Over the Back Fence

By Marshall

A fellow over at Benson's gas station said the lake was full of fish. Another man asked, "How do you know?" "Got to be," was the answer, "there's been a bunch fishing out there all afternoon and no one has taken any out."

The village of Ellsworth hit Life Magazine this week. The magazine covered Republican Charles Potter's swing through this section of the state and published a list of photos taken at some of the places he stopped. At Ellsworth he is shown talking to a group of local folks.

Mr. and Mrs. yours truly really enjoy our life in ye old city. After living in southern Michigan for a while you really appreciate a city that's surrounded with something besides land.

A fellow read our little story about the Charlevoix County court house the other day and noted that an election will be held to name the site of the new structure. "The easiest way to satisfy Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City," he said, "is to put the court house on a boat and float it around to each city for different periods."

Another local chap stepped up to say: "That's not as funny as it sounds. Why do you suppose East Jordan and Boyne City are rushing to develop docks on the lake front?"

We understand the chamber of commerce used to say that we have no hills or mountains here . . . only pleasant valleys.

Overheard at West Side Service station: "You working hard these days?" And the answer was, "You're darn right. Especially between meals."

It was brought to our attention down at the East Jordan Co-ops that the reason the cow jumped over the moon was because the milkmaid's fingers were cold.

Reminiscing . . . 15 years ago or more . . . Sitting in Chris's restaurant talking to Gayle Saxton about the stories we were sending down state on basketball and winter sport events . . . coming down from the Temple theatre after dancing until the wee hours . . . our first plane ride out at the fair grounds in an open job that scared the 18-year old life out of us . . . heading for Charlevoix after a late snack at the Duck Inn and missing the turn . . . winding up at Ellsworth . . . keeping out of trouble in the long-remembered Armistists free-for-all when the goal posts were attacked by the opposing mob . . . squeezing our way down main street during smelt run days, ducking net handles . . . enjoying the story in the Chicago Tribune about East Jordan's Blizzard Queen . . . that was when ye old city was blanketed, cut off and colder than . . . going fishing on the Jordan and having another steal our lunch . . . hearing the news that another car had slipped through thin ice . . . hearing about Gobbler's Knob and being too darn young to follow the mob . . . debating at E. J. High School and having car trouble returning home via Deer Lake . . . rushing to E. J. to have a look see at the high school fire . . . slowing down our depression day hot red so Chief Simmons would notice we were so young and out so late . . . wondering where in heck those big urns came from . . . afraid to stop in and ask . . . seeing Bill Taylor working on the business end of a trumpet . . . Yes, a lot of water had gone over the dam, but it is always fun to have an occasional look back.

"Where the people of France eat for the pleasure of eating, the people of America eat for the necessity of eating."
This sentence was discovered written in French in the guest book at the Anchorage. Hundreds of tourists from all over the world have signed the book in the past three years. It's filled with signatures from nine foreign countries, United States and Canada. One gent was from Iran. Which points up the fact that we have a cross section of the world here in East Jordan. Remember "Acres of Diamonds?"

City To Build Observation Tower On P. O.

The City Council has approved construction of an airplane observation tower to be built on the roof of the East Jordan post office.

J. P. Wilkins, county director for the Ground Observation Corps, said Tuesday he hoped the tower would be completed this week. He also indicated that an effort would be made to make East Jordan's civilian defense program the best in Charlevoix county.

Col. Walter E. High of the U.S. Air Force, was in East Jordan Tuesday inspecting the city's plans for civil defense. He is in charge of the Ground Observation Corps for Michigan. The Corps is a civil defense unit working in cooperation with the United States Air Force.

Col. High stressed the vital importance of civilian observation 24 hours a day. Low altitude surveillance, he said, is needed badly in this territory which is within relatively short distance from Russian air bases. Radar, he said, needs to be supplemented by the human eyes and ears especially for the lower altitudes.

City Council Discusses Dock, Disposal Plant

The City Council Monday night authorized the city clerk to contact the state waterways commission regarding the possibility of receiving state aid to help finance a new city dock here.

The Council also discussed the possibility of holding a special election to receive an expression of the voters regarding the raising of funds to construct the much-discussed city disposal plant.

The Council, upon suggestion of night patrolman Joe Wilkins, reduced the number of working hours for night police work from 10 to 9 hours.

The Council tabled, pending further discussion a suggestion that the city hike the monthly wage for night police work.

It was the feeling of some Councilmen that wage raises should be considered for all police and city departments at one time.

LEON BARTLETT HURT

Leon Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bartlett, broke his finger during the Boyne City-East Jordan football game. Leon played defensive line backer and offensive end.

East Jordan Hosts Farmers

Charlevoix County Farm Bureau officers were photographed at the East Jordan high school Friday night when Farm Bureau members held their annual meeting to pass resolutions and name board directors for the coming year. More than 200 Farm Bureau members attended the East Jordan meeting blasting wage and price controls and asking the government to let the laws die next spring.

Red Devils Remain On Top

East Jordan came from behind with two touchdowns in the final quarter to defeat Boyne City, 12-7, on the local field Friday afternoon. The win was East Jordan's third in Northern Michigan Class C conference play and kept the Red Devils in first place alone in the loop.

Boyne City broke the scoring ice with the loop leaders when Fullback Don Arner intercepted an East Jordan pass on the East Jordan 35 and ran it back for a touchdown near the end of the first half. Tackle Shorty Smith kicked the extra point.

Score in Fourth
East Jordan got a sustained offensive going in the fourth period and Fullback Gordon Danforth punched over from the one after a 50-yard drive. But Boyne City stopped the run for extra point and held a 7-6 lead. Right Half Sammy Miststein intercepted a Boyne City pass at midfield and ran it back to the Boyne City 35 to set up East Jordan's winning touchdown which Keith Evans scored from the four on a quarterback sneak.

Local Police Nab Youth On Liquor Charge

A Boyne City youth paid an $18 fine and $11.45 costs in Justice Murphy's court Monday afternoon after he was held by local police on a charge of having intoxicating beverage in his automobile.

The youth was picked up by night patrolman Joseph Wilkins after the automobile failed to stop at a stop street last Saturday. He was held in the local jail until Monday noon. Chief Harry Simmons reported.

Maximum penalty for a person under 21 years of age carrying intoxicating beverage in an automobile is $100 fine and 90 days in jail or both.

The East Jordan News is following its established policy of withholding the name of a juvenile involved with the police unless charged with a felony.

Presbyterian Men Meet at Boyne City

The Petoskey area Presbyterian men held their fall rally at Boyne City Monday, with some 130 attending.

The area includes East Jordan, Petoskey, Boyne City, Cadillac, Elk Rapids, McBain, Lake City, Rogers City, Harbor Springs and Alpena.

Attending the rally from East Jordan were: Ted Malpass, Richard Malpass, Sr., Obert Burull, William Porter, William Malpass, Earl Braman and William Grauel. Grauel is area vice president for the Presbyterian men.

IT'S A BOY

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Malpass, 202 W. Division, announce the arrival of a son weighing seven pounds four ounces at the Charlevoix Hospital Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Malpass are also the parents of an older son and daughter. They haven't as yet decided on a name for the baby.

Quarter Century Sam Rogers Re-Appointed To Road Commission

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors has returned Samuel E. Rogers, of East Jordan to the county road commission.

Rogers was elected to the county road commission in 1924 and has served nearly continuously every since.

A former president of the Northern Michigan Road Commission association, Rogers has been Chairman of the Charlevoix County commission during 1951-52.

The supervisors re-appointed Rogers to the commission since the office was changed from elective to appointive.

He was returned to this commission for an additional 6-year term.

Community Concert Stars Ballet Russe In Petoskey Oct. 28

The Northern Michigan Community Concert Association will start its winter series with the Monte Carlo Russian ballet, 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Petoskey high school auditorium, East Jordan Chairman Mrs. John Porter said yesterday.

Some 65 East Jordan patrons of the Concert association will have "a great treat in store for them when this newly organized Concert company of the Ballet Russe DeMonte Carlo brings the ballet to this section of the country for the first time.

The dancers, the costumes, the lighting and the musical arrangements for this eagerly-awaited engagement are all fresh as new paint, but the four numbers in which they will be seen are the proven favorites of such great dancers as Merlova, Sievnska, Youssekevitch, Danilova and Mas sine.

Most popular number is likely to be a world-wide favorite with audiences everywhere: "Gaité Parisienne." Designed by Leonide Massine to effervescent music of Offenback.

House To House Soliciting Starts Nov. 6

East Jordan's 1952-53 Community Chest drive will begin November 6, following a kick-off breakfast at 9 a.m. in the lunch room at the high school. House to house canvassing will get under way at that time with nine captains heading the work.

Community Chest President Mrs. John Porter announced a $5,000 fund goal for the current campaign.

The captains met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Porter to organize their districts. A list of solicitors will be announced in a coming issue.

Fund drive captains are: District No. 1, Mrs. Roy Jenkins; No. 2, Mrs. W. E. Malpass; No. 3, Mrs. Wirt Bates; No. 4, Mrs. Greg Boswell; No. 5, Mrs. Frank Stucker; No. 6, Mrs. William Howe; No. 7, Mrs. Alice Sommerville.

Mrs. Betty Robertson will have charge of the townships. Local teachers will be solicited by Mrs. Jean Strehl.

Chest drive campaign committee members are: William Brauer, Jason Snyder, Mrs. Frank Strehl and Mrs. Howard Darbee.

Mrs. Porter said, "Our community chest is an organization similar to the Torch Fund drive in Detroit and the south eastern part of the state; and to the United Red Feather drive in Grand Rapids and elsewhere—with two exceptions.

"The March of Dimes, The American Red Cross and the American Cancer Society do not wish to be a part of an East Jordan or Charlevoix county Red Feather drive."

The local organization has no paid workers, no expense account to carry on the business of collecting pledges or disbursing them, except payment of postage.

This year's Chest budget is apportioned as follows. The amount to be given to each organization not directly managed in East Jordan is with the understanding they solicit no further funds here.

Editorial

The East Jordan News is urging its readers to vote "no" on proposal number 2, which will be placed upon the state ballot for the November election.

Voting against proposal number 2 is more important than voting for your choice of governor. Governors are elected for two years and, if they work ill, can be gotten out of office by an expression of the people at the next election.

However, if the people of Michigan approve proposal number 2 on November 4th, Northern Michigan residents may eventually discover we are being pushed far into the back seat in importance when the legislatures meet from time to time in Lansing.

It is without doubt one of the worst pieces of legislation ever attempted against northern Michigan in all our history.

(Proposal number 1 to appear on the same ballot is self-explanatory. It would permit new evidence in criminal proceedings by allowing narcotics seized to be used as evidence.)

Proposal number 3 is almost directly opposite of proposal number 2. It calls for a balanced legislature with representatives being elected on population and senators being elected on area and population basis.

Proposal number 2 would allow members of both houses to be elected on a population basis only and heavy industrial areas around Detroit would hold the balance of the voting power at Lansing.

Proposal number 2 would cause us to send a man to Lansing who would represent many many counties in northern Michigan because the population in this area is less than down state.

Our weight, our power at Lansing would be slashed and the needs of northern Michigan could fall like water from the shoulders of legislatures elected from the industrial areas.

These men, elected, perhaps would not intentionally ignore the needs of northern Michigan, but holding the balance of power they would be so concerned with their own problems our area of the state would be an after thought in many cases.

For many years we have heard the cry, "Farmer controlled legislature." Industrialists, politicians and men with certain advantages in sight have asked many times to change our voting system in Michigan. They say the "farmers" out state control the legislature so Wayne and other heavily populated areas do not always get a fair deal at Lansing.

If the people of northern Michigan think we up here are not now getting our proper share of representation and recognition in our state legislature, they have only to vote for proposal number 2 and watch the ax really fall.

If there was ever a time in the history of Michigan that the voters should pay strict attention to the proposals on the ballot, it's November 4th. When you vote on proposal number 2, you should remember that you are helping shape the history of our state for many many years to come.

A governor and other officials may be turned out of office at the next election but once the people vote for a piece of legislation, it is much more difficult to get the law off the books.

Let us not wait and "see" how proposal number 2 will work. Because once it is passed we will be spending many fruitless years attempting to get rid of it.

Northern Michigan's needs are being ignored enough by men in Lansing without lowering this final blow by passing proposal number 2.

Every man and woman of voting age in northern Michigan will remember for many years to come the terrible mistake they made—if they vote yes on proposal number 2 November 4th.

Vote No on Proposal number 2. Vote Yes on proposal number 3.

Making Up News At The News

The old saying, "We are having a lot of fun, but we don't make much money," can often be applied to the newspaper business as well as many other activities.

"The fun" part of the weekly newspaper business comes from serving and helping others—distributing news and other information to residents who are unable to learn all the facts about the many events which take place in their own community and surrounding area. Just being able to help is an enjoyment.

It has been your editor's policy, developed during his 15-years of experience in reporting, writing and editing, that absolute fairness in developing a story is mandatory. Fairness to all individuals mentioned in a story and to those not mentioned is a "must."

Your editor's newspaper training in several of Michigan's smaller towns has led to his constant effort to use the newspaper to help develop harmony, rather than to pit faction against faction or man against man.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sayles, he began his career in 1935 as a free-lance writer and string correspondent for southern Michigan newspapers from Boyne City and surrounding area. After graduating from Boyne City high school in 1936, he for a time worked as a reporter on the Boyne Citizen.

Married in 1941 to Wilma Kirby, of Boyne City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kirby, he soon left to become a reporter on the Midland Daily News at Midland. Following his work there, he was, for a short time, editor of the Vassar Times in Vassar.

Following his return from the Army, your editor joined the editorial staff of the Kalamazoo Gazette as a reporter-feature writer.

From there he moved to the Michigan Farmer magazine, which at that time was published in Detroit. When the magazine moved to East Lansing he went with the staff, continuing to work as associate editor for four years.

While in East Lansing he was presented with an honorary membership in the Michigan Chapter of the Future Farmers of America during that organization's annual meeting at Michigan State College. The honor was bestowed for his work in reporting and publishing the work of the FFA.

Also at East Lansing, your editor aided in the establishing of the Michigan branch of the national Christian Rural Overseas Program. (CROP). He acted as temporary chairman of the state project until Dr. John Hannah, president, Michigan State College, was named permanent director.

During his work with Michigan Farmer, your editor's farm feature stories were re-printed from time to time in a national farm digest.

In 1949, your editor joined the J. P. Neff, Inc., string of weekly newspapers in Detroit's suburban area where he was general manager of the Clawson-Troy Times.

The above photo of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Sayles, editors and publishers of the East Jordan News, is published in answer to numerous requests for information concerning the "folks behind the News." The photo was taken when the front page layout of the first issue was being drawn up. Mrs. Sayles, who assists in all phases of the publishing business, is the News' business manager. Suggests Ways To Avoid Many Home Accidents

More people are injured in the home than any other place. And more injuries to women seem to occur in the kitchen than any other room. With those startling facts in mind, Olevia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department, offers some concrete suggestions about making your home a safer place to live.

Cuts are the most common injury and so, Miss Meyer suggests, take precautions by avoiding improper use and storage of knives, broken china and glass and metal parts or tools and equipment.

Never throw sharp knives in a drawer with other tools she warns, and don't put them in a dishpan with other dishes. A knife rack should be within easy reach and so constructed that the hand does not come in contact with sharp points or edges.

Burns are the second most common injuries. Usually they result from carelessness and thoughtlessness. So, suggests Miss Meyer, turn on hot water faucets cautiously, turn pan handles away from the edge of the range so they can't be knocked or pulled off, and use pans that have flat bottoms with securely-fastened, well-balanced handles.

Other means of avoiding burns are to prepare a place to set a pan of hot food before removing it from the stove; have plenty of pot-holders within easy reach of the range; keep matches in tin or glass containers and out of children's reach; provide children a safe place to play in or near the kitchen, but out of the working area.

Falls rank high as cause of injuries and care should be taken to prevent them, she said. Keep floors and floor coverings in good repair and free from spilled food.

Fish Study Plans Outlined At Meet

Plans for a number of five-year fish studies on Michigan lakes were outlined during a conservation department fisheries staff meeting held recently at the Otter River trout rearing station near here.

The studies will be made on warm water fish species.

Information from one study of this type, resulted in the early general season opening this year, an opening well received by the public. The season opened late in April instead of late in June as in the past.

All aspects of the fish program were studied during the meeting, including research programs, hatchery activities, the public fishing site program and lake and stream improvement work.

Protect Seedlings

An inch depth of sawdust mulch around fall-planted evergreen seedlings is advised by W. Ira Bull, in charge of the Conservation Nursery at Michigan State College.

Adult School Classes Formed At High School

East Jordan's Adult education program will be discussed at the high school gym 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Supt. E. E. Wade has announced.

At the first meeting, Supt. Wade reported, requests were made for the following classes: driver training, sewing, typing, shorthand, beginning Spanish and ceramics.

Enough adults signed for driver training and ceramics to assure classes in these courses. But there is room for additional adults in driver training. Ceramics will not start until after the holidays.

Additional registrations are needed in typing, shorthand, sewing and beginning Spanish to justify operating these courses, Supt. Wade said.

Anyone interested in agricultural financing is welcome to attend the meeting.

$400,000 Budgeted For Game Habitat

Except for those who may make it a point to study budgets few of the hundreds of thousands of hunters in the field in Michigan this fall are likely to realize that in the current fiscal year the conservation department game division is spending approximately $400,000 on its game habitat improvement program.

There are two phases of the program. Both are Pittman-Robertson projects, which means federal return of excise tax money on sporting arms and ammunition supply three-fourths of the bill, leaving $100,000 to come from the state's game and fish protection fund.

One phase applies to state game and recreation areas. It involves more than $300,000 of the total. The program includes such things as flooding projects, the planting of a total of 1,000 acres of seedling trees, 1,600 acres of herbaceous plants in small patches, fertilizer, seeds and plants and the use of and moving of equipment.

The second phase applies to private lands, a continuation and expansion of the so-called pheasant habitat improvement program which began in 1948 with an expenditure of less than $10,000. This year the same program is getting $85,000.

JORDAN VALLEY TALK

Bout Hunting & Fishing

By Doris

Using minnows as bait this week, Walt Hitchcock landed five good sized bass. They tipped the scales for a total of 13 pounds. Walt caught these pleasant piscatorial mouthfuls "within sight of town" on Lake Charlevoix.

Now, there's a man who might have bit on a new sideline business for our gas stations... Walt simply takes his fish to Fred Vogels, applies the air hose... and whoosh! go the scales.

Ernie Barnes, 77, and a fisherman for 64 years in our area, was still having his usual good luck this week. Barnes reported the catch of a four pound rainbow to Conservation officer Julius O'Brien. Not because the catch wasn't legal, but the fish had a clipped fin and the Department is grateful for such reports.

Johanny Kotowich won't reveal his secret, but the local guide is doing well with the rainbow in the Jordan River while many anglers know nothing but unanswered prayers.

When a man can hit four ducks on the wing with three shots he deserves a salute. Herewith the Jordan Valley Nimrod Special Salute to Elmer Green. He done it!

"Cold fishing, but a lot of fun," says Andy Anderson. "can be had smelt fishing off the dock at Boyne City. Andy reports, the smelt are large with some measuring 12-inches, and most anyone can fish a pail full in from two to three hours. (Andy refuses, though, to stipulate the size of ye pail.)"

Down by the site of the old chemical plant the bass are taking minnows and or crawfish with a vengeance too, Andy says.

With birds and rabbits plentiful in the head waters of the famous Jordan River, local hunters are rejoicing at the fall of leaves. A fellow can fire of just "getting a shot."

"What I need is love in the pot," means Pete Hammond.

Sportsmen's Club News

The paper needs news, the public wants news, and the Sportsmen's Club sure needs publicity, so we will try to have a few items of interest each week.

"After months of blood, sweat, and tears, we have placed a publicity board in the lobby outside the post office and will try to keep something of general interest posted there."

We have purchased two sets of Dr. R. W. Eschmeyer's wild life booklets entitled, "Billy Bass," "Tommy Trout," "Bobby Bluegill," "Freddy Fox Squirrel," and "Charley Cottontail." These books will be presented to the Public School for their use.

We are also going to give a prize to boys of high school age for the largest and one for the smallest buck killed. The prizes will include a year's free membership in the club for each and a compass for the largest buck and a hunting knife for the smallest.

We want to extend an invitation to you high school boys to attend our meetings the first Monday of every month at the American Legion Hall. We usually have movies of outdoor life which you will enjoy.

At our December 4th meeting we are planning to get as many farmers and hunters together as possible to see if we could solve some of those trespassing problems. We will have pictures that night too. More about this meeting later.

There will be a meeting on November 6th also. Everyone is welcome at these meetings and we have some real friendly discussions. Come on down and tell us about your small game luck so far.

It would also be a good idea if some of our members make it a point to attend every meeting.

The ventilation system in a dairy barn should provide fresh air at a suitable temperature without drafts.

The amount of fresh air needed in a dairy barn depends on the size of the barn and the number of animals housed.

Operating temperature in the barn of approximately 45 degrees provides suitable moisture control.

Extension Bulletin 301—"Ventilation for the Modern Dairy Barn"—gives detailed information on selecting and installing the ventilating equipment.

County Farm Bureau Blasts Price, Wage Controls in Meeting Here

BY MARSHALL SAYLES EDITOR, EAST JORDAN NEWS

Two hundred members of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau went on record at their annual meeting at East Jordan high school Friday night opposing continuation of the national wage and price control laws.

Farm Bureau Chairman Leo Berg, of Charlevoix, said that when it comes to livestock and perishable crops price control puts the farmer in a serious position.

The law, he said, puts a ceiling on these commodities, but sets no base price. When market prices fall seriously the farmer takes a licking on livestock and perishable crops.

Another resolution passed by the group Friday night would shift the power to set bag limits and regulate opening and closing of game seasons from the state legislature to the state department of conservation.

Resolutions passed by the county group will be considered with other Farm Bureau group resolutions thrown into the hopper at East Lansing next month.

Those final resolutions that are acted upon at the state meeting are used to guide Farm Bureau's over all policy.

BLASTS PROPOSAL NO. 2 The much-discussed proposals number 2 and number 3 to be placed on the ballot for the November election were taken into consideration by the farmers.

Proposal number 2 was portrayed as a CIO sponsored plan to grasp control of the state legislature.

If the proposal is approved by the voters of Michigan, members of the house and senate will be elected on a population basis.

Shut off the power before oiling or working on equipment and keep all shields in place.

On the highway, carry a red flag up high so motorists can see it. Use white lights in front and red in the rear at night.

ORCHARD NOTES

By C. Fairman

At a fruit meeting at Kewadin this week, it was brought out by the County agent and Clarence Mulette, our district Horticulture Agent, that few growers attend these meetings.

Some times mice will ruin a whole orchard and trees of any age. My experience here at home is that mice will appear on some certain year where none have been noticed before.

While we use wire protectors on our apple and pear trees, etc., some times the mice will climb up over the protectors where the mulch and snow is high.

My best wishes for no mouse injury this winter.
