Over the Back Fence

By Marshall

We understand that the U. S. is working on a missile more powerful than the hydrogen bomb. And a fellow on the street said they've probably had their scientists scouting East Jordan for information on how to set the thing off.

Twins came along on Valentine's day as a greeting to Jacob O. Wagbo. He says: "Our red Durham heifer presented us with twins. They are boy and girl animals. Mama and twins doing well—mama very proud. Sure thought we were seeing double when we discovered two scampering about."

We were supposed to check with the Ellsworth postmaster about this one, but didn't have time. It seems that two men came up from Ellsworth to move a fish shanty on Lake Charlevoix. When they got here they hooked on to the shanty and hauled it down the lake. After stopping they discovered two men inside who HAD been fishing.

We caught Vern Whiteford pouring over income tax forms the other day. Said Vern: "I've got the government on my payroll, but they never come down to work in the morning."

We see where one Representative will introduce a bill in Lansing to hike the tax on cigarettes from 3 to 5 cents per pack. It is figured that this will raise an additional $18,000,000 a year revenue for the state.

And then we note in another newspaper where another Representative introduced a measure to make it legal for anyone 18 or older to buy and smoke cigarettes.

These two news articles came out of Lansing the same day. And the withered old fellow rocking in the chimney corner says it is a caution if we turn upon the health of our youth to raise additional funds to take care of the serious deficit at Lansing.

Al (I got the stuff) Thorsen put a new front on his place of business about six years ago; and now he's amazed to discover that the word has gotten around so soon.

That business about deducting your paid-in income tax on the following year's report won't work. The government is 'agin it.

There's a trade at home card in the window at the post office. And Sears-Mont-Ward haven't raised an eyebrow.

When keeping a sharp eye out for fish through that hole in the ice, it is better not to bend over too far. Such a position can cramp your back or neck and possibly lay you up for a few days. Sometimes this anxious looking through the hole can cause other embarrassing things. For instance, a fellow may be cold and because his teeth are chattering, lose false teeth in the briny deep.

Then again you might lose your glasses and become fraught with confusion on just how to retrieve them from the depths. Some people try to latch on to their glasses with hook and line; others try to lower a magnet to attract them from the bottom of Lake Charlevoix. Anyone having a sound proof method might be doing a favor by passing such information along to Alex Sinclair.

Council Awaits State Action To Sell Bonds

The city council is awaiting information from the state finance commission on the council's desire to issue bonds to raise funds for construction of a sewage disposal plant.

The council's approval of its final engineer's plan was passed Tuesday night. The plant will be located on the northeast corner of M-32 and Bridge street.

Mayor Leo Somerville said bids for construction will be let as soon as the council receives permission from the state to sell the bonds. One month's time must elapse between calling for bids and awarding the contract.

The council hopes that negotiations will be finished in time to start construction of the plant this coming spring.

Landslide Vote For Judge Brown

Runs 4 to 1 Over Opponents In 4-County Primary Election

Judge Chas. L. Brown grabbed the vote lead Monday and ran away with the primary election in East Jordan, Charlevoix County and the entire 13th Judicial Circuit which includes four counties.

East Jordan voters gave Brown 114 as to his opponents' 14 total votes.

William E. Myers, Traverse City, received 5 votes and Harry T. Cook, of Alden, 9.

In Charlevoix county Brown received 1,195; Cook 176; and Myers, 124.

With a few scattering votes yet to be counted in the 4-county area Brown had 4,400 with both the others running less than 1,000 each. Complete returns were not available at press time.

In East Jordan the first ward gave Brown 13, Cook 4, and Myers, 1. Second ward: Brown 38, Cook 3, and Myers 2. Third ward: Brown 53, Cook 2, and Myers 1 votes.

Charlevoix county observers said Brown's popularity was due to his record as Circuit Judge and his large following among U. S. War Veterans.

He was elected Circuit Judge in 1947 after spending 4 years serving United States during World War II. He is chairman of the Michigan Veteran's Trust Fund appointed by Gov. Sigler and re-appointed by Gov. Williams.

The two men receiving the greatest number of votes in the primary election will be placed upon the ballot for the general election April 6th.

Without all votes counted, indications were that Harry T. Cook will be the second name on the ballot this spring.

Joseph Bugai Asks Some Questions

Straits Bridge—Yes or No?

(Note: This article is published in the express interest of public opinion; and in no way states the News' interest for or against a bridge at the Straits.)

Does the state of Michigan as a whole agree with the construction of a bridge over the Straits of Mackinac?

Members of the Mackinac Bridge Authority say, yes. Joseph F. Bugai, secretary, Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce, says no.

Mr. Bugai, after making surveys, much discussion and gathering data, expresses fear that the $100,000,000 bridge project stands a chance of eventually being turned into a giant "WPA" project with the taxpayers of Michigan paying the bill.

"I found no one who intends to increase traffic across the Straits if the bridge is built," Bugai reported to Jeff Bodette, secretary of the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce and Straits bridge chairman of the Northwest Michigan Development Council. "On the contrary," Mr. Bugai said, "I found several who feel that after once seeing the bridge they will have no further interest going across, whereas in the past they went across over and over not only for the ride on the boat, but also to enjoy the beauty of the Straits."

Mr. Bugai questions the value found in the report that three Petoskey concerns would increase their trips to the upper peninsula if the bridge is constructed.

He also questions the fact that much opposition has been heard against the construction of a

East Jordan News Goes Official

Official notification that the East Jordan News has been approved by the Post Office Department in Washington, D. C. as meriting "second class postal rates" was received this week.

"Look Alikes" Now In Germany

Two former East Jordan high school students now are located with the United States army in Germany. In a security outfit, the boys trained at Fort Riley, Kan., and Fort Devens, Mass., before going overseas.

They are Darwin and Delwin Morris, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Artie Morris of Route 1, East Jordan. Twins, the boys must be having an interesting time among the thousands of men.

bridge, but that none of this has been published.

Mr. Bugai does not agree that Mackinac City and St. Ignace will "boom" if a bridge is constructed.

He said: "I have personally seen most of the big bridges from Manhattan to the Golden Gate. No where have I found a community built because of the bridge."

Mr. Bugai said that as Chamber of Commerce people, interested in the welfare of our respective communities, it is pretty hard to see any benefits to our communities from construction of the bridge.

In case the bridge does not pay out, what happens, he wants to know. The state will take over or there is no way to get across the Straits. This is the same as a guarantee of the bonds, he says. Fearful of a king-size WPA project would be financed by state taxes, Mr. Bugai said, "I have also been told that people going across the ferries were asked to express their preference, and the big majority favored ferries."

Mr. Bugai's remarks were in answer to a request to him that he make a survey to get the people's reaction toward the proposed bridge.

Questioned by Mr. Bugai concerning the right to go ahead and construct a $100,000,000 bridge without an expression from the people of Michigan via election, Representative Arnel Engstrom, of Traverse City, said: "You raised the question of the right of expression of the people.

East Jordan Under 1953 Quota For March Of Dimes

We, as a community, are about $300.00 short of our 1953 quota for the March of Dimes. Your committee would appreciate all the help you, as individuals, or as organizations, can give to put this drive over the top. Everyone is aware of the help the Polio Foundation has given to stricken families in this area, and we all appreciate the fact that this service is available to everyone.

Let's give this worthy cause our consideration, and do everything we can to raise at least $300.00 more. If you have cards that you have not returned, please do so. Greg Boswell, at the State Bank, will be glad to receive all donations. He will give you a receipt for the amount, so that you can deduct it from your income tax.

There were nine cases in Charlevoix County last year. Remember it might be you or one of your family.

OVERWEIGHT—AND HOW!

The Federal government consists of a total of 2,055 departments, bureaus, divisions, commissions, authorities, corporations, and other agencies.

Employees in some of these offices are duplicating the work of employees in other offices. Some are working on projects the Federal government should never have started. There is waste of money all along the line.

To balance the budget, the new Congress must eliminate this waste. A President pledged to economy can help separate the necessary from the wasteful. Budget-cutting is one of the first and most important tasks facing "Ike" and his Congress.

Shaw Brothers Put Poultry Equipment On Many Farms

Feeders And Fountains Prove Successful For National Market

Commercial poultry raisers on several farms around United States are feeding and watering their birds with equipment shipped from East Jordan. Farms in this area are using them, also.

Shaw Brothers Manufacturing Company's new improved automatic poultry feeder, a nationally advertised item, been in production for the last three years.

Designed and patented by Merritt and Darus Shaw, of East Jordan, the equipment has been produced in shops in Detroit and Grand Rapids with East Jordan as the assembly, packaging and shipping point.

Working in a recently purchased building off the fairgrounds road, the Shaw brothers have housed their equipment and have room for assembly and experimental work.

In the experiment and development stage is an automatic turkey watering fountain designed similar to the company's chicken fountain which has been marketed and proven successful on many farms.

Most widely used item to date is the company's automatic poultry feeder. A time and money saver, the feeder can be used indoors or on the range, and it offers a minimum of cleaning for the farmer.

Self feeding, the unit holds 250 pounds with the feed falling into a vibrating tray as the chickens eat. It's water proof.

Busy with experimental work on other poultry equipment, Shaw Brothers are clearing the last of their stock stored here; and at the same time they are investigating the possibility of manufacturing all of their products locally.

One large poultry raiser put 34 of the feeders to use at one time. Darus Shaw and other farmers in Charlevoix county are using the equipment and reports are excellent.

Covered by patents held by Shaw Brothers, the feeders were on demonstration at Traverse City last summer. Until recently a national distributor was acting as the company's agent.

Looking forward to possible local production, the company hopes to expand their various equipment items through research and continuous experiment.

State Leads In Fluorides For Teeth

Michigan is one of the leading states in the use of fluorides to prevent tooth decay.

It ranks first in the nation in the use of direct application of fluoride and second or third in the fluoridation of public water supplies. A. F. Litzemberger, district health department director says.

A total of 25 Michigan cities, ranging in population from 1,596 in Lake Odessa to 175,000 in Grand Rapids are currently adding fluorides to their water. Total population of fluoriding cities is 786,856, comprising 20 per cent of the people in the state served by municipal water supplies.

Mancelona with a population of 1,000 is the first community within the jurisdiction of the local health department to approve addition of fluorides to municipal water supply. It is expected that equipment will be installed and operating by June.

Programs for the application of fluoride solution directly to the teeth have increased from 52 centers in 1951 to 105 centers this year. Michigan is the only state using dental and dental hygiene students, under supervision, in giving this protective service to children.

Direct application of fluoride will prevent an average of 40 percent of new decay. Fluoridation of water will prevent as much as 66 percent of tooth decay in children who drink water during their first eight years when teeth are being formed.

Third Concert Series Set For Feb. 23rd

The third presentation of the 1952-53 northern Michigan Community concert series will present the Teltschiks in a two-piano concert at the Petoskey High School Auditorium, Monday evening, February 23 at 8:30.

The old world charm of their Austrian ancestry, added to the formidable equipment of a thorough American training in the "know-how" of concertizing, have combined to make the concert of "Teltschiks from Texas" the focus of an ever-growing and musically alert public.

Now on their fifth sold-out tour of the continent, the Teltschik's success is best gauged by the unusual number of re-engagements, they will play this season.

An enormous technique, a sound background, imagination and taste... and, above all, their own innate musicality—a touch of genius' one review called it—are the essential reasons for their continuing welcome by enthusiastic audiences everywhere.

An important factor in the response the gifted brothers evoke from their recitals is the noteworthy talent they share for building programs of universal and sustained interest; though unacknowledged, the programs blend the beloved and familiar with the new and ingratiating, a mixture as satisfying as it is provocative.

The Teltschik brothers had their earliest musical training under their father, an old-world musician, in Floresville, Texas, where they were born. When the family moved to Houston, the boys continued their studies there until they entered the Juilliard School of Music in New York, where they studied under Mr. Olga Samaroff Stokowski.

After graduation they returned to Houston, where they married, and began to teach in the city's

The hard addition combinations are becoming easier for us. We are reviewing them by putting the hard combinations in little story problems.

Steady progress in spelling is the goal that we are striving to attain. We each want to have six perfect spelling papers in our February spelling booklets.

From the book "Heroes and Holidays" that Dale Cutler brought to school, Mrs. Johnston read to us the story about George Washington. The story tells of the great service George Washington did for his country. We learned that there was never a day more worthwhile to celebrate than the birthday of this great man, and our first president of the United States of America.

The children who were on the Valentine party last Friday did a nice job of entertaining their class friends. We thank the mothers of these children for making such pretty and delicious cupcakes and heart-shaped cookies for us to eat. Mrs. Johnston brought her electric corn popper to school and we had fun popping our own popcorn for the party. Special treats for the party were provided for us by Linda Somerville, Linda Healey and Donald Bowerman.

Monday we were glad to welcome back to school, Jerry Chihak, Carol Fales, and Michael Bennett. These children have been ill with the measles or the flu.

We had a very nice valentine party. We were glad to have Mr. Conway as our guest. We surprised him with a birthday party. Those who served on the party committee were Paula Burull and Nancy Lehrbass. Marvin Crawford, Keith Holley, Patrick Greenman, Kenneth Siney, Gary Nemeo, Billy Gardner and David Umor.

Reva Mayhew's sister, Sandra, was a visitor at our party.

Patrick Greenman reports that he got a baby brother on Lincoln's birthday.

Suzanne Malpass gave us a very interesting report on her visit to Detroit last weekend. She visited the Greenfield Village where she saw the chair President Lincoln was sitting in when he was assassinated.

In Language this week we are learning how to use a telephone directory and about telephone courtesy. We are making a telephone directory for the members of our own class.

Our valentine party was jolly and gay as the beautiful valentine box brought in early in the week by Jean Combest. The box was filled to the top with lovely Valentines.

The party committee was Darlene McClanathan, Charley Gardner, Larry Eichler, Emily Compo, Gladys Archer, Donald Metcalf, Michael McWatters, Bobby Goebel, Eleanor Kerny, Patsy Cutler, Bonnie Hughey and Eddie Touchtone. They brought cake, cookies, sandwiches, and candy. Michael's mother made a large cake shaped like a heart and decorated attractively with pink and white icing.

We have had several absences because of the flu germ. On two different days we had 10 absent.

We are reading "All Around America" in social science class. We are working on a notebook which will show what America is to each of us.

We saw a good movie on the Navajo Indians last week.

Our children enjoy the ice pond very much when we can use it. They have been playing well in the snow too.

Thursday afternoon we celebrated Abraham Lincoln's birthday with a room program. The children sang some of Lincoln's favorite songs including "Dixie." Stories, poems and some of Lincoln's jokes were told by the children. Larry Shepard brought some very interesting pictures of his visit to Abraham Lincoln's birthplace the past summer. Also on Thursday we saw the movie "Land of Liberty." It was very interesting for us at this time. We have our bulletin decorated with pictures of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Red and white were the colors of our room last week. Everyone was busy making valentines and decorating boxes. Friday we had our Valentine party and exchanged valentine greetings. We would like to thank all our mothers for the nice things they sent to our party. The mothers we wish to thank for our Valentine party are Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Gokee, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Kotalick, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Malpass and Mrs. Shepard.

We were sorry more mothers and fathers could not come to the P. T. C. supper.

Our room is beginning to look like fourth grade again with all the seats filled. We have had several children out because of the flu and measles.

Gerald Muma from Charlevoix visited our room last Monday. Everyone was happy to welcome him back. Gerald was in our room before moving away. We hope that he can come again.

Last week we had perfect attendance Thursday and Friday. About nine or ten now have been out with flu and we hope the rest will not have it.

We enjoyed our valentine party on Friday due largely to the beautiful cakes, cookies and other treats sent by the parents. We wish to let them know how much we appreciated their thoughtfulness.

Virginia Donaldson, Arvette Reed and Norma Gee are in charge of an exhibit of Michigan products this week. We will take a little time now to study Michigan along with our study of the French explorers in Canada.

Monday, February 9th, we had a movie entitled "El Navajo." One of the most interesting parts was the sand painting by the medicine man. On Wednesday we saw the third movie in the Land of Liberty series. This was very timely as it covered the period of Lincoln's presidency and the Civil War.

Each pupil decorated his own valentine envelope. Friday at recess time Mrs. Strehl and Mrs. Larsen judged them. Sally Gram's placed first, Joan Clark's second, and Bruce Brinall's third. Those receiving honorable mention were Elaine Pinney, Audrey Touchtone, Rudy Bulman and Agnes Zoulek.

We are making a short study of our own state now. We have found that its history is very interesting; also that it ranks first in salt and navy beans.

We are working difficult division problems now. Those people who follow directions are the ones who have the least trouble getting the correct answers.

We had a very nice valentine party Friday afternoon with lots of Valentines and a very nice lunch. A "Thank You" to the mothers who furnished so generously.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Sweet (Verna F. Leu), who were married February 7th, will make their home in East Jordan. Stanley Sweet is employed at the East Jordan Box and Crate Factory and Mrs. Sweet will continue working at the East Jordan High School office.

Mary Carol Hastie has moved to Hazel Park, a suburb of Detroit.

Patricia Porter is in Little Traverse Hospital at Petoskey. We wrote letters to her today during our English class.

We were weighed and measured this week. We also had our eyes tested. Several children in our room need to wear glasses.

We really enjoyed our Valentine Party on Friday. We had apples, popcorn, candy, cookies and cupcakes. We decorated our own Valentine boxes. Some of us made large envelopes to hold our Valentines. We played games after we ate our lunch.

We have been studying about electricity in science. James Galmore gave an experiment on the electric bell that he had constructed. It was connected to a dry cell.

Tom Eichler made a telegraph set and demonstrated the Morse Code using the dry cell.

Jack Gee brought several things to show us that his father had brought from Germany and France back in 1918. His father fought in the second world war.

Carolyn Malpass told the class about her interesting trip to Detroit this week end.

FOOD USES CHANGE AS PROTEINS GAIN FAVOR

FOOD habits are strong national characteristics, but they do change. Americans are famous for flap-jacks and maple syrup, the British are beef-eaters, the Italians lean to spaghetti and ravioli, and the French are praised for their sauces, pastries and desserts.

For centuries the Chinese have obtained a major part of their subsistence from the soybean — the same soybean which helped Allied forces rehabilitate Europe after the war and which is now a part of the Daily American diet.

Soybean oil appears on the American table as a principle ingredient of margarine, in mayonnaise, in salad dressings and as a cooking oil, says the Soya Food Research Council of Washington, D. C.

Soy flour, the other principal form in which the soybean is eaten in this country, is popular as an ingredient in cake mixes, sweet goods, bread, rolls, pan-cakes, and puddings, and as a binder and extender for sausages, luncheon meats and cold cuts.

Soy products now are used in confections, and it is soybean lecithin, for example, which keeps chocolate candies a deep, rich brown instead of permitting them to turn white around the edges as happened years ago.

Modern scientific processing of the soybean by such companies as Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., The Glidden Company, and Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. controls the flavor of the product. Soy flour can be made quite bland, or it can have a smooth nutty flavor. Americans are taste conscious, and in today's expanding use of soy flour as a protein ingredient the product is tailored to the American palate, reports the Council.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS NEWS

Michigan's deer herd — along with that of a lot of other states — is going to grow smaller in years to come, whether hunters, the general public and conservation department game men like it or not.

Conservationists throughout the North American white-tail range point out that we haven't much choice but to accept smaller herds because food supplies are being permanently reduced. They are asking effective herd management now to help the deer get through these downward "growing pains" in the best possible manner.

Ralph D. Bird, Manitoba white-tail authority, recently wrote of this problem: "Favorable food plants (in northern Manitoba) are quickly overbrowsed and deer are forced to eat less nutritious food. Under severe conditions the favored food plants are killed by heavy overbrowsing and wholesale starvation of deer follows. The deer herd can never increase to its original numbers as the carrying capacity of the pasture has been permanently lowered."

The Wisconsin conservation department's Bulletin magazine for February also sounds a warning against letting that state's herd build up to the size it reached before 1949, when an active program of management was started. "Hunting," says the magazine will not live up to its possibilities if Wisconsin again becomes so obsessed with 'saving' deer as to let a growing herd largely starve and go to waste, as in the 1930's and 1940's. With much of the 'brush' now pole size or larger, out of reach of deer, the state cannot afford to ruin its limited deer-food supply a second time by permitting the herd to outgrow it again."

A recent article in Pennsylvania's Game News magazine points out that the heyday of the big kill in that state is already past. Diminishing populations in Pennsylvania says the article, are inevitable, no matter what we do. Closing the season entirely would only hasten the process. Shooting the deer down to rock bottom would help but little because now it is too late. There would be no recovery because there is no food for recovery."

Michigan game men bolster these statements, saying diminishing food supplies mean fewer deer in the future. They say the big problems of deer herd management lie in the future. Last year's "any deer" season, they say was only the start of a long-range program designed to bring herd and range food supplies into closer balance.

Two to four inches of fresh snow over most of the northern lower peninsula have helped hunters and skiers in recent days, the conservation department reports.

Ice fishermen, too, have been reporting good success on several northern lakes. Smelt fishermen have found Lake Charlevoix and Crystal Lake providing good catches, with activity on Crystal Lake increasing noticeably.

Perch have been biting on Lake Charlevoix, White and Penitwater. Best pike catches are reported from Fletcher Floodwater, Hamlin Lake in Mason county and North Dease and Rifle Lakes in Ogemaw county.

Tucker Lake, Leelanau county and Houghton Lake report the best bluegill catches. Some Mackinaw trout have been taken from Crystal, Glen and Elk Lakes.

(Compiled and Edited by the News Staff)

Another sharp drop in milk and butter-fat prices caused the Dairy Products index to decline for the third consecutive month. This drop in dairy index plus smaller drops in the cash and feed crop indexes more than offset increases in the meat animal and poultry products indexes, causing the all commodity index to drop 3 points from a month earlier. The all commodity index has either remained the same or decreased every month since June 1952. Barley was the only grain crop to register an increase over last month but higher prices were received for hay, hogs, veal calves, sheep and chickens. Most other items declined.

Michigan's milk production increased seasonally with the January output 4 percent above December. January production turned out well above a year ago as cow numbers have increased and the January production per cow was 5 percent above a year earlier and a new record for the month. On February 1, crop reporters were feeding an average of about 7.2 pounds of grain per cow in herd, slightly more than a year ago, and 14 percent above the ten-year average for that date.

Egg production during January totaled 160 million eggs, 1 million more than a year earlier and a record for the month. Farmers have a few less layers than last year but a record rate of lay raised production above the January 1952 output.

Michigan farmers report they intend to purchase 4 percent fewer baby chicks in 1953 than they bought a year earlier. All of the intended decrease was reported in straight-run chicks, with intended purchases of sexed chicks remaining about at the 1952 level.

This winter has been unusually mild and snowfall has been light. Although wheat fields and meadows have been subjected to freezing and thawing weather, damage to date appears to be light.

Michigan's honey production in 1952 totaled 8,575,000 pounds, 15 percent below the 1951 crop. The drop resulted from a 5 percent reduction in the number of colonies and a yield per colony 11 percent under the 1951 yield. The 49-pound yield per colony is the lowest since 1947. Michigan's honey production ranked 8th among the states for the 1952 crop.

Prices for all honey sold during 1952 averaged 14.8 cents per pound compared with 14.0 cents in 1951. Extracted honey averaged 12 cents wholesale and 19 cents retail. Comb honey average 29 cents wholesale and 31 cents retail.

Honey Stocks on hand for sale by producers as of December 1952, are estimated at 3,344,000 pounds, or 39 percent of production. A year earlier stocks were 44 percent of production.

Beeswax production is estimated at 137,000 pounds, 24 percent below the 1951 production. Producers received 45 cents a pound for wax compared with 51 cents in 1951 and 44 cents in 1950.

The total value of Michigan's 1952 honey production is estimated at $1,269,000, about 11 percent below values for the two previous crops. Beeswax value was $62,000 compared with $92,000 in 1951 and $70,000 in 1950.

With Your COUNTY FARM AGENT

By Ed Reisman

Charlevoix county farmers are not working in circles. Not when they boost row acreages for green manure and then add nitrogen ahead of row crops to decompose the rye.

An explanation of the procedure is given by E. D. Longnecker, Michigan State College soil scientist.

Northern acreages are increasing in rye ahead of potatoes; and other row crops, he notes; this brings need for more nitrogen early in spring. Otherwise, row crop yields may be cut as the non-leguminous green manure use the soil nitrogen to break down their structures—in completion with row crops.

About 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre is recommended. It can come from 200 pounds of ammonium sulfate, Cal-Nitro; Nitro-Chalk, Nitro-Lime or A-N-L, or 125 pounds of ammonium nitrate or 100 pounds of urea, Uremon and NuGreen. This should be applied as soon as ground is firm in spring.

This peculiarity—depressing effect on succeeding crops by non-nitrogenized non-leguminous green manures—has only recently become a common knowledge. Green, juicy rye contains a lot of sugars for bacteria food. Bacteria-attack green material in force as soon as it is worked into soil. Bacteria rot or decompose the green manure, which does not have enough protein or nitrogen to give the bacteria a balanced diet. So, the bacteria take soil nitrogen in competition with the following crop.

The rye manure practice is not a poor one; it simply means extra nitrogen is needed—not wasted. It is held for a short time, possibly a few weeks, until the rye decomposes. Then, it goes to the growing crop.

Farmers should order now for spring nitrogen fertilizer needs.

Records of 154 Michigan potato growers who raised more than 400 bushels per acre have been reported. Forty per cent went over 600 bushels. The 48 seed growers averaged 496 and the table-stock men averaged 526.

This is the second year that this group has been known as the "400 club." From 1922 to 1950, it was called the Michigan 300-bushel club but qualifications have been raised.

The club is organized to encourage the most modern production methods and to honor the growers who put the methods into good use.

In 1952, Frank Falkies, of Delta county set a new state record—1,083 bushels per acre on 13 acres. He has been growing potatoes for years, averaging 862 bushels per acre. He was state champion in 1947 with 795 bushels, in 1948 with 847 bushels and, in 1952 with 1,083 bushels.

Charlevoix county growers would like to know how growers made these record yields. Falkies had his field in alfalfa bromegrass sod, pastured in 1951. He used 38 bushels of certified seed per acre and planted them May 12. Fifteen loads of manure and 800 pounds of 0-12-12 fertilizer preceded the potatoes. The field was cultivated twice and a weeder was used, twice. Sixteen fungicide sprays for plant disease control and four with DDT for insect control were included.

Chicks Now For Profits On Big Eggs

Chicks must be ordered immediately if they are to get into egg production and have large eggs when the prices are best, reminds J. M. Moore, MSC extension poultryman.

Best prices for large eggs are paid from July to December and it takes eight months to bring a baby pullet to the large-egg stage. Chicks ordered today may not be delivered for three or four weeks, or more, or between March 15 and 30; this means they can lay big eggs by Nov. 15 to 30 and you can catch a few weeks of the top price period.

The big corn crop, plus a big cut in numbers of early-hatched pullets, indicates very favorable egg prices for the last half of 1953, Moore points out. The January 1 crop report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows 22 per cent less early hatched chicks than a year before.

Chickens need a good supply of vitamin D to make use of the calcium in oyster shells, point out Michigan State College poultrymen. Fish oil provides both vitamins A and D.

Cull trees in a woodlot can be stripped of bark, treated with pentachlorophenol and made into fence posts, advise extension foresters of Michigan State College. The cost is about 20 cents per post.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS GET CASH FOR FARM IDEAS

High school students living on farms or ranches in all sections of the United States are getting cash for their ideas on how to make time and labor saving tools and equipment. The Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation in Cleveland, Ohio, gives $5000 each year to young farmers who describe how, with the use of arc welding, farm projects can be made in the school or farm shop.

Typical of work described by these farm boys is the bag holder pictured above. This simple but very useful piece of equipment was described in an essay entered in the Foundation's Arc Welding Award Program. It received a $25 Award.

The Foundation is now sponsoring its third award program to encourage high school students to study how arc welding can contribute to better farm operation and maintenance. One hundred cash awards ranging from $600 to $25 and totaling $5000 are offered to students for the best descriptions of how arc welding is or can be used in making and repairing farm equipment and tools. Awards are to individual students or a group of students for descriptions of either a home or class project.

Ten awards totaling $2000 are also given to schools in which the main student winners are enrolled. Funds awarded to schools are to be used for the improvement of shop mechanics courses. A Rules booklet containing 61 pictures of tools and equipment described in previous programs has been prepared and is available from The Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation, Cleveland 17, Ohio.

Higher Output Of Cows Now Price Problem

Causes for the current milk production surplus in Michigan and other states in the nation's "milk-bucket area" are very evident. But the cures are well hidden, and rather complicated, MSC economists find.

Gerard Quackenbush, dairy economist, points to increased production per cow and more cows in the herds as a prime reason for 93 percent greater milk production now than a year ago in the north central states.

Behind this is the mild winter weather, more liberal feeding of concentrates and the failure to send low-producing cows to slaughter. Poor cattle prices cause less culling.

A Flint dairy firm surveyed and found its producers with an average of 16 cows in the herd compared with 11 two years ago.

Southern dairymen are feeding 15 percent more concentrates than a year ago and despite the drought cutting hay and pasture yields, herds in those areas are producing more than a year ago. That's true everywhere in the United States.

Although "beefing" prices are off from one-fourth to one-third from peak prices, economists believe closer culling is the answer. Too much surplus, which must be turned into butter, cheese and dried milk for government purchase at support prices, could hurt the dairy industry.

Farmers are encouraged to aspire for maximum production per animal. But M. S. C. economists feel that culling out marginal producers is always a sound dairy management practice.

MSC Invites Resort Men Of Midwest

Planning on operating a motel this summer? Operating a resort? Renting out cabins or cottages? Running a resort restaurant?

If so, you will be interested in the first campus meeting of its kind, the Midwest Resort and Motel Institute, March 18-20, at Michigan State College.

Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, which has meal, lodging and conference room facilities on the college campus, will be the site for the novel school. Growing problems in setting up and operating any type of tourist or resort facilities will be met with advice and solutions at the institute.

"Topics of interest to motel operators will be included," says Frank W. Suggitt, head of the M. S. C. land and water conservation department—and its tourist and resort section. "But this will go further—resort and food service operations will be covered. Other topics will be business management, guest attraction and entertainment, attractive building exteriors and interiors, advertising, grounds improvement—everything to protect and build a resort investment."

More information on the institute is available at county offices of the Cooperative Extension Service of the college or by writing to Resort and Motel Institute, Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, Michigan State Continuing Education, Michigan State College.

Soils Conditioners Too Expensive Yet

Soil scientists at Michigan State College point out that some soil conditioners can do a good job of improving soil tilth and conditions. The trouble so far, they explain, is that the soil conditioners are too expensive for general farm use.

ORCHARD NOTES

By C. Fairman

This column will consist of putting the shot here and there, using excerpts from the Horticulture School at Twin Lakes, February 11.

Use pines wind breaks for cherries and apples. Prepare land the fall before planting. Use fertilizer on the young pines. Leave outside rows of cherries bushy without any trimming to protect other trees from wind-whip.

Cherry growers growing only 30 ton per season will fade out unless they diversify by growing other crops.

The Blue Damson plum is needed to pollinate the Stanley Prune. And the Bosc Pear is used with the Bartlett pear.

Use an air blast sprayer to dry sweet cherries off the trees after a rain in order to prevent cracking.

Precool sweet cherries before shipping.

Orchard soil is better for trees where there is a layer of chard soil about 3 foot below the surface.

Southern Michigan has more trouble from frost and freezes than we do. Their trees start earlier in the spring and grow later in the fall.

We obtain better colored cherries due to our cooler climate tempered by the big lake.

The highest price ever paid in the history of the Detroit market was paid this season for western box Winesap apples, $8.50 per box.

It was thought by Dr. Tukey, head of Horticulture Department of Michigan State College, that the population would increase faster than cherry orchards.

Census Takers At Work In East Jordan Area

Census Bureau enumerators are visiting a sample of East Jordan area families this week in making the Current Population Survey, according to District Supervisor Donald P. Watkins.

Information gathered in East Jordan in the Current Population survey is combined with figures collected in 67 other sample areas in the country to provide national figures on employment and unemployment.

These figures show that civilian employment last year was at the highest point in the Nation's history. The monthly average of employed civilians was estimated at 61,291,000 in 1952, not materially greater than in 1951, but some 1.3 million above the 1950 average. At that same time, the monthly average of unemployed persons seeking work dropped to 1,672,000 in 1952, the lowest figures since World War II.

Farmers using electric welders should make sure the wiring is adequate, floors dry and the welder properly grounded, urges David G. Steinicke, safety specialist at Michigan State College.

Mr. Farmer:

It takes a large volume of livestock to attract a large number of livestock buyers.

The Traverse City Livestock Commission sells more livestock than any sale in Northern Michigan.

The bigger buyers attend the Traverse City Livestock Auction, therefore you are assured the full market value when you consign your livestock to the Traverse City Livestock Commission. Don't hesitate to spend a little extra money for trucking to the Traverse City Livestock Commission. It will be repaid many times.

Hi Sportians!

Well, the Red Devils are clicking again. They took Gaylord and Mancelona last week, putting the local team in second place, tied with Gaylord. They really clicked last week and were ahead all the way without fear of the other team catching up in the last minute.

In the Gaylord-East Jordan game last Tuesday, the Red Devils defeated Gaylord 72-56. The Red Devils led the Blue Devils all the way. Warren Frank dropped in 30 points and Keith Evans 17. Riddle of Gaylord made 17 for the opposing team.

On Friday the Red Devils won over Mancelona with a final score of 54-44. This game tied East Jordan with Gaylord for second place in the Class C Conference. Warren Frank was again high score man with 17 points. Andrew Patrick made 16 points for Mancelona.

East Jordan led at the quarter 11-9, 25-18 at the half and 35-25 at the third quarter.

Harbor Springs is coming up in the conference. They won from Boyne City last Friday 63-52. They take third place in the conference. The first place Charlevoix team won an easy victory from Pellston with a score of 61-27. All the Raiders saw action.

The conference standings are: Charlevoix first with 9 wins and 1 loss, East Jordan and Gaylord second with 7 wins and 3 losses. Harbor Springs third with 4 wins and 4 losses, Boyne City and Mancelona fourth with 3 wins and 7 losses, and Pellston fifth with 1 win and 9 losses.

Now that the free throw contest is over, it was really some competition. I want to congratulate Gene (Sussey) Richards for winning both the Winner's Bracket and the Loser's Bracket. It takes a good man to shoot on the average of 50 per cent when the competition is up.

By the way he was the only one that was undefeated.

Nice going, Don Whiteford, for landing that Chicago Cub's contract. We are all behind you Don and are proud to have a representative from East Jordan on a pro team. Keep up the good work, Don, and good-luck to you!

STRAITS BRIDGE
the arrival of shipments on schedule, nor can they afford the long tie-up of their men and equipment in waiting for ferries.

3. We believe that if the people can have a bridge at the same price or at a reasonably higher rate than they now pay for ferries, they would prefer the bridge.

4. Although many people have indicated they enjoy the boat ride across the Straits, it is the same as the people who enjoy a horse-and-buggy ride, but now own automobiles.

Mr. Bugai says it is hard to support some of the things hoped for in these statements.

He feels that cities near the bridge will not develop as expected, that resorters will not visit the Straits again and again just to see a bridge, that there is some chance that the State of Michigan will end up paying the "shot" for the bridge.

One of his main questions, which has never been answered to him, is: "Why hasn't at least some of the opposition to construction of the bridge been published in the state's newspapers?"

Winter Enhances Quebec's Old World Atmosphere

GATEWAY TO HISTORY... Passing through the old St. Louis Gate, one of the three remaining feudal-style gates at Quebec City, is typical two-passenger horse-drawn sleigh, one of the many that offer sightseeing fun for winter vacationers in the capital of Quebec Province, Canada.

QUEBEC CITY, P.Q., CANADA
—Sightseeing highlights attractions for vacationers in the Province of Quebec the year-round and during the winter horse-drawn sleighs add an old-world atmosphere to this popular activity, according to Provincial officials.

Montreal, Quebec City, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, and other centers are steeped in history and feature a variety of unique buildings, shrines, and historic sites dating from the days when Quebec was the cradle of the New World. A mantle of newly-fallen snow lends charm to hundreds of provincial towns and villages.

A few of the more significant sightseeing attractions for visitors to Quebec Province include the old fortifications and historic Plains of Abraham, at Quebec

City, where the British and French fought for possession of Canada; the park on Mount Royal, in Montreal; hundreds of shrines and churches including Ste. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec, and St. Joseph's Oratory, near Montreal; and historic buildings located at Three Rivers, and Sherbrooke.

Adding that extra touch to sightseeing by horse-drawn calesche or Victoria, bus, limousine, or private car are dozens of out-of-the-way curio and novelty shops featuring native Quebec hand-made articles; top restaurants and hotels offering distinctive French-Canadian cuisine such as pork pies and French-Canadian Paa Soup; a bi-lingual populace and roadside signs in both French and English; as well as curling games, ice hockey and other sports staged during the winter.

IMP-LINGO

By THE IMP
Hi, Jordan,
Say, I'm sorry about missing last week's column. I had to go out of town. To see a dog about a bone.

I think we're coming along all right in basketball. Let's keep it up team! Maybe we'll get there yet. I'm looking forward to the tournaments.

I hear Bonnie is in a room with three other girls, and they flirt with the doctors! Keep your chin up, Bonnie, 'You'll never walk alone.'

I'm getting tired of these wild-eyed Seniors getting out of every class and study hall they can to work on that Annual. All I can say is, it better be good!

Certain people (plural) seem to look rather lost with so many other people out of town—and a certain other person is just waiting for his or her chance. Anyone know who?

Have you noticed a '52 Ford making a habit of E. N.'s house? Or is it the other way around? Oh, Oh!

What do you people think about the ball monitor system established by the Student Council at old E. J. H. S.? It's a lot trouble caused when I want to do my Biology in the Library. But it does what it was set to do—I think!

I'm getting disciplined! I've been snooping around too much and an ole Devil, believe it or not, is bearing down. But that's my job.
