OUR WEATHER

A decent summer week, with highs in the 80s most days, and little precipitation. The weekend saw a gradual deterioration, with Saturday remaining overcast until early afternoon. A few hours of sunshine were terminated by the return of grey skies, which lingered through Monday morning. The rain started in earnest about mid-day Sunday and continued throughout the evening hours. Forecasters were calling for the clouds to lift by Tuesday, with dry weather and near-80 temps predicted through Thursday.

Children recall summer highlights

By Deb Sayers Hobbs

The Portside Arts Fair is over and the Jordan River Arts Council is wrapping up its last children's theater production. The sidewalk sale is only a week away and school will resume soon.

So, to take one last look at summer, East Jordan children were asked "What's the best thing you did this summer?"

Laura Warren, 9
 (Daughter of Karen and Robert Donaldson)
"I've done so much this summer! I think it was getting the lead in (the play) 'Promises and the Wicked Prince'."

Elizabeth Romero, 9
 (Spending the summer with her grandparents John and June Reich)
"Being in plays. I really haven't done anything else."

Carey Moses, 12
 (Daughter of Roger and Laurie Moses)
"Being in 'Cinderella' and camping."

Charity McKay, 9
 (Daughter of Charlotte and Rick McKay)
"Acting in the production of 'Cinderella' and swimming at my grandma's pool."

Doug Carter, 13
 (Son of Robert and Doris Carter)
"Having my three nieces and nephews from Wisconsin and Minnesota to visit."

Marcus Gee, 4
 (Son of Michana and Keith Gee)
"Going camping!" (Mom says, out in the backyard with dad.)

Megan Warnous, 5
 (Daughter of Ron and Terri Warnous)
"Swimschool - yea! That was best!"

Paul Teske, 9
 (Son of Marge and Tom Teske)

✓ *Mark yourCALENDAR*Freedom from smoking classes

Successfully quitting smoking and having fun in the process is the goal of the "Freedom from Smoking" program which is sponsored by Charlevoix Area Hospital and the American Lung Association.

Weekly sessions held at 7 p.m. in the mobile unit meeting room will run from Tuesday, Sept. 21 through Nov. 2 with two sessions during "quit week" on Oct. 12 and 14.

Cheryl Jacobs, respiratory therapist and program leader, says, "the program really works because we don't quit 'cold turkey' the first night and people find the support they need in the group to make breaking the habit permanent."

The first session is an orientation meeting when the program outline will be explained. "Quit night" will be Oct. 12. In addition, nicotine patches will be made available free of charge at the class, if desired, through the Health Department.

Pre-registration is required. A minimum of 12 registrations must be received in order to hold the class.

Cost for the program is $65. For further information, or registration, call Charlevoix Area Hospital at 547-4024.

I LOVED THIS BOOK . . .

Pictures from a Trip
by Tim Rumsey

. . . is about two brothers, their blind friend Ben, and Lisa, the singer, as they start out one summer night in an old Bronco to head West and find "the biggest dinosaur bone ever." This is a charming, often irreverent story of friendship, adventure and sorrow, narrated by Mark's brother, who just graduated from college. One gets the impression the reader is also on the trip, riding in the back seat and listening to the zany talk and plans.

This is the type of book that leaves the reader with a lot to think about. It can be found in the fiction section of the Central Lake Township Library.

Remember When . . .

"The Coys Sr.," lived in a house probably between Jan's Place and the Telephone Bldg.? This house may have been a boarding place once, or place of some business. The house was tom down and used to build two houses further south on Main Street; where the Coys Sr. lived in one and their son and family in the one next door. The Coy House was a part of hometown history and probably others know more about it than I.

A Word Fitly Spoken - "The Hog's Back"

by Anne F. Messerschmidt

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." "My help cometh from The Lord, Which made Heaven and Earth."

Dear reader, this psalm gives me solace. I read it and reread it daily and again when the need arises. I need God's assurance and there are many more scripture verses that calm by spirit and enable me to cope on a daily basis.

The original King James Version Of The Holy Bible was transcribed in 1611. It is like poetry, good music and good literature, all rolled into one. Such wisdom and truths are to be found. It is God's love letter to us.

Each Sunday, my Pastor, his Wife and their Son, come for me. He goes out of his way, to drive here, for our church is across from Finkton Corners. (How interesting to note that was a post office, general store, and in days gone by, even a dance hall.)

As I become familiar with our area's history and beauty, I would like to bring your attention to the lush, scenic vista that surrounds East Jordan. To me, the hills rival Caleveras Big Trees in California.

Look up and see the white barns and other buildings gleaming in the sunshine, between the verdant green, stately trees.

The Hog's Back is our local people's way of addressing the climb up Kidder Road, off Highway 66 and the ensuring winding, hilly road. It is surrounded by woodlands, farms and open fields. God's handiwork is mightily displayed. God is, the great I Am!

Embankments along the road enroute to our church abound with wild sweet peas in myriads of undulating colors. Then you will see and hear the cool gurgling brooks and streams meandering to their pre-destined rendezvous with a larger body of water, bringing soothing music to the ears and a feeling of wonder.

Eventually we come upon farms and accompanying, open fields. Ah!, so lush and green with cows lying about contentedly chewing their cud. Sheep grazing and herds of deer, ever alert. Suddenly their "White Tails" raise like flags and to signal an intrusion. They swiftly disappear into the woods, just temporarily, of course.

Oops!, my ears popped; yours too? don't worry - The Hog's Back (Hill) is a scenic affirmation of the Lord's blessings that you should not miss.

Oh! look, there is a father and mother turkey and their brood, nonchalantly pecking at gravel alongside the road. As we slow down, they scurry for cover in the high grasses. (A person could say the bugs they devour are their protein and the wild oats and other grasses their fiber and then the gravel aids their digestion. They do look healthy and plump.)

God's handiwork is so evident. He made the flora and fauna; Creator of all the earth. We are his Creation, to, and he desires we read and obey his Word. To live in harmony and enjoy all of nature which He created and not Mother nature.

To God Be The Glory!

So, enjoy our beautiful country side. The hills and the valleys, our lakes, large and small, the rivers, streams and brooks here in East Jordan and our surrounding communities.

I look forward to autumn and the display of the fall foliage; meantime, let us continue to enjoy summer, for here in northern Michigan, there is beauty and enjoyment during all four seasons, don't you agree?

Especially on The Hog's Back (Hill) on Kidder Road. Anne Messerschmidt is a 72-year-old "joyous Christian." Readers can expect to see more of her writings in future issues.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Love Thy Neighbor...

"Leave no claim outstanding against you, except that of mutual love. He who loves his neighbor has satisfied every claim of the law."

— Romans 13

St. Paul, the widely-traveled apostle to the Gentiles, wrote that letter perhaps 50 years after the death of Christ, and yet it still has a profound impact today. In that epistle, the worldly, well-educated man from Tarsus also exhorts the Romans to "Discharge your obligations to all men; pay tax and toll, reverence and respect, to those to whom they are due." Many of Paul's letters deal with Christian law. All of the commandments he said, could be summed up in the admonition to love one's neighbor as you love yourself. "Love cannot wrong a neighbor; therefore, the whole law is summed up in love," he said. In a troubled, modern world, we could do a lot worse than to heed his words.

Henevelds return to Mexico as missionaries

BY JENNIFER VANCONANT
 Summer Editor

The community of Ellsworth and the Bell Tower Reformed Church will say adios to Reverend Jim and Sharon Heneveld next week when they return to Mexico as missionaries.

The Henevelds arrived in Ellsworth from Mexico in 1981 with children in tow. Now they leave four children in the United States to return to Mexico.

"All of the kids are happy for us," Sharon said.

Before moving to Ellsworth the family lived in the southern part of Mexico near Guatamala for 12 years working with Tzeltal Indians. When they return they will live with the same tribe, but the conditions have improved.

"This time we will have indoor plumbing and running water," Sharon said. "We're going back to much less primitive conditions."

Jim added, "We'll be able to go on paved roads." In the past the only way to the village was by plane.

Because the Henevelds are familiar with the area and people, it won't take long to set up. They said it would take five years for a new person to start over.

"We already know the language," Jim said. "It's like going back home."

Jim and Sharon do leadership development, training leaders at the church. Their work is coordinated by the National Presbyterian Church of Mexico.

One aspect that draws the Henevelds to Mexico is the simplicity.

"Teaching people who are eager to learn," Jim said is a wonderful experience. "It is a lot like the early church."

"They have virtually no background," Sharon added. "Everything is brand new."

In both communities, the people are affectionate and accommodating.

"Other than the loving acceptance of the people, nothing is alike," Sharon said.

In Mexico the pace is slower, Jim said.

"You get up when it gets light and go to bed when it gets dark," Sharon added.

While the Indians are fascinated by snow, their American friends always assume Mexico is a desert. Mexico has a rainy season and a dry season. The landscape is filled with beautiful green mountains, Jim said. Their village is about 2,000 feet above sea level.

Jim and Sharon said Ellsworth is a good place for families because you can be involved in activities as a family.

"We felt very at home," Sharon said. "We never felt like outsiders. Leaving is hard."

The Henevelds plan to stay in Mexico until they retire and then return to Ellsworth. They also plan to come back on a regular basis to visit.

"All of our friends are here," Sharon said. "We put down roots deep."

SIDERoadS

A record time was set for the 10K Harborun in Elk Rapids by Central Laker Michael Richardson. With a time of 30:53, Richardson edged out Elk Rapids resident Don Hoezee, who was after his fifth win. Craig Higby of Central Lake also finished with flying colors, coming in fourth place. His time was 32:43.

An update on Terry Churchill and his cousin Joe was passed on by Terry's father, Floyd Churchill. (Terry and Joe spent many summers camped at Thurston Park in the 1950s and got well acquainted with Central Lake residents.) Terry retired from Pacific Bell early last spring and was in charge of Public Relations as well as vice president, in San Diego, when he left the company. Times Warner immediately hired him as a consultant to plan a fiber optics communication system for a new division.

After two months, they accepted his plan and made him vice president of their New Endeavor Division. Other companies are involved and Terry says it will take a while, but satellite-fiber optics could be connected to all homes in the United States in the future.

This is the last issue of The Torch/Journal for Summer Editor Jennifer VanConant. She has enjoyed all the encouragement from readers and hopes new editor Lynn Geiger will find them as enchanting as she has.

Farm Bureau expands market for growers

The Antrim County Farm Bureau has formed a Michigan products food marketing committee. This committee of Farm Bureau members and county residents joined to create an outreach program to sell Michigan produced products and products from other Farm Bureau producers from Florida.

"The products are from Michigan Cooperative packing plants and give a good return to growers for the best of what they produce," coordinator Marian Parsons said.

The county Farm Bureau Committee is working through Michigan Farm Bureau in Lansing to select products and ship items to the county Farm Bureau for distribution. High quality fruit from blueberries to red raspberries and other Michigan produced products are available. This provides a market for growers produce that might not otherwise exist.

The sale of fruit will be on an order ahead basis. Orders will be taken through Aug. 25.

Michigan Farm Bureau will deliver items in September. To receive an order form, contact the Farm Bureau office in Charlevoix, 547-2043.

Facts found on Finkton

In a past issue of the Torch, someone asked about the old building at the intersection of Old State and Finkton roads. That was a small dance hall on the old Loie Button Farm. Loie used to be a bee keeper from whom my father purchased honey.

I can remember going there, with my parents, to square dances in the late teens. My fondest memory of visits there is a sixteen year old boy singing, "When You Come To The End Of A Perfect Day." It was the most beautiful song I had ever heard. The boy had learned to sing at the Coldwater Reform School. Coldwater made men out of a lot of Finkton boys.

I don't know of a Finkton Post Office, but I do know it had the first school in the area. My late Aunt Nellie attended school there in the 1880's.

I hope this sheds some light on the old Finkton area.

The Antrim County 4-H Market Livestock Sale is Sat., Aug. 28, at 3:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds, Craven Park, Bellaire. Several species of animals will be sold this year: steers, hogs, veal, lamb, chickens, rabbits, pheasants, and turkeys.

The Market Livestock Sale is an extensive 4-H project that involves the member purchasing an animal, raising it to market weight, feeding, grooming, record keeping, showing, etc. The animal is auctioned off at the market livestock sale during the Antrim County Farm and Family Fair, with the proceeds going to the 4-H member, many of whom apply this to further their education.

Those who wish to purchase an animal and cannot attend the sale may call the 4-H office and have someone bid for them. The animals can be viewed any time on Thursday, Friday and Saturday prior to the sale. Contact the MSU Extension office at 533-8818 for more information.

Your help made it happen

ON BEHALF OF the Charlevoix County hospice I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who was involved with our eighth Auction/Benefit held on July 18th at the Boyne Mountain Convention Center. As always this was a wonderful auction - from the terrific committee who worked so hard to put this event together, to the donors of auction items and to the very generous bidders - you all made it a success.

A very special thanks to our terrific auctioneers, Lee and Leonard Sherwood - the Sherwood Brothers - who donated their professional services. They did a wonderful job!

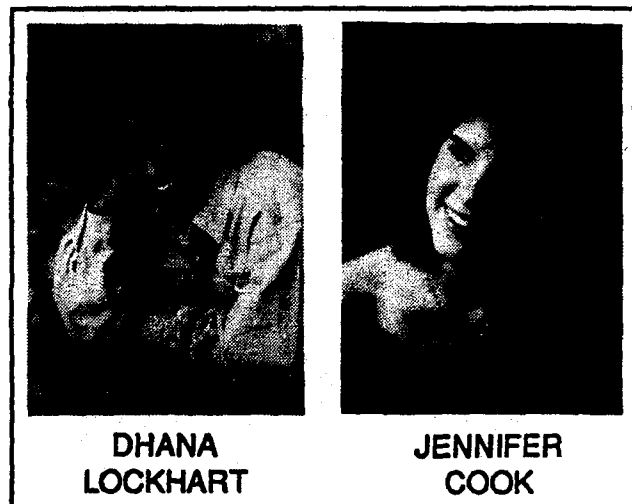

A very special thank you to all the people who attended the auction this year and were most generous in their bidding. You allow us to continue to serve the terminally ill and their families in Charlevoix County. Thank you!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Antrim County Road Commission will hold a public hearing on September 20, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. in the commissioners room at the Antrim County Court House in Bellaire, Michigan. The purpose of the hearing is to receive public comment prior to final adoption of a system of seasonal county roads in accordance with state law (Act 51, Public Acts of 1951, as amended). This proposed action involves no substantive change in existing commission policy or operations. The action will, however, serve to identify seasonal roads and allow appropriate signing to inform the public of their status.

It is proposed the following roads become the Seasonal County Road System in Antrim County and may not be open to public travel during the months of November through April:

NOTICES

DEAR RHEA, I just read in the June 14th issue of Antique Week that at the Antique Show at the Cheney Mansion in historic Oak Park, Ill, our favorite dealers, heritage Collection of Wisconsin showed Quimper, a c. 1820 country French dressoir, a c. 1800 country French Louis XV lady's writing desk and a 1820-1830 Swedish Biedermeier birch bench bed. Oh, Rhea, I can't wait until I can see what they bring to the Bellaire Rotary Antique Show at Shanty Creek over Labor Day weekend. Rhea, should we buy anything that we can't pronounce?
With love,
Al

Is your blue cheese blue?

How to tell when fermented foods go bad

Healthy blue cheese is veined with mold. So, how can you tell if it's bad? What about buttermilk, yogurt, sourdough bread, hard sausages and sauerkraut?

All of these foods share one thing in common: they are fermented, which adds distinctive flavor to the food and helps some products stay fresh longer. While fermentation may make it more difficult to tell if the food is safe to eat, there are ways to detect spoilage in fermented foods.

Most foods have a nearly neutral pH factor, an environment conducive to bacterial growth. So, to extend the life of some foods, people found ways to make them more acidic. Fermentation is one way, using lactic acid.

Cheeses. Made from separated milk solids, specialty cheeses are ripened using bacteria and/or molds chosen to give certain textures and flavors. Blue cheese is mold-ripened by the bacteria Penicillium roqueforti, while brie is aged by Penicillium camemberti.

For storage, firm cheeses keep well for several weeks in the refrigerator if wrapped tightly and protected from mold and drying. A soft cheese, like brie, retains its top quality for only about a week in the refrigerator.

When using cheese, don't leave it at room temperature over two hours. Like all perishable foods and all opened or sliced fermented foods, cheese can be contaminated by micro-organisms on people's hands, by coughs, sneezes and "bugs" in the air. Check refrigerated cheese before serving it. Discard a soft cheese if you see any signs of mold.

Hard cheeses are past saving if mold growth is extensive or cheese has lost its original color and texture. Discard blue-veined cheese if you see mold growth that looks different from the normal veining. Invader-molds may be white, pink, green, blue, black or grey, and has flecks of color or furry patches.

Fermented sausages. Dry and semi-dry fermented sausages are made from ground meat treated with seasoning and curing agents. Common varieties include genoa salami, summer sausage, Lebanon bologna and pepperoni.

Take a close look at the labels for handling instructions. Some unopened semi-dry sausages require refrigeration, most dry sausages don't, but all sausages need refrigeration once you have cut into them. Opened whole semi-dry sausage will last 3 to 6 weeks refrigerated; opened whole dry sausage will last 6 to 8 weeks, and opened dry jerky or beef sticks should last 2 to 3 months in the refrigerator. A white film which can form on sausage skin is harmless and can be cut away, but sliminess or discolored spots on casings mean the meat should be discarded.

Buttermilk, Yogurt, Sour Cream. There is no questions when ordinary milk sours: its smell and taste are distinctly sour. But when fermented dairy products like buttermilk, yogurt and sour cream go bad, it's not always easy to tell if they are safe to eat.

Cultured buttermilk, which some food historians say originated in southern Russia, is the product of a lactic acid bacteria starter mix or culture. It is best used during its first week but it keeps up to two weeks, if refrigerated. If you see a grayish liquid floating on the top, it is spoiled and should be thrown away.

Pasteurized, homogenized cream treated with lactic starter culture becomes sour cream. It will last from 2 to 3 weeks in the refrigerator and should be thrown out if there are mold spots or if there is pink or green scum on the top.

The "friendly" bacteria Lactobacillus bulgaricus and Streptococcus thermophilus turn milk into yogurt. With a life span of 1 - 2 weeks in the refrigerator, yogurt should be thrown out at the first sign of mold or if it has a yeasty aroma.

Sourdough bread. Like all other breads, sourdough can become moldy. Wrapped in paper and stored in a bread box, it will stay fresh just a day. Sourdough draws its flavor from the acidic Lactobacillus sanfrancisco.

Sauerkraut. Sauerkraut was first fed to workers building the Great Wall of China between 246 and 209 B.C. Then it was simply cabbage covered with wine. Now it is made from fresh cabbage that is shredded, salted and fermented in its own juice. While the growth of lactic acid bacteria during fermentation makes kraut somewhat spoilage-resistant, its quality is another matter. Experts suggest canned kraut should be eaten within 6 months for full flavor, and fresh kraut keeps its quality in refrigeration only about a week. Spoilage appears as mold growth or surface scum.

Processed pickles. Lactic acid fermented cucumbers in unopened glass jars may be kept on the shelf about a year. Once opened, you can keep them refrigerated for 1 to 2 months. If liquid turns cloudy or scum forms on the surface, throw the pickles out. Mushy pickles should also be discarded.

Fermented olives. Fresh-picked olives are bitter and largely inedible. So olives to be fermented are first treated with lye to remove the bitterness, then brined and sometimes processed with lactic acid or lactobacilli bacteria. The resulting canned olives are shelf stable for up to one year. Opened, they can be refrigerated in their own liquid for 1-2 months. Discard olives when they become soft, spotted or produce a spoiled odor.

For more information about fermented foods and food safety, call the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Food Division at (517) 373-1060 or the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555.

ELECTION NOTICE

To the qualified electors of the Township of Central Lake, Antrim County, Michigan, notice is hereby given that a Special Recall Election will be held in Central Lake Township on Monday, August 23, 1993 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the purpose of voting on the following:

Reasons for Demanding Recall:

- (1) Use of the township credit card for purchases invoiced to the township by Mastercard but not submitted by her for processing through the township records for payment by the township as legitimate official business expense.
- (2) Inability to provide the township board with accurate financial information required by state statute for use in developing the 1993-94 fiscal year budget and for monitoring budget performance to avoid illegal overspending in any budgeted cost center account.
- (3) Unilateral decisions to purchase furniture, equipment and supplies in excess of established limits with no report of such purchases to the township board which is in violation of Section 15, Purchases as defined in Board Rules of Procedure.

Justification of conduct in Office:

- (1) Mastercard was used with approval of the township board in December, 1992, for attendance of classes. I paid the bill personally after harassment from the treasurer.
- (2) The Board was supplied with information at my disposal whenever requested. Fund balances are the treasurer's responsibility by law. Supplying accurate figures is difficult when the books haven't been balanced since 1990-91, according to the auditor. I was appointed clerk unanimously effective April 1, 1992. The budget was approved in March, 1992, with the auditor still trying to balance the previous clerk's books. He finished in June, 1992. He sent a report of the state of two funds being illegally over budget. He also stated that the computer hasn't the safeguards to prevent accumulating errors. Accurate figures cannot be provided without accurate figures to begin with, which hasn't been possible since the computer program was installed.
- (3) All purchases are approved at regular board meetings by motion, so all purchases were known. I did not go over my budget for 1992-93, nor has the auditor found any funds missing from my accounts.

Shall Marilyn Lucas be recalled from the office of Central Lake Township Clerk?

Polling place location - Central Lake Township Hall.

Summer Editor says farewell and thanks

The saying, "Time flies when you're having fun," is certainly true in my case.

I have enjoyed covering the summer events, and it is with great regret that I must leave to continue my education at Western Michigan University.

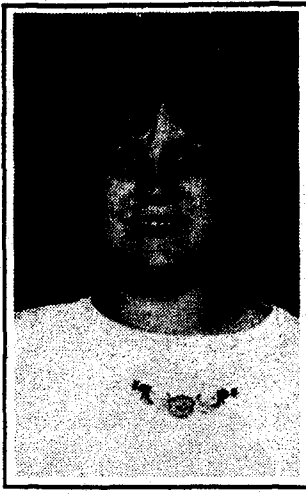

Over the past four months I have gotten acquainted with the wonderful people and delightful places in East Jordan, Central Lake, Ellsworth, and Eastport.

Unfortunately summer is ending and school will begin soon. While I'm anxious to return to my friends at WMU, I'll miss the friends I have made here.

But I take with me the memories I have tucked away all summer — like the Ellsworth Safety meeting where I won a full-length mirror, or when I portrayed the queen in the Jordan River Arts Council Children's Theater production of Promises and the Wicked Prince.

I'll never forget the feeling I had watching the 15 seniors of Ellsworth High School graduate. It took me back to my own graduation two years ago. I was so excited to finally get out, as I'm sure they were.

When I went to gather them all together for a class picture one graduate exclaimed, "You want all of us?" as if it was a big task. After all, I had 165 classmates in my graduating class!

But I'll be back to visit, you can count on it.

I'll be interested to see the new and improved Central Lake and Ellsworth elementary schools and the results of East Jordan's Operation Facelift.

And someone has to check up on my office mates Terry Donaldson and Jackie Thier. I'll just have to depend on our good friend Kenny YoungeDyke to keep them in line.

I hope the next editor enjoys the people and area as much as I have. I will miss you all and keep you in my thoughts always.

Sincerely,
Jennifer VanConant
Summer Editor

P.S. I'll be looking for another job in a few years so watch out, I may be back!

☞ Five kids from the First Congregational Church left early on Tuesday morning for a working trip to Kerhsburg, Ill. Those going were Heather Springstead, Maggie Barnard, Tracy Zelenac, Tara LaPoint and Erik Majcher with Rev. Smiley as chaperone and a bus driver. They are working to help with the flooding and helping with the food and children and staying at a big farm house. We congratulate these young folks and are sure they will have a lot of interesting things to tell when they come home on Saturday afternoon.

☞ Mr. and Mrs. Orin Hadcock of Plymouth and daughter Margaret and small son of Ann Arbor spent several days vacationing in the area and enjoying the homecoming services and luncheon at the United Methodist Church on Sunday.

☞ Many friends will be sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Ray (Mildred) Landis, a former resident, but living in Peck, Mich. Our sympathy is extended to her families.

☞ Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burns were dinner guests Thursday evening of their son Allan and Susie Burns and daughter in Bay Shore, to celebrate their father's birthday.

☞ Around 30 senior citizens left the Governmental Center at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday on a local school bus with Jerry LaBeau as driver. They were going to Oscoda to ride the AuSable River Queen. It was a fun and interesting ride and weather was beautiful. The river is 240 miles long and really deep. A big fish jumped about a foot out of the water. We saw lots of beaver houses. We also visited the Workingmans Monument which is real interesting. We enjoyed dinner at Charboneaus and continued on home. We were really tired but it was a nice day. Lena Snodgrass of Snowflake was the hostess.

Delightfully Dutch ... by ruth bainum

Is it Drenthe or Drenth? Does it signify a family name or a province in Holland? The answer is yes to all questions.

Following World War II, a civil registration was taken in the Netherlands called "Familienamen" (family names), the register includes family names in ten separate books for the provinces that cooperated. Limburg did not participate, and Flevoland was not in existence at the time of the register.

Prior to the Familienamen, in 1811 in fact, Napoleon passed a law requiring everybody to have a surname. Something which most dutchmen did not have. Some of the Dutch chose toponyms and a study of the Dutch dictionary reveals that the name de Bakker, means the baker; Mulder, the miler; de Kuiper, the cooper; Ketelaar, a kettle maker; Messemaker, person making knives; De Geus, the begger; De Waard, innkeeper; Veenstra, owner of a peat bog; and De Groot was someone large and tall.

Another method, Paronymics, resulted in Jan, Son of Hendrik, became known as Jan Hendrikzoon. To add to the confusion, emigration authorities misspelled the Dutch names and to top this, the Dutch themselves Americanized their names, but, the Dutch are still Dutch. One lady told me "I don't care if you capitalize the "V" or not (the Dutch don't) I'm still all Dutch."

And the Dutch have names as lovely as they are.

Training completed

Marine Pvt. Ralph K. Hazel, a 1992 graduate of Ellsworth Community School, recently completed recruit training.

During the training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, he was taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine, and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participate in an active physical conditioning program and gain proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.

Hazel joined the Marine Corps in January 1993.
