EAST JORDAN EDITION

A really useful engine in her day . . .

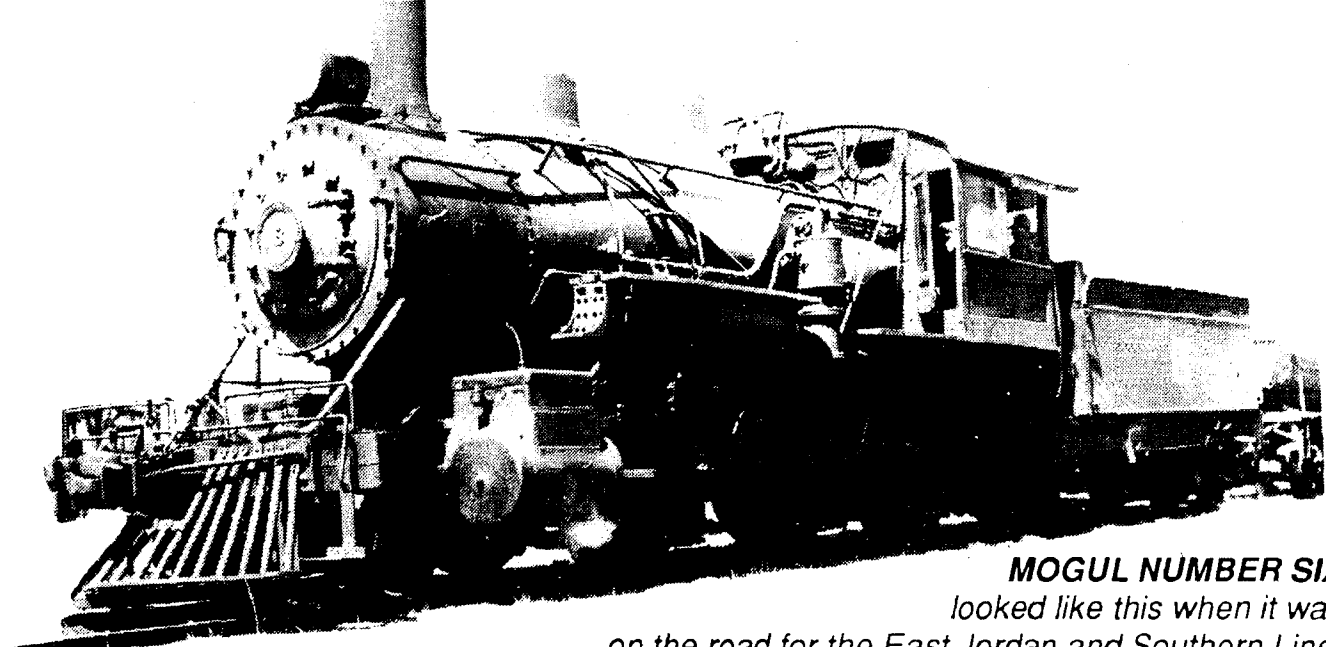

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
 Contributing writer

Old Number Six on the East Jordan and Southern railroad line is ready to roll. At least she looks that way, thanks to the attention of the Portside Arts and Historical Society.

Actually the engine, in her new shelter, was rededicated on July 3, 1992, 31 years after her final run.

In the early days of EJ&S the line was an integral part of the Northern Michigan logging industry. They carried timber of the north woods on the short line from Bellaire to the East Jordan mill. Tall-masted schooners then carried the finished lumber out to the Big Lake via Lake Charlevoix.

East Jordan was still a small milltown, but the population was rapidly expanding. Folks needed transport too, so the small logging line was incorporated as a common carrier in 1901. In time, EJ&S was operating four locomotives, three passenger cars, seven flats, two service cars and 112 log buggies. Soon, the lumber train provided East Jordan residents with a link to the rest of the world by way of the Pere MOGUL NUMBER SIX looked like this when it was on the road for the East Jordan and Southern Line.

Marquette line in Bellaire. After the decline of the timber industry, EJ&S survived as an excursion railroad. Daily trains ran the round-trip through the beautiful Jordan River valley. Charter excursions were quite popular, especially in the scenic autumn months. The Deer Creek trestle and Pinney Bridge were favored photo stops. Mogul No. 6 was built around 1909 in Pittsburgh. She was the Big Engine of the line, weighing more than 58 tons. Other than her original wooden cab, she looks the same 84 years later, now that she's been re-sorted. Number Six made her last run in August 1961, when the line shut down. EJ&S General Manager and son of founder W.P. Porter, Howard Porter was reluctant to scrap the magnificent machine. He donated it to the city of East Jordan and it was interred in a place of honor at Memorial Park. As the years passed, old Number Six sat neglected, her charm deteriorating. The decay was most evident in the cowcatcher, held in place by huge, now rotting oak beams. By 1990, she was an embarrassing eyesore with an uncertain future. The city seriously considered either scrapping the engine or selling her to interested train buffs. The projected cost of restoration made that option unlikely. Alarmed at the prospect of losing a unique reminder of the past, the Portside Society approached city council with a rehabilitation plan. The cost was estimated to be $8000, but finished closer to $10,000. Ironi-

Four more recall petitions rejected

BY MARJORIE FLEET
Contributing Writer

Four petitions filed with the county clerk to recall the Central Lake Township supervisor, treasurer and two trustees were rejected by the Antrim County Election Commission Feb. 26 on grounds each petition included complaints on actions taken prior to the current term of office.

Meeting for the second time in a week, the commission, Probate Judge John Unger, County Clerk Laura Sexton and County Treasurer Beverly Edgington, reviewed the clarity of wording on petitions to recall supervisor Paul Vernon, treasurer Cheryl Shooks and trustees William Murray and William Gadwau. On Feb. 22 the commission rejected the wording on a petition to recall clerk Marilyn Lucas.

County Prosecutor Charles Koop, asked by the commission for his opinion, noted his research into court cases cast doubt on each petition because each one cited an alleged violation of the Open Meetings Act on Nov. 5, 1992, prior to the Nov. 20, 1992 start of the current term of office.

"Only matters occurring during the current term of office are subject to recall, the reason probably being because the voters recently spoke in the election," Koop stated.

Since the commission acts solely on the clarity of petitions, each one must be read as a whole, he said. However, it is important to separate material cited before and after current terms began.

"It is my opinion that anything that happened prior to Nov. 20, 1992 is not a proper subject for recall," Koop said, adding that nothing in his research allows the commission to strike any language. They must rule on the petition as a whole.

Other wording on the petitions also caused the commission to vote unanimously for rejection. Unger noted one item that should have cited the ordinance that was allegedly violated. Sexton pointed out the petitions should be specific about township names as well as office titles. Koop said names on petitions should match the names as they appeared on the ballot.

Following the vote to reject the four petitions, Koop said it should be understood that though a person is officially recalled from the office currently held, that person could run for and be elected to another office within the same township.

"You could wind up just reshuffling the chairs on the deck of the Titanic," he said. "I would hope the petition proponents will rethink this whole thing." Besides that, Koop added, all costs of recall elections will be the township's responsibility.

By Friday afternoon, new petitions were filed with the county clerk on the same four people, Vernon, Shooks, Murray and Gadwau, and a clarity hearing on them was set for March 16.

Ellsworth wins at Mackinaw: Campbell scores 300

BY S.F. PUCKETT
Sports Writer

ELLSWORTH - It only took eight years to win again at Mackinaw City for the Ellsworth Lancers basketball team, but the wait was well worth it as the win against the Comets also turned out to be coach Hugh Campbell's 300th in his career.

Ellsworth, which had to stop Mackinaw City in double overtime earlier at Ellsworth, got out and stayed out on the Comets this time, holding their hosts at arms length to win 58-51 for the 18th time in 19 tries this season. The Lancers, 18-1 and state ranked in Class D, have one game remaining, Friday at home with Ski Valley champions Bellaire. Jeremy DeYoung led the team with 29 points and 17 rebounds, but the efforts of Scott Essenberg, Tim Heneveld, Scott Heeres, Mike Alfred and the rest of the squad all combined to make it a happy trip for their coach, whom they mobbed after the game.

Our Coats of Many Colors

* And God sent me before you to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. So it was not you who sent me here, but God... — Genesis 45: 7-8

When Joseph was sold into bondage in Egypt by his brothers who were jealous of his father's favors to the lad, he undoubtedly felt bitterness at the calumny of his brothers. Yet Joseph was a man of faith, and his service to the Egyptian pharaoh earned him high honors. Thus, when his brothers sought help and realized they had to deal with the brother they had betrayed, they were afraid. Joseph, however, recognized the greater plan that God had designed for him. In a sense, we are all Josephs, for who can deny that we all exist and in turn serve some purpose that God has for us?

Central Lake Trojans keep closing in

BY S.F. PUCKETT
 Sports Writer

CENTRAL LAKE - The Trojan basketball team took Inland Lakes down to the wire before getting beat Tuesday evening, the Bulldogs hanging on to win 42-41.

SCORING FOR CENTRAL LAKE is Cain Derenzy in a 42-41 loss to Inland Lakes on Feb. 19. Derenzy had 13 points in the game.

The Trojans trailed by just one after the first period, 7-6, then jumped ahead by the half 19-15. They hung on to a 27-26 margin with a quarter to go and had a six point gap in their favor with three minutes remaining when they went cold from the line. Missed free throws turned into Bulldog opportunities, and Inland Lakes made them pay off, taking the 42-41 lead.

Central Lake had the ball with 11 seconds to go, only to see Inland Lakes take it away in a turnover to end the Trojan chances.

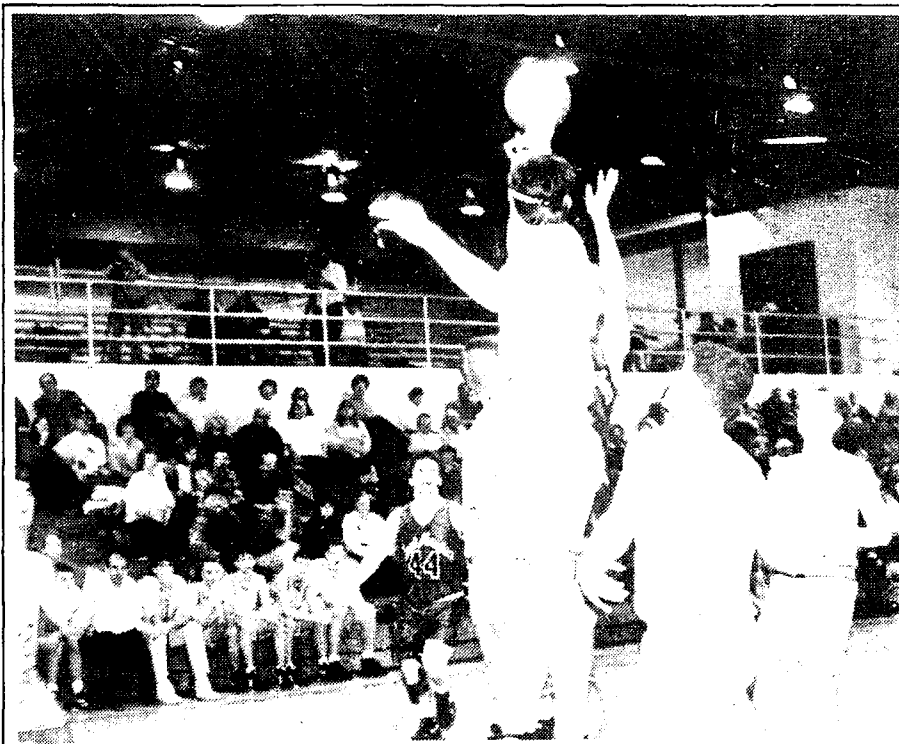

Cain Derenzy went to the top of the charts with a 13-point scoring binge for Central Lake, Jamie Evans scored nine and Chad Pletcher six.

The jayvee Trojans were victorious 60-50 with Stuart Hickman scoring 12 and Tom Ernst, Brad Klooster and Ryan Newton all adding to the win.

Friday at Alanson, the home team had its way from the first moment and never stopped as the Vikings went onward to the 76-59 win over Central Lake. The combined efforts of Pletcher, Eldrington, Aenis and Ager weren't enough to slow down Alanson's Sam Hargreaves from getting 31 points and remaining the top scoring threat in the conference.

Central Lake took on Mancelona Tuesday before hosting East Jordan on Friday evening.

Central Lake is the host school for the Class D District that includes Alba, Bellaire, Ellsworth, Mancelona and the Trojans, starting March 8.

The action was fast and frantic as Traverse City St. Francis defeated East Jordan 69-60 on Feb. 26. Cliff Russel (44) watches a teammate attempt a shot against tough defense.

Trojan spikers win fifth match in a row

BY S.F. PUCKETT
Sports Writer

Central Lake continued its march into volleyball district by winning its fifth consecutive match, taking Pellston in three straight games.

The Hornets were no match for the escalating enthusiasm of the Trojan spiking machine, winners by 15-7, 15-4, 15-6.

Key to the attack was the net play of Allison Greenman and her seven kills. Misty Boatwright chipped in with six kills, while Sarah Shay covered the ground like a defensive net for the Trojans. Coach Mike Velding was very pleased with the team total of eight blocks, 13 aces and 80 percent serving.

Now 9-11 on the season, coach Velding sees no easy task in his final two regular season matches, home with East Jordan Monday and at Mancelona on Thursday before their district bid begins Saturday at Glen Lake.

Central Lake will play Leland in the second game of the district at approximately 11 a.m. with the winner scheduled to play the TC St. Francis-Bellaire winner at around 2 p.m. with finals to follow.

District play begins Monday.

Competition among five Antrim County schools in District 119 boys basketball begins Mon., March 8 at 7 p.m. in Central Lake High School gymnasium.

The first game pits Mancelona against Central Lake. Tuesday will see action between Alba and Ellsworth.

Wednesday's competition will see the Monday night winner play Bellaire, and in Friday's final game the Tuesday and Wednesday winners will meet for the district championship. All games begin at 7 p.m. Friday's champion advances to regional playoffs.

cally, it cost the same amount to build back in the early part of the century!

A preservation committee, spear-headed by Robert Veryzer, went "full steam" ahead in fund-raising for the project. The East Jordan community enthusiastically supported activities, from slide-shows and tag sales to donations from school children and area businesses.

There was even a donation from summer visitors. Steven Bentschneider and Jim Sell, down state residents who docked at the city marina, donated all the paint for the restoration. The donation, valued at about $700, was made in memory of Bentschneider's father Eugene.

The actual restoration was as much a community effort as the fund-raising. Much of the labor and many materials were provided at or below cost or as out-in-out donations. The cost of installing lights in the shelter was paid by the Portside group, along with the blood, sweat and tears of many members.

The only thing left to be done is the addition of a plaque or display to explain the exhibit. According to Veryzer, many visitors to East Jordan inquire about the engine and would enjoy seeing a more complete presentation. There is a plan to create a related exhibit at the Society's museum at Elm Pointe.

Recently, the Portside Society officially returned the welfare of the exhibit to the city.

Wildlife stamp design contest opens

Entries for this year's waterfowl stamp design contest must feature the black duck.
