Day of Caring

On Tuesday, Sept. 16, the staff and students of Boyne City Public schools participated in the Day of Caring program sponsored by the United Way of Charlevoix and Emmet counties. The Day of Caring program promotes community service and assistance where it is needed the most. The project undertaken by the school district employees and students this year was the clean up of Wenonah Park. Trash, leaves and weeds were removed from the grounds of the park along with the grass being mowed and the trees trimmed, among other clean up projects. Clinic closes its doors

By JEFF BERGREN
 EDITOR

BOYNE CITY — The Lakeshore Community Church of Boyne City announced the closing of its clinic on Sept. 26. According to Pastor Dave Crumbaugh, this decision was made based on the economic downturn in the economy and the hardship on the church.

"Unfortunately, Lakeshore Community Church, as well as the clinic, has experienced what many other churches and charity organizations are experiencing, a decrease in donations due to the high cost of gas, food, and many other economic conditions," Crumbaugh said. "Therefore, the church can no longer afford to keep the building that both the clinic and the church share. The church is not closing, but will be relocating."

Crumbaugh said unless some interest is generated with regards to buying the building, the clinic cannot be saved. It was one year ago this April that the church began the ministry called 'Lakeshore Community Free Clinic' after recruiting members of the community to serve on a Board of Directors. The clinic is open one full day a

Cyber Space educates kids, parents

BOYNE CITY — Children and parents need education about Internet predators in order to stay safe and a Michigan Attorney General program provides that education.

Representatives from the Attorney General's Office are traveling throughout the state to present a program to elementary and middle school students, and an evening program to parents and other adults. Boyne City students and adults were recently given the opportunity to participate in the program.

Known as the Child Safety Initiative (Michigan CSI), it has been in place for a year and Attorney General Michael Cox said it is working.

"Protecting children from predators is one of my top priorities," Cox wrote on the Attorney General's website. "Predators today typically use the Internet to befriend, seduce and ultimately harm children. We have arrested more than 190 Internet predators who were seeking to harm Michigan children."

The Michigan CSI provides customized presentations for kindergarten through eighth-grade students and a community seminar for parents and other adults. All public school districts, Michigan Dioceses, Homeschooling Michigan members and Michigan Association of Public School Academies are encouraged to participate in the program during the 2008-2009 school year.

The kindergarten through third-grade presentation includes a video of the book "Faux Paw's Adventures in the Internet." The book and seminar material are presented in cooperation with the Internet Keep Safe Coalition.

Students in fourth-grade and above learn about common Internet predator grooming techniques and appropriate responses to cyber harassment.

All students are provided with age-appropriate handouts and an Online Safety Contract to discuss with parents or guardians.

The community seminar that is directed at parents and other adults provides a PowerPoint handout of slides covered during the seminar. Included is a demonstration of how to access the Michigan Sex Offender Registry and how to access online tutorials to search a child's social networking sites and to turn on safe surfing filters.

The community seminar can be viewed online at www.Michigan.gov/csi, through Comcast On-Demand, on local cable television channels, or by requesting a free DVD from the

Resident offers land use to snowmobilers

By B. J. HETLER

EAST JORDAN — Snowmobilers have a friend in an East Jordan property owner.

At the city commission meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 16, resident Larry MacEachern informed the city that he will allow an extension of the snowmobile trail over his property at no cost. The route will make it easier to have access to the city. MacEachern said he does not use the area of land and wants the people to have the use of it.

The city will communicate with the local snowmobile club about upkeep of the trail and then respond to MacEachern.

Also at the meeting, commissioner Denielle Moes asked that a review of the water and sewer funds be placed on the agenda for the next meeting.

The water fund has a $478,500 balance and the sewer fund balance is $448,080, plus $337,400 in an investment fund, she said. "I think we should assess how we are coming up with the way to charge the residents," Moes said. "We need to stop building up the fund and make adjustments to the residents. I'm not saying we shouldn't have a savings, but I believe households are being overcharged."

A draft of an amendment to the sidewalk ordinance was given to city commissioners for review. The amendment is to add language to the current ordinance that requires residents to pay for reconstruction, repair and maintenance of city sidewalks that run along residents' property.

The draft to amend ordinance section 23-38 does not replace the current ordinance, but adds section 23-35 that allows the city commission to choose to replace or construct sidewalks at the city's entire expense, or to do so by a special assessment. The commissioners will vote on the draft amendment at a future meeting.

The next regular city commission meeting is 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 7, at City Hall.

Summertree celebrates 30 years

By JEFF BERGREN
 EDITOR

BOYNE CITY — Summertree Residential Centers, Inc. is getting ready to celebrate 30 years of service of providing specialized residential services to people with developmental disabilities and mental illness. Summertree began their operations in 1978 when Michigan initiated the process of de-institutionalization of its state run facilities in favor of more community-based and home like settings.

This change initiated the formation of Adult Foster Care homes in communities throughout the state so those with developmental disabilities and mental illness could lead a more normal life. Summertree manages these homes and now has operations in 23 sites in five northwest Michigan counties. "The essence of this organization is providing a full array of specialized support services to those with developmental disabilities, but doing so in a way in which residents feel week and staffed by a volunteer doctor, nurses and one full-time paid director averaging about 40 patients a week. Crumbaugh estimates that 3,000 patients have been served during the last year and a half.

"The Lakeshore Community Church spent considerable money and time getting this ministry up and running because they believed that the community was in great need of this clinic, as has been proven by the many patients that we see each and every week," Crumbaugh explained.

During its year and a half of operation, the clinic employed one full-time person as clinic director with many volunteers. Approximately 70 percent of their budget of $32,000 for the last fiscal year went to the salary of the director with 29 percent budgeted towards the utilities and office expenses.

"We were fortunate this year to get several grants which have helped us with labs for our patients. All of this money came in from the community, for which we are very grateful," Crumbaugh added. "The patients themselves donated approximately 30 percent of this money. However, because of the less money in everyone's pockets, that giving has decreased greatly."

Crumbaugh said the church has exhausted all options in an effort to keep the clinic open and credited the community for all their support and many fundraisers they have put on for the clinic. Several organizations and foundations have also helped with expenses for the clinic but at this point there is no other option but to close their doors.

Crumbaugh wanted to express his gratitude to the Board Members that have served the clinic at what he called considerable personal peril when liability insurance could not be in place. He also pointed out the efforts of Doctor Richard Mansfield, Sue Moody, the nurses and volunteers who served the clinic.

"With the church's income down and the clinic giving down, we have come to this point of having to close our doors," Crumbaugh said. "It feels like my heart is being ripped out to have to close it. I truly believed that it could continue for years to come. I am so sorry it has come to this point."

safe, loved, and accepted for who they are regardless of their disabilities," Joe Manary, Executive Director of Summertree Residential Centers, Inc. said. "Our goal is to have everyone feel that they have strengths and that they are valued citizens regardless of their handicaps."

Manary has been employed as the Executive Director since October 2001 and said the easiest way to address the impact of the organization is by the amount of employees at the facility. There are about 160 full and part-time staff at Summertree who receive health care benefits, regular paychecks and have families who fully participate in the community.

The 30th anniversary celebration will take place on Oct. 17 through an open house at the corporate office located at 210 Lake Street in Boyne City. The office is across from Veterans Park and the event will run from 1 to 6 p.m. with the public encouraged to attend. Food and beverages will be available prepared from recipes found in their new employee cookbook that will also be on sale for $8 a copy for those interested.

"I think our 30th year indicates that we are viewed as a true quality organization and that we must 'get it' when it comes to meeting the needs of our residents, along with those of their parents, family, and/or guardians," Manary explained. "Our homes are constantly being scrutinized or inspected by someone albeit the bureau of licensing and regulations, by fire and safety inspectors, by the Office of Recipients Rights, by representatives from Community Mental Health, by CARF accreditation, by Board Members, by neighbors and by the parents and guardians who frequent the homes. One can't hold up to that much scrutiny for 30 years if you aren't a quality organization."

Manary also said another reason for celebration is that Summertree recently learned they have been re-accredited for another three years by CARF (Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities), a national entity. Manary said they are extremely proud of the accreditation, which represents a commitment to following a stringent set of business and governance standards.

"Many challenges we currently face are financial in nature. Our primary funding sources are through the North Country and Northern Lakes Community Mental Health. Unfortunately, the funding we receive to continue providing residential care services is hardly keeping pace with the cost of living and it does not keep pace with the skyrocketing costs of certain items like gasoline, heating fuel, food, utilities, and insurance," Manary added. "This is not to blame Community Mental Health in any way, as they also only receive limited funding from the Michigan Department of Community Health and Medicaid, and we all know what kind of financial hardships the state is experiencing right now. Our financial reality is that we are barely reaching a break even point."

The management team at Summertree consists of a Human Resource Manager, Finance Director, Quality Assurance Coordinator, Office Manager, four Residential Managers and the Executive Director. Each of the 12 licensed Adult Foster Care homes also has a Home Supervisor and Assistant Home Supervisor and an eight-member Board of Directors. Manary said his employees are not compensated to the level of the jobs they provide.

"I guess the biggest message to the community is to ask for everyone's patience and acceptance. We try to participate in the community as much as possible and most people are very kind and understanding," Manary said. "Some level of impatience and intolerance still exists though, so I hope that the community realizes that we are all just trying to fit in and do the best we can."

BOYNE CITY — Anne Thurston has written for more than 60 years, but this year she wrote her first published book. "The Book of Anne" is the story of how she and her husband, Ed, cared for their grandchildren upon the death of their daughter, Mary, a widow. Anne, who lives in Boyne City, talked about her book at the Boyne District Library on Sunday, Sept. 21. She also spoke of the law in the United States that ends financial assistance to foster children and children without parents when they reach the age of 18. Anne advocates assistance through the age of 23 so that children have the means to go on to college or to receive training for living on their own. Six million children in the United States are without parents, she said. Anne and Ed's grandchildren, Laura, Rachael and Patrick, were ages 10, eight and six, respectively, when they came to live with their grandparents. They are now adults with careers.

The author relates with humor the second family she and her husband raised and the book is fun to read. Anne earned a degree in art in 1945. She was an Army-Air Force wife during World War II and the Korean War. In 1943, Anne won a national "McCall's Magazine" essay contest and has been a writer ever since. "The Book of Anne" is available at area bookstores and online. B. J. Hetler may be contacted at 231-622-2645 or at www.citizen@voyager.net.

Where the presidential candidates stand on Social Security and Medicare

Dear Savvy Senior
Where do the presidential candidates stand on Social Security and Medicare? I'll be eligible for these programs in a few years and haven't been able to find anything on their positions.

Senior Voter

Dear Voter
You would think that Social Security and Medicare, the government's huge entitlement programs that affect the pocketbooks of nearly every single voting American — either in taxes paid or benefits received — would get significant attention on the campaign trail. But that's not the case this year.

Presidential candidates Arizona Sen. John McCain and Illinois Sen. Barack Obama have devoted little time this election season talking about Social Security and Medicare. That may be because both programs (especially Medicare) are in dire need of reform, and the solutions aren't likely to make voters particularly happy. Here are the problems that exist and where the candidates stand.

Social Security
Social Security is facing a long-term funding problem. By the year 2017, Social Security will start taking in less in tax revenue than it has promised to pay out in benefits. That's because the massive baby boomer population will be retiring in droves. And by 2041, the system will only be able to pay out 78 percent of promised benefits. To fix this financial shortfall experts have recommended a variety of solutions including:

- Raising taxes: Social Security trustees estimate that Social Security could be made solvent for the next 75 years by increasing workers payroll (FICA) tax to 14.1 percent. It's currently 12.4 percent, split between workers and their employers, up to a wage cap of $102,000 in 2008. The cap rises every year with inflation. Earnings above that aren't taxed for Social Security.
- Curbing benefits: This could be done by lowering annual cost-of-living adjustments, or by raising the retirement age (currently set to rise to 67 by 2027) to 70.

SAVVY SENIOR

- Creating private accounts: This is what President Bush rolled out in 2005 but it didn't take hold. It gives workers the option of diverting part of their Social Security taxes into private accounts to invest in stocks, bonds, and/or mutual funds. However, critics argue that privatizing Social Security does little to address the long-term funding concerns.

Here are the candidates' positions.

- Obama strongly opposes individual private accounts and is against curbing benefits or raising the retirement age. He believes one way to help shore up Social Security is to implement a payroll tax of 2 to 4 percent on workers earning over $250,000 a year — starting in 2019. Half of it would be paid for by employees and half by their employers.

McCain believes the best way to fix Social Security is by curbing or slowing the growth of benefits rather than raising taxes. He has also indicated he could embrace an increase in the retirement age, and supports optional and voluntary private accounts as a way to supplement Social Security.

Medicare
Due to skyrocketing health care costs, people living longer and 78 million baby boomers — who will start becoming eligible in just two years — Medicare faces much greater financial problems than Social Security and is much more difficult to fix.

Experts suggest, and both candidates agree, that fixing Medicare has to be part of an overall change to the entire health care system. Here's what else they offer on the topic.

McCain has proposed a major overhaul of Medicare's payment system, paying health care providers not by each individual service they perform but by how successfully they treat their patients. He also has proposed making wealthier Medicare beneficiaries pay more for their benefits, starting with the Part D prescription drug benefit.

Obama on the other hand wants to improve efficiency and reduce waste in the Medicare system, including eliminating subsidies to the private insurance Medicare Advantage program. He also wants to help bring down the price of drugs under the (Part D) prescription drug benefit by allowing Medicare to negotiate with drug companies for better drug prices like the VA does. He would also like to expand Medicare, in a sense, making a Medicare-like program available to those under age 65 who don't have insurance.

Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD)

The diathesis-stress model has grown acceptance in psychological societies as a way to explain why some experience PTSD and others do not. This view discredits "blame models" while focusing on the complex interactions between the severe stressors experienced and the individual's risk factors. Understanding, it takes enormous stress to activate dynamic interactions between the stressors, ecological, and biological conditions to create PTSD. For instance, empirical studies explain ecological factors include a history of poor social support, prior trauma, or a history of abuses or severe cognitive distortions. Biological indicators are genetics, neuro-structures and chemical disruptions. Consequently, the act of trauma sets the person on a collision course with these past vulnerabilities for activation that might not otherwise have been problematic. The result, PTSD. It is important to remember that the actual trauma does not create PTSD it is the residue of trauma. Next week Trauma Brain Injury and PTSD followed by Treatment and Resources. Website helps voters know more about ballot measures

There is a new website called Ballotpedia, a one-stop shop resource providing comprehensive information on all things that are ballot related. In Michigan or anywhere in the United States, voters are able to access ballot measure information online and the site highlights details on initiative supporters and opponents, financial reports, litigation news, status updates and poll numbers.

With the election right around the corner, any information voters can obtain and use is very beneficial in our political climate. When it comes to ballots, this website boasts that it is information central.

After perusing the site, the purpose is simple, they attempt to make a voter's life easier. We have all seen the ads on television where opponents attack each other and for the most part, Ballotpedia is a source for "spin-free information" and is easier to find online. The site is a project of the Sam Adams Alliance, a national non-profit organization whose company motto is to educate and inform citizens about political issues.

It is much like a Wikipedia website targeted at all things related to ballots, amendments, initiatives, school bond elections, recalls and referendums.

The elections are coming up fast and any service that can help inform voters is at least worth a look. Most of the times, the internet has inaccessible information on things voting-related and this site at least attempts to give you the information that is important to you. It is relatively easy to navigate and breaks down issues by state. At the very least, it may answer some voting questions with November fast approaching. The website address is http://ballotpedia.org/wiki/index.php/Main_Page.

As an aside, we will be hosting "An Evening with State Legislature Candidates" on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 7 p.m., at the East Jordan High School Auditorium. Our last "Meet the Candidates" night was a big success and we look forward to this next forum.

This is an opportunity for voters to ask questions and discuss issues with the candidates who are running for the 105th District House seat in the State Legislature. The candidates are Greg Dean, Libertarian Party, Kevin Elsenheimer, Republican Party (Incumbent), and Connie Saltonstall, Democratic Party.

There will be many topics to discuss so you can cast an educated vote.

Auction

To the editor:

Thank you to our parents, families, our community, EJHS staff and business owners for making our "Meet the Football Team" dinner/auction an awesome event. Thanks for coming out to meet us.

Donation

To the editor:

A huge and sincere thank you to Anita at Jordan Valley Floral of East Jordan for sponsoring "Good Neighbor Day" on Sept. 3.

We made a donation to Care & Share and each picked up a dozen beautiful, long-stemmed, vibrantly-colored carnations and promptly delivered them to the senior citizens at Lakeview Manor. We explained to each one about all the work that Anita at Jordan Valley Floral had done. We received hugs, saw tears, and received heartfelt thank you from everyone. Each senior signed a thank you card for Anita expressing their sincere appreciation.

It is so refreshing in these busy times to see a wonderful lady like Anita plan such a kind, thoughtful and awesome day for our community.

So, thank you, Anita. You made so many people happy - we felt such a warmth of love and appreciation when we delivered the carnations; the Seniors felt the kindness and love of being remembered; and families who are so very blessed by the Care & Share program in East Jordan enjoyed a variety of delicious food. Everyone benefited.

Our old world needs more giving people like Anita. She truly cares about her fellow East Jordan community members.

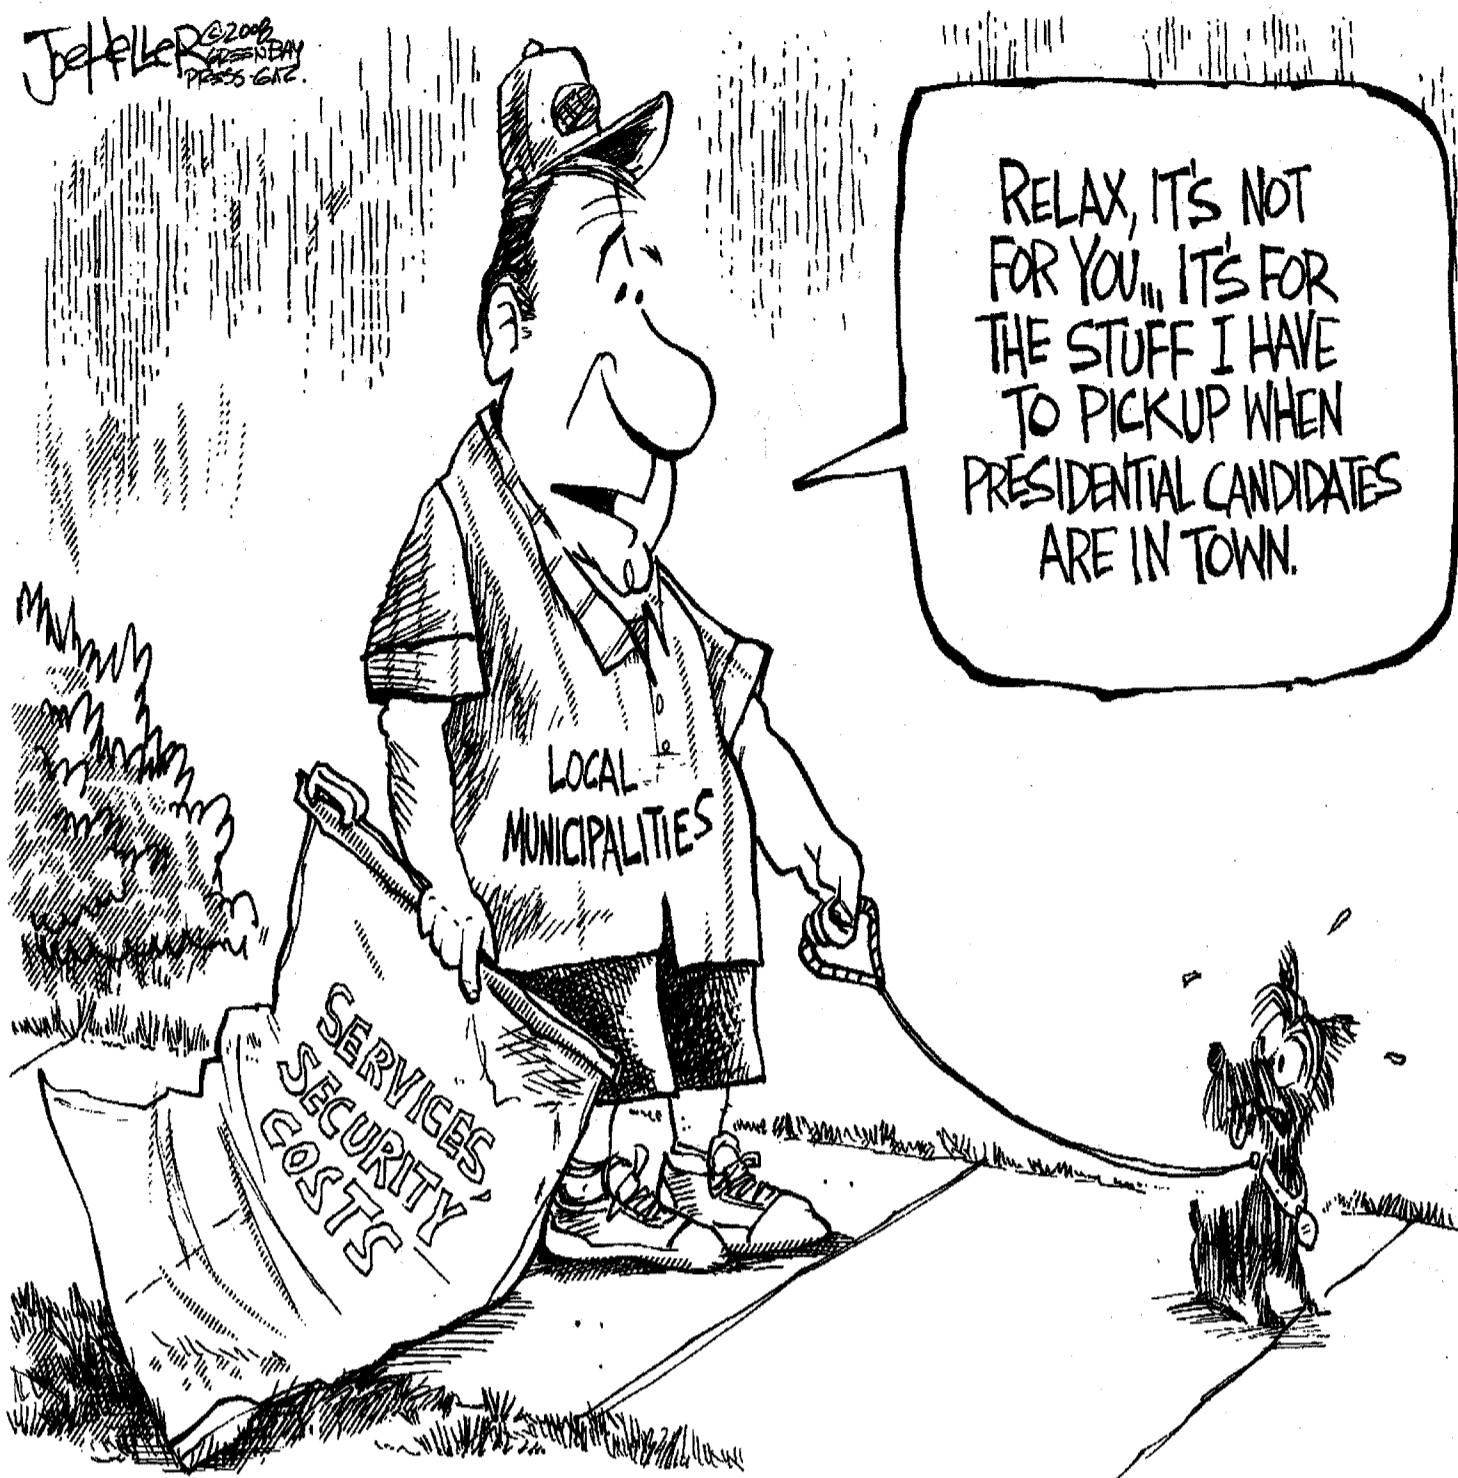

Joy 2 U, Anita.

'Scuse me while I kiss this guy

Chauffeuring us to pick up a pizza one summer evening in 1967, my best friend's brother began to sing along to a Beatles' song that was playing on the car radio.

"Knee deep in doughnuts, children at your feet, Wonder how you manage to make ends meet..."

Jan and I looked at each other and howled in tandem. Hooting and choking for air, we informed her brother, Jim, that he had the lyrics all wrong.

"It's 'Lady Madonna,' not 'knee deep in doughnuts,'" we managed to gasp, between bursts of glee. "Lady Madonna!"

Jim laughed harder than we did, nearly sullyng his shiny new driving record when he momentarily swerved onto the gravel shoulder, flirting with the ditch. We all laughed and practiced bladder control for the remainder of the ride. To this day, when I am rushed or overwhelmed, the visual of wading through piles of pastry pops into my mind.

It seems that it's not enough that we must negotiate the minutia of everyday life. Along with the onus of untangling the mysteries of the universe, we apparently are also obliged to decipher our culture's popular anthems.

As a kid, I was smitten by anything to do with horses and cowboys. Garbed in my official Annie Oakley gear, replete with a faux-buckskin skirt adorned with plastic fringe, I galloped around the neighborhood on my broomstick palomino. And I loved cowboy songs - "Ghost Riders in the Sky," "Don't Fence Me In" and anything else that mentioned doggies or the phrase "Yippee-ki-yi."

"Home on the Range" was one of my favorites. But the line "Where seldom is heard a discouraging word," confused my definition of the word "seldom" for years to come. I would shake my head when I sang that line, in rueful regret that the great western landscape I imagined was mysteriously fraught with the discouraging word "seldom." I pictured forlorn ranchers pulling dejectedly at the brim of their ten-gallon hats and muttering "Seldom" before they let fly a long stream of tobacco juice into the dust. Didn't they have enough of a problem with their deer playing with the cantaloupe?

Another childhood musical misconception revolved around the holiday favorite, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and the fact that "Olive, the other reindeer, used to laugh and call him names." And who could forget the dangerous imagery of "a one-horse sloping sleigh" in "Jingle Bells?"

Later, in the throes of pre-teen enlightenment, I was saddened by Bob Dylan's assertion that; "The ants are my friends, they're blowin' in the wind..." It was such a dizzying and senselessly brutal breeze, swirling with hapless affable insects.

In "Heart of Glass" Blondie's Debbie Harry touts her trim figure, and at the same time denigrates her own reliability with the invitation; "Won'tcha mistrust my small behind?" The lyric is actually, "Mucho mistrust, love's gone behind," which makes slightly more sense, as I've never noticed a direct correlation between dishonesty and a tiny posterior.

The 1980s saw a plethora of bands riding the New Wave, among them Los Angeles-based Missing Persons. They released a back-handed ode to the city with "Walking in L.A.," which my friend Shary insisted was "Walking in a lake, walking in a lake. Nobody walks in a lake." No Shary, nobody does. I had to drag her into a record store and wave the LP under her nose before she would back down.

My husband told me that he was convinced that Jimi Hendrix was outing himself in "Purple Haze" because he misunderstood the line, "Scuse me while I kiss the sky."

Which brings me back to Jim. I had such a crush on him when I was fourteen. But once you hear someone sing "Knee deep in doughnuts," it's hard to imagine ever kissing them without laughing.

Growing problem

To the editor:

CMS should isolate, contain and remove the Cement Kiln Dust (CKD) piles at Bay Harbor to prevent the continued production of toxic CKD leachate. Watering the Bay Harbor golf courses makes the problem worse.

CMS was given a covenant not to sue (and Penn Dixie owner Holnam was relieved of liability) by the state of Michigan and Governor Engler on the condition that CMS would not make the CKD leachate problem worse and CMS would collect the CKD leachate and it would be treated at the Petoskey wastewater treatment plant before release to Little Traverse Bay. Petoskey drove giant wells upstream from the CKD piles (sometimes pulling water from Lake Michigan) to supply Petoskey's drinking water. In a mutually beneficial relationship, the city of Petoskey received around 40 percent of its income from Bay Harbor. But CMS broke its environmental agreements with Petoskey and Petoskey now refuses to treat the leachate.

CMS avoids the order to contain, isolate and remove the kiln dust at the golf courses. Petoskey collects taxes and rejects the industrial waste. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of leachate continue to enter Little Traverse Bay. Long stretches of beach remain closed 3 years into "removal" and remediation. CMS is just beginning studies of the Bay Harbor golf courses and contamination under them. The golf courses continue to be watered and CMS collects the hazardous leachate and hauls it to other communities.

Although Traverse City has invited CMS to double the amount of industrial waste it will treat, CMS continues to pursue disposal at Alba. This is unacceptable. Alba is the headwaters of the Lake Charlevoix watershed and six great Northern Michigan rivers. CMS must isolate, contain or remove the cement kiln dust at Bay Harbor without imposing its toxic burden on other communities and other watersheds.

Bud and Jean Rauch of Deer Meadows enjoyed a combined family gathering and fishing trip on Aug. 9. Bud and Jean spent a couple of days in Ludington where their three sons and wives joined them. Including grandchildren, there were 17 of them boarding Wild Thing II, the charter boat of Tierra Yacht for a fishing trip. Even though the water was rough, their two exciting fishing excursions brought forth eight salmon and all enjoyed a plank salmon fry on Saturday night.

A note came in from Theresa Hecker saying that, "she would like to wish a happy 88th birthday to Wanda Matelski of Boyne Falls. Her birthday is on Sept. 27. Her spirit is amazing with all that she has overcome throughout the years. If anyone would like to send her a card and wish her a happy birthday, it's a sure thing, she would enjoy hearing from those that know her."

Kristine and Remie Zucchiatti were in Boyne this weekend to attend the wedding of Andrea Gerling and David Nemes.

An unintentional oversight it was, in last week's item about Boyne's 3rd annual community picnic, to have left out the supportive Main Street Program and offer a big thank you. Events such as that and the Main Street Program go hand in hand. Like love and marriage, you can't have one without the other.

Stepbrother Ken and Lena Mau of Kentucky were here for a couple of days visiting Edna May and the family. After calling back home to check on things there, they cut short this visit, due to power outage problems since Hurricane Ike had swept through their area.

The Monday Study Club of Boyne City celebrated the start up of its 103rd year on Sept. 15, with a luncheon at Boyne Mountain. Edward Grice, general manager of Boyne Mountain, presented an interesting history of the ski resort and others on Boyne U.S.A. Pictures showing the original building (which many of them remembered well) in 1947 and others in the complex were enjoyable also. Any negativity felt by Boyne City residents in 1947 has long ago been replaced with appreciation of the economic growth to the whole area.

On the 27th of September, area churches are hosting a band night with four bands, junior high to senior high age, at Boyne City's Early Childhood building in the cafeteria at 6 p.m., $5 cover charge.

Grandvue Auxiliary met Thursday, Sept. 11, with 15 members and two residents attending. Eight staff members briefly attended prior to their own meeting. Amy Maves, Director of Support Services conducted the program. She explained the new innovations and practices being incorporated into the dietary procedures and menus for residents.

Marie Schmittiel and Gen Varnum will head the Bakeless Bake Sale fund project beginning Nov. 7. Money raised is used to purchase items directly related to the comfort or pleasure of the residents. Anyone wishing to contribute toward this project may make a donation to the Grandvue Auxiliary. Ruby VanAlstine and Elaine Hersha served outstanding refreshments.

Matthew and Tiffany Ockert of Traverse City are proud parents of Matthew Luke Ockert III. He was 8 pounds 5 ounces, and 21 1/2 inches long at his birth on Sept. 7. Grandparents are Andy and Robin Birdsall of Boyne City and Matt and Wendy Ockert of Traverse City. Great-grandparents are Jack and Judy Gerrie of Boyne City and Fred and Donna Ockert of Traverse City.

The BCHS class of '47 met at 220 Lake Street on Thursday, Sept. 18, with six members and two guests attending. Their next lunch gathering will be a later one, at 4 p.m. at the BRI on Oct. 16.

It has been wonderful to see how many people feel great ties that bind as they continue attending high school reunions, no matter how far away they now live. I'd like to share one of the best-expressed memories I've read in a long time. See if you don't agree.

By Nancy Northup

The Children of Boyne
We children of Boyne are gathered again
To celebrate and remember how life was back then.
When life was simple, and days were so long,
And we all felt so safe in our beautiful town.
We played in the parks. We swam in our lakes.
Some conquered the slopes, others put on their skates.

Our days were consumed with football and sports, dances, and activities on our basketball court. Sunnyside was the place that many hung out, Talked of our future and what things were about. We all had our goals and all shared our dreams And some of us even slipped in a few schemes. We grew and we flourished, then went separate ways.

Took on the world in a glorious haze. Never knowing for sure which direction to take, But, we, the children of Boyne, had a future to make. We tackled the workplace to make our mark. Lawyers, teachers, medical to start. Agents, editors, CEO's too, Carpenters, plumbers to name a few. So many careers we entered into, Just making a living was a hard thing to do. We came through life's struggles mostly unscathed And can now see our paths that we along the way paved.

How proud we all stand at our reunion today, Knowing we've come a very long way. We children of Boyne have gathered again To celebrate and remember how life was back then. How blessed we all were to live in that day, When parents could allow their children to play. Play alone in the woods, alone in the park, Alone on the streets with no fear after dark. How blessed we all are to have one another, To share our youth, like sister and brother. Memories we all cherish of our high school peers And new memories we'll make for the rest of our years. Forever, We are the children of Boyne!

Full house for fiber exhibit opening

With eight-foot fringes flying in front of the Jordan River Art Center, Sunday, Sept. 14, the fiber exhibit, "Rare Threads on the Fringe" opened to art patrons, members, and fiber artists. It was standing room only in the main gallery with many in the lower gallery experiencing hands-on needle felting for the entire afternoon.

Fifty-eight artists were selected to show their most recent fiber art, over 100 works, including wall hangings, clothing, accessories, animals, dolls, jewelry, and a three dimensional sculpture.

In the lower gallery was the display of needle felting created by students, grades 3 through 6, from in-school workshops. Schools that participated were Alba, Bellaire, Concord Academy, Antrim, Boyne, East Jordan, Ellsworth, and St. Mary's Charlevoix.

Roger Lilak, musician, entertained the guests. This exhibit is partially funded by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs, and the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

The exhibit will continue through October 12 at the Jordan River Art Center, 301 Main St., East Jordan. Workshops are planned on weekends from Sept. 20 through Oct. 11. There are still some openings. Youth Strings program to begin

The sound of children learning how to pull a bow across the strings of a violin for the first time will soon fill the halls of many local schools. In October of 2000, the Crooked Tree String Program first began to reach out to children in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties where the local string instructor traveled to a few schools to offer students the chance to learn how to play a stringed instrument. Now as the string program enters its 9th year it has spread to 18 area schools and currently involves four string instructors that teach over 300 young musicians each year.

The purpose of the string program is to give every public and private school child the opportunity to experience the excitement of learning how to play the violin, viola, cello, or string bass while performing with their friends. Even teachers have noticed the impact the strings program has had on their students over the past few years. Jodi Thompson, music teacher from Charlevoix Elementary, was "amazed at the quality of the sound that was being produced by the string students after such a short time of working with their instruments. When they performed on stage, they looked and acted like professional musicians."

Music Education Director, Robert Dudd, and Assistant Director, Jennifer McAndrew, will soon be traveling to schools to recruit students from the 3rd grade and up to be a part of this year's string classes. Dudd states that the orientation "gives students a chance to hear each of the instruments with tunes that they recognize."

According to McAndrew, "visiting the schools and getting the children excited about strings is my favorite part of the school year. Afterwards I enjoy continuing that same excitement in the students so they will continue to return to the strings program year after year."

Classes begin the first week of October and conclude with the Spring Concert on May 17, 2009. The communities that are now served by the Crooked Tree String Program include Alanson, Beaver Island, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Harbor Springs, Pellston, and Petoskey. There will be an orientation for students that are home schooled on Sept. 19 at 11 a.m., in the Crooked Tree Arts Center. This program is solely funded through the generosity of the Dorothy Gerber Family and the Gerber Programs for Children and Music.

For more information regarding the strings program contact Crooked Tree Arts Center at (231) 347-4337 or visit our website at www.crooked-tree.org.

BCHS receives Picturing America program grant

Boyne City High School is one of over 26,000 schools and public libraries across the nation to receive the Picturing America program from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Picturing America is a free initiative that helps teach American history and culture by bringing some of the country's great art directly to classrooms and libraries.

"We are extremely pleased to have received the Picturing America grant materials. These materials will allow us to expand our arts and humanities curriculum beyond what we have been able to do in the past," said Cindi

Place, BCHS Media Specialist.

Boyne City High School received 40 large, high-quality reproductions of great American art and a comprehensive teachers' resource book to facilitate the use of the works of art in core subjects. Picturing America's resources are designed to allow each work of art to enhance the study of American history, social studies, language arts, literature, and civics.

"The endowment believes that Picturing America should be in every school and public library in the United States," said NEH Chairman Bruce Cole. "Picturing America helps us understand our democracy by bringing us face to face with the people, places, and events that have shaped our country. It provides an innovative way to experience America's history through our nation's art."

Food For Thought

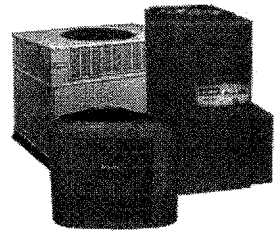

In two recent studies, older people who consumed more fish (or its omega 3 fats) did better on cognitive tests than those who ate less. A Norwegian study revealed that people in their 70's who ate more fish scored higher on tests of memory, thinking speed and attention than those who consumed less. No added benefit was seen beyond three ounces of fish a day. In another study of Dutch adults, aged 50 to 70, those with higher blood levels of omega 3 fatty acids had less of a decline after three years in test scores measuring thinking speed compared to people with lower levels.

Teachers apply for new astronaut program

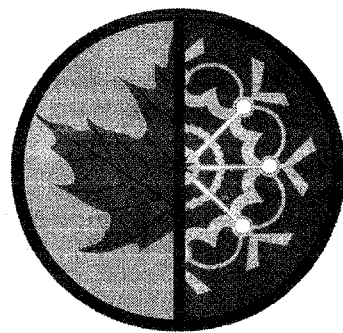

Teachers all across the country are applying for a new astronaut program.
Teachers in Space is seeking two Pathfinder Astronauts who will become the first astronaut teachers to fly in space and return to the classroom.
 "Unlike the Educator Astronaut program, which takes teachers out of schools to join the NASA astronaut corps, we want to put astronaut teachers into American classrooms," said Teachers in Space project manager Edward Wright.
 "TIS will allow teachers to keep their day jobs," Wright said. Pathfinder Astronauts will train on weekends and during the summer, so they will be able to keep their full-time teaching jobs. "There will be about three weeks of training in total,"

Wright said, "which will include both space flight training and professional development activities to improve their abilities as teachers."
 After they fly in space, Pathfinder Astronauts will be invited to return each summer to help teach the training course for new astronaut teachers. Eventually,

McAuliffe. NASA replaced Teachers in Space with the Educator Astronaut program, in which former teachers become full-time NASA employees. The original vision of putting an astronaut back into an American classroom was lost. That vision is now being revived by the new Teachers in Space program, a non-profit project of the Space Frontier Foundation and the United States Rocket Academy.
 Rather than relying on the Space Shuttle, the new Teachers in Space program will use the new reusable sub-orbital spacecraft now being developed by American industry. These new spacecraft, which promise dramatic improvements in cost and safety, will enable large numbers of teachers to fly in space. "We want to put a thousand astronaut teachers into American schools, within the next decade," Wright said.

 The Pathfinder Astronauts will be the leaders who blaze the path for the large number of teachers who follow.
 More information about Teachers in Space is available on the project's website: www.teachers-in-space.org.
 Pathfinder application forms and information about the application process are available at: www.teachers-in-space.org/apply/ apply.htm.
 Teachers can submit applications for the Pathfinder program any time between now and Dec. 4. Finalists will be announced and training will begin in 2009, which Pathfinder space flights expected to take place some time in 2010 or 2011.

Fall Fix-Up

Give Your Kitchen A Facelift

By Tresa Erickson

Take a walk through your home. How's your kitchen holding up? Is it starting to look a bit outdated and worn? Perhaps it's time you changed that. Don't have a lot of money to spend? No problem. You don't have to spend big bucks on a kitchen remodel to make the room look good. With a few inexpensive fixes, you give your kitchen a whole new look.
 Paint is one of the easiest and most inexpensive ways to transform the appearance of a room. Almost any surface in the kitchen can be painted from wooden cabinets to laminate countertops to paneled walls to faded linoleum. Go ahead, be brave and paint your kitchen walls that bold color you've always wanted. Brighten your dark cabinets and woodwork with a fresh coat of white paint. Transform those old laminate countertops and linoleum floors with a faux finish resembling stone.

 Want to make your freshly painted cabinets sing? Give them new pulls. Switching out old hardware for new will do wonders to revive tired cabinets and update a kitchen. Even if you decided to stick with your cabinets as is, don't neglect replacing the hardware. You will be surprised what an effect such a small change will have.

 How's the lighting in your kitchen? Not so great? Replace it. Take down that brass chandelier from the 1970s and paint or replace it. Switch out that tarnished brass overhead light for a sleek chrome one and that mustard-colored globe in the light above the sink for a frosted white one. Lighting fine, but need more of it? You don't have to hire an electrician to install more lighting in your kitchen. You can find a variety of battery-operated fixtures that you can install yourself. If those won't work, consider adding a lamp somewhere in the room.

 Got an old ceiling fan in your kitchen that could use an update but not in your budget to replace it? No big deal. Turn off the breaker, grab a ladder and give your fan a good cleaning. Remove the fan blades and paint or replace them. Add a new pull chain, and your fan will look good as new.
 Traffic flow in your kitchen a little tight? Take a good, hard look at what's in your kitchen and eliminate all of the pieces of furniture that you can do without. Get rid of that baker's rack and store your cookbooks in a cabinet or drawer. Trade out your large kitchen table for a smaller one and move the plants to the bay window in the living room. Clear the way for better traffic flow in your kitchen.

 Clutter taken hold of your kitchen? Put a stop to it. Take a day to sort through drawers and cabinets and clear away all of the clutter. Donate items you never or rarely use. Bring in trays, lazy Susans and other items to organize the stuff remaining. Move small appliances off the countertops and into a cabinet. Get rid of the clutter and see how spacious your kitchen becomes.

 Once you have given your kitchen a facelift, don't forget to clean it. Nothing brightens up a room like a thorough cleaning. Wash those cabinets inside and out, scrub that backsplash and floor, and scour those appliances. Make your new kitchen sparkle.

Roll with it

The fiery slap across the economic face of our nation, stinging just over a week ago, delivered all the characteristics of such a blow — daunting and shocking at first, then increasingly easy to forget.

As the stock market recovers its composure, the burning sensation fades and America is proven strong once again.

Though predatory lending (duping borrowers into agreeing to shoddy loan terms) and the popular practice of treating credit like cash may have sent off early alarms for some, the stock market slap came like an economic terrorist attack for many.

RHYME OR REASON

By Chris Tredway

Sure, we knew things were tight and gas prices were high, but who guessed a credit bomb would nearly level the nation's market Sep. 15?

Snapping awake with the stinging news, I began wondering what life would be like here in northern Michigan should our nation's economic heart go into cardiac arrest.

In this new old-world style of life, meeting basic needs such as food, shelter and clothing would demand creativity, time, sweat and blood.

My voice, so important to me of all people, would cease to find its weekly outlet here in the sports section of the Citizen-Journal.

And perhaps the most tragic of all consequences would be the raging silence of powerless televisions tuned to ESPN.

The NFL would be disbanded as networks collapse sans advertisers, the NHL would be reduced to a puddle, Kobe Bryant would take up basket weaving for old time's sake and Miguel Cabrera would split firewood.

Even organized sports at a high school level would struggle to stay alive. To find an example of how costly high school sports programs are to maintain, I went to a place I never dreamed existed. According to schoolbusfleet.com, a website I'm not sure how I ever lived without, the buses that bring teams together achieve only six or seven miles per gallon of diesel.

If a crumbled economy trickles down to the world of sports and strangles our ability to put players in uniform, well, things will look a little different in northern Michigan.

Perhaps sports will return to its roots in the fallout of such hard times, should they come upon this country in the magnitude of a Greater Depression. Perhaps we would join the millions around the world that live and play without matching jerseys, trophies, camera flashes and protective equipment.

In outlying villages of Botswana, children race old car tires steered by two sticks, running for miles through sandy streets and farm fields. Football (soccer) is king, of course, played on dusty pitches without nets or painted lines, and sometimes without a ball. Small matches can flair up at any moment with a soda can and two lines drawn in the dirt.

In Scotland, in the midst of World War Two, the butcher's shop was a common stop before a football match. Cow stomachs were used, sewed up and inflated, when leather balls were scarce.

In Guatemala, fruit from the Ceiba tree was once used by a small group of travelers from England, Australia and the U.S. as throwing implements in a fierce (painful, messy) game of dodgeball.

Organized sports and the jobs of those who write about them may not survive an economic winter, but the spirit of sports is one that adapts and endures.

Sport is like music. It does not die when the money runs out. It lives as long as there is someone to play.

BEYOND THE STATS

Deal with it

By Phil Trombley
 Sports Writer

The Notre Dame Fighting Irish opened the college football season with two straight wins over San Diego State and Michigan, prompting an Associated Press story last week headlined, "Irish must deal with success".

Gee, that sounds as if the Notre Dame football program it not used to winning two games in a row.

After a sub-par 3-9 season a year ago (dismal as South Bend football standards go) it seems that a 35-17 win over rival U of M has stoked the fires ever smoldering within sight of the Golden Dome.

Notre Dame dominated Michigan early in the game and, after withstanding some counter punching by the Wolverines, the Irish closed the game out convincingly and also sent out a statement to fans and foes alike.

Success is never far away when it comes to Notre Dame football. Success breeds success and there is certainly a lot of outstanding heritage in the Notre Dame line.

A big reason for this program's continuing success is rooted in a deeply rooted faith that if things are not going well for a season or so, certainly soon and certainly as the sun shines off the dome, things will turn around.

Even after a bad season, the Notre Dame coaching staff can count on a nation-wide recruiting pool full of prep standouts eager to make the trek to the Notre Dame campus. There is never a shortage of talent itching for a four-year shot at Notre Dame fame.

Who can blame them for wanting to walk in the footsteps laid down by prior national champions, storied coaches, Heisman Trophy winners and teams stamped with legendary labels?

As an independent, Notre Dame can also offer the opportunity to play against the top teams from coast to coast and the lure of the Irish is enough to demand, as well as satisfy, its own network television exposure.

In the professional game, the Dallas Cowboys were once known as "America's Team", but that moniker has faded. When it comes to college football, Notre Dame has never faded in the eyes of the faithful.

It's just something the Irish are going to have to deal with.

Ramblers top Red Devils, 4-2

By Greg Gielczyk
 Sports Writer

EAST JORDAN — Boyne City's varsity boys soccer team scored a goal with 15 minutes left in the Lake Michigan Conference match, Monday, Sep. 15, extending their lead to a more comfortable 4-2 over rival East Jordan.

The Ramblers struck first and last in the match, putting the ball away just six minutes into the first half to take a 1-0 lead, which held to the intermission.

Boyne City put two more shots into the East Jordan net 10 minutes into the second half for a 3-0 lead, giving signs of an LMC shutout match against the neighboring Red Devils.

But East Jordan erased the possibility minutes later, scoring its first goal of the night, and quickly narrowing the gap to within one goal with 20 minutes left in the match. Momentum from a double strike effort by the Red Devils' offense, which seemed to have found a way through the Rambler defense, was not enough to carry East Jordan to another score.

With the scoreboard set in favor of Boyne City, 3-2, the Ramblers shut the door on an East Jordan comeback with their fourth goal of the evening.

Sterling Adgate led the Ramblers with three goals for a hat trick, while teammate Ethen Mapes netted one.

For East Jordan, Dustin Miller and William Hasseld executed a give-and-go perfectly for the first East Jordan goal of the match.

Miller beat the Boyne City defense, as Hasseld got the assist.

Andrew La Count made it 3-2 when he hooked a corner kick into the net past a surprised Boyne City goal keeper.

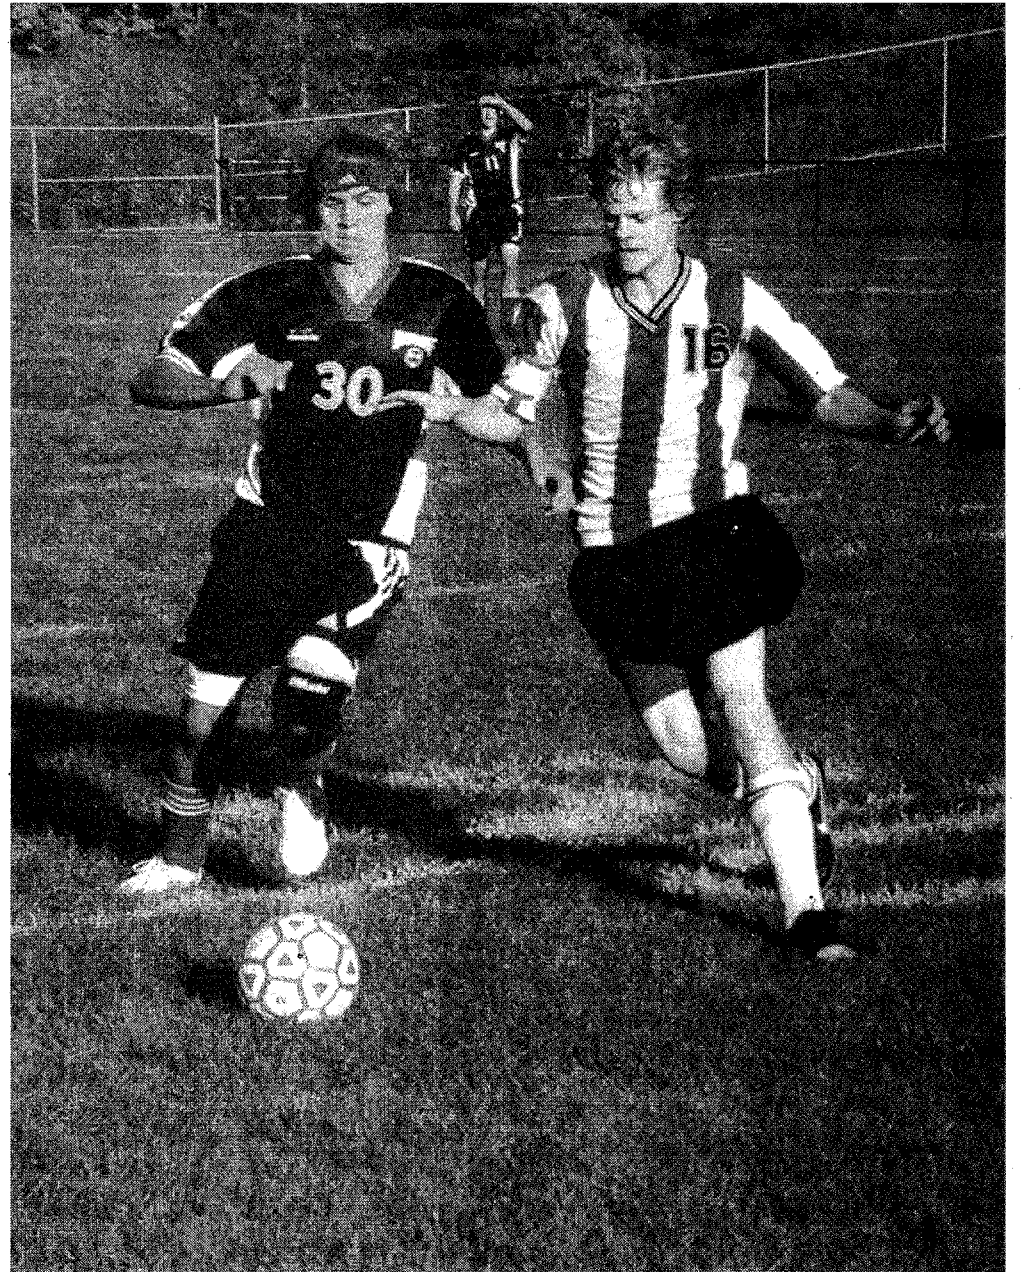

East Jordan goal keeper Jordan Hagen kept the game close by making 26 saves.

Levin Warnos and Alex Hagen, the Red Devils' fullbacks, keyed the East Jordan defense as each came up with two non-goalie saves.

"I was pleased with how hard the guys played," East Jordan coach Pete Elliott commented, "although we weren't as sharp on our passing as we have been."

"It was a good game. The guys had fun, and the fans had a lot to cheer about."

Ramblers remain unbeaten

Boyne City's Cody Wilmot (20) capitalizes on a block from teammate Parker Ameal (55) and completes one of five carries Friday, Sep. 19. Wilmot racked up 63 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns in the Ramblers' 55-6 smashing of Kalkaska.

Kalkaska crushed beneath Boyne, 55-6

By Greg Gielczyk

BOYNE CITY — Everything has been happening pretty fast for the Boyne City football team this season as the Ramblers have cruised to a 4-0 record.

This time, it wasn't special teams or defense that produced the big plays early to trigger a quick explosion by the Ramblers. Something has jump-started the Boyne City offense.

Friday night, Sep. 19, the Ramblers shredded Kalkaska's defense for three touchdowns in the first quarter and rolled to an easy 55-6 Lake Michigan Conference victory.

Boyne City's first-quarter barrage took all the starch out of the Blazers' attack, and left them choking on the Ramblers' dust the rest of the way.

Trever Kruzel led the Ramblers with 147 yards rushing for three touchdowns on 11 carries.

Drew Nohel fell just three yards shy of rushing for 100, with 97 on just four tries.

Cody Wilmot toted the ball just five times in the game, but scored twice and finished with 63 yards.

Ryan Spence cracked the line eight times for 60 yards and added a touchdown.

Steven Robinson paced the Ramblers' defense with seven tackles, while Evan Orban had two interceptions, taking one in for a touchdown.

The Ramblers took a 42-6 at the half. Caleb Fast scored the Blazers' only touchdown on a kick return, and finished with 120 return yards.

Teammate Luke Gillespie rushed for 81 yards.

Kalkaska took an early lead at Manton in its season opener, but saw the game turn when the Rangers scored at the end of the first half as time expired in the second quarter.

Next came a disheartening seven-point loss in its home opener, followed by a 42-12 loss to visiting Elk Rapids a week later.

The Ramblers, however, remain unbeaten and are 2-0 in the LMC, stuck in a three-way tie for first with Elk Rapids and Traverse City St. Francis.

LMC standings

Team	Conf.	Overall
Boyne City	2-0	4-0
Elk Rapids	2-0	4-0
St. Francis	2-0	3-1

HARBOR SPRINGS — Scoring the deciding goal with two minutes and 30 seconds left in the second half, Harbor Springs handed the East Jordan varsity soccer team a 2-1 Lake Michigan Conference defeat Thursday, Sep. 18.

Harbor Springs' Patrick Frank scored the game-winner for the Rams, and previous to that, tallied the game's first strike when he put his team ahead 1-0 with 9:27 remaining in the first half.

Morgan Tinney scored for East Jordan converting an assist from Joshua Force one minute into the second half.

The goal was birthed from some tough play by Andrew LaCount, who stole the ball from the Harbor Springs defense and moved it out to Force. On the helper to Tinney, Force split the defense.

Red Devil goalkeeper Jordan Hagen played a strong game between the posts, according to East Jordan head coach Pete Elliott.

"We came out of this game with some bumps and bruises, but I am proud of the effort given in a very close game," Elliott said.

Two days prior, Tuesday, Sep. 16, the Red Devils dropped a match to Harbor Light Christian.

Benjamin Cole scored three goals for a Harbor Light hat trick as the Swordsmen downed East Jordan 6-1.

Andrew Fila, Michael Britton and Ryan Conrad added one goal each for Harbor Light.

Austin LaCount scored the lone East Jordan marker, assisted by Andrew LaCount.

Hagen, holding a hyperactive Harbor Light offense to six scores, recorded 23 saves in the net for East Jordan.

Today's match against Northwest Academy kicks off on East Jordan's home pitch followed by an away match against Charlevoix Monday, Sep. 29.

EJ football loses power Outage fails to stop Grayling

By PHIL TROMBLEY

GRAYLING — There are halftime breaks and then there are halftime breaks. A power outage in Grayling interrupted play at the end of the first half of the East Jordan vs. Grayling Lake Michigan Conference contest Friday, Sep. 19.

The lack of light forced the two teams to finish the game on Saturday.

Grayling led the game 14-0 when the lights went out Friday. And continued to roll the following day, scoring four more touchdowns in the second half to gain a 42-14 victory as the game finally ended.

Grayling inflicted most of its damage through the air as quarterback Jimmy Osga threw for five touchdowns to five different receivers. Osga completed 26 of 45 passes for 319 yards.

East Jordan quarterback Ted Snowden was 15 of 24 passing, generating 150 yards and one touchdown. Snowden target Matt Werner hauled in 73 yards receiving and caught the touchdown pass.

Red Devil Michael Mumich added 81 yards rushing on nine carries and scored one touchdown on foot, while Snowden added 17 yards on three rushes.

Defensively, the Red Devils were led by Ehrin Sladick's 10 tackles. Jordan Richards followed suit with nine tackles and one fumble recovery and James Brown hit for six tackles on the night.

In junior varsity action, East Jordan held a 12-8 lead over Grayling at the end of the first half, but the Red Devils could not hold the advantage as Grayling rallied to win the game 30-18.

Jacob Baier led the Red Devils with 82 yards rushing and one touchdown. John Monkman scored one touchdown and Austen Mellios added 34 yards passing and one touchdown.

Marcus Wingate had a fumble recovery.

Charlevoix welcomes the Red Devils Friday, Sep. 26.

Ramblers rally in Cheboygan

BC spikers play down to the wire

By GREG GIELCZYK
SPORTS WRITER

CHEBOYGAN — Boyne City girls' volleyball team received a major non-conference test as it went against Cheboygan Tuesday, Sep. 16.

No team likes to lose on its home court.

The Chiefs fought the Ramblers for every point, and the match stretched out to five games.

But in the end it was the Ramblers who prevailed, 3-2, coming back from a 1-2 deficit.

The Ramblers won the opening game, 25-23 and then lost the next two, 20-25 and 23-25.

Somehow, the Ramblers managed to reclaim the momentum and won the next two games, 25-11 and 15-1.

"It was a great match between both teams," Boyne City coach Casie Parker said.

"Cheboygan had very nice outside hitters. Everyone participated in our win.

"We had great defensive plays by Hanna Hausler. Hannah Robinson served 10 points in a row in game four to bring us from behind. It was a real momentum booster."

Amber Kotalik led the Ramblers with 27 serve receptions and had 13 kills.

Lindsay Clemens finished with 34 setter assists and served for five aces.

Rachel Stevens had a great game on defense with 10 digs and was also stellar at the attack line with 10 kills.

Hausler had 23 digs and 30 serve receptions to go along with her six kills, and Robinson had 17 digs and five kills.

On Thursday, Sept. 18 the Ramblers traveled to Traverse City St. Francis, going the distance once again for five sets, but losing the match 2-3. The play was close throughout the night, with scores of 27-25, 20-25, 25-13, 21-25 and 14-16.

Kotalik, who served at 100 percent on the night, led the Ramblers with 15 kills, 25 digs, and 42 serve receptions, while Stevens had 12 kills, six ace serves and 16 digs.

Hanna Hausler had six kills, 14 digs and 19 serve receptions, with Clemens contributing 31 setter assists.

"In the TC game we had several opportunities to win it but could not capitalize on any of them," Parker said.

"Now we are going to have to work twice as hard not to lose another match in the league if we want to win the conference."

Boyne City dropped to 16-3-6, and is 1-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

Devils, Ramblers invade Petoskey

By PHIL TROMBLEY
SPORTS WRITER

PETOSKEY — The East Jordan and Boyne City cross country teams traveled to the Petoskey Invitational Saturday, Sep. 20.

The hefty cross country race split underclassmen and upperclassmen into two runs, giving East Jordan coach Chris Bacon and Boyne City coach Andy Place four consecutive races to call out to tired athletes looking to break personal records and boost the their team's standing.

"The kids ran well. They've been working hard in practice and they continue to improve each week," Bacon said of the Red Devils.

East Jordan's Brady Brennan grabbed the highest ranking among ninth and 10th grade teammates, placing 30th with a 23:55. Liz Hofweber came in next for the Red Devils at 25:20, taking 51st.

Lacey Hofweber (56th, 25:58), Kim Sewell (72nd, 30:10), Ellie Hague (75th, 32:10), Alyssa Weerstra (76th, 32:22) and Tess Weestra (80th, 34:37) capped off East Jordan's efforts.

Other Boyne City finishers included Chris Kirkby (106th, 21:32), Zachary Matthew (116th, 22:07), Taylor Korthase (125th, 22:36) and Jack Hufford (129th, 24:12).

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On Oct. 1, 1924, future President James Earl Carter is born in Plains, Ga. Carter was the son of a peanut farmer and was the first president to be born in a hospital. Carter graduated from the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., in 1946.
- On Sept. 30, 1930, jazz trumpeter and singer Louis Armstrong arrives in New York to join Fletcher Henderson's renowned jazz band. Among his hits were "Blueberry Hill" and "What a Wonderful World." Armstrong died in 1971 at age 69.
- On Oct. 3, 1941, "The Maltese Falcon," starring Humphrey Bogart as hard-boiled detective Sam Spade, opens. Bogart joined the Navy during World War I and was injured in an attack. His upper lip was scarred and partially paralyzed, giving him the tough-guy poker face and slight lisp that characterized his acting.
- On Oct. 4, 1957, the successful launch of the unmanned satellite Sputnik I by the Soviet Union shocks and frightens many Americans, who wonder how the Soviets could have gotten so far ahead of the United States. Eisenhower responded by speeding up the U.S. space program, and the satellite Explorer I was launched on Jan. 31, 1958.
- On Oct. 2, 1962, Johnny Carson starts his new job as host of "The Tonight Show," where he would stay for almost 30 years. In 1965, Carson insisted on delivering his monologue at 11:30 instead of 11:15 because many stations ran news until 11:30 and didn't join "The Tonight Show" until the half hour.
- On Oct. 5, 1974, American David Kunst completes the first round-the-world journey on foot, taking four years and 21 pairs of shoes to complete the 14,500-mile journey across the landmasses of four continents. He left his hometown of Waseca, Minn., on June 20, 1970.
- On Sept. 29, 1982, the last of six people in Illinois dies from taking Tylenol capsules laced with poison. The Tylenol murders were never solved, but the crisis led drug makers to develop tamper-proof packaging, which had been largely nonexistent before the Tylenol terrorist struck.

A-maize-ing Maze

The annual corn maze Bolt's Farm is a mystery from ground level, but from above, the form of a scarecrow is visible.

Progress

Work is progressing on the Boyne City Area Veterans Memorial. Mike Bayko and his crew poured and finished the circle at the north end where the WWII stone will be placed. Earlier they poured the south end, where a six-point star, one for each branch of service, will be laid out of Idaho gold and silver flagstone. The stone between the star points will be laid out of New York blue, starting in the next two weeks.

Hearing and vision screening underway

As a new school year starts, technicians from the local Health Department's Hearing and Vision Screening Program are working with local school districts and preschools to provide screening to over 15,000 children, identifying problems early before they can interfere with children's academic success.

"Undetected hearing and vision problems can affect a child's ability to learn in the classroom," said Pat Fralick, Director of Family and Community Health for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. "Children with undetected hearing or vision problems are often labeled as having behavior problems or a learning disability. A proper screening allows a child who might have a hearing or vision problem to receive proper care."

The Health Department conducts screenings according to guidelines of Michigan Department of Community Health. Hearing screening is recommended for all children at least once between the ages of three and five, and in kindergarten, second and fourth grades. Screening for vision problems is recommended at least one time between the ages of three and five years old, and in first, third, fifth, seventh, and ninth grades (or in conjunction with driver training).

Early identification of hearing and vision problems can prevent developmental delays that relate to speech and language development, social and emotional development, academic achievement, and permanent vision loss. Hearing and vision screening is also offered at no charge at Health Department offices in Mancelona, Charlevoix, Petoskey/Harbor Springs, and Gaylord for children who are in grades that will not receive screening in school this year.

"Any parent who has concerns about their child's hearing or vision—no matter what grade they are in—should call us," Fralick said. "The sooner children's hearing and vision problems can be identified and treated, the better."

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego counties. For additional information about hearing and vision screening, or to make an appointment, call 800-432-4121.
