New law for off road vehicles

By B. J. HETLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

CHARLEVOIX — Off Road Vehicles may be permitted on the far right side of designated roadways in Charlevoix County and other Northern Michigan counties under a new state law.

Public Acts 240 and 241 allow individual counties to pass an ordinance that permits and regulates the use of Off Road Vehicles (ORV) on the far right of the maintained portion of roads and streets at speeds not to exceed 25 mph.

The law also permits counties, cities, villages and townships to close any roads and streets desired to ORV traffic.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners reviewed the new law and the six roads that the county road commission recommends be closed to ORVs at its Aug. 27 meeting. Commissioners will meet with the county sheriff's office to determine any roads it may want closed to ORVs before drafting an ordinance.

The road commission's recommended list of roads to be exempt are listed in a sidebar to this

Charlevoix County roads proposed by the Charlevoix County Road Commission to be closed to ORVs:

- Boyne City-Charlevoix Road from Boyne City city limits to U.S. 31
- Boyne City-East Jordan Road from M-75 to East Jordan city limits
- Ellsworth Road from East Jordan city limits to Antrim County line
- Marion Center Road from Charlevoix city limits to Antrim County line
- Thumb Lake Road from U.S. 131 to Otsego County line
- Main Street and Kings Highway, Beaver Island, from the lighthouse to East Side Drive story. The list includes the Boyne City-Charlevoix Road, the Boyne City-East Jordan Road, Ellsworth Road and Thumb Lake Road. Charlevoix County has 713.81 miles of roads.

The law allows up to 30 percent of the road miles to be closed to ORV travel. Currently, the road commission proposes to close 47.62 miles of roadway to ORVs.

In a letter from the road commission to the county board of commissioners dated Aug. 26, the road commission explained that safety and liability on high speed roads are the reason for naming certain roads as not permitted for ORV use.

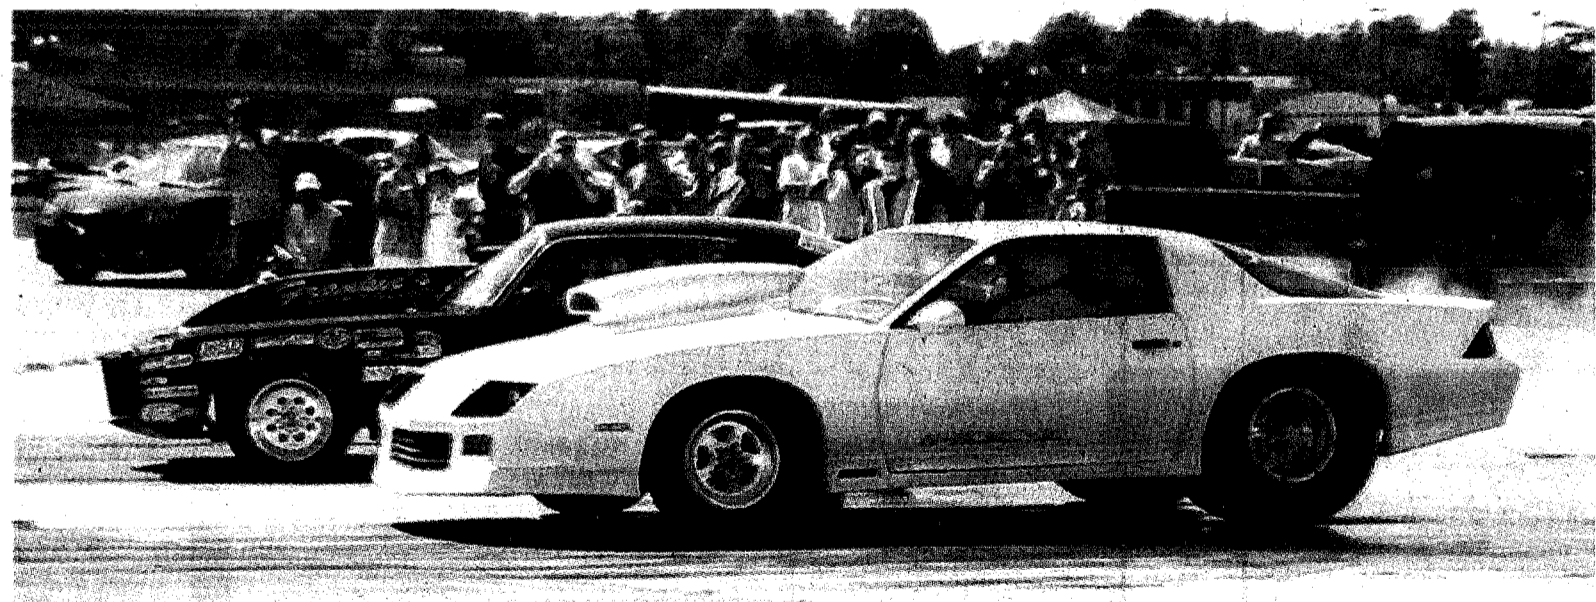

"The combination of heavy vehicular traffic operating above the speed limit, combined with the slower speed of ORVs creates an unacceptable risk to both the vehicle driver and the ORV operator who would have limited protection and a subsequent high mortality rate in case of collision," road commissioners said in the letter.

The road commission also recommended that additional road miles be added to the list if requested by any county township board prior to any ORV ordinance Charlevoix County adopts.

More discussions will take place by the county commissioners before an ordinance allowing ORVs on roadways is drafted.

Cars roar into Boyne City for annual drag race

The Burnout Pit is half the show at the annual Labor Day Boyne City Police Department Drag Races.

By JEFF BERGREN
EDITOR

BOYNE CITY — Screeching tires and the smell of burnt rubber ruled the day at the Annual Boyne City Police Department Drag Race at the Boyne City Airport this past Sunday.

Racers included both cars and motorcycles with any driver welcome to tear up the asphalt. Boyne City Police Chief Randall Howard puts together this widely anticipated race on the Sunday of each Memorial and Labor Day weekends since 2003.

"We expect between 85 to 100 entries and races vary per individual. We race for six hours from noon to 6 p.m. and drivers are welcome to make as many passes as they can get in during that time," Howard said. "There will be a wide variety of cars, everything from street cars to pro stock race cars, modified diesel pickups to motorcycles and even asphalt drag snowmobiles."

Trophies were awarded for best reaction time and individuals who traveled the furthest distance to participate. Also the fastest mph on the day received an award.

Howard said based on the information he has received, the drag race has been very well received in the community. The Police Chief looks most forward to watching people come from all over the state and out of state to gather in Boyne City for a great time.

"Probably about 25 percent of the drivers will be local. The farthest we had a driver travel is from Beckley, West Virginia," Howard added. "We invite spectators to attend. It is a great spectator event. Our local Boyne Valley Lions Club will be providing food and beverages throughout the day. Children under 12 are free. It makes for a wonderful family outing."

When the event started in 2003, it was stipulated that 75 percent of the proceeds would go directly to the airport to be earmarked for improvements and upgrades. 25 percent goes to the Police Department.

Howard said the event has benefited all the parties involved with the airport making many improvements from the race proceeds.

The races are side-by-side 1/8 mile drags with Full Tree or Pro Tree Options. Organizers also encourage "grudge" matches between participants. Each vehicle does have to pass tech inspections before being allowed to participate.

According to Howard, the track record for the fastest vehicle in the 1/8 mile is 125 mph set in 2006.

For more information for next year's drag race, you can contact the Boyne City Police Department at 231-582-6611.

LexaMar lays off 95 employees

Company explores restructuring

By B. J. HETLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

BOYNE CITY — LexaMar Corporation located in Boyne City's industrial park laid off about 95 employees just before the Labor Day weekend.

The action is a "permanent layoff" and is "a result of current automotive market conditions and a corresponding reduction in customer production volumes," said a spokesperson for LexaMar's parent company, Magna International of America Inc. The layoffs affect both salaried and hourly employees.

LexaMar produces decorative moldings for vehicle exteriors. It is one of the largest businesses in the industrial park, employing approximately 400 employees.

Boyne City manager Michael Cain said he has met with LexaMar management and with Northern Lakes Economic Alliance to discuss LexaMar's situation.

"Right now we're focused on what we can do to make sure they (LexaMar) stay here, stay viable and keep their doors open and employ as many people as possible," Cain said.

That is one of the reasons the city will not cancel the tax abatements it awarded to LexaMar. Tax abatements are a reduction in the company's property taxes

Chamber

"The purpose is to provide timely information and to encourage networking among all those attending. We will do this every month or two," Baumann said. "Future speakers might be focused on a political issue such as the county road millage or a speaker to help business people with marketing ideas."

Baumann said Cain and Alger will be giving updates on any new developments in the city and the schools and Catt will discuss the lakefront property he is planning to develop.

"The city always has a lot of issues in their hopper, and it's the start of a new school year. September is a good time to get an update since everyone is somewhat distracted by all the activities of the summer," Baumann explained. "We asked Glenn Catt to give us an update on the lakefront property he is planning to develop. He isn't quite ready to tell us all the details, since he won't have his proposal ready for another month or so, but perhaps he can give us a sneak peak, and he is open to input from the public."

Baumann has been very busy since taking over the role of Executive Director earlier this year. He said the job has been great and everyone has been very accommodating since he arrived.

"I just love this town. My priority in the early going has been to meet as many people as I can and to get to know the local issues and concerns of the community, and in particular the business community," Baumann said. "Our board will hold its annual planning session on a Saturday this month, and that's the time when we will really fine tune our plans for the year ahead."

Baumann said one clear priority he has is working closely with the city and Main Street. At this point he said everyone is on the same page and is working well together. The Chamber and Main Street have just produced a combined newsletter and along with the business breakfast are co-sponsoring the Harvest Festival.

Baumann's board conducted a member survey last year and found 80 percent of their members wanted the Chamber to be more proactive on political issues, which he plans on doing in the future. In addition, members wanted to be surveyed first to make sure their views are properly represented.

"Communication is also important. I've made it a priority to improve our website and our weekly email newsletters. There is a lot going on here, especially in the summer, and that means we have a lot of good things to promote," Baumann added. "We've added a newsletter sign-up form on our website home page so any local resident or visitor is welcome to receive our news about what's happening in the Chamber and the community."

Some other things on the horizon are the Business After Hours events, which start up again this month after taking the summer off. The Sept. 18 program will be held at Ye Nync Olde Holles, starting with an optional golf outing at 3 p.m. and then the "after hours" portion at 5:30 p.m. On Oct. 15 there is a county-wide Business After Hours at Castle Farms in Charlevoix.

"We are working with Main Street to plan the Harvest Festival, it's not a new event but it will be in a new location on the weekend of Oct. 4 and 5. Some of the business people suggested that we move the festival from Veterans Memorial Park to Water Street, so we are doing that," Baumann said. "Two blocks of the street will be closed to give us space for arts and crafts vendors, Friske Orchards, kid's game and music."

For more information you can contact Baumann at 231-582-6222.

The Democratic headquarters will be staffed by volunteers and will be open weekends in September with increasing hours as the election nears.

paid to the city. Revenue of more than $20,000 a year is lost to the city because of the tax abatements to LexaMar.

But Cain said to revoke the abatements or recapture taxes at this juncture would be "kicking them when they're down."

A prepared statement by Magna International's communications director, Tracy Fuerst, said that the company "intends to do everything possible to help place employees in other Magna family facilities and assist with this transition."

On Aug. 18, Magna International Inc.'s Decoma International unit, of which LexaMar is a part, announced plans for a restructuring of LexaMar to its employees. Restructuring is currently under discussion by the company with input from employees, customers, suppliers and management "to make the plant a viable business going forward," said Fuerst.

Magna International employs approximately 83,000 employees in 241 production and 62 product development and engineering centers in 23 countries, according to its website.

The company designs, develops and manufactures automotive systems, as-semblies, modules and components, and engineer and assemble complete vehicles. It sells its products primarily to original equipment manufacturers of cars and light trucks in North America, Europe, Asia, South America and Africa.

SENIOR LIFE

Senior Project FRESH supports local farm markets

By JEFF BERGREN
EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY — The Michigan State University Extension has offered Senior Project FRESH, a USDA Farmers' Market nutrition education program, since 2005. Senior Project FRESH was designed to promote the use of local farm markets to increase sales revenue through the acceptance of Project FRESH coupons. The program also provides nutrition education and free access to fresh Michigan grown fruits and vegetables for income eligible seniors age 60 and older.

Recently, the program was awarded funds from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

"I submitted grant proposals on behalf of Charlevoix County, MSU Extension to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation in 2006-2008 and the Foundation has graciously awarded funds for the program," Diane Rellinger, MSU Extension Educator for Charlevoix and Emmet Counties said. "The Charlevoix County Community Foundation highlighted Senior Project FRESH in their 2007 annual report as a quality educational program that meets an identified need for seniors. Many limited income seniors are nutritionally at-risk; many live with chronic diseases and often do not have adequate funds to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables."

In her role as an MSU Extension Educator, Rellinger works in the USDA Food Stamp Nutrition Education program, a federal grant to promote healthier eating and more active lifestyles for limited income audiences through educational programming.

"Since 2005, the Office of Services to the Aging in Lansing has partnered with MSU Extension and other lead agencies to administer the federal dollars for the Senior Project FRESH program," Rellinger commented. "Additional local dollars are needed each year to provide the complete funding for the program. Each Charlevoix County senior household receives $40 of coupons through the local and federal dollars that are raised."

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging also provided $1,500 and use of Charlevoix County Senior Centers to assist MSU Extension in enrolling 222 seniors this harvest season. Charlevoix County Project FRESH farmers' markets that accept the Senior Project FRESH coupons are Kiteley Farms, Marvin's Gardens Lawn & Garden Supply, Boyne City Farmers' Market, East Jordan Garden Club Farmers' Market, Country Apple Farm Market, Charlevoix Downtown Farmers' Market, and Johncheck Farm Market.

"In 2007 and 2008, the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging Board of Directors also honored my request for funds for this senior program," Rellinger explained. "The Commission on Aging has been a valuable community partner helping to provide program promotion, use of facilities for enrollment classes and adequate local funding to serve a larger senior audience."

When Senior Project FRESH was initially launched in Michigan, only 17 Michigan counties participated in the first year with Charlevoix County included in that group. Since then more counties have come aboard and in 2008, a federal funding through a USDA expansion grant was secured to bring the program to all 83 counties. Charlevoix County senior enrollments have since steadily increased from 97 seniors in 2005 to 223 seniors this year.

"Participating seniors live throughout Charlevoix County. Community collaboration is the key to the success of Senior Project FRESH," Rellinger said. "MSU Extension extends a special thank you to East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix Housing Commissions for the use of their senior housing complexes for enrollment classes."

According to Rellinger, the community response for Senior Project FRESH has been overwhelmingly positive and seniors have commented on how much they appreciate the program and how the $40 is very helpful, especially in tough economic times. Rellinger said the word of mouth has spread throughout the community deriving a real sense of satisfaction with the program. Partnering agencies have also given positive feedback on the effects of the program on seniors and each year these agencies make numerous referrals. Rellinger has also offered additional nutrition education classes for senior participants through MSU Extension to further educate citizens on nutrition questions.

Local Project FRESH farmers have also benefited, reporting increased sales with more seniors shopping at the farm markets. Rellinger said that along with the Emmet County Project FRESH program, the potential sales revenue from the two programs could total $17,920.

"Every dollar for Senior Project FRESH program benefits two groups, seniors and local farmers. This unique program is a win-win because of that reason," Rellinger added. "No other agency or program provides free nutrition education and free access to fresh Michigan produce to promote healthier eating. It is a privilege to offer such a successful, vital program."

Pairing pets and seniors

By B. J. HETLER

BOYNE CITY — Older people and cats are a great combination and for those who have been thinking about getting a cat, now is the time.

The Charlevoix County Humane Society is overcrowded with felines who need good homes. The shelter has 25 cages and currently there are 37 cats. Senior citizens who are 65 and older have an incentive to give a cat a home.

"Adult cats are free to the approved homes of seniors 65 and older," Humane Society executive director Jodie Adams said. The cat has already been spayed or neutered before it leaves the shelter so that is not an expense to seniors either.

Most adult cats prefer the quieter home of seniors and there are numerous benefits for the person, including health benefits.

Pets provide health benefits that extend far into the body and mind, such as lower blood pressure, heart rate and anxiety and stress levels. Adoz Lizzat of "Pet Therapy" writes on the Holistic online.com site.

Pets may help elderly owners live longer, healthier and more enjoyable lives, Lizzat said. The Journal of the American Geriatrics Society published an article in 1999 that showed how seniors with pets tend to have better physical strength and overall mental health and well-being than seniors that do not have pets. Seniors who choose a dog will benefit from the walks and play time.

Cats and dogs allow for physical contact and offer consistent companionship, as well as unconditional love. They act as a support system for older people without homes or families or close friends, Lizzat said.

Pets also offer protection socially from isolation, separation anxiety for people in nursing homes and for people who don't have much opportunity to interact with other people, Lizzat said. Pets help seniors stick to regular routines such as going out for groceries and performing the everyday care routines for the pet.

A group known as SeniorCare in Gloucester, Mass., provides information and assistance to elders on pet-related issues and helps them to enjoy the companionship. SeniorCare works to solve problems that may lead a senior to consider relinquishing a pet. Volunteer therapy dog visits and pre-pet adoption counseling are some of the other services.

Considering the many benefits of pet companionship for elders, senior housing and assisted living facilities that do not allow pets could rethink policies for the good of the elderly population and of the animals.

The Charlevoix County Humane Society is located on Beardsley Street in Boyne City. The telephone number is: 231-582-6774.

Dr. McMillian's Mental Health Corner

Acute Stress Disorder (ASD) is classified as an anxiety disorder. ASD was introduced in 1994 because the experiences in the first month following a significant trauma did not fully meet the criterion for Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). Those suffering ASD after witnessing or confronted with a threatened death, life threatening illness or injury experience a sense of numbing, detachment, and the traumatic event is repeatedly recalled. The hallmark feature of ASD is avoidance of similar stimulus where anxiety might be activated. Undiagnosed ASD following a significant trauma for instance an automobile accident resulting in the death of another has the potential for developing into more complex psychological difficulties. ASD can be addressed with critical debriefings following trauma, immediate and organized support by professionals, family and friends. It is cautionary for all general medical problems to be assessed before ASD is diagnosed.

THE CITIZEN-JOURNAL OPINION

Cowa-Bungee

"I'd really like to try that," my husband said, taking a huge bite of his corn dog. "It looks like fun."
I followed his gaze and recoiled in horror.
"The bungee jump?"
I stared at my husband and then at the tiny platform atop the tall, seemingly rickety, scaffolding.
"Has the idea of life on earth ceased to hold any allure for you?"
He grinned and took a long pull on the vat of lemonade in his other hand.
"It's perfectly safe," he assured me. "They know what they're doing."
"Based upon what?" I queried. "The fact that they're sanctioned by a carnival?"
"Not a carnival - the State Fair. It's perfectly safe," he repeated, dropping the corn dog stick into a trash can. "But let's get one of those giant cinnamon rolls first."
We headed off toward the food carts while I weighed the probability of this notion ever coming to fruition. In all certainty, Michael would relinquish the idea as soon as he had ingested another pound of sugary dough on top of the countless other snacks he had already consumed. No one would want to fling himself into space tethered by an elastic cord on such a full stomach.

MORE OR LESS

By Christine Gwidt

But I hadn't factored in his amazing capacity for festival food. No sooner had he finished licking the icing off of his fingers, when he sprang to his feet, ready to make me a widow.
"Let's watch someone else do it first," I suggested. "That way, you'll know what to expect."
"I'm pretty sure that I know what to expect," he said. "I'll fall, I'll bounce and I'll swing around a little bit. I think it will feel like flying. Why don't you try it, too? Maybe they'll let us go together."

"I will never fall, bounce and swing by my feet on purpose," I replied. "Not for a million dollars. I think you're crazy. But I do love you and I wish you'd reconsider."
He laughed in appreciation of my little jest and, grabbing my hand, pulled me along toward the attraction.
There was a small crowd gathered around two young men in "Cowa-Bungee" tee shirts. They were explaining the process to the assemblage, none of whom seemed to be eager to take them up on it.

"I'll go," Michael volunteered, reaching for his wallet. I clutched at his arm.
"Wait, wait, wait..." I stammered. "Wait."
He guided me gently to a row of bleachers and sat me down. He told me that if I really didn't want him to do it, well, then he wouldn't. But he was sure that it was safe, and I was worrying for no reason.

"Don't lie about your weight," I said. "They calculate something important based on your weight."
He smiled and kissed me and jogged back to meet his destiny. My husband entered a small elevator cage with the two young men. They ascended slowly until they reached the fenced platform, where they walked to a gate and began to attach manacles to my husband's ankles.

My eyes drifted to the unforgiving concrete below, interrupted briefly by an above ground swimming pool that was directly below the gate. What was this for? If the bungee cord broke, was this the safety net? Would the jumper drop 50 feet like a rock, only to break his neck in four feet of water?

Before I could contemplate that scenario, the gate opened and I saw Michael standing with his back to the opening, gripping either side, while I dimly heard the young men chorus, "One... Two... THREE!"

Michael launched himself off of the platform in a perfect back dive. He arched through the air with the cords attached to his ankles trailing like the tail of a kite.

Down and down he went until the slack was exhausted, and then, at the point where the cord would have snapped, he bounced.

"Yeaaaaa-haaaaaaa!" he yodeled, swinging like a pendulum over the tiny pool.

Relief flooded over me. He was alive! He was flipping like a fish on a line and hooting like a frat boy, but he was alive. His shirt covered his head and his arms flopped gently to and fro. He looked like a rag doll dangling from a string.

As his swinging subsided, the electronic crane whirred and he slowly descended toward earth. The two young men had taken the elevator down and arrived in time to guide him away from a dunking in the pool, and he was gently deposited on the ground.

"Well?" I asked when he was right side up and tucking in his shirt. "Was it fun?"

"I'm not sure. I was so scared that the whole thing is a blur. Let's get some caramel corn, and I'll do it again."

YOUR VOICE

An asset to the community

To the editor:
On Monday of this week, I ran out of gas just outside Advance and after a weary trudge, reached the Boyne City Marathon station (S&K Foods). The local towing service was on a call in Harbor Springs. I was very low. Then an old-fashioned kindness appeared in the person of the manager, Bob, who not only volunteered to drive me to my car, but even filled the gallon gas tank he provided. He waited at my car to see that all was well and I filled up at the station and went on my way. This kind of "customer service" is what used to be the norm. I thank Bob again and congratulate Boyne City for having him as an asset.

YOUR VOICE

Keep the Jordan clean

To the editor:
I am writing this letter in response to an Aug. 7, Petoskey News Review article, "River Cleanup Snags." This article pertained to the un-permitted setup of trash booths and collection of cans at three public access sites on the Jordan River by the Jordan River Action Group (JRAG).

On Aug. 21, I sat in on a board meeting with the Friends of the Jordan River Watershed (FOJ). Attending this meeting was Sherman Thomas, a member of the JRAG. This group was responsible for the trash booths and can collections mentioned in the Aug. 7 article.

After about one hour of questions and answers I became aware that the JRAG had four main objectives:

1. To be proactive in the collection of cans and trash before they entered the river system.
2. To insure this collection through the free distribution of thousands of mesh bags that tie to canoes and kayaks and contain cargo and trash. (which are re-usable and double as excellent morel mushroom bags)
3. To efficiently collect the trash and cans using the end-of-trip collection booths and

4. Recruit volunteers and school groups to remove the refuse in a timely manner and use the bottle deposits to run their school projects.

As those who know, Friends of the Jordan have for many years conducted bi-yearly river clean-ups. The board agrees with Mr. Thomas and the JRAG that collecting trash and cans before they reach the river is much more efficient. Although the clean-ups will continue, JRAG's efforts will be a great help.

In this day and age, when there is a price put on everything you do, it is refreshing to see a volunteer effort that can be a win-win situation for those who love and use the Jordan River and those responsible for its regulation. The Friends of the Jordan board has agreed to aid the JRAG in securing the necessary permits with the MDNR as best they can.

I ask the MDNR to please expedite this worthwhile effort. The board of FOJ hopes to reach out with guidance from you. So with this guidance we can all be proud. This will help keep Michigan's first designated Natural River pristine for years to come. In conclusion I thank Sherman Thomas and the JRAG and I thank those who are committed to the same end.

Work to stop hunger

To the editor:
The number of impoverished people is growing at an alarming rate in this country.

Recently on PBS, Bill Moyer's Journal addressed this problem with the spot interviews in New York City. One young working man said that when there's not enough food at dinnertime, his children get his share and he goes to bed hungry. Many people said that Social Security checks are their only source of income. When rent, utilities, etc., are paid, there's little left for food. Mostly the homeless used to come to soup kitchens for food. Now families with children come regularly.

Some organizations go to markets after hours and collect discarded, unsold food, which they take to soup kitchens, which gratefully accept it.

My dog will not go to bed hungry tonight, but millions of children will. Children, mentally retarded because of malnutrition CANNOT have this condition reversed even by an adequate diet.

Now - What can we do about all this?

Be aware. Don't assume there's nothing you can do about it.

Be aware of pending legislation. Make your opinions known to your legislator. They need to know of your concerns.

Be aware of local food pantries that depend on you to stock their shelves.

Giving to legitimate charities helps, but with one act Congress can wipe out the benefits of our giving. The Farm Hill with all the built-in subsidies for the large agri-businesses will raise the price of food products. Using corn to produce ethanol as fuel for cars exacerbates the problem for everyone, especially the poor who have no other options.

The thought of rumbling stomachs with no food in sight breaks my heart.

It is true what an old Haitian proverb says, "No one hears the sound of a wooden bell, and no one listens to the voice of the poor."

NEIGHBORS

Bob Pluster's step-dad, Jim Schilstra spent last week visiting here in Boyne. Jim is 94-years-young and enjoyed a family gathering, services at the First Presbyterian, a visit by former resident Judy Elzinga, a day in his beloved UP, and the Wednesday night concert in the park. Jim otherwise resides in an assisted living facility in Jenison, but really likes an occasional change of scenery.

Mel Howard and grandson Brady Way arrived home from Homer, Alaska, Tuesday evening, following an 8-day trip fishing and sight-seeing. They fished for halibut in the ocean and took a plane into the wild to a river to fish for salmon and enjoyed watching the bear that were also fishing for salmon. Brady is the son of Mel and Nan's daughter Kathy, and he fell in love with Alaska and had numerous offers for jobs so he is planning on going back in the spring and taking one of the job offers. Mel says it was a wonderful trip.

The 3rd Annual Boyne City Community Potluck Picnic will be held on Sept. 7 at Veteran's Memorial Park. Bring a dish to pass and enjoy the fun. Hot dogs and barbecue will be provided, along with great music, kids games, softball games and fun for all.

John Clark and Thorneta Rowe returned from downstate this past week. Her daughter and son-in-law, Sue and Dusty Rhodes of Troy, have also been here. Dusty returned to Troy but was back over the long Labor Day weekend. Thorn is on the mend from her recent health problem.

The 1960 BCHS girls met at Charlotte Belford Looze's home on Aug. 28 for lunch. Besides Charlotte in attendance were Eleanor Hosmer Stackus, Edna Sudman Fortune, Sandi LaBrecque Ecker, Karen Gould Zynewicz, Donna Kent Diener and Pat Nessen Sumner. The next luncheon will be Sept. 25, at 220 Lake Street.

Can you keep a secret? Carlton Howie of Boyne City surely can. And that's the way it was when granddaughter Lea Howie of Phoenix, Ariz., made her surprise weekend visit to her parents Lisa and Joe Howie. Dad was just flabbergasted to see her. Down on East Main, at grandparents Shirley and Carlton Howie's, Shirley was happily surprised to see her also and Carlton was proud to have kept the secret for the family's pleasure. Lea had called earlier, on her grandparent's wedding anniversary, and in talking to Carlton, she had asked him to keep her planned short visit a secret. Last but not least, she also surprised her brother Jeff, who was camping out in Boyne Falls.

A belated happy birthday goes out to Bea Grody of Self Indulgence, whose special day was this past Wednesday. She was planning on enjoying a Labor Day weekend camp out.

Morrie and Sue Hobbs of Boyne City and his sister, Joan Burnett of Charlevoix, attended a funeral of their cousin, Donald MacDougall, in Baldwin. They stayed a few extra days at their cabin.

The American Legion Unit 227 of East Jordan is having a Craft and Bake Sale on Sept. 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The proceeds go to Scholarship Funding so come out and see them. They are taking any bake sale donations. For more information call Evelyn Hull at 231-544-6644.

In Thursday night's exciting Boyne City Ramblers versus McBain Ramblers football game, right at the end, it poured on the players on the field as well as the spectators on the bleachers. Oh, but we needed the rain so bad, no one minded. Boyne won... 43 - 14.

Ramblers rush McBain

95-yard return
triggers offensive explosion

By GREG GIELCZYK
SPORTS WRITER

MCBAIN — Any first-game jitters the Boyne City Ramblers may have been feeling as they lined up for the opening kickoff of the 2008 high school football season were decisively erased in the span of a few seconds.

Fifteen, to be exact. That's all the time it took for Drew Nohel to gather in the McBain kickoff and scamper 95 yards to the end zone for the first score of the game.

Just that quickly, Boyne City established its dominance over its non-conference opponent from the Highland Conference, eventually rolling up an impressive 43-14 victory.

And just as fast, the Ramblers sent a message out to the Lake Michigan Conference that they intend to be contending for the league title.

Last year's leading rusher Robbie Jensen might be gone, but the Ramblers proved they have just as much offensive punch as ever with a balanced running attack featuring two backs, Trevor Kruzal and Steve Robinson.

Like two powerful fists, Kruzal and Robinson continued to deal punishing body blows to the mid-section of McBain's defense throughout the game.

Kruzal had the bigger day of the two, rushing for 105 yards and scoring three touchdowns on 10 carries (10.5 yards per rush), but Robinson emerged as an effective second option in the Ramblers' running attack.

Robinson finished with 68 yards on just six attempts for an impressive 11.3-yard average per carry, while Nohel had 60 yards on seven tries.

Those three accounted for 233 of the Ramblers' total of 334 yards rushing, and gave them the balance on offense every coach craves.

It's the second consecutive opening-game win over McBain for the Ramblers, who cruised to a 34-0 triumph in last year's game.

Nohel's opening kickoff return was the first of two scores Boyne City had in the first quarter. The other came midway through the first on a 45-yard run by Kruzal. He also ran in the two-point conversion to make it 14-0, Boyne City.

Junior quarterback Nick Young capped a six-minute Boyne City drive with a perfect 10-yard touchdown pass to Dalton Looze, extending the Ramblers' lead to 20-0 early in the second quarter.

McBain cut the Boyne City lead to 20-6 at the half, scoring on a 13-yard touchdown pass with only 28

Boyne City's defense set up the Ramblers' third score of the game.

A bad center snap on a punt attempt resulted in the McBain punter being tackled on his own 20-yard line, and Nohel ended the short drive with a four-yard burst up the middle. His two-point conversion run made it 28-6, Boyne City.

Kruzal scored twice more, from 22 and 5 yards out. Nohel kicked an extra point after one score, and Kruzal ran in a two-point conversion following the other to bump Boyne City's lead to 43-6.

"They (McBain) showed us some things we weren't expecting, so we had some adjustments to make (on defense)," Boyne City coach Dave Hills said.

"I thought our kids responded to that well. All in all, we played okay on both sides of the ball. Special teams are always a big question mark in any season.

"We had hoped that our special teams would play well. We weren't expecting to have one run back on the opening kickoff."

Kruzal led the defense with 13 tackles, nine of them solo hits. Marc Calo made 10 tackles and recovered a fumble, while Cody Wilmot had seven tackles and a fumble recovery. Nohel finished with five tackles and a pass interception, and Robinson had nine tackles.

"Offensively, I thought we controlled the tempo and had a couple of real nice, long drives," Hills said. "We had some breakdowns that need to be cleaned up.

"Typically your defense is ahead of your offense. I thought we contained (McBain)."

Hills expects the Ramblers to get a much harder test from Newberry on Friday.

"They're a much improved team," Hills said. "They have a coach in his second year. They're doing a lot of things that put a lot of pressure on a team.

"It's going to take a good effort from us during the week to get prepared for them, because they're going to throw things at us that we haven't seen a lot."

Newberry dropped a tight game to Hancock in its season opener after leading late.

NOTE: The "Gridiron Gang," a group of Boyne City football parents, will be hosting a chili dinner prior to the start of Friday's game Sept. 5. All friends and fans of Rambler football are invited.

Devils progress despite losses

KALKASKA — The East Jordan varsity soccer team could not overcome a 4-0 deficit at the end of the first half of play in Kalkaska Thursday, Aug. 28.

As time ran out on the second half of Lake Michigan Conference soccer, Kalkaska defeated East Jordan to move the Red Devils to 0-4.

The Blazers were led by Peter Lunde, who struck for three goals against an overwhelmed Red Devil defense. Kalkaska's Tylor O'Neil and Mason Moses added one goal each.

Felipe Naranjo tallied the lone East Jordan score on an assist from Tailee Frick in the second half.

"This was a very rough game and it put our team off for a while," East Jordan coach Pete Elliott said. "But in the second half they came back strong and played a solid half."

Despite the loss, goalkeeper Jordan Hagen stood strong in the net, according to Elliott, who recorded 14 saves.

Falling to Kalkaska was the second LMC loss for East Jordan, the first coming Monday, Aug. 25 at home against Harbor Springs.

The visiting Rams tallied a pair of first-half goals and then added one goal after intermission to defeat East Jordan 3-0.

Elliott made some changes going into the team's second game of the season and, despite the loss, improvement in Red Devil play was apparent.

"We moved some players around and it improved our passing game and our defense tremendously," Elliott said. "Andrew LaCount and Joshua Force anchored the fullback line and did a very good job once they got into their role.

"Tailee Fick and Andrew Boyer also played strong games, moving the ball well and thinking through their play."

Operating like a wall in front of the net, Hagen picked up ten saves for East Jordan.

Slipping a non-conference match between Harbor Springs and Kalkaska, East Jordan took on Harbor Light Christian Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Harbor Light pushed across four goals in the first half and tacked on four more in the second, as the Swordsmen downed the Red Devils 8-0 at Harbor Light.

"The guys came off a good game with Harbor Springs last night, but came out flat tonight, never really getting into the game," Elliott said. "I am confident the guys will regroup and settle in as the season goes on and be more consistent."

The Elks host East Jordan today (Thursday), followed by a match at Northwest Academy Monday, Sep. 8.

Three Loggers medal at Manton

By PHIL TROMBLEY
SPORTS WRITER

MANTON — The Boyne Falls cross country team made its second run of the season at the Manton Invitational held Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Four separate races were run, featuring freshmen and sophomore runners in both a boys' and girls' race, and two additional races for junior and senior boys and girls.

Team scores were compiled by combining the top two finishers from each school in each of the four races. Points from each individual finish were totaled to determine the overall team standing.

Unfortunately for the Loggers, who were unable to post a team score with just one entrant in both the boys and girls 11th and 12th grade races, only individual places went on record.

Boyne Falls collected a trio of medals at the meet as three Loggers finished in the top 20.

Leading the way was Steven Hart, finishing 17th in the 9th and 10th grade race with a time of 21:39. Teammate Travis Lange rolled in at 21:46, finishing right behind Hart for 18th place.

In the 11th and 12th grade girls race, Katie Fraser crossed at 27:22 for 20th place.

Benzie Central won both the boys and girls overall team competition.

"It was fun even though we weren't able to score as a team," said Boyne Falls coach Dan Kuhn.

Other results for Boyne Falls included Jared Mathers' 21st place finish with a time of 21:16, Justin Savory's 22:24 for 23rd place and Erica Westbrook's 26:33 run to finish 26th.

Placing 29th was Ali Bearss, who ran 27:12, trailed by teammate Kaylee Wilson, who came in at 27:37 for 31st and Savanna Matelski with a 35-flat for 42nd place.

Boyne Falls competes at the Buckley Invitational Saturday, Sep. 6, followed by the Boyne City Invitational Wednesday, Sep. 10.

EJ fights, falls to Glen Lake

By PHIL TROMBLEY
SPORTS WRITER

EAST JORDAN — Glen Lake mounted a 45-yard drive in the middle of the fourth quarter to close the door on an East Jordan comeback effort and take a 27-19 win over the host Red Devils Thursday, Aug. 28.

East Jordan scored a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter to pull within one point of the lead and entered the final quarter trailing the Lakers just 20-19.

"I'm proud of the kids for not giving up," East Jordan coach Bill Tison said. "They fought right to the end. We've got some things to do, but we'll try to turn things around."

Glen Lake jumped in front of East Jordan early on, mixing a sustained running game with a 40-yard scoring strike by quarterback Nate Sneed. The Lakers scored twice in the opening minutes of the game to forge a 13-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

"We struggled to stop their triple option," Tison said. "They had a couple of really good drives. They played us real tough."

East Jordan countered with two touchdowns in the second quarter. Quarterback Ted Snowden connected with receiver Matt Werner for a 30-yard scoring pass, while halfback Michael Mumich added a 45-yard touchdown run. Michael Becker kicked the PAT following Mumich's score. Snowden was eight for 17 passing and threw for 108 yards and two touchdowns. Werner caught three passes for 103 yards.

Mumich ran for 106 yards on 15 carries to lead the running game, while Bill Kraemer added 34 yards on six carries. Snowden and Werner teamed up for a 22-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter.

Throwing for 141 yards and two touchdowns, Sneed lead the Glen Lake offense, with 89 rushing yards added by Joey Czapek.

On defense, the Red Devils were led by Nate Peters, who had nine tackles. Ehn Sladick and Tanner Olstrom recovered one fumble each and Marshall Page blocked a field goal attempt.

A similar outcome came in the junior varsity game, Glen Lake beating East Jordan 12-6 Wednesday, Aug. 27.

Jacob Baier rushed for 59 yards and scored East Jordan's single touchdown on a 44-yard run.

John Monkman had 13 tackles and Kasey Combest tackled 12 to lead the Red Devil defense.

"We played pretty well defensively, but we made a few mistakes," East Jordan JV coach Greg Kitson said. "We're going to learn from this."

East Jordan teams hit the road Friday, Sep. 5, taking on St. Ignace.

BEYOND THE STATS

Safety in numbers

By PHIL TROMBLEY
SPORTS WRITER

The University of Michigan football team opened the season against Utah last Saturday, unranked in the preseason coaches' poll. In recent years, U of M fans have been accustomed to seeing the Wolverines ranked at least in the top twenty of the college elite teams, if not in the top ten, or top five.

I note this not because I expected to see the Wolverines get a high ranking; after all they do have a new coach, an untested quarterback and a new face at tailback; but rather because I would not have been surprised to see the Wolverines ranked whether they deserved it or not.

It just seems to be that every year a few teams — U of M, Nebraska and Notre Dame are good examples — get an extra edge that often goes to the big-time, big draw, big-audience programs.

The big schools with big names always get low numbers in parentheses after their names. The higher a team's ranking is at the start of the season, the easier the road is towards the eventual goal — the Bowl Championship Series.

Another boost given to these teams, as well as others that start out with a high ranking, is how these teams are able to absorb a loss in the first few weeks and still stay within reach of the top spot. It seems the higher the ranking, the lower the fall after a stumble early in the schedule.

I have always felt that any poll taken before games are actually played is, at best, a crap shoot and actually nothing more than a good-old-boys popularity contest. Granted, these polls are based on the opinions of coaches in the know, who should know best, but in the end football games are won with points — not opinions.

It's no wonder that smaller schools from the lesser known conferences have a much harder road to travel when it comes to national recognition.

Until conference races get underway, I don't put a lot of stock in the polls. Too many non-conference games match up local teams or inter-state schools that result in big scores and resume building numbers that do nothing to gauge a team's merit. The competition is not there, the intensity is not there and the pressure is not there to get a true measure of any team's true ability.

Later in the season, other factors become involved as power rankings, strength of conference and difficulty of schedule all take on meaning when considering a football team's strength. Then a better picture will begin to take shape, just when each game begins to count a little more and a little more.

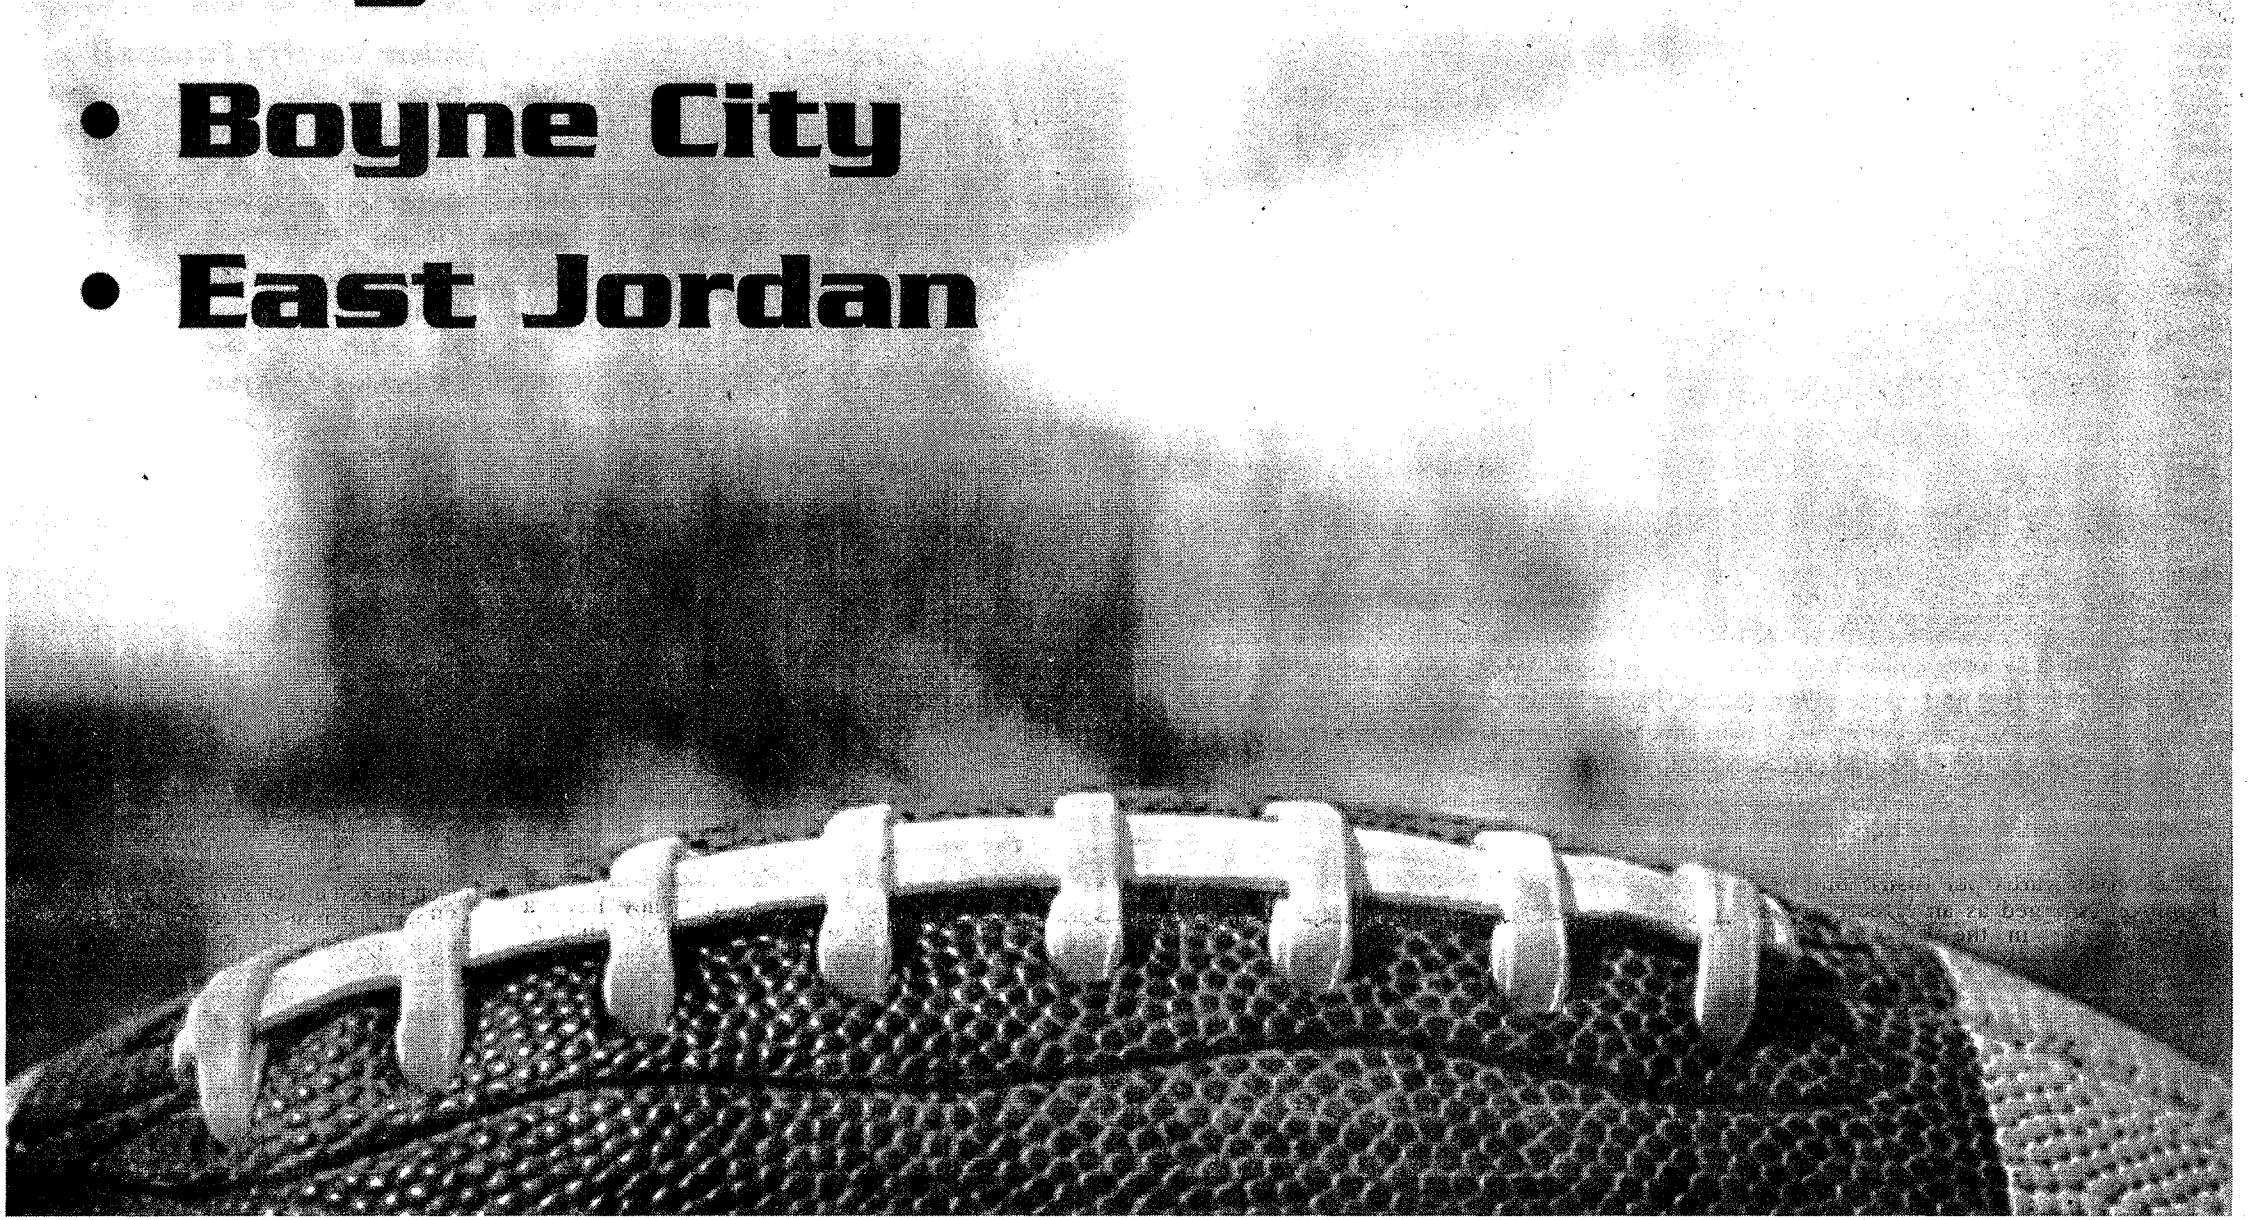

You can bet, though, some time in the coming weeks that familiar chant will mean more and more as it starts to ring out louder and louder. "We're number one... We're Number One... WE'RE NUMBER ONE!"

Just a final note — U of M lost to Utah 25-23. For the Wolverines it may be a season of looking up when it comes to college football polls.

BOYNE CITY AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

At the regular meeting of Ernest Peterson Post 228, held on Aug. 7, the following communications, reports, discussions and actions were presented or acted upon.

A thank-you card was received from Louisa Taylor Northup regarding Veteran of the Month ceremonies for her father Adelbert Ralph Taylor. A report on bingo showed more players are needed, but still making a profit. Membership for the 2008-09 Legion year stands at 96 including 15 active duty members paid by the post.

The Memorial Committee reported that Ed's Electric will install the electrical for lighting and when finished Mike Bayko will start the cement work. Records are being kept concerning donations to the project so that contributors can be acknowledged upon completion of the project. Tires, tubes and flaps were donated by The Ellsworth Farmers Exchange for the artillery gun, and Hyde Equipment of Petoskey has donated the sand blasting and painting of both guns.

The color guard led the Fourth of July parade in Boyne City, the Polish Festival Parade in Boyne Falls, and raised the American flag each day of the Fly-wheelers Club steam show.

The honor guard conducted a graveside service for Frank Mcbee and Veteran of the Month ceremonies for Arlen Ramond Smith and William Hoffman.

The Citizen published a photo of the color guard during the July 4 parade, Veteran of the Month, Arlen Ramond Smith, and July Legion News. The Petoskey News/Generations published Veteran of the Month for Arlen Ramond Smith.

The chaplain reported on area veterans who are sick, disabled, shut-in or have answered the final call. The 19th District Adjutant, Dean Kleinschrodt, announced the next District meeting will be held Sept. 13, at Wolverine Post 122, with a service officers' school at 11:15 a.m., followed by a luncheon at noon and meeting at 1 p.m.

A discussion concerning quotes for insurance on the post will be finalized at the next meeting.

The lack of proper flag etiquette, by the public at large, has been observed during parades and also includes improper display of the American flag by citizens, businesses and local government bodies. Efforts will be made to encourage our local schools to include "Flag Etiquette" as a daily part of their study programs to instill Americanism and patriotism in their students and, through them, to all area citizens.

We are accepting items from the public to be sent to our troops over seas, at the post on Saturdays between 3-9 p.m., and Blue Star Banners and troop support ribbons are available to the public. The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the post home and will be preceded by the Veteran of the Month ceremonies at 6:15 p.m. and followed by a potluck supper in their honor. Area veterans are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Arthritis self-help series offered

PETOSKEY - A free course for arthritis sufferers and their caregivers will offer strategies for long-term management and tips for enjoying a more comfortable lifestyle.

The six-week course, the "Arthritis Foundation Self-Help Program," is being offered by Northern Michigan Regional Hospital on Wednesdays, beginning Sept. 3 through Oct. 8. It will take place each week 10 a.m. to noon at the Community Health Education Center, across the parking lot from the hospital's main entrance.

"Patients can learn the general principles of managing arthritis, including drug use. Knowledgeable patients practicing self care may experience improved physical function, less pain and reduced health-care costs," said Judy Fowler, the hospital's education specialist.

Joining Fowler in leading the sessions are Northern Michigan Regional Hospital's physical therapy staff members Andrea Krause and Amy Barkley, who are nationally certified through the Arthritis Foundation to conduct the course.

The program will cover disease-specific information, stress-management strategies, medication use, exercise alternatives and coping techniques. Participants can realize long-term benefits such as improved knowledge about arthritis and its management, a reduced level of pain, fewer physician visits and improved self-care abilities.

The course format encourages active participation and includes lectures, discussion and group activities. Caregivers are encouraged to attend.

For registration or more information, call HealthAccess at (800) 248-6777.

A second six-week program will be offered, also on Wednesdays, from Jan. 23 to Feb. 27, 2009.

Boyne City parent orientation

Wednesday, Sept. 17, the staff of Boyne City High School will be hosting a Parent Orientation Night. You are invited to go into your child's classroom(s), sit at their desk, and have a presentation by their teacher(s) as to what topics of study will be covered during the year, what the expectations are and what procedures are used.

The program will begin at 6 p.m. with parents picking up schedules and visiting information booths. From there you will "walk-thru" your student's schedule. The final activity of the evening will be for all junior and senior parents to receive information about planning for 'life after high school' with Kevin King, school counselor.

Parent Orientation is not a parent-teacher conference, but a time to introduce you to your child's teachers, daily schedule, curriculum and materials. Our first conferences are scheduled for Dec. 1 and 5. If you wish to talk with any of the teachers regarding your child's progress prior to these dates, please call to set up an individual appointment. We are always interested in meeting with you and discussing how we can help your child.
