law so a police officer, can stop a vehicle if he officer sees an improperly restrained child and issue a citation which could end up costing parents $65 to $165 in fines and fees for each unrestrained child in the vehicle.

The legislation, which was introduced Sen. Michelle McManus, R-Lake Leelanau, was signed by Gov. Jennifer M. Granholm on March 27.

For more information about child passenger safety seats and the new law, please visit <http://www.michigansafe-kids.org>.

Stupak urges state legislators to protect against commercialization of Michigan waters

WASHINGTON — U.S. Congressman Bart Stupak (D-Menominee) today urged members of the Michigan State House and Senate to enact water-use legislation that prohibits the large-scale use of Michigan water that is not in the public interest. Stupak's call for protecting the public trust in Michigan's waters comes as the Michigan House and Senate continue to debate water-use legislation. Stupak released the following statement:

"We must not allow the commercialization of surface or ground water from the Great Lakes or any of Michigan's waterways. As the world and even regions right here in this country face water shortages and begin to look toward the Great Lakes — and Michigan in particular — to meet their water needs, the Michigan Legislature should not allow our most precious resource to be outsourced.

"I have spent my Congressional career fighting to preserve and protect the quality and quantity of our Great Lakes water and other waterways across Michigan. I have continually urged the Michigan Legislature to enact a comprehensive water use plan that protects Michigan's most valuable resource. The importance of our waters cannot be overestimated. The Great Lakes are a vital resource not just for northern Michigan, but for all of the 45 million people throughout the United States and Canada who depend on them for drinking water, fishing, recreation, agriculture, industry and shipping.

"We are just starting to see the beginning of modern global water shortages. Just as wars have been fought over oil, the wars of the 21st century will be fought over water. Every 20 years the demand for water is doubling and by 2025 the World Bank predicts more than three billion people will suffer from water shortages. Our Great Lakes alone represent nearly 20 percent of the world's freshwater and we need to take action today to protect this valuable resource for generations to come.

"Large water withdrawals are the most imminent threat to Michigan's waters. Private companies do not own this water, the people in the Great Lakes basin do. The Michigan Legislature must recognize and protect the public trust and take action to prohibit the private sale or diversion of our waters."

Spring Arbor University offers special education program

GAYLORD — Spring Arbor University is pleased to offer a third Special Education: Learning Disabilities cohort at the University Center in Gaylord for fall 2008. This program can be used as an endorsement (grades K-12) for the already certified teacher or as an academic major for those pursuing elementary or secondary education through Spring Arbor University. Up to 15 credits can be used for graduate credit for re-certification purposes.

Classes will be offered in evening, summer and/or weekend formats to accommodate the working educator's schedule. The objective of the program is to provide students with a solid understanding of diagnostic and teaching methods with which to meet the curriculum and classroom management needs of students with learning disabilities. In addition, students will learn the skills needed to communicate those needs to colleagues and parents.

Spring Arbor University is seeking qualified instructors for this program. Adjunct instructors must have a master's degree, elementary certification with a L.D. endorsement, and significant classroom experience with L.D. students in a resource room or categorical. Prospective instructors must have the ability to relate well to the college learner and be able to integrate faith and learning. Spring Arbor University is a Christian university so applicants must display a vibrant Christian faith.

Please contact Deanna Couture, Admissions Specialist, at 800-522-6775 or dcouture@arbor.edu for more information.

Boyne City graduates earn scholarships

Two Boyne City High School seniors have been selected to receive scholarship monies from the 2008 Charlevoix County 4-H Council Scholarship Fund, to assist with higher education. Due to a tie, each girl will receive $375.

Elise Freed was selected to receive a $375 scholarship from the Charlevoix County 4-H Council. She aspires to study Photography and Graphic Design at Northern Michigan University. Elise has been involved in the Horton Bay Pony Club since 1997, and feels 4-H has helped her become the person she is today. Her 4-H project areas included: horses, arts and crafts and community service.

Earning the other $375 scholarship from the Charlevoix County 4-H Council was Katie Sweet. She has been involved with the Horton

Elise Freed

Katie Sweet

Bay Pony Club since 1994, and feels her experiences in 4-H have taught her valuable skills that will help her to be successful in college. She was accepted at Grand Valley State University. She has not chosen a major at this time. Her 4-H project areas included: horses, rabbits, dogs, arts and crafts and community service.

The students were selected for their educational achievements,

4-H and community involvement, future goals and leadership skills. Congratulations to both scholarship recipients.

Alma College announces Winter 2008 dean's list

ALMA — Alma College has named over 360 students to the Dean's List for outstanding academic performance during the 2008 Winter Term. Among those was Benjamin Place of Boyne City. Students who achieve a 3.5 or better grade point average during a term, while carrying a minimum of 13 credits, at least eight of which are evaluative grades, are named to the Dean's List.

Awards

LANSING — Laura (Warren) Garlinghouse recently graduated summa cum laude from Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing. She was ranked first in her graduating class of 349 students. Garlinghouse is the daughter of Robert and Karen Donaldson of Winter Haven, Fla., and formerly of East Jordan. She is a 2001 graduate of Concord Academy Boyne and a 2005 graduate of Ohio University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in communication.

At Cooley, Garlinghouse earned certificates of merit in 18 courses and served as an assistant editor of the law review, a teaching assistant, a research assistant, a grade appeals magistrate, and a graduation marshal. Garlinghouse won several moot court and mock trial competitions during law school and was named a quarter-finalist at the 2008 Pace National Environmental Law Moot Court Competition in White Plains, N.Y. As a graduating senior, Garlinghouse received the Alumni Distinguished Student Award, the Leadership Achievement Award, and the Eugene Krasicky Award.

Her husband, Nicholas, graduated magna cum laude from Cooley in 2008.

Dieting Debate...Is the debate the real disorder?
The dieting industry repeatedly reaches a $14 billion a year profit regardless of economic swings. Long-term studies (Mann et al April 2007) found that lasting weight loss is successful only 20% of the time. In contrast, other researchers believe this percentage of success to be optimistic. In turn, research from UCLA suggests focusing on weight gain and loss is not the answer to obesity. At UCLA researchers believe, "It is time to move beyond the debate of whether dieting works and to focus on two potentially more productive issues: why dieting does not work and what we mean when we say that a diet 'worked'." Diet failure is a biobehavioral phenomenon, so psychological/medical communities need to work towards elucidating the processes involved in dieting and subsequent weight regain". Paying closer attention to health outcomes instead of weight changes might lead to greater health for America.

MHSAA should point north

It's time the MHSAA recognized that the state of Michigan exists north of highway 96. Every state championship tournament, except for skiing, tennis, (Midland) and those only for teams from the U.P., is conducted south of 96, and most are conducted along the I-94 corridor.

Boys basketball is in Lansing; girls basketball is in Ypsilanti. Football is in Detroit. Track is in Grand Rapids. Cross country is in Brooklyn (Jackson). Baseball and softball are in Battle Creek. Hockey is in Plymouth. Wrestling is in Battle Creek and Ann Arbor.

Even golf takes places downstate in places like Lansing and Ypsilanti. Golf! You can't drive ten miles in any direction up here without running into a golf course (note to resort owners: start lobbying to get the state finals held at your place of business). If fudge making and decorative trinket selling were sports, they'd probably hold that in Ypsi too.

This downstate bias is hard on northern teams both competitively and financially, especially with current gas and food prices. The MHSAA reimburses the school for some of its travel expenses for some sports (based on a formula they've concocted), but it doesn't reimburse the parents or fans.

What's wrong with holding some of these state tournaments a little farther north? Teams from downstate already have a competitive advantage in that they get a couple more weeks of warmer weather to practice outside in the spring and fall seasons. They also have better access to indoor facilities when the weather turns cold. With the MHSAA tournament sites, they also get to play for state championships in their backyard.

Homer, Bellaire's opponent in the softball Final Four this year, is only about a thirty minute drive from Battle Creek.

Not only did that give the Trojans the benefit of sleeping in on game day (and be comfortable during a 2-hour rain delay), they also got to play on a field that they use often for regular season games, and their fans didn't have to miss work to attend. Basically it was a home game.

Just two weekends earlier, Bellaire's Molly Poel had to leave town at 5 a.m. to compete at the state track finals in Ada following graduation the previous evening. That kind of schedule change can be tough for an athlete to overcome.

Some of these sites are chosen for their apparent mystique. Football plays at Ford Field, home of the Lions. Boys basketball is at the Breslin Center at MSU. These big venues do add to the excitement of playing deep into the state tournament.

However, for a lot of sports (read: all the rest) that rationale doesn't apply.

A good example of a sport that could have its state final in our neck of the woods is cross country.

For the past several years, the state meet has been held at Michigan International

Four Red Devils named All-LMC, All-District

By GREG GIELCZYK
SPORTS WRITER

EAST JORDAN — Coach Meg Kitson smiles quite a bit, whether it's in the dugout encouraging her East Jordan girls softball team in the field, or in the third base coach's box waving runners toward home.

The Red Devils always seem to make the big plays when they need to, and come up with the clutch hits in tight situations.

It's been a familiar sight for East Jordan softball fans to watch as the Red Devils mow through the competition in the postseason.

Alex Snowden, Shaina Peters, Andrea Chew and Emily Bajko were selected to the All-Lake Michigan Conference team this spring.

Clancy Garland, Cassy Crick and Randi McFall earned Honorable Mention status for the Red Devils.

Snowden was also named to the All-District team as a catcher, Peters as a pitcher, Chew at shortstop, Bajko at third and Garland in centerfield.

The Red Devils also had Snowden win All-Region laurels at catcher and Peters in the circle.

East Jordan ended the season 23-12 and tied for second in the conference, before winning the district.

Bajko led the Red Devils at the plate, finishing with a .345 batting average for the season. Peters finished with an 18-6 pitching record with 219 strikeouts. "I was real happy with the season," Kitson said. "We actually got off to a slower start than what I had hoped."

"That could be due to a number of things. But, I really liked how we righted the ship and got real aggressive with the offense."

"We were rewarded for making good choices with the bats."

Kitson loses four seniors, but only two full-time starters. The other two were platoon players, whom Kitson already has replacements waiting.

East Jordan expects to be competitive in the conference again next year with the experience the Red Devils have coming back.

The Red Devils need to find replacements at first base and in centerfield.

"While those (positions) are never easy to fill, they are very doable to fill," Kitson said.

"I have some sophomores who are graduating to the varsity (off the junior varsity team) who will do an excellent job next year for us."

Much of the Red Devils' success the last couple of years has been due to their solid pitching.

East Jordan has had the luxury of possessing top-quality starters in Peters and McFall.

"That's just a big advantage, because we can always put a good pitcher on the mound, and not every team can do that," Kitson said.

"We (also) play good defense, and make smart choices." It's been a winning formula.

Boyne City's Allison Aown is caught in a rundown between East Jordan's Andi Chew (11) and Shaina Peters (right). Peters and Chew were both selected to the All-LMC softball team.

Rambler volleyball looking sharp

By GREG GIELCZYK
SPORTS WRITER

BOYNE CITY — So far, so good for the Boyne City girls volleyball program.

With the numbers she had come out for the camp just days after school let out in June, and the turnout for the varsity summer scrimmages, it's no wonder coach Casie Parker is excited.

Usually, there are no more than about 20 or 30 kids who come out for the skills camp the Monday after the last day of school.

This year, Parker was overwhelmed when 60 kids ranging in age from fifth grade to 12th packed the Boyne City gymnasium.

Several junior varsity and varsity players took advantage of open gym to prepare for summer scrimmages, which are not mandatory.

Parker was equally thrilled when she had 12 girls turning up at each of the scrimmages, which meant she could send in a new six at her whim.

Boyne City went to a six-team, two-day scrimmage last Monday and Tuesday in Pellston, and then competed in a 12-team camp on Thursday.

Among those participating was perennial volleyball power Kingsley, Pellston, Cheboygan, Harbor Light and Forest Area. The Ramblers were without veteran middle hitter Amber Kotlik, who made all-state last year.

Kotlik attended a camp at Ferris State University in Big Rapids where she was under the scrutiny of the Bulldogs' women's volleyball coach.

"Without her, I was a little nervous about how we'd do," Parker said. "Because I lost four starters that were seniors."

"My girls played really smart. Halfway through the day they had a playoff, so as soon as you lost, you were done."

"And we made it to the finals with Pellston. Pellston has a really good team. They made it to the quarterfinals at state last year."

"We lost to them by five points, and that was without my big hitter. Pellston had all of its players there."

Parker lauded the juniors who stepped up and performed well during the scrimmages.

Staying focused and playing smart, they impressed the other coaches.

They remarked about the Ramblers' play to Parker, who couldn't help beaming upon hearing the compliments.

Boyne City will be going to a Gaylord team scrimmage, the Ferris State "Team Challenge" for two days, and another scrimmage in Petoskey to finish off the summer.

Marysville, a former nine-time state champion, is expected to be at the Petoskey camp.

So is Lake Michigan Conference rival Charlevoix.

"I've had 12 girls at least, and 13 (last week), at the scrimmages," Parker said. "I'm real excited about our numbers."

"The girls are just showing up and playing hard. It's been great so far. Charlevoix and Petoskey were missing a few players, but were missing a key player, too, and still did well."

Many of the Ramblers are playing better in the scrimmages than they did last year, which makes Parker even more excited about the coming season.

Parker is also impressed with the girls' eagerness to participate in the summer scrimmages, even though they're not required to.

"They're wanting to come, and I think they see that the other schools like Charlevoix are scrimmaging," Parker said. "I basically said 'We're going to be as good as you guys want to be. If you show up and practice, we have a chance to win league this year, and districts again."

"But if we don't show up until August, and Charlevoix and them are playing and practicing all summer long, it's going to be tough to beat them."

"And the girls have responded, and they've been there."

Lindsay Clemens will be beginning her third season as the Ramblers' primary setter, and she's been working hard this summer.

Parker has her for another two years, since she's only going to be a junior this season.

She was pulled up from the junior varsity as a freshman, and became a starter almost immediately.

As a sophomore, Clemens was in the lineup about 90 percent of the time, and her experience will be a valuable asset.

"That's what really helps when you have four new starters, because you have an experienced setter that is going to set them up," Parker said.

"And she can put the ball anywhere she wants to. She's very good, and should be tops in the area in setting. Last year she made all-conference and all-region as a setter."

Hanna Hausler started a number of games for the Ramblers as a junior last year, including against McBain in the regional final, and will be another key player returning.

Rachel Stevens will also be a senior this year, and has done extremely well in the summer.

The four seniors who graduated off the team were Jessica Knysz, Heidi Olsen, Trisha Tomkins, Stacey Spaniak and Ashley Juday.

"Losing four starters, I figured we needed a lot of playing experience (in the summer)," Parker said.

"So, we are pretty busy this summer, but it's really good for us. And the girls want to do it."

RHYME OR REASON

By Chris Tredway

Rush the boundaries

Editor's Note: Throughout the summer, Staff Writer Chris Tredway will write columns about his adventures exploring the many sports and recreational activities northern Michigan has to offer.

The definition of sport has been muddled into a murky soup of vocabulary in recent generations, an all-inclusive mix where anything belongs.

Sport has reached 2008 resembling a single lifeboat floating beside a sinking cruise ship and everybody's jumping in.

Things became crowded as the game of chess got a running start off the portside and landed with a bounce between rugby and soccer, elbowing for a spot among more traditional sports. Cheerleading came next with a double back twist from the deck and nearly knocked football off the raft upon landing.

And everything began to go under when mobile phone throwing (yes, mobile phone throwing) decided to jump onto the pile, landing directly on the head of another questionable sport — horseback riding (at this point, I predict some equestrian readers may be ready to abandon ship).

It was horseback riding that got me in trouble during a phone conversation last week where I had refused to let it on board. Forgive me, but before this phone call I had seen riding horses as a mode of transportation, albeit a cool one. Car driving, for example, has yet to jump into the raft.

My extremely bright yet stubborn friend on the other end felt it necessary

Charlevoix Dems to meet

CHARLEVOIX — Election year planning will take a major step when Charlevoix County Democrats gather July 10 at the Charlevoix Public Library, at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in this year's election is invited to attend, learn what local Democrats are doing, and participate in future events.

"We've got a full agenda with planning for the fall election at the top," commented Bill Lovett, chair of the local Democrats. Charlevoix Democrats, who will open headquarters in Charlevoix on Labor Day, are planning for summer events that include area parades, a picnic, work with individual candidates, and the Rock the Vote For Change rally and voter registration event planned for July 31 at Northern Lights Recreation Center in Emmet County.

"This election year is generating incredible enthusiasm," notes Lovett. "We have more volunteers than ever. There's excitement about candidates from our Presidential nominee Senator Barack Obama to our own candidate for state house, Connie Saltonstall."

Leading the agenda at the Thursday July 10 meeting is an update by Ryan Nelson from Petoskey on the Rock The Vote for Change Event. That free event, which will feature a number of well-known local bands, food and beverages, is being organized by Emmet and Charlevoix County Democrats and local volunteers with the Obama campaign.

Lovett said that other items include planning for the county picnic and organizing campaign volunteers. The meeting that begins at 7 p.m., will be preceded by a "dutch-treat" dinner, to which everyone is invited, at the Villager Pub at 5:30 p.m.

Summoned to the home land

IRONTON — When Martin Sanderson first discovered the bay near the tiny village of Ironton with its deep waters and varied channels, it reminded him of the fjords of his Norwegian home. Trained as a sailor, Sanderson came to the states in 1869 and started his own shipping transportation business based in Milwaukee, Wis.

Bill Sanderson stands on his private property on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix. Sanderson recently ensured that the land will remain undeveloped forever by donating a conservation easement to Little Traverse Conservancy.

Demand for shipping was high in the Great Lakes as people settled the region and sought iron and lumber products. In 1883, Martin decided to purchase a nearly 50-acre farm from the railroad company for $735, with the intention of retiring on the land with his wife, Carrie.

Sadly, Martin's life ended before his retirement dream could come to fruition. However, the call to the land remained strong in his family, and one of his 10 children, William, fell in love with the idea of homesteading. Fortunately for William, while attending the University of Michigan, he met his perfect companion, Edith Moseley, who shared his aspirations of living off the land. William first cleared a homestead, farmed the land, then for 37 years served as the Supervisor of Eveline Township. The couple raised two sons, Bill and Bruce, on the property which lies a half mile south of the Ironton Ferry. "We almost didn't know the Depression was going on because life for us went on as usual, with most of our needs met right here," said Bill.

As a young man, Bill couldn't wait to get away from his country roots. He served in the Army Air Force in WWII, then college at Michigan State led to a career in mechanical engineering with Good-year based in Ohio, Virginia, and Michigan.

Yet summer vacations with his wife Dot and their five children often took them to Ironton, and when it was time for him to retire, the northern Michigan land summoned him home again.

Bill, now 85, lights up his permanent grin when he admits that the city life wasn't all he thought it would be. "This is home base for us. This is where we all gather," he said. Donating a conservation easement that will protect one of the last undeveloped shoreline parcels on the south arm of Lake Charlevoix was a natural step for Bill and his family to make. The easement will be held with Little Traverse Conservancy, a non-profit land trust that works in northern Michigan. Conservation terms of the easement are upheld, regardless of future ownership of the land.

Patty Sanderson, Bill's daughter, and her husband, Jay, are now able to spend much of their summer at the farm with Bill. Bill's son Dave and his wife Carol live nearby in Boyne City. And daughter, Lisa Sanderson Klinkman, is able to visit from Ann Arbor more frequently than the two other siblings, Jan and Dean, who live out of state. "To me, this is just the most wonderful place on earth," Lisa said.

HOME & GARDEN PLANNER

Don't Get Antsy About a Summertime Pest

(MS) - At first glance, few insects seem as innocuous as the ant. But what ants lack in size, they certainly make up for in substance.

Ants may be scoping out your home right now as a source of food. By learning how ants behave and recognizing their calling cards, you can successfully prevent ant problems this year. Here are some tips from BASF, manufacturer of Termidor® termiticide/insecticide and Phantom® termiticide-insecticide:

- Inspect the exterior perimeter of the house for signs of ants. Carpenter ants are a big, black, common variety of ant that can enter the house and even cause more structural damage than termites, say experts. Carpenter ants do not actually eat wood but excavate galleries within it to use as nesting sites. Signs of these ants may be frass: wood shavings, bits of soil, and parts of other insects. Other ants may create soil mounds or be seen scurrying along ant trails. Many ants do most foraging at night, so you may find more activity in the evening hours.
- Eliminate food sources. Ants love grease, crumbs, sweets, and other materials that they can scavenge. Rinse out containers before placing them in garbage bags. Clean up spills in and around the house. Routinely clean floors, inside of cabinets, countertops, and even around appliances to get rid of some food sources. Also pick up pets' water and food bowls when they're not in use.
- Seal cracks around windows and doors. Ants can fit through even the tiniest of gaps in search of food and water, so make sure you block entry to your house. Also, eliminate hiding spots for ants, such as moving firewood or woodpiles away from the home.
- Remove water sources. Ants need water in addition to food to survive, so do away with extraneous sources of water. Fix plumbing leaks and clean out downspouts to eliminate moisture seepage into the home. Also, check outdoor waterspouts and any drains to make sure they're functioning properly.

Learn about ant behavior to beat these pests at their own game. The Ant Institute® (AntInstitute.com), developed by the experts at BASF, is the Web's premier destination for learning about these common household pests. On the site, powerful Web cameras capture close snapshots of ants 24 hours a day, seven days a week, honing in on what it would be like if these pests invaded a typical home. The Web site is also enhanced by facts about ants, opportunities for "asking the expert," and other useful information for those interested in ant behavior - and how to eradicate the pests. The site's scientific content is reviewed and managed by expert entomologists.

"Effective ant control begins by understanding the behavior of ants and working with a professional to apply effective solutions," says Bob Hickman, chief entomologist with the Ant Institute. "Pest professionals can combine application of Phantom to outdoor points where pests enter as frequently as every month with a Termidor application along the exterior foundation walls twice a year for general pest control."

There are plenty of other tips and techniques for dealing with ants found at AntInstitute.com. Log on today to view ants in real time and find out more.

Speedway (MIS) near Jackson. Basically, the meet is held in a flat, ugly field outside the track, and then the runners finish the last half mile in the stadium.

The only real advantage of the site is that it is large enough to accommodate around two thousand runners plus thousands of parents, fans and members of the media. Plus, in the interest of maintaining state records, it is nice to have the meet on the same course every year.

However, the extreme travel distance and the flatness of the course present competitive advantages for teams downstate.

The natural terrain of northern Michigan is a boon for area cross country runners. They train and race on hills all season. But when they get to the state meet, that experience on hills — experience that their downstate rivals don't get as much of — is negated by virtue of the pancake-flat course.

And to go back to golf, it has to be an advantage to compete on the same course you get to play multiple times a year.

I would like to see teams from downstate make four or five hour road trips and then compete in a venue they are not familiar with.

I don't see why a lot of sports can't rotate their state finals to sites up north. Certainly northern Michigan has enough tracks, ball fields, wrestling mats, golf courses, restaurants and hotel rooms to accommodate everyone.

We might even be able to sell some fudge and trinkets on the side.

to read Webster's 2008 definition of sport, "A source of diversion, recreation," and "physical activity engaged in for pleasure."

Touche, I thought ... Humbly, I now pay homage to the sport of horseback riding and all others mentioned above.

In celebration of this new found freedom, where every activity and non-activity under the sun qualifies, I embark on a summer-long journey into the insanely wide world of sports. Indeed, it now seems that life itself is sport.

Names of certain individuals, who may have recurring roles in the course of the summer, have been changed for their own protection.

We begin with a train of six mountain bikes bouncing over roots and rocks along the VASA Singletrack in Williamsburg. A twisted system of narrow trails designed specifically for fat tires, the VASA is as slick as its name.

The course is fast in sections where wheels have carved out banked turns and hard packed the straightaways. Hazard trees stick out just enough to make less balanced riders a little nervous around what few hairpin turns there are, but the trail is generally rideable for all.

Our group of six glided under a canopy lit with sunlight one moment and shaded by a dark cloud the next.

The leader in all things endurance was Super Dave, a surprisingly capable rider who is currently sponsored by a bike shop in Traverse City. Needless to say, I rarely saw the man as he often remained out front somewhere.

Keeping pace with Super Dave was a resilient character by the name of Brown Squirrel, who has an uncanny ability of cornering, well, like a squirrel.

Known for attempting insane maneuvers on a mountain bike and succeeding half of the time, Maduro was riding well that day per usual, if not slightly reserved.

There were two ladies in the pack, holding their own through switchbacks and uphill climbs, eventually enduring an eye-blurring downpour later in the ride.

One has acquired the name Perfect, a nearly accurate description of her riding style. The other, who turned in an impressive performance in her debut on the VASA, will be referred to as Clara Verde for her eyes, which were forced to squint during the final mile or more as rain and hail stones turned the ground to mud.

As the skies threw down their worst, the riding reached its best of the afternoon. It resembled weather in the Colorado Rockies, where hail could pile three inches deep in 10 minutes and brake pads became useless.

I thought about a ride one summer outside Glen Haven, Colorado where hail came down hard enough to hurt through a helmet and cause a spoke-breaking crash into a short wall of granite.

A hailstone to the head brought me back to Michigan, where my bike was complaining loudly as a paste of sand and mud grinded through every moving part, brakes squeaking with each pull.

Perhaps we were experiencing a new sport, where bikes combine with hail, mud and ample supplies of adrenaline. Looking back, riding a horse through a narrow trail in a hail storm would have been just as thrilling. And though a game of chess may be difficult in such weather, chucking a cell phone through the woods would definitely have a certain appeal.

In light of this revelation, my definition of sport this summer can be summed up by standing in a downpour with both arms in the air, shouting out to the One who sends the rain while completely covered in mud.

OUR WEEKLY FISHING REPORT

Northwest

Lower Peninsula

Elk Lake - Water temperatures are still in the low 60's. No lake trout have been caught. Smallmouth bass anglers are targeting 5 to 10 feet of water from Kewadin to Spencer Bay and from the Whitewater Park access site to the Narrows. Try tube baits, swim baits, spinners, jerk baits or crawlers. A few small muskie were caught at the Narrows on large rapalas. Some are targeting perch near Kewadin and outside Spencer Bay, but catch rates were slow.

Skegemog Lake - Water temperatures have been around the 70 degree mark. May flies (Drakes and Hex's) have been hatching in large numbers over the last week. For bass, target 5 to 15 feet of water on the east side near the Torch River or the west side near the public access site. Lots of rock bass were caught.

Big Glen Lake - The weather is warm, the may fly's are out and minnows are in abundance. That means the fish are not biting like they have been the last few weeks. Smallmouth bass were hitting in the shallows on rubber worms and crank baits. Anglers are marking lake trout in 80 feet of water, but the bite was slow.

Frankfort - Fishing has been hit or miss, as the weather and water temperatures continue to be inconsistent. Some reported good catches of chinook and lake trout when fishing off the Bank and from the piers up to the Flats. Others have caught steelhead along with a few chinook salmon 6 to 20 miles offshore. Good spoon colors are still green, blue, orange and black.

Onkama - Chinook and lake trout have been caught out in the Barrel, off the Bank and 5 to 10 miles offshore. Most are fishing in 80 to 160 feet of water however some good catches were reported at 220 to 300 feet of water. Try orange and blue spoons along with purple and white flies.

Portage Lake - The mayfly hatch appears to be over for now, and more panfish have been caught. Bluegills were caught in 17 to 25 feet of water. Good numbers of largemouth, smallmouth, and rock bass were taken by those casting spinners and crank baits. Trolling for pike and walleye was best in the early afternoon or evenings. Try a crawler harness along the weed edges, or body baits up on the flats.

Manistee - Anglers are finding a fair number of trout and salmon in waters 150 to 250 feet deep. A few boats have ventured out looking for a scum line but have not found any temperature breaks. Good colors are still green and blue.

Lake Missaukee - Is producing some nice panfish.

Lakes Cadillac & Mitchell - Report good panfish and bass action.

Ludington - The boat launch was closed but has since reopened.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On July 7, 1852, according to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes stories, Holmes' friend and biographer Dr. John H. Watson is born. Coincidentally, Conan Doyle died on this day in England in 1930 at the age of 71.
- On July 12, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signs into law a measure to award a U.S. Army Medal of Honor. Since its creation, almost 3,400 men and one woman have received the Medal of Honor for heroic actions in U.S. military conflict.
- On July 13, 1938, Massachusetts Television Institute opens a "television theater" in Boston. The first show broadcast singers, musicians and dancers who were performing in a studio above the auditorium. In the theater below, the audience viewed a black-and-white image on a 9-by-12-inch screen.
- On July 9, 1941, crackerjack British cryptologists break the "unbreakable" Enigma secret code used by the German army to direct ground-to-air operations on the Eastern front. The Brits nicknamed the intercepted messages Ultra.
- On July 11, 1951, disc jockey Alan Freed starts his new job as host of a rhythm and blues radio show in Cleveland he called "The Moondog House." The legendary DJ had to stop using his popular "Moondog" moniker in 1954 when a blind New York City street musician who had recorded "Moondog Symphony" won a court battle that stripped Freed of the ability to use the name.
- On July 8, 1960, CIA pilot Francis Gary Powers, shot down two months earlier while flying a secret mission over Moscow, is charged with espionage by the Soviet Union. On Aug. 17, Powers was sentenced to 10 years in prison, but was released two years later in exchange for high-ranking Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.
- On July 10, 1985, in Auckland harbor in New Zealand, Greenpeace's Rainbow Warrior sinks after French agents in diving gear plant a bomb on the hull of the ship. A British newspaper later uncovered evidence of French President Francois Mitterrand's authorization of the bombing plan.

Salome's Stars

- ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't be Sheepish about asking questions and demanding answers. You not only gain needed information, but also respect for your steadfast search for the truth.
- TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A money problem that shows up early in the week is expeditiously resolved by savvy Bovines who know how to turn a momentary financial lapse into a monetary gain.
- GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's a good time to shed negative energy-draining forces and develop a positive approach to handling current, as well as upcoming, personal and/or professional situations.
- CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your urge to do your best on a current task is commendable. But don't let it become all-consuming. Spend some spiritually restorative time with those who love you.
- LEO (July 23 to August 22) This could be a good time for all you Leos and Leonas to take your bows for your recent achievements and then go off to enjoy some fun times with your prides and joys.
- VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A negative response to a well-intentioned suggestion could communicate a sense of distrust you might later find hard to refute. Think carefully

- before reacting.
- LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your loving attention comforts a family member who is feeling a bit out of sorts. But be careful to prioritize your time so you don't neglect your work duties.
- SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your curiosity might be reseeded by some. But those who know you will support your penchant for never settling for less than the truth. So stay with it.
- SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A pesky situation from the past recurs, albeit in an altered form. Deal with it promptly before it can go from merely irksome to decidedly troublesome.
- CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Don't wait too long to submit your proposals after giving them a last look-over. If necessary, you should be able to defend any portion called into question.
- AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A bid to use your workplace dispute-settling skills in another situation is tempting. But be careful: You might not have all the facts you'll need if you agree to do it.
- PISCES (February 19 to March 20) That sense of self-doubt is so untypical of you, you should have no qualms in shaking it off. Remind yourself of all you've done and can do, and then do it again.
- BORN THIS WEEK: Your ability to charm others without sacrificing sincerity is what makes people want to follow your leadership.
