OUR WEATHER

It was the week that just got warmer - starting with highs in the 70s and culminating with a steamy Fourth of July weekend that saw temperatures in the low 90s for three days straight! A torrential downpour broke the humidity late Monday night, but the mercury was expected to climb to the upper 80s Tuesday and Wednesday. Wild sweet pea is in bloom all over the county.

HONORARY GRAND MARSHAL GINNY CAREY

Energetic grandma leads parade

BY JENNIFER VANCONANT
Summer Editor

Leading the Jordan River Freedom Festival Grand Parade Saturday afternoon was none other than Freedom Fest's Honorary Grand Marshal Ginny Carey.

Carey found out about three months ago that she was to preside over the special event.

"I was very surprised," Carey said. "There are so many people who have done more than I have."

Before the event she was not quite sure what her duties as grand marshal would entail.

"All I know is I have to ride in a car and smile and wave," Carey remarked.

But the East Jordan native has had her hand in more than a few organizations.

In 1979 she was named Woman of the Year by the Business and Professional Women of East Jordan.

The East Jordan Athletic Booters, EJ Garden Club, EJ Lioness Club, EJ Little League Auxiliary, EJ Snowmobile Club, and Charlevoix County Snowmobile Club are just a few organizations she has been involved with over the years

She also worked to set up a support group during the Persian Gulf War called Parents and Friends of Service Men and Women in Operation Desert Storm.

Recently her efforts have been directed toward the organization of Family and Friends of Special Children for parents and friends dealing with children with disabilities.

Carey's 4-year-old granddaughter Ashlee has a rare brain disease.

Her family also includes 2-year-old grandson Matthew, her son Leon and daughter-in-law Peggi, and husband Bud. They have been married for 27 years.

"My first hobby is my grandchildren," she added.

Her other hobbies include music, bowling, snowmobiling, and traveling. She has played piano for over 30 years and often serves as the church pianist.

In addition Carey finds the time to work at the family-owned business, Carey's Corner Market IGA.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital volunteer would not reveal her age, just her attitude.

"I'm a grandma, but a young one," Carey commented. "Age is an attitude, and I have a young attitude."

Changes may be coming for emergency services

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Contributing Writer

A change may be in store for East Jordan Fire Department and Ambulance service in Eveline Township.

According to Eveline Township Supervisor Dave Willson, residents at Nowland Lake have requested their coverage from Charlevoix instead of East Jordan. They believe the response time would be faster.

If the change is made, East Jordan emergency crews would respond only as far as Holy Island Road on the west side of Lake Charlevoix.

On the east side, response area would be the East Jordan School District boundaries to the west of Wurn Road.

There would be no loss of revenues from the boundary changes. Both Charlevoix and Boyne City have approved the proposed changes.

The Ways and Means and Public Safety Committee will review the changes before the council makes a decision.

In other news City Clerk Kathy O'Rear informed the council that 11 candidates have filed nominating petitions for the nine-member Charter Commission. The names will appear on the November ballot.

Also on the ballot, voters will determine whether the city charter should be revised.

Crimes just a rumor

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Contributing Writer

There has not been an eruption of robberies on Main Street in East Jordan, according to Police Chief John Imeson.

"The East Jordan rumor mill can be vicious," remarked Imeson.

The rumors of a crime spree of vandalism and robbery have some base in truth. Imeson said two robberies have occurred recently in the area. Both are under active investigation.

But there is no substance to the vandalism reports. A sense of panic has been spreading among business owners. A recent Main Street business closing may have fueled the rumors, Imeson believes.

While shopkeepers may breathe more easily, extra vigilance would be wise. Apparently, neither of the robberies were a result of forced entry.

Simple precautions and staying alert may be the best prevention.

And possibly discouraging the rumors as they fly by.

Coming next week ...

Keep your eyes peeled for complete coverage of the Jordan River Freedom Fest in the July 14 edition of the East Jordan Journal.

C.L. library unveils new books

The Central Lake Township Library has received a collection of current children's books and books on agriculture and business through the federally funded Library Services and Construction Act.

The books were selected by local staff members who attended book selection workshops held at Mid-Michigan Library League Headquarters in Cadillac. Displays of current books and lists of those found useful by other libraries aided the librarians in their selection of the books.

Librarian Christine

Bachmann is sure the following materials will be popular with the local library users: Successful Small Scale Farming, How to Sell What You Make, Your Small Business Made Simple plus many other titles as well as 64 children's books.

The LSCA grant is made available to public libraries to help local libraries serve the needs of their areas more effectively. The library of Michigan awards the grants, which are competitive, on the basis of local need, appropriateness of the proposal and other criteria.

First theatre offering this weekend

Torch Theater presents A Walk in the Woods, the first production of the summer season, Friday through Sunday, July 9 to 11, at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Hall at Torch Lake Village, two miles south of Eastport.

Performed and sponsored by North Star Lodge, F and AM, the play by Lee Blessing is described as "an important play for our times, both moving and amusing."

A second presentation is set for the following weekend, July 16 through 18, at the same time and place.

Tickets, available at the door, are $7, with reductions for senior citizens and children. For further information and reservations call 599-2060.

Consumers gives back to community

Employees from Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant recently delivered checks to two East Jordan area organizations.

The Charlevoix-East Jordan United Way received an $855 donation based on employee contributions.

A $1,000 check was presented to the Raven Hill Discovery Center in East Jordan from the Consumers Power Foundation. Raven Hill provides a hands-on learning experience for individuals, students, teachers and families in the areas of science, history, and the arts.

The check was delivered by Kevin Shields, reactor engineer, who serves on a four-person Corporate Citizenship Team at the plant which reviews all community financial requests.

Big Rock Point Public Affairs Director Tim Petrosky said it is important to be active and give back to the community.

"The money is set aside from shareholder funds because we feel it is the right thing to do," Petrosky explained.

The foundation was set up several years ago to promote Michigan growth and enhancement, education, social welfare, health care, culture and the arts, and civic and community improvement.

Area organizations submit applications to their local offices, Petrosky explained. Recommendations are forwarded to the company's headquarters in Jackson.

In addition, the foundation's Volunteer Investment Program encourages the utility's employees to volunteer a minimum of 60 hours a year to community service activities. The employees can then apply for a grant of up to $500 for the organization he or she is involved with.

This was the case last year when the foundation donated $1,000 over a two-year period to the local Math Counts program sponsored by the Mackinac Straits Chapter of the Michigan Society of Engineers.

"It was a perfect match for us," Petrosky said. "It met the education goal, and we had employee involvement as well."

The amount of money awarded to non-profit organizations varies from year to year, Petrosky commented, depending on the financial requests received and funds available.

Local grant requests should be directed to Big Rock Point, in care of Petrosky.

Remember When . . .

You could go down Ballard Street to Kings Lumber Yard, to purchase building materials from nails to paint? It seems to me that the remains of large docks were by the waterfront; perhaps supplies of lumber once came in by boat.

Beware of fudgie syndrome

By Jennifer VanConant Summer Editor

Our beautiful northern country is invaded every year by that unique breed of people - the fudgies.

I'm sure every native has poked fun at these map-packing, lost-looking, camera-toting tourists at one point or another. But I found myself in a fudgie predicament last weekend while on a day trip to Mackinac Island with my little sister Jill.

It was the end of the day. Our feet were tired, and we wanted a snack, so we bought some fudge (first mistake).

Then we took a seat on the steps of the haunted house (second mistake).

By the time we discovered the true ramifications of our actions, it was too late. There we were eating fudge while sitting on the steps of an Island tourist attraction. We had become fudgies ourselves!

This was a new experience for us. We had been to the Island before - but as boaters, not fudgies. No offense, but ask any boater, and they'll tell you there is a difference.

Sure, we had bought our share of fudge, but it was always consumed in the privacy of our own boat. But here Jill and I were boatless on Mackinac Island. What other choice did we have?

Despite our fudgie illness we thoroughly enjoyed our trip, and hope to do it again, but next time with our boat.

Remember, the next time you venture into a neighboring town, beware of the fudgie symptoms that sneak up on you without warning.

P.S. We even took a camera!

If you were surprised at Central Foods Market when you went to grab the lunch meats and came up with a block of cheese you weren't alone. Our own Jackie Thier did the same thing. The new arrangement will take some time to get used to, but it sure does look sharp!

Central Lakes summer residents Alene and

Paul Anderson were happy to have Jeff Getz, his wife Mary, and daughter Shannon as guests at their Charlevoix home. Getz, a Central Lake graduate, is an Armorer Ranger Safety Officer for Laurance Livermore at the University of California. The Getz crew also visited with family of Jeff's late wife Karen (Burns) while at a wedding in Grand Rapids. The Andersons spent 18 summers watching Jeff and his brother grow up and they still keep in touch.

Visitors at Raven Hill Discovery Center in East Jordan can now explore the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant without leaving the center. A scale model of the facilities was delivered by Consumers Power Company last week.

Watch out National Inquirer and move over Globe, a new tabloid is on the market and it's free. The Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning just published the first edition of the OHSP Inquirer because "Safety conscious minds want to know." Articles in the "rag" magazine include another Elvis sighting in Kalamazoo. This time he was wearing his seatbelt. The theme of the issue is "Buckle Up."

STUDENT NEWS

Cortez attends seminar

East Jordan resident Andrea Cortez was one of 200 Michigan high school juniors and seniors attending the 1993 Young People's Citizenship Seminar held at Calvin College June 14-18.

The students established a mock government and listened to speakers in the fields of economics, sociology, government and personal motivation.

The annual program, sponsored by Michigan Farm Bureau and the local county Farm Bureau, is dedicated to preparing Michigan youth for their role as participants in the democratic process.

Nelson earns degree at WMU

Ellsworth resident Carrie Nelson was among 2,173 students to graduate from Western Michigan University at the end of the 1993 winter semester.

Nelson, who majored in German, earned a bachelor of arts degree. She is the daughter of John and Dorothy Nelson.

When frog singing told you something

From the mouths of old timers, regarding the East Jordan Lumber Co. and recalled by a kid with big ears, here goes:

W.P. Porter became the partner of Mr. Glen as owners of E.J.L.C. in the early 90s.

As frogs used to sing in the ponds and swamps, the bull frogs said in bass, "who stole my logs, who stole my logs, who stole my logs?"

In bass profundo, another answered, "old Glen, old Glen, old Glen."

The smaller frogs then added, "Porter too, Porter too, Porter too, Porter too."

P.S. Many devices were used to entertain grandchildren in the old days - no offense intended to Porter descendants!

Review of local book topic at Friends of the Library Potluck

Have you ever wondered how Central Lake and the surrounding area came to be settled? And how did those early settlers live and survive in a largely unexplored wilderness area? A book currently being distributed, Pioneer Notes: By Trek and Sail to Grand Traverse Bay, the labor of love of "Amazing Grace" Hooper, addresses these questions, and more. Betty Beeby will review this book at the annual potluck of the Friends of the Central Lake Township Library.

The third annual meeting of the Central Lake Township Friends of the Library will begin with a potluck dinner at 6 p.m. on Tues., July 13, at Thurston Park in Central Lake. Everyone is welcome, whether or not you are a member of the Friends.

Bring a dish to pass and your own table service. Beverages will be provided by the board of the Friends. The book review will follow the dinner.

Call 544-2517 for further information.

Caregivers support group to meet

A meeting of the Charlevoix County Caregivers Support Group will be held Sat., July 17, at 2 p.m. at the East Jordan Family Health Center, 601 Bridge St., East Jordan.

A representatives of Healthwares, Inc. will be on hand to help caregivers with problems of daily living such as bathing, dressing, and toileting.

Anyone who is responsible for the care of a sick or frail person outside the hospital setting is invited. Those who must deal with the stresses of caring for a loved one at home or in a nursing home will find the group informational and enjoyable.

The meeting is free of charge. Refreshments will be served. Call Nancy Ellison at Charlevoix Area Hospital for information. Reservations are not required.

Library wants postcards

The Jordan Valley District Library is calling all travelers of the East Jordan area. Near or far, send a postcard to say hello and we will add it to our vacation postcard display.

Prizes will be awarded for the best postcard in each special category. For example, the card that traveled the farthest, and more.

Children and adults can share their vacation with us by sending a postcard before August 13, 1993 to: Jordan Valley District Library, P.O. Box 877, East Jordan, Mich. 49727.

Library sets book sale

The Jordan Valley District Library will be holding its annual used book sale in the library's community room July 7-10.

Many hardcover, paperback, non-fiction, and children's books will be available at 10 and 25 cents each. Some books may be priced higher.

Tues., July 6 will be Preview Day. Anyone interested in buying books before Wednesday will be charged a $1 fee.

Saturday will be Bag Day. Bring a brown bag and fill it up with remaining books and it will only cost $2 per bag.

If you present the promotional flier at the book sale, you can choose a free paperback with purchase of additional book.

Bake sale scheduled

The Central Lake Women's Club has planned a bake sale July 10. The ladies will be selling their baked goods in front of Central Foods Market on the corner of State and Main streets.

Republican picnic set

Senators George McManus and John Pridnia, Representative Beverly Bodem and former State Representative Ralph Ostling will be guests at the 55th Annual Charlevoix County Republican Picnic.

The barbequed chicken dinner begins at 1 p.m. Sun., July 11, in Whiting Park. Tickets are available at the door: $6 for adults, and children under 12 are free. Everyone is requested to bring a hot or cold dish to pass. Door prizes will also be awarded.

Delightfully Dutch

by ruth bainum

Do you know what a "Dutch Treat" is? It's when two people go out for lunch and each pay their own way. Correct, but, my husband and I experienced a different Dutch Treat.

We have friends near Holland, Michigan who invited us to an open house for their nephew who was graduating from high school.

We debated whether we would attend or not. After all, we did not know the young man, nor his friends.

The only family we had ever met were the aunt and uncle who would be the host and hostess. Most graduation parties are family affairs and the young people are other seniors.

So we called to beg off, but in the end we went. It was a most enlightening experience as our hostess promised us it would be.

First we noticed that all the guests were in our age bracket and no one was related. All of us were simply friends of the host and hostess and we had been invited so we might have the pleasure of meeting their nephew.

The nephew was a charming young fellow and he showed us report cards for all his years of schooling, his honors, his pins, medals, yearbook, ring, school jacket and kept his cap and gown on all evening.

After two more parties, we were told, he would be leaving for Amsterdam to attend a municipal university. This was the reason for all the parties!

As he explained it each of his relatives, and that included his grandparents, each sister and brother, each aunt and uncle plus his parents were all expected to hold an open house for him.

The host and hostess did not invite his relatives they only invited their friends so the young man would meet an entirely different group of people at each party.

His family had been doing this for years and while money was the expected gift we all knew where the money was going. Plus the fact the recipient was worth and our contribution helped keep alive a family tradition.

Oh yes, we thoroughly enjoyed the party and the education we received. Those of us who stayed over met at a local restaurant for breakfast and it was "Dutch Treat."

Orphan otter is story of the hour

June Elkington, with the able assistance of Bev Hildreth, will entertain the kids from 10-11 a.m. at the Sat., July 10 Story Hour at Central Lake Library.

A highlight of their program is the delightful Little Orphan Otter, a book written by Mary Craft and dedicated to her grandchildren. It tells the story of a baby otter that was rescued from a storm in Monterey Bay, nursed back to health, and returned to its home in the Bay.

OBITUARY

Erik Bloom

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA - A tragic accident took the life of 21-year-old Erik Bloom on June 22, 1993. His life ended while participating in one of his favorite sports, Sea-dooing.

A memorial service was scheduled Sat., June 26, at the First United Methodist Church, 915 Second Ave., with the Rev. Tom Taylor officiating.

Known as "Moe" to family and friends, Bloom was born March 13, 1972, in Mansfield, Ohio. He moved with his family to Alaska in 1976. He attended Danali Elementary School, Ryan Junior High School, Howard Luke Alternative, Lathrop High School, and the University of Alaska Fairbanks.

Bloom enjoyed all sports, with hockey as his first love. He was active in Fairbanks Youth Hockey from the age of 5 through high school.

In July 1992, he was severely injured in a motorcycle accident from which he was nearly recovered at the time of his death.

Bloom was a compassionate person who had a special humor all of his own. He lived life to the fullest and made friends wherever he went.

He is survived by his parents, Gene and Cindy Bloom; brother and sister-in-law, Derek and Chris Bloom; nephew and niece, Logan and Devyn; fiancée Debbie LaJiness; childhood friend Vernon Devlin, all of Fairbanks; maternal grandparent Russ and Becky Pierce formerly of Fairbanks and presently residing in Central Lake; paternal grandparents Howard and Marcella Buffman of Central Lake; many cousins, uncles, and aunts including Tedd and Debbie Pierce and Diane Dawson of Fairbanks; and his beloved dog Oscar who was always by his side.

A memorial fund has been established in Erik Bloom's name at the First National Bank of Anchorage-Golden Valley Branch, P.O. Box 60240, Fairbanks, Alaska 99706. Donations should include account number 26105551.

Free comic carries Christian message

Five churches from around Northern Lower Michigan are co-sponsoring Cardinal Adventures, a free comic book, written and drawn by a northern Michigan artist and printed by Central Printing of Gaylord. It offers readers a suspenseful adventure along with a Christian message. The current issue, Night of the Nephilim, is based on accounts in the books of Numbers and Deuteronomy in the Bible.

Cardinal Adventures is available at Noah's Ark and Central Lake Pharmacy in Central Lake and Jordan Valley Pharmacy and Carey's Corner Market IGA in East Jordan.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Exalt God, Not Yourself

"If you have been foolish, exalting yourself... put your hand on your mouth."

— Proverbs 30:32

It is written in the biblical book of Ecclesiasticus that "Pride is hateful before God and man." Certainly the boastful or arrogant person is shunned by others and scoffed at for his or her pretensions. Yet the sin of pride is far more offensive to God, without whom that person would be nothing. It is God who should be exalted, not His creation, man. Those who puff themselves up over some accomplishment or gain should remember that without God's blessing, such achievements could not have been attained. God is the fount from which we all draw. If credit is due for what we have, it belongs to God. When we open our mouths, it should not be to boast of ourselves, but to give thanks to the God who made us.

Ski Valley teams named

Coaches in the Ski Valley Division of the Great Northern Conference voted on all-division softball and baseball players following the recently completed season.

Softball

Central Lake, in first place with a 13-0 record, has three players on the first team: Dhana Lockhart, Misty Boatwright and Sara Roach. Honorable mentions go to Amy Dawson, Julie Aenis and Shana Lockhart.

In second place with a 10-3 record, Bellaire players on the first team are Shana Baker, Cindy Farmer and Caryn Watrous. Taking honorable mention are Katie Goodwin, Becky Farmer and Shannon Wilcox.

Baseball

Mike Aenis of Central Lake is on the first team. The Trojans finished in sixth place with a 3-9 record.

For Bellaire, which finished seventh with a 3-10 record, Ryan Fischer is on the first team while Tim Gallagher and Scott Goodwin earned honorable mention.

Summer sun exposure can be hazardous

Most people equate a farmer's tan, sunburned arms, face and neck, with working in the field all day and sometimes make jokes about it.

Health professionals, however, do not see anything funny about over-exposure to the sun, which can lead to skin cancer, a serious problem for some 600,000 people each year.

"The effect of the sun on a person's skin is cumulative, so as a person ages, the chances for developing skin cancer increase," says Howard Doss, Michigan State University Extension farm safety specialist.

Medical statistics show that the odds that a person will develop skin cancer in his or her lifetime are one in six. For fair-skinned persons the odds are one in three.

Medical research also indicates that the incidence of skin cancer has been increasing at a rate faster than the incidence of any other cancer except lung cancer in women.

A 1990 screening of 600 Wisconsin farmers revealed that 46 percent had precancerous skin lesions and 8 percent had skin cancer.

People should wear broad-brimmed hats or caps that have neck protection, full-length pants and long sleeved, light-colored shirts. Sunscreen with a rating of 15 or higher should be applied about every two hours.

Whenever possible, avoid the midday sun, Doss advises. The greatest potential for sun damage to skin occurs when a person's shadow is shorter than he is.

Protect yourself against tick-borne Lyme disease

Lyme disease is a serious debilitating bacterial illness that is spread by the bite of a tick. It is the most common tick-borne disorder in the United States; 583 cases have been reported in Michigan since 1979. The highest risk months are May, June and July. In 1992, 43 cases were reported in Michigan.

Lyme disease is hard to diagnose because its symptoms can vary from person to person and involve different parts of the body. Also fewer than one-half of people with the illness remember a tick bite. Immature (nymph) ticks are easily overlooked because they are not much bigger than a pinhead. The most obvious early symptom of Lyme disease is a red skin rash which occurs within the first 3-to-32 days after the bite. The rash usually breaks out near the bite site within a week or two and develops into a reddish oval two to six inches across. It may be as large as 20 inches. Without treatment, it soon fades.

The rash may have a firm center, feel warm to the touch, or provide a burning sensation, and disappear briefly, only to reappear elsewhere on the body. Occasionally, the rash shows central clearing and resembles a bull's eye. Even larger rashes can be missed because they are faint or occur on the back, groin, or armpit.

Up to 30% of people with Lyme disease do not develop a rash. Flu-like symptoms may occur and include fever, headache, nausea, aching joints and muscles and fatigue. They may be the first sign of illness. If untreated, Lyme disease may cause heart, eye, nervous system problems and chronic arthritis weeks to years later. If you notice symptoms after being in a tick-infested area, even though you were not aware of a bite, see your doctor.

To protect yourself during the spring and summer months, stay out of

TAKEN FROM THE TORCH

June 30, 1955

■ The Central Lake Boy Scout Troop returned Sunday from a weekend camp in the Jordan Valley. Fourteen boys participated in this camp.

■ Born at Meadow Brook on June 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Jess Moore, Bellaire, a 9 lb. 13 oz. son.

■ Born June 23 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cummings, Central Lake, a 6 lb. 1 oz. son.

■ Born June 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Berl Arsnoc, Bellaire, a 9 lb. 12 oz. son and to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Meadows, Mancelona, a 8 lb. 4 oz. son.

■ Miss Ardith Marie Howe and Thomas Garth Wieland were united in marriage June 18 at the Boyne City Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Howe of Horton Bay and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wieland of Barnard, former residents of the Ellsworth vicinity.

■ Charlotte White, daughter of Claude White of Ellsworth and Mrs. Gladys Gabriel of Northville, and James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Patterson of Royal Oak, exchanged June 18 wedding vows at the First Baptist Church in Royal Oak.

■ A public hearing on the Traverse Bays Telephone Company rate increase will be held July 12 at the offices of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Lansing.

■ Central Lake, Ellsworth and Eastport are to benefit immensely from an expansion program now underway by Consumers Power Company.

The sub-station north of Central Lake, now furnishing power to these three localities from a Consumers high line is to be enlarged to triple its present capacity with a new transformer. Completion date of this project is set for Sept. 15 of this year, barring unforeseen difficulties.

■ Efforts to light up the Central Lake ball field were initiated Thursday night at the Central Lake Lions Club when two representatives of General Electric were present, showed a movie on lighting recreational areas, and answered questions.

■ A second Well Baby Clinic will be held July 7 at the Congregational Church in Central Lake.

■ Private Harold M. Mathers, 21, Central Lake, was selected as Colonel's orderly. He was chosen for his outstanding appearance, knowledge of General Orders and Chain of Command. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mathers.

■ On June 25 the Veenstra family reunion was held at Mitchell Park in Cadillac with 88 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Veenstra of Atwood being present.

■ A party was held to wish Mrs. Gene Emery, of Finkton, happy sailing. She plans to leave July 4 for Germany where she will join her husband Lt. Emery.

areas likely to be infested with ticks. When exposure is unavoidable, take these precautions:

* Wear light-colored protective clothing (long sleeves that are snug at the wrist, shirt tucked in at the waist, and pants tucked into socks or boots).

* Treat clothing with a repellent that contains permethrin, which kills ticks on contact. Apply DEET which repels, but does not kill ticks, to clothes and exposed skin. On the skin, use solutions with low concentrations (under 30% DEET). Avoid using DEET solutions on the face, on infants, or small children.

* Do a thorough self-inspection when you come indoors, and inspect children when they come in. Studies show that transmission of the disease is unlikely if the tick has been attached for less than 24 to 48 hours.

* Make sure pets are well protected with tick collars and powders, and check them daily during tick season.

* Avoid brush piles, tall grass, and other vegetation where ticks may be.

* Mow grass short around your house and outbuildings.

* Take a thorough shower or bath and wash clothing after working outside in the underbrush.

If you discover a tick attached to your skin:

* Use tweezers (not your fingers), and grasp the tick behind the head and slowly but firmly pull it straight out. Do not twist or jerk the tick. If the head is left in the skin, do not probe for it, but consult your doctor. Otherwise, treat the site as you would an ordinary wound.

* Wash hands and the bite area, and apply antiseptic. If you must touch the tick, cover your fingers with a tissue, then wash your hands thoroughly.

* Save the tick. Put it in a small container or jar labeled with the date, the body location of the bite, and where you think the tick came from. Put a small piece of wet paper or cotton in with the live tick. The health department will have the tick identified and tested for Lyme disease. Dead ticks should be placed in alcohol and be sent for identification.

* Watch the area of the bite for the appearance of a rash that resembles a bull's eye. If one appears or if you notice vague symptoms such as a headache, fever, chills, fatigue, stiff neck, or painful joints and muscles, see your doctor immediately.

Lyme disease does not have to be a problem for people in Northern Michigan. Proper protective actions, along with early treatment can minimize problems related to this disease. Since there appears to be no tick repellent available that can be used repeatedly on the skin of infants and children without potential allergic or toxic effects, the best approach at present may be twice daily body search and evening shower or bath following exposure to ticks. Questions about possible infection with Lyme disease should be directed to your physician. General questions about Lyme disease may be directed to any local health department office: Bellaire, (616) 533-8670.

Watershed Council programs provide for local preservation

Because Northern Michigan has some of the most beautiful and unspoiled waterways in the country, perhaps even in the world, the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council has coordinated an Adopt-A-Stream program for area residents and organizations.

"Adopting an area stream is easy and fun. The Watershed Council provides guidance as you conduct visual surveys, collect samples and plan special events," said Melissa Hansen, summer intern for the council.

Close to 20 groups currently participate. Scouts, school groups, families and environmental groups watch over such streams as the Bear River, Horton Creek, the Cheboygan River, Elk River, and Tannery Creek.

Doug Fuller, water quality technician for the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, reminds all that improper fertilization of lawns can cause runoff into nearby lakes or streams, accelerating the aging process of lakes and causing excessive weed and algae growth, murky water, and possibly, disruption of fish populations.

"To protect your water resources, do not use fertilizers within 100 feet of any shoreline area. If fertilizers must be used, choose one that is low in phosphorus and base your applications on the results of soil tests, which are available from Cooperative Extension offices," he explained.

Improper lawn fertilization can be avoided through awareness and proper management practices.

Please call the Watershed Council at (616) 347-1181 for information on these topics.

Kirtland warbler population growing

Michigan's population of the endangered Kirtland's warbler is the largest in 30 years, with 485 singing males reported after a 1993 Department of Natural Resources count of the birds completed in mid-June.

That's a 22 percent increase over the 1992 count and the largest number reported since 502 singing males were counted in 1961. The numbers have increased every year since the record low of 167 Kirtland's warbler singing males were counted in 1987.

DNR Director Roland Harmes said, "The nearly four million trees planted on 2,300 acres of state and federal lands this year under the Kirtland's warbler management program will help provide additional habitat for the warblers in six to 10 years, and we commend DNR wildlife biologists and others who participated in this massive planting effort."

Jack pines are planted each year under a cooperative state/federal Kirtland's warbler management program to provide future habitat where the entire world's population of the tiny, blue-gray and yellow Kirtland's warblers nest in northern Michigan.

DNR wildlife biologist Jerry Weinrich of the Houghton Lake Wildlife Research Station said the plantations showed dramatic increases in the number of Kirtland's warblers using them this year. Thirty-four percent of the warblers (166 males) were located in the areas specifically planted for the warblers' nesting habitat.

"Ninety-five percent of the warblers were located in Oscoda, Ogemaw and Crawford counties this year," DNR Endangered Species Coordinator Tom Weise said. "The number of singing males found in eight northern Lower Peninsula counties were: Alcona - 11; Crawford - 34; Iosco - 3; Kalkaska - 4; Ogemaw - 81; Oscoda - 344; Otsego - 3; and Roscommon - 4.

The Kirtland's warbler survey is conducted each year during a 10-day period during the first two weeks of June.

Discuss environmental planning

Hoping to be better able to protect the high quality surface and ground water resources of our beautiful area, a joint meeting of the southwest Antrim County Planning Commissions will hear a Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council presentation about a comprehensive series of sample zoning ordinances which have been developed to deal with such concerns as shoreline regulation, stormwater management, wetlands protection and high risk area erosion minimization.

Participants will hear and discuss regulatory considerations, statutory authority and planning strategies for these objectives. The subjects of land divisions and private roads will also be covered.

The meeting will held in the library of Elk Rapids High School on E.

Third St. (Ames to Rivershore to E. Third) in Elk Rapids at 7:30 p.m. on Tues., July 13. The Planning Commissions of Elk Rapids, Milton, Torch Lake Townships and the Village of Elk Rapids will attend. The meeting is open to the public and the Commissions believe that many will be interested in these efforts to conserve the countryside.

For more information call 264-9768 or the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council office at 347-1181.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

TORCH LAKE TOWNSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the Torch Lake Township Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct their quarterly meeting on Wednesday July 14, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. in the Torch Lake Township Hall, Eastport, MI.

At this meeting the Board will consider appeal 93-04 from David and Jean MacDonald. They want to build a house in Edenshores on lots 68 & 69 Tax No. 05-14-515-034-10. They are requesting a variance that would enable them to erect their house set back 40 feet from Potawottamie Trail. In this R-1 zone an unoccupied front yard must be 50 feet.

Also at this meeting appeal 93-02 of Don and Pam Hagel which was tabled at the June meeting will be heard. They are requesting a variance that would allow them to erect their primary residence on a lot in an R-1 zone that already has a residence built above a garage. This is lot #4 San Marino Shores Tax No. 05-14-328-001-30.

Bernard Brophy, Secretary Z.B.A.

How to handle summer dental emergencies

July brings summer into full swing, and summer means vacation travel for millions of Americans. Whether driving the family across the U.S. to see the Grand Canyon, or jetting off to Europe, packing a dental emergency kit is good protection against a spoiled vacation.

"Dental emergencies can happen anywhere and anytime. Being prepared can make the difference between handling a dental problem and getting on with your fun, or having it ruin your plans," says Jay Werschky, DDS, president of the Michigan Dental Association. Pack these basics for your trip: aspirin or a substitute, gauze, cotton, floss, oil of cloves, paraffin and "Dental First Aids Facts," a handy pocket reference available from the Michigan Dental Association.

Here are some tips on how to handle the following dental problems:

Toothache: Rinse your mouth well with warm water and gently floss between the teeth to remove any trapped food. Use a cold compress on the outside of the cheek if there is swelling, and take a pain reliever. Never place an aspirin directly on the tooth or gum.

Broken Tooth: Rinse with warm water, apply cold compresses to the cheek, and get to a dentist as soon as possible.

Knocked Out Tooth: Rinse the tooth lightly in running water, but don't scrub it, and touch it as little as possible. Put the tooth back in the socket and hold it firmly in place. If you can't re-insert the tooth, keep it in a glass or container of water or milk, to keep the nerve clean and moist. Get to a dentist within 30 minutes, if possible, to improve the chances of the tooth being saved.

Objects Wedged Between Teeth: Gently remove the object with floss and avoid cutting the gums. Do not use a sharp instrument.

Lost Filling: Apply oil of cloves to cotton, squeeze out the excess and place a small piece of the cotton in the cavity. Or, cover the cavity with paraffin, and take aspirin as needed.

Bitten Tongue or Lip: Put direct pressure on the bleeding area with a clean cloth and apply a cold compress to minimize swelling. If the bleeding doesn't stop, go to a nearby hospital.

Possible Fractured Jaw: Immobilize the jaw by any means, such as a handkerchief, necktie or towel around the head, and go to a hospital emergency room as quickly as possible.

The above tips are only temporary emergency measures. If you are away from home, look in the Yellow Pages under "dentist" to find the local or state dental society's number to get a referral. Or, ask the hospital emergency room to recommend a dentist.

To receive a free pocket reference "Dental First Aid Facts," send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Michigan Dental Association, 230 N. Washington Sq., Suite 208, Lansing, MI 48933-1392.
